Faculty seeking salary increase

The Faculty Council released a report which suggests increasing a salary increase based on state appropriations.

Underwater

A Cedar Rapids couple say they found the body of their pet under a bridge on Monday in Cedar Rapids. The body was purchased on Friday.

UI to lose Williams to Ohio State

Jan Yates

The Daily Iowan

For the second time in a week, the UI has suffered a major loss at the hands of Ohio State University. The Ohio State Buckeyes defeated the University of Iowa Hawkeyes in the NCAA women's basketball Final Four. The UI may have suffered an even bigger blow Monday when Academic Opportunity at Iowas and Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs Gregory Williams announced he will step down from his job at the UI to accept an administrative position at Ohio State University.

OPPOSITION STRONG

USIA to continue to fund political student groups

Lester Kennedy

The Daily Iowan

Support and opposition moved both forwarding and opposing a bill to fund political student organizations at the UI Student Government meeting Tuesday night, but those opposed ended up losing.

The bill, which had been scheduled for discussion at the last meeting, defined political organizations as those that publicly work to elect the nation or defeat political candidates, or who work for the benefit of a political candidate or political party.

The issue is expected to be discussed further at the UI nepotism policy council meeting later this week.

Stark, chairman of the Office of Academic Affairs, said the UI will continue to fund political student groups.

The Daily Iowan, April 7, 1993
The Pulitizer Prize-winning Drama

Sam Shepard's

BIRTHED CHILD

April 8 - April 18

The greatest American playwright of his generation...

New York Magazine

For tickets and more information: 335-1160
Reading for Research funded by 3-year grant

Courses offered through the School of Religion.

The Daily Iowan

A pilot program recently launched has turned into a fully-fledged program, thanks in part to recent funding from the UIHC.

There are six courses each semester, funded through the UIHC. They're a collaboration among the Department of Religion, University Libraries, the Graduate College, and the Office of Research.

The courses are all taught by a combination of graduate students and volunteers who take the courses, with training provided by the UIHC and Graduate College.

The graduate students who teach the courses are expected to be able to make the courses available to students who also wish to be able to volunteer to teach the courses.

The courses are designed to aid graduate students in advancing their research and study, and to enhance their understanding of the subject matter.

The program is expected to expand its offerings in the future, as it has the potential to improve the quality of education and research in the field.

Leach uncertain how Clinton's reforms will affect UIHC in upcoming years

Joe Yeates, The Daily Iowan

The United States will undergo sweeping healthcare reforms in the years to come, but just how the UIHC and Clinton will be affected by those changes is still uncertain.

The UIHC has been created by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services to provide, among other things, comprehensive, coordinated care for all Americans.

The UIHC is expected to play a role in the implementation of Clinton's healthcare reform proposals, but it is not yet clear how this will impact the UIHC.

Leach said, "It's too early to say how the UIHC will be affected by Clinton's healthcare reforms, but we are working with the UIHC to ensure that the UIHC is prepared to meet the challenges of the new healthcare system."

Leach also noted that the UIHC is committed to providing high-quality care to all Iowans, regardless of their ability to pay.

"The UIHC is committed to providing care to all Iowans, regardless of their ability to pay," Leach said.

"We are working with the UIHC to ensure that the UIHC is prepared to meet the challenges of the new healthcare system, but it is too early to say how the UIHC will be affected by Clinton's healthcare reforms."

Leach said, "The UIHC is committed to providing care to all Iowans, regardless of their ability to pay, and we are working with the UIHC to ensure that the UIHC is prepared to meet the challenges of the new healthcare system."

Leach also noted that the UIHC is committed to providing high-quality care to all Iowans, regardless of their ability to pay.

"The UIHC is committed to providing care to all Iowans, regardless of their ability to pay," Leach said.
The seminars are aimed at teaching first-time travelers the unexpected aspects of studying abroad.

Lecture series benefits student travelers

The seminars are aimed at teaching first-time travelers the unexpected aspects of studying abroad.

Iowa

I

I

**~

4A -

eseential

children.

voted in February for a bill voted in February for a bill to require only

ltate

crenations

immunizations against

th, e

the Campus.

The Senate Judiciary Committee

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

These changes,

The Senate Judiciary Committee

attempts to require

Church members

Women, and men.

reinvent the church in a way that

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

These changes,

The Senate Judiciary Committee

attempts to require

Church members

Women, and

men.

reinvent the church in a way that

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

These changes,

The Senate Judiciary Committee

attempts to require

Church members

Women, and

men.

reinvent the church in a way that

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,

These changes,

The Senate Judiciary Committee

attempts to require

Church members

Women, and

men.

reinvent the church in a way that

in detail,

in detail,

in detail,
AIDS testing for sex offenders approved by House lawmakers

Mike Glover
Associated Press

DES MOINES - Contrary to reports, the House on Friday approved a bill that would permit law enforcement to test sex offenders for HIV.

Representative James Lyle, D-New Boston, was a sponsor of the proposal. The bill was approved by a 97-3 vote, with 11 members of the House voting present but not voting.

"I think it's appropriate that sex offenders be tested as a condition of their parole," said Representative Lyle, who represents a district that is home to several correctional facilities.

Representative Lyle said the bill would provide a "safety net" for law enforcement and the public.

"The bill is not about the HIV virus, it's about the public safety of the community," he said.

Representative Lyle also noted that the bill would be a "win-win situation" for both the offender and the community.

"It's a win-win situation for both parties," he said. "It helps ensure public safety while also providing a chance for offenders to start fresh."
Jonathan Palmer

The Foreign Journal
IRA bombings become common

On the 7th of April 1993, a bomb tore through the heart of London's St. Patrick's Day parade. The IRA had claimed responsibility for the attack, saying it was in retaliation for the British government's decision to move two ships, the Spirit of Scotland and the Vegan, from the Northern Ireland coast to the English Channel.

The attacks marked a significant escalation in the violence perpetrated by the IRA against the British government and its supporters. The bombings were part of a larger wave of terrorism that had been ongoing since the 1970s, with the Irish Republican Army (IRA) and other militant groups carrying out attacks against targets in both Northern Ireland and mainland Britain.

The bombings were not isolated incidents. In the years following the St. Patrick's Day attack, the IRA continued to carry out a series of bombings and other acts of violence, including the explosion of a bomb in the London Bridge area in 1995 and the shooting of police officers in 1996.

The IRA's actions were met with a strong response from the British government, which raised security levels and increased its presence in Northern Ireland. The government also worked to negotiate a peace agreement with the IRA, which was eventually reached in 1998 with the Good Friday Agreement, leading to the decommissioning of IRA arms and the establishment of a power-sharing government in Northern Ireland.

The IRA bombings of 1993 were a significant turning point in the history of the conflict, marking a shift towards more violent tactics by the IRA and a renewed effort by the British government to address the underlying issues that had fueled the conflict.
Alston from Washington, D.C., the Good Government Group, which promotes transparency in government, will release a report Wednesday on the influence of campaign contributions on government decision-making.

The report, titled "The Influence of Money on Government," finds that outside groups and lobbyists have a significant impact on lawmakers and government officials, often at the expense of public interests.

"Our system of government is built on the principle that the people govern, but the influence of money is undermining that principle," said Alston. "We must take action to address this imbalance and ensure that our government serves the people, not special interests."
Cooperate, like dogs and cats

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.

The partnership of Gardner and Vice President Michal Hohat gives reason to hope that in large part this can be ended, though.

The relationship between students and faculty is not without its problems. The tension between the two groups can be traced back to historical conflicts, such as the conflict over the use of the university as a venue for political meetings. This has led to a mistrust between the two groups, which has been further exacerbated by recent events, such as the recent protests over the gun policy at the university.
Call to preserve historical building

In the editor’s February 11 letter, he states that the Iowa City parking garage being constructed will be a "monumental" building. All I see is a building that the town can ill afford, a building that no one will remember except the people who worked on it. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."

Mr. O’Brien wants to convert the present building into a parking garage without any legal or historical implications. All I see is a building that will never be remembered by anyone who is in the future.

The building that was in the past is a building that was never used. It is not a building that was built for the people who are in the future. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the present. It is a building that was built for the people who are in the past.

I am concerned that the present building will be converted into a parking garage without any historical implications. It is a fulfillment of the saying, "When truth is told, it is a lie, and when lies are told, it is the truth."
Easter Celebrations Begin At Eagle!

Save $5.11 Each
Perfect for your Easter dinner
Dubuque 5-lb. Canned Ham
$8.88

Supreme Bacon
$1.69

Eagle Country Butcher

FRESHNESS GUARANTEED

$1.29

Red, Ripe Strawberries
16 oz.

$3.99

Asstd. Vars.

PLUS DEPOSIT WHERE APPLICABLE

10 A

Freshness Guaranteed

Country Harvest Fresh

$1.29

Garden Fresh Asparagus
12 oz.

Cerel Heart

$1.99

Sun-Washed Fresh Mushrooms
12 oz.

$1.99

Green Globe Artichokes
12 oz.

$2.99

Easter Lilies
12 pack

$7.99

Spring Heathers
12 pack

$2.99

Beauty Coral Carnations
12 pack

$2.99

Eagle Country Sausage

$1.29

All White Turkey Breast
Half lb.

$1.29

Imported Slicing Ham
Half lb.

$2.69

Coly Longhorn Cheese
12 oz.

$1.59

Wienerschnitzel 60/40 Cheese
12 oz.

$1.99

EAGLE COUNTRY OVER

SAVE 25% ON:

DECORATED EASTER EGG
DECORATED INDIVIDUALS

Easter Party Cookies

$3.69

Jumbo Bunny Cookies

$3.69

Egg Packages

For One Hundred Years, Eagle Has Given You The Quality, Selection And Service You Deserve!

Limited Time Offer

2 CANS OF PINTS

PRESTIGE

$1.99 EACH

PHOTO FINISHING SPECIAL!

3 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

Dubuque 5-lb. Canned Ham
$8.88

Supreme Bacon
$1.69

Eagle Country Butcher

FRESHNESS GUARANTEED

$1.29

Red, Ripe Strawberries
16 oz.

$3.99

Asstd. Vars.

PLUS DEPOSIT WHERE APPLICABLE

10 A

Freshness Guaranteed

Country Harvest Fresh

$1.29

Garden Fresh Asparagus
12 oz.

Cerel Heart

$1.99

Sun-Washed Fresh Mushrooms
12 oz.

$1.99

Green Globe Artichokes
12 oz.

$2.99

Easter Lilies
12 pack

$7.99

Spring Heathers
12 pack

$2.99

Beauty Coral Carnations
12 pack

$2.99

Eagle Country Sausage

$1.29

All White Turkey Breast
Half lb.

$1.29

Imported Slicing Ham
Half lb.

$2.69

Coly Longhorn Cheese
12 oz.

$1.59

Wienerschnitzel 60/40 Cheese
12 oz.

$1.99

EAGLE COUNTRY OVER

SAVE 25% ON:

DECORATED EASTER EGG
DECORATED INDIVIDUALS

Easter Party Cookies

$3.69

Jumbo Bunny Cookies

$3.69

Egg Packages

For One Hundred Years, Eagle Has Given You The Quality, Selection And Service You Deserve!

Limited Time Offer

2 CANS OF PINTS

PRESTIGE

$1.99 EACH

PHOTO FINISHING SPECIAL!

3 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

Dubuque 5-lb. Canned Ham
$8.88

Supreme Bacon
$1.69

Eagle Country Butcher

FRESHNESS GUARANTEED

$1.29

Red, Ripe Strawberries
16 oz.

$3.99

Asstd. Vars.

PLUS DEPOSIT WHERE APPLICABLE

10 A

Freshness Guaranteed

Country Harvest Fresh

$1.29

Garden Fresh Asparagus
12 oz.

Cerel Heart

$1.99

Sun-Washed Fresh Mushrooms
12 oz.

$1.99

Green Globe Artichokes
12 oz.

$2.99

Easter Lilies
12 pack

$7.99

Spring Heathers
12 pack

$2.99

Beauty Coral Carnations
12 pack

$2.99

Eagle Country Sausage

$1.29

All White Turkey Breast
Half lb.

$1.29

Imported Slicing Ham
Half lb.

$2.69

Coly Longhorn Cheese
12 oz.

$1.59

Wienerschnitzel 60/40 Cheese
12 oz.

$1.99

EAGLE COUNTRY OVER

SAVE 25% ON:

DECORATED EASTER EGG
DECORATED INDIVIDUALS

Easter Party Cookies

$3.69

Jumbo Bunny Cookies

$3.69

Egg Packages

For One Hundred Years, Eagle Has Given You The Quality, Selection And Service You Deserve!

Limited Time Offer

2 CANS OF PINTS

PRESTIGE

$1.99 EACH

PHOTO FINISHING SPECIAL!
The Hawkeyes roll over St. Olaf, 11-4

Carla Higgins

The Daily Iowan

When the St. Olaf Oles checked in for Iowa's home opener, they were down 11-4 by the third inning. Consequently, the Hawkeyes scored another run in the fourth, the second in the fourth inning, three runs in the fifth, four in the seventh, four in the eighth and finally two in the ninth for 23-4. The Hawkeyes scored more than 11 runs in a game for the first time in over 30 years and one in the third and one in the right fielding.

The Hawkeyes registered 13 hits and 13 runs versus the Oles.

Lecce was the star of the game, hitting a home run in the ninth inning and a single in the second. Lecce also scored three runs in the game.

Morse was the other player who had a great game, hitting two home runs and scoring three runs.

The Hawkeyes have won three of their first four games this season, and they look like a strong contender for the Big Ten title.
FOOTBALL: Help arrives

Continued from Page 1B

But that's only half the story. The other half involved two players the Hawkeyes had known long before.

Nintendo and GameBoy.

The Nintendo Entertainment System (NES) and the GameBoy were released in 1985 and 1989, respectively, and quickly became popular with gamers of all ages.

The NES, developed by Nintendo of America, was the first home video game console to gain widespread commercial success. It was released in North America in September 1985. The console was revolutionary because it was one of the first to offer a wide variety of games, including classic arcade games such as Donkey Kong, Super Mario Bros., and The Legend of Zelda.

The GameBoy, developed by Nintendo, was released in 1989. It was smaller and more portable than the NES, making it ideal for on-the-go gaming.

Nintendo's success with these consoles helped establish the video game industry as a major player in the entertainment market. These early successes paved the way for the continued growth and evolution of the industry over the years.
White signs deal with Packers

White, a 31-year-old star, agreed with the Green Bay Packers, bringing the seven-time All-Pro defensive end to the NFL's leading defense.

"It's always been a dream of mine to play for the Green Bay Packers," White said. "I'm excited to be a part of this team and help it get back to the Super Bowl this year."
Langston pitches Angels past Brewers

Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Iowa — The California Angels' Donn Clendenon hit two home runs, while Randy Johnson pitched a complete game to lead the California Angels past the Milwaukee Brewers 4-1 on Wednesday night.

Johnson, a 19-year-old rookie, allowed eight hits and one run, and leads active pitchers in the majors.

גג

Iowa gets split vs. Huskies

Erik Wilson

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa softball team split a doubleheader with the University of Wisconsin-Madison Wednesday afternoon, completing a sweep of the Badgers in a season-opening series.

The Hawkeyes won the first game 7-5 before falling 10-3 in the second.

The Hawkeyes (2-0) won the series against the Badgers (1-2) with a 19-11 record in the series.

The Badgers had won five of the last six games against the Hawkeyes, including their last three games.

Iowa led 5-1 after the first inning but couldn't hold on.

Clayton Richard's four strikeouts in the first inning were the most by a Hawkeye in a season opener in the history of the program.

The series was the first between the two teams since 1985.

Clayton Richard didn't allow a hit in the first inning, striking out four. He then gave up a single in the top of the second before giving up two runs on three hits.

Richard allowed one hit in the second inning, striking out two.

Richard allowed three runs on six hits with three strikeouts in the third. Richard was replaced by Burnie Lidstrom in the top of the third.

Lidstrom allowed a run on two hits with two strikeouts.

Clayton Richard allowed two hits and two runs with one walk and one strikeout in the fourth. Richard allowed two runs on two hits with one walk and one strikeout in the fifth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the sixth. Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the seventh.

Richard allowed two hits and two runs with one walk and one strikeout in the eighth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the ninth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the tenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the eleventh.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twelfth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the fourteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the fifteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the sixteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the seventeenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the eighteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the nineteenth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twentieth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-first.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-second.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-third.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-fourth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-fifth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-sixth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-seventh.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-eighth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the twenty-ninth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirtieth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirty-first.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirty-second.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirty-third.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirty-fourth.

Richard allowed one hit and one run with one walk and one strikeout in the thirty-fifth.
Hamer biographer to sign books tonight

By Margaret Williams

Imagine the scene. It’s Heartford, Iowa, in August 1962. Young white man takes a handful of black people’s photographs to document their civil rights activities. He asks the black woman if she will pose for him, their faces, their homes, their children, their activities. A black woman, who was not rich, her father not wealthy, her brother not educated, with a child who was born half way through the南北战争, takes her long black coat, a coat not hers, her white friend’s coat, and walks her child to the door of the white man. She agrees to pose for him, as long as she can have her picture in the book, as long as she can have the $1000. She made it, will pose, will sign. The white man, who will be publishing the book, will be publishing the book.

Now imagine the same scene, except it’s the end of the summer, 1962. The white man has published the book called “This Little Light of Mine,” a book about the black woman, who is not rich, her father not wealthy, her brother not educated, with a child who was born half way through the南北战争.” The black woman? Fannie Lou Hamer. She will sign copies of the book today at Picket Lights Books, 15 S. Dubuque St. at 4 pm.

Classifieds

11 Communications Center • 333-5784

I am deadline for new ads & cancellations.

Classifieds Reserve your space now.

Classifieds

11 Communications Center • 333-5784

I am deadline for new ads & cancellations.

Classifieds Reserve your space now.
Film adaptation of ‘Little Nemo’ lacks whimsicality of original strip

Tasha Robinson
The Daily Iowan
I submit that when I checked out “Little Nemo: Adventures in Slumberland,” a new animated film pitched as an animated film pitched idea that cartoons are strictly strip “Little name by

Read

sical and fantastical elements. The comic strip featured a little boy named Nemo making quick trips to Slumberland to play with King Morpheus, the king of the subconscious, and the subconscious Fly — I hope that Nemo eventually ended by getting too excited and either falling out of bed or waking himself up. As adventures had it, Nemo's missions had a distinctly muddled quality; as soon as he would fall asleep again, another plot would become apparent, then a new set of thoughts were getting interesting.

The movie, on the other hand, comes out on this premise with the exception of an existing opening sequence and one quick journey Nemo and Flipp take toward the end. If there's one problem with the movie, it's that the writers seem to have sublimated the plot. There's an uneventful march through “Nemo's”uka’s rooms, and the ultimate end of the film, a reprise of the opening sequence and one quick journey Flipp and Nemo take toward the end. If there's one problem with the movie, it's that the writers seem to have sublimated the plot.

The opening montage is a character study of the various kinds of dreams that Nemo experiences. The scene is a vision of a world of going to bed, where the “Little Nemo”’s dream sequence consists of a series of beds: one bed is a jumping bedhouse, another is a flying bed, another is a bed that turns into a flying bed, and so on.

The film is a colorful, richly textured world of dreams. The colors are vibrant, and the animation is beautifully rendered.

But children, at least, are likely to find an interesting exercise in the making of dreams. It's well-drawn, too. It's not particularly compelling, in part because it takes so long to get to the point and bring up the conflict. The conflict with Nemo's family features some wonderful animation and dreamy settings, but none of the quiet magic that was in the long sequence of dreamy vignettes, which were some of the most beautiful scenes I've ever seen.

The film is a colorful, richly textured world of dreams. The colors are vibrant, and the animation is beautifully rendered.

But children, at least, are likely to find an interesting exercise in the making of dreams. It's well-drawn, too. It's not particularly compelling, in part because it takes so long to get to the point and bring up the conflict. The conflict with Nemo's family features some wonderful animation and dreamy settings, but none of the quiet magic that was in the long sequence of dreamy vignettes, which were some of the most beautiful scenes I've ever seen.

Vampiric ‘Hunger’ avoids overbite of Coppolla’s excessive ‘Dracula’

Tasha Robinson
The Daily Iowan
It would be a shame to believe that Francis “sometimes has a smile, sometimes I don’t” Coppola didn’t write to degrees different pattern but “Coppola” after 1969 little movie “The Hunger” director to Coppola to two films. The newspaper title “Hunger” newspaper from the Daily Iowan through the 1970s brought up “Dieu.” "Hunger” little movie, instead, is a film that may have its moments, but it seems to be more on the surface than in the depths. The film is a quick trip to Slumberland, where Nemo is a character study of the various kinds of dreams that Nemo experiences.

The opening montage is a character study of the various kinds of dreams that Nemo experiences. The scene is a vision of a world of going to bed, where the “Little Nemo”’s dream sequence consists of a series of beds: one bed is a jumping bedhouse, another is a flying bed, another is a bed that turns into a flying bed, and so on.

The film is a colorful, richly textured world of dreams. The colors are vibrant, and the animation is beautifully rendered.

But children, at least, are likely to find an interesting exercise in the making of dreams. It's well-drawn, too. It's not particularly compelling, in part because it takes so long to get to the point and bring up the conflict. The conflict with Nemo's family features some wonderful animation and dreamy settings, but none of the quiet magic that was in the long sequence of dreamy vignettes, which were some of the most beautiful scenes I've ever seen.