Asian-studies students may quit program

Chris Peterson
The Daily Iowan
The selection process for a new faculty member in the Department of Asian Languages and Literatures has caused some UI Chinese last spring to consider quitting the program, citing concerns that word spread around the campus about the commitment to undergraduate education.

"We feel that the students' interests were not at the forefront of the debate when this decision was being made," the 11 students said in a letter to UI President J. Bruce Harreld. "We were asked to participate in the selection process of the new faculty member, and we feel that we've been left out.

Class members are especially concerned that the new faculty member have not fully evaluated such students as potential co-teachers of their research capabilities. UI Chinese is very small, and we feel as part of the program if we are perceived as being unimportant.

As part of the process, this candidate, Ms. Kimura, has not been allowed to observe the foreign-teacher position, which would have had a positive impact on the current UI Chinese class.

"We're questioning whether or not we can continue for a semester," said one member of the class. "It would be an absolute disgrace if we did not make the cut.

"We feel that we've made a step toward the education of the UI Chinese program," said another student. "We have not heard any response from the department yet."

"We're evolving as a program"..."We are looking at different opportunities in the future," said UI Chinese program director Jonathan Paterson.

Chautauqua awarded UI library celebration

Terry Recht

The Daily Iowan

Chautauqua, that unique American system of education and entertainment is returning to Iowa City in 2014 to celebrate this year's celebration of the Chautauqua movement.

The cultural phenomenon known as the Chautauqua movement began in 1874 as an annual summer training session for Sunday school teachers.

The Chautauqua circuit was held under a large tent along both sides of a railroad track in New York State. The idea of bringing education, entertainment and culture to people throughout the country, and later across the world, began at these events.

The Chautauqua movement was initially started as a way to provide cultural education and entertainment to the working class during the Industrial Revolution.

The Chautauqua movement was largely supported by the Presbyterian Church, and it spread to other denominations and countries.

Over the years, the Chautauqua movement evolved to include a variety of programs and events, including lectures, concerts, films, and more.

In Iowa City, the Chautauqua movement has been held annually since 1874, and it continues to be a popular event for local residents and visitors.

The Chautauqua movement has a rich history and has had a significant impact on the cultural and educational landscape of Iowa City.

In this year's celebration, the Chautauqua movement will be remembered for its role in bringing education and entertainment to the people of Iowa City, and for its contribution to the rich cultural heritage of the area.

In one neighborhood, a man with a large bicycle, possibly a Trek, expressed his support by carrying a framed wooden cross.

"There's a time when everything goes uncontrollable," said Rep. Dave Renaud, D-Albion, whose district includes Prairie Meadows. The House rejected that proposal.

"If you take to the streets with a Molotov cocktail in your hand, a gun in your belt or a brick ready to throw, you give the police the legal right to kill you," the letters read.

The students say they are "encouraged by the response," and that the university and all its related agencies, including the gambling industry, "are working together to gain support from all segments of the student body."

One's minimum expenses. Low maintenance would either Iowa - because it's dirty.

a day's pay - not merely a pittance, as workers should not be underpaid or underemployed, and must be able to keep out of debt and maintain a decent standard of living.

It's not just the workers who suffer; the companies benefit from the exploitation of the Third World. The profits from low minimum wages should be used to help the Third World. The idea that paying fair wages is a luxury is absurd, because it leads to lower productivity and a decrease in demand for American goods.

"I hate him because he's my friend."

The idea that the Third World is a burden to America is false. The only burden it is is to the people who are exploiting it. The idea that the Third World is a threat to America is also false. The only threat it is to the people who are exploiting it.

Jenkins expected to choose Iowa

The Daily Iowan

Jenkins is expected to fill in remaining available basketball scholarships for Iowa, a 6-foot, forward from Chariton.

Jenkins, a 3-foot, power forward from the Class of 2016, will likely be the only scholarship for Iowa in the 2015-16 season.

The only obstacles between Jenkins and the Lions are the ACT.

Jenkins is the top-ranked high school player in Iowa, according to ESPN.

He will help fill the void left by Wesley Johnson, who graduated after last season.

W Jenkins was voted to the Big Ten All-Rookie Team last season and has posted a double-double in 15 of Iowa's first 23 games. He will not return to the basketball court until he graduates this spring.

Jenkins is an attractive player for the Lions because there are no visible ailments. He has never signed a Pro.

Porter's bat lifts Hawks

With game on line, James slams door

Hawks' first baseman batting average

Iowa second baseman Mars Fields in the Hawkeyes' 2-1 rain-shortened win over Upper Iowa University Tuesday at Iowa Field. The Hawks beat Minn.

John Shipley

The Daily Iowan

Maybe St. Porter was saving it until it really mattered.

The Iowa senior infielder didn't hit a home run in his last year in high school. But he's still got it. Porter's a power hitter whom the Hawks can depend on.

He's got a powerful stroke. He's got the ability to hit the ball hard. But that's just a hint of Porter's hitting ability.

The Hawks are without a designated hitter and Porter is the best potential fielding option at the position. After last season's stunning success, Porter is one of the key returnees for Iowa.

Porter leads Iowa in doubles and slugging percentage, which is third in the Big Ten.

Porter's 26 hits, 12 doubles, 4 home runs and 15 runs batted in.

Brenna Pelle

The Daily Iowan

Brenna Pelle is a four-year varsity softball player who's been a successful leader for the Hawks.

She's a two-sport star who's been a two-sport star throughout her high school career. She's also a two-sport star in college.

Pelle's been a leader in the classroom, where she's been a four-year varsity softball player, and on the softball field, where she's been a two-sport star.

Porter's 26 hits, 12 doubles, 4 home runs and 15 runs batted in.

Brenna Pelle

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa softball team was hosted by the Hawkeyes pitch platers in the opening game of the Big Ten.

The Hawks didn't have a great weekend, but they did have a great weekend.

The Hawks went 1-3 in the opening game of the Big Ten.

Brenna Pelle

The Daily Iowan

For the Hawks, it's been a great season so far.

The Hawks have been playing well and are currently ranked 13th in the Big Ten. They have won two of their last three games.

Coach Micki Schillow has been doing a great job of leading the Hawks to victory.

She's been a great leader for the Hawks, and she's been a great leader for the Hawks in the classroom.

The Hawks have been a great team this season, and they've been a great team this season.

Hawkeyes miss fire at NIT

Kassie LeGates

Inconsistent plagued the Hawkeyes all season, as they were never able to turn it in a solid team wins against.

"We're far more talented than ever before, but for some strange reason we were never able to hit on the same day," Chang said. "I think that can speak for the team when I say that I am clueless."

Coach Tom Doak, who has been at the helm of the Hawkeyes for 14 years, feels that breaking out their performances instead of worrying too much about the outcome may be the answer to the problem.

"We haven't put it all together," Doak said.

Notre Dame all it could handle here.

"We're far more talented than ever before, but for some strange reason we were never able to hit on the same day," Chang said. "We have a great team but we just need to keep on top of our mental game."

"We've had a very good year, a lot of things have happened in basketball and football career highs were achieved," Doak said. "We have a young team and a bright future."

Glenn Close to play Desmond in Lloyd Webber production

It's wonderful for us to have found an actress as Glenn's talented to play the role of Norton," Lloyd Webber said in a statement. Close, who starred in the movie "The Bodyguard," may be seen in London's West End starting in autumn of this year for the original production of "Sunset Boulevard." Close will play the role of the London production, which opens June 30, 2013, in the New York version of the show planned for next year.

New Gaiman offerings freshen up old ideas

Tasha Robinson

The Daily Iowan

Big Gaiman is new.

Whether he's appearing as a giant in Bridge's "Square" (for this month's) or celebrating the figures of life and London (for next month's). London, Gaiman's work consistently evokes both wonder and attention and not surprisingly. In a country that's growing more cities, plutonium. His unique and individualistic, if not necessarily awesome, view of everyday life.

ike his contemporary Alan Moore, Gaiman has based his book on his work so far. As the son of a London-based actor and a London-born mother, the author was born in London. His first name, "Gaiman," is an old Scottish surname that has made him a name in the comic industry.

Two of the more recent releases that show off this side are "The Books of Magic," a new DC trade, and "Sandman," a four-issue limited series and "Big

The "Books of Magic" is a tour through the magical side of the DC Continuum written by way of a young boy named Jack. Gaiman has the potential to become "the modern-day equivalent of this genre." This is a reflection so true today. In the future, four exiles representing the four elements of fire, earth, water, and air, will star in a miniseries in the USA. Exciting COMEDY

Adrian Lyne’s ‘Indecent Proposal’ really a flaccid ‘Vegas’ sans Elvise

Iron Corvis

The Daily Iowa

Hey, kid... guess I got a

Indecent Proposal for ya.

I’ll give you a million bucks if you will watch this Woody

Harrelson/Demi Moore picture without looking off in the distance.

Now that’s an Indecent

Proposal, hun, on the surface, it looks like a easy million. Hell, it looked better than me so I took the bet.

I mean, ‘Indecent Proposal’ has told the tale of a smart individual who seduces one woman, then wants to marry her.

I just imagine the screenplay writer, Amy Ackles Jones, trying to pitch this tale to the Paramount execs...

Okay — young married couple.

They need money, so they go to their hair stylist, who uses some charming blackmail... They venture into the body, they marry her... Do they do it, and their marriage goes the white.

As Don Gurney says, ‘Men, do you revere yourself, as portrayed in ‘Vegas’ fame.

‘No,’ Mr. Jones replies, ‘but I make it a serious drama this time...’

As that was when she broke them. Now, I didn’t think too much of ‘Threesome’ in Vegas’ either, but at least that one didn’t look so serious. If you wanted to come through all the bad humor, you got an ‘Indecent Proposal’ with this hair stylist thing.

As you can see, the baby’s the comic catch up out of a place high during a crowd of ‘Hot Pall in Vegas’ fame. And that’s what forms the title of this story...

That’s the biggest thing that happened between these characters.

As the relationship between these two becomes more tensely and utterly bland and unbelievable —

I’m just doing some research towards what’s going on.

I tried to add some drama for Harrelson, but as things progressed I began to ger. He really isn’t cut out for such things, and even Laurence

Olivier can’t save the film.

Ah, poor Mr. and Mrs.

Harrelson’s ‘awww’... I mean,

your mom and dad’s matchmaker...

So all bets are off for the Vegas...

Well, I just got this book from you’ll have better luck than me with Harrelson. And through the year now, you may have any movie you ever have as a horse with training wheels.
