Inside today's Oil Negotiator call. Councilman John Blough told the meeting that residents have complained about the noise of the race being held on BP's property. Blough told the meeting that the noise has been a problem for residents in the area for years. The residents are concerned about the impact of the race on their property values and quality of life. Blough said that the council needs to address this issue and take steps to improve the situation. He added that the council should consider setting a limit on the number of races that can be held on the property to mitigate the noise and other problems caused by the events. Blough also said that the council should work with BP to find a solution that benefits both the company and the residents. The council will discuss this issue at its next meeting on Tuesday. Blough thanked the residents for bringing the issue to the council's attention and said that he will work to ensure that their concerns are addressed.
Organizes estimate one million people will attend the march.

UI students will be among the thousands of people gathering Tuesday, April 24, for the March On Washington.

Demonstrators will call for a civil rights bill which would dismantle any discrimination against the gay community and repeal laws which criminalize sexual expressions between consenting adults.

The march is only part of a weeklong celebration of gay rights involving activities across the country.

Organizers estimate one million people will attend the rally, which promises to be the largest political gathering since the March on Washington in 1963.

"It is a gathering together of people who care about these issues," explained Beth Abbott, organizer of the Iowa City Pride rally in Washington, "It is a matter of race and sexual orientation and that's why this event is important to all who care about human rights and equality for all.".

"We are not just talking about gays and lesbians, we are talking about the best interests of the children who are affected by all of these things," said the Iowa City Pride rally organizer. "It's about more than just the gay community, it's about all communities and the best interest of children.".

"There are a lot of things that we think are important," Abbott said. "The Iowa March on Washington is not just the gay community, it's about the best interest of all children and the rights of all people.".

In addition to the organized labor group, the march will provide a focal point for protests against the proposed Defense of Marriage Act and gay-biased community. The march will also see the first National Rainbow Conference. A program of civil disobedience is expected to take place on Monday.

The march occurs at a time when the Clinton administration has planned the issue of gay rights high on its agenda. The government has given uncompromising denials to the president's request that the fact that Clinton included homosexual and gay organizations in his campaign agenda was "in the best interests of the country, and no one is going to stop the celebration of gay rights in the military, but he's addressing the issue."

Abbott said.

"Clinton has been great for the gay rights movement," Abbott said. "He's given us the chance to roll our sleeves up and work with leaders and with people who will make a difference in our lives.".

"We are here, we are gay, sexual orientation, and complicated, and there are millions of us," Abbott said. "We are here, we are gay, sexual orientation, and complicated, and there are millions of us.".

DES MOINES - The Iowa Supreme Court ruled that the children of a child who takes up the surname of his father when he marries, is not forced to take dad's surname and can't be "hyphenated." The decision Friday sets the stage for continuing the debate about which name would be best.

The high court ruled that judges should avoid the inherent "issues rejected and genealogy problems." If the child doesn't automatically bear the father's name when a woman marries, the court said, the name will be determined separately.

"We agree that the inherent problems of social work at the University of Iowa did not just draw the line, but the court's conclusion after the fact of birth, at the University of Iowa," Abbott said.

"The fact that Clinton included lesbian and gay organizations in his campaign agenda was not just a way to get a lot of people to show up at the march - it was something." Abbott said. "Clinton has given us the chance to roll our sleeves up and work with leaders and with people who will make a difference in our lives.".

Underdrinking arrests still high

Theresa Wanst

The Daily Iowan

Police cited 10 people Tuesday night for underdrinking violations in Iowa City. Thirty one were cited at 7:45 p.m. at a gathering in the Iowa City Public Library, 10 p.m. at the Field House, 11:30 p.m. at the University of Iowa College of Law, and 12:45 a.m. at the Art Museum.

Several bars were hit late by the police with citations for underdrinking and The Field

House, 11:30 p.m., and the Union, 11:30 p.m., both with 10 citations.

"These were just routine checks,"

Craig Uihle, sergeant

Lt. said that they have noticed a trend to 10 to 15 per night drinking, but denied any special driving by the police force.

"We've just noticed that we have a problem and we're going to keep on boasting on this until we see a change,"

Lt. said.

The department has already red uced the number of Underdrinking Division increasing in Iowa. They have encountered the Fields House in the Field House, 11:30 p.m., and the Union, 12:15 p.m., for which there had been no charges for providing alcohol to minors.

One of the bars involved in the underdrinking violations was to be a small arrest made in the area.

But he was caught by the campus security officer and tried to leave.

He was charged with disorderly conduct and released.

Columnist says 'Thanks for the memories'

Well, this is it. My last column. I have been writing for the Iowa City Press-Citizen for over thirty years. I have enjoyed my years here, but it is time for me to move on. I am grateful for the opportunity to share my thoughts with you, and I hope you have found them informative and entertaining.

Thank you for reading my columns over the years. I have enjoyed writing for you and I hope you have enjoyed reading them. I have always tried to provide you with a range of opinions and perspectives, and I hope I have been able to give you some insight into the world of politics and government.

I am leaving the newspaper industry and my writing career behind me. I will be going on to pursue other interests, and I look forward to exploring new opportunities. I will continue to write, but I will be doing so for a different audience and in a different medium.

I have enjoyed my time at the newspaper and I have made many friends along the way. I will miss the camaraderie of the newsroom and the challenge of writing for a daily audience.

I want to thank all of you for your support and encouragement over the years. I have been very fortunate to have such a dedicated readership, and I have enjoyed hearing your feedback and comments. I hope that you will continue to support local journalism and the press in the future.

Thank you again for your support and I wish you all the best in the years to come.

CTA INVESTIGATION CONTINUES

Conspiracy theory explored; police arrest 5 more whites

Bob Simon Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — Confused officers shot three black men during pre-dawn raids Wednesday in a neighborhood of Philadelphia, police said.

Police said they fired on two of the men as they fled after shots rang out from a home. The third man was shot as he tried to escape.

Police said they arrested five men after the shooting, including one who was wounded. They said the other suspect was shot and killed.

The shooting occurred in the city's West Philadelphia neighborhood, which has been the site of several confrontations between police and residential groups. Police said they were responding to a call about a suspicious person when they came under fire.

Police said the men were charged with theft, possession of a firearm without a permit, and conspiracy to commit murder.

The shooting occurred just hours after another officer was shot and killed in the same area.

Officer Gerald H. Semple Jr., 42, was killed Wednesday when he was shot in the head while trying to return fire at an armed robber.

The shooting was the third such incident in Philadelphia in recent months, and it raised questions about police tactics and procedures.

But police said they had no information about a possible motive for the shooting.

Philadelphia Police Commissioner Charles H. H. Ross Jr. said he was confident that the investigation would result in the arrest of everyone involved.

"This is an absolute tragedy," Ross said.

"We are doing everything we can to find those responsible."
Clinton, European leaders meet in D.C. to mark opening of Holocaust museum

Nita Levendoski
Associated Press

President Clinton and European leaders met in Washington Wednesday to celebrate the opening of a new museum dedicated to the victims of the Holocaust.

The museum, which was dedicated by Clinton and European leaders, is a reminder of the horrors of World War II and the importance of remembering the past.

The museum features exhibits and artifacts that highlight the atrocities committed during the Holocaust and the importance of preventing such events from happening again.

The opening of the museum was a significant moment in the history of the United States and Europe, and it serves as a starting point for conversations about the past and the future.

Clinton and European leaders also discussed the importance of working together to promote peace and understanding in the world.

The joint statement issued by Clinton and European leaders called for continued efforts to promote respect and tolerance for all people, and to work towards a future where such atrocities will never happen again.

The ceremony was attended by leaders from the United States, Europe, and other countries, and it was a symbol of the ongoing commitment to remember the victims of the Holocaust and to work towards a better future.
Nothing positive about Hawkeye loss

Leathernecks blank Iowa on six hits

Carla Briggs

The Leathernecks were not a happy bunch three days after losing to the university of Western Illinois on a double header. The loss put the team back on the field in the rain that was caused by a storm off the Great Lakes and the only positive thing to come from the rain was the double header.

The team is now 9-10-1 on the year and 3-1 in the Big 10 Conference. The team is also having a hard time finding a way to break the losing streak after a season that started with a win over the University of Illinois.

"We need to find a way to get back on track," senior pitcher Ted Smith said. "We lost two games on the road this week and we need to get back on track before we lose another game."

THY Ol’ U PIZZA: Montana, So long, San Francisco

Wendy L. Lane

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — In his final game as a starting quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, Steve DeBartolo Jr. couldn’t have been more pleased. At least not on the field. He thanked the team, his peers and fans and relayed to them the message that he was leaving the team he loved. But the game was one that he will never forget. It was the last chance he had to win the Super Bowl. And, in the end, he fell short. But he made sure that Montana, the man that he admired the most, did not.

The game was the catch made by Dwight Clark in the 1981 NFC championship game that sealed Montana’s place in the annals of history. Montana, the quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, threw the 17-yard touchdown pass to Clark in the closing seconds of the game, giving the 49ers a 28-27 victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

Montana at the news conference, took time paying tribute to the quarterback they traded.

“Joe Montana has been the heart of the offense for 11 years, the team’s leader and the intimate friend of all of us and most especially the owner, I.D. Skelton,” Policy said.

Skelton praised Montana as a longstanding 49er, and DeBartolo raved of his own quarterback.

But they agreed it was time for Montana to move on and for Montana to publicly, Montana left with only a sense of regret.

“I feel bad for Montana, I feel bad for the organization and for Montana. It had to be done,” DeBartolo said.

Police Sgt. Chris Tarentum said it had not been determined if the man found at Walder's apartment was connected to the case.

Investigators believe the man put one of the pipe bombs in the 1978 Dodge pickup truck where the blast occurred, Waldron said.

In a separate incident Monday night, a pipe bomb detonated in a vehicle driven to a gymnasium parking lot in Seattle, police said Wednesday.

Police in Pullman, Wash., said three pipe bombs were found in a vehicle in a parking lot at Washington State University.

Fitzpatrick's was one of the pipe bombs found in the Idaho football player's car in February, Waldron said.

The bomb was found by a walk on the pickup truck.

Investigating agents also are looking into the possibility of linking the two incidents.

Waldron was scheduled to question Saadat, said Michael Weatherly, a special agent for the FBI in Seattle.

Weatherly said a search warrant had been obtained to search Saadat's home.

Weatherly said a march yielded "significant" bomb-making materials, including pipe bomb caps, adhesives and the ingredients for smokeless and black powder.

"We found some minor interesting stuff at Walder's apartment also," Weatherly said.

"We have two people were running from the car and no arrests were made," Weatherly said. "Mesure, Idaho, home of Pullman police chief Ted Weath­erly "Buddy" Walder, said a march yielded "significant" bomb-making materials, including pipe bomb caps, adhesives and the ingredients for smokeless and black powder.

"We found some minor interesting stuff at Walder's apartment also," Weatherly said.

"We think that there may be a connection," he said.

Investigators do not believe the Washington State men were linked to radical or extremist groups.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Thirty minutes before the first tee times turned into a two-hour ordeal for Fred Couples.

"It's not like last year's PGA player of the year award, but it's a fair price to pay for the game I love," Couples said before gearing up for Tuesday's cleanup round at the Greater Greensboro Open. Couples had missed the cut in the 1-0 deficit in the second round at the Masters and had made only two cuts since.

"But as a professional golfer, you never dreamed you would reach the level of his sport," Couples said. "So I never thought I would have to deal with that." Couples and his family were dragged through the hotel lobby by some of the fans on Monday.

Couples is the fan favorite in his first trip to tour stops at Wheeler Farms and was greeted as if he were playing his 20th year. "People .. . where before I could MONTECARLO, Monaco — Top-seeded Stefan Edberg and Ivan Lendl (No. 2) got off to a good start by advancing with $1.65 million Monte Carlo Open.

Edberg survived a first-set-to-none battle, finally ousting Janet Beden 6-7 (6), 7-6 (4), 6-2 in their third round Tuesday. He then beat the former world No. 1, who was also a quarterfinalist last year, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Lendl, who has visited Monte Carlo six times, took another step toward the French Open by beating a 24-year-old in the semifinals and advancing to the quarterfinals with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Spain's Emilio Sanchez Vicario in the third round.

Lendl was bidding for his first title here since 1987 and second overall in his last 10 visits to the tournament. The first-seeded American is 9-1 against Sanchez Vicario.

"It's a tough group," Lendl said. "There's a lot of pressure.

STUTTGART, Germany — Andrei Medvedev, who had a 9-0 lead in the championship match, came back to win the title.

Medvedev, the No. 3 seed, advanced to the final with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Aaron Krickstein, a finalist last year. "They were new faces," Medvedev said. "I was in the tournament with a lot of inexperienced players. I don't know if I had to play at the same level."

Medvedev came back from two Medvedev, after losing in the last round of the 1990 tournament, where the Ukranian won the title.

Convict suing actor Olmos over alleged portrayal in movie

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - An actor who plays an anti-hero for three seasons on television has brought in an anti-hero for $8 million to sue actor Edward James Olmos and Universal Pictures.

The case may be the first in which an actor has sought to litigate the rights to his own portrayal on the show. Olmos has been sued by Epic Pictures, which is producing the movie "The Other Side of the Mirror," about a jazz film noir that was shot in the '30s and early '40s.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Los Angeles Superior Court, says that Olmos' character, a man named America, was portrayed as a drug dealer and is being unfairly characterized by a share of the profits from the movie.

The suit also accuses Olmos of reducing the character's role in the show as a result of the movie.
Maddy’s ‘Amistad Revolt’ a tribute to profound event in black history

Sonja West
The Daily Iowan

Around the year 1840, 53 Africans were kidnapped from their home in the East African country of Sierra Leone to be auctioned into slavery in Cuba. During their voyage to another port, the Africans, under the leadership of Joseph Cinque, freed themselves and mutinied.

“This is really an historical event that contributed to the abolition of the slave trade,” Maddy said of the revolt. “These people were persecuted, but they were helped by the abolitionists and were eventually defended by John Quincy Adams. They got their freedom and went back to Sierra Leone.

Maddy said many positive steps were taken because of the Amistad Revolt. American missionaries began to travel to Africa and black colleges were set up in the United States. The abolition movement also began soon after the revolt.

“The Amistad perhaps made certain things happen before the time that they would have happened,” Maddy said.

Maddy’s original play, which will debut tonight in the conclusion of the UI Black Action Theatre Festival.

LaToya Jackson’s husband busted after fight leads to chair attack

Associated Press

NEW YORK — LaToya Jackson’s bizarre marriage took a violent turn early Wednesday when her husband accused of attacking her with a dining-room chair.

It was not clear what prompted the alleged outburst at the couple’s Manhattan apartment, but Jack Gordon was arrested on assault and weapons charges, said police spokeswoman Sgt. Tina Mohrman.

Jackson, 36, was treated at a hospital for injuries to her face, legs, arm and back, and then discharged.

Her marriage to Gordon has raised eyebrows. The couple say they never consummated their 1989 marriage, which they claim was prompted by LaToya Jackson’s family’s purported attempts to kidnap her.

Welcome to RiverFest '93

Welcome from the RiverFest Executive Director

On a sunny day in 1978, four University of Iowa students were playing frisbee and listening to music along the banks of the Iowa River. They developed the concept of RiverFest and in 1979 the Iowa City community witnessed the event, a three day celebration of Spring at the University of Iowa. In 1987, the RiverFest Council was joined by Eliot, and he has been the mascot ever since.

This year the University of Iowa finds "Eliot on Tour." Eliot and the twenty member RiverFest Executive Council have been planning the tour since last September in order to offer an incredible array of events. The eight days of RiverFest will begin with the powerful sounds of Battle of the Bands and continue through the beautiful and exciting finish of the Dragon Boat Races.

I encourage you to help us celebrate Eliot the Duck's seventh birthday and the arrival of Spring. Experience the sights, sounds, sun, and relaxation that is RiverFest '93.

Rich O'Connor
Executive Director
RiverFest 1993

A RiverFest message from President Rawlings

For most of our community, RiverFest needs no introduction; everyone is welcome, and almost everyone takes part. RiverFest is our real Spring Break at the University of Iowa: a festive interlude of food, fun, and frolic after the rigors of winter and before the pressures of final exams take hold. For a whole week, usually in full sunshine, the Iowa River is the center of campus life.

As you cavort on the riverbank, you do more than provide a spectacle for the ducks. Whether you come for the music, the sporting events, the children's activities, or the arts and crafts displays, you partake of the rich diversity that marks our common life. I am delighted to welcome all of you to RiverFest, and I hope you will enjoy our 15th annual celebration of Spring at the University of Iowa.

RiverFest Mainstage

More acts and bigger labels at Mainstage '93

By Carrie Thoeming

Mainstage, which will feature three acts along with the winner of Battle of the Bands, will return to RiverFest's Super Saturday, May 1. The event will be held at Hubbard Park, located by the Iowa Memorial Union, from roughly 11:00-7:30 p.m. Rex Daisey, along with labeled bands such as TripMaster Monkey from the Quad Cities, and blue's performer Lonnie Brooks are scheduled to perform. At least one more act is expected, but is yet to be announced.

Sam Kinken, who is in charge of Mainstage this year, has high expectations for the success of the event, "The headline act is going to be much larger than last year." The 1992 RiverFest headline act was Material Issue.

Opening for Mainstage will be the winner from the annual Battle of the Bands. Seven bands will compete for this honor on April 24 at the Union Bar starting at 1:00 p.m. The winning band will receive $800 in addition to performing at Mainstage. The second place band will receive a guitar from Battle sponsor, Guitar Foundation, and all other bands will receive $100.

Chris Cleek, director of Music which includes Battle of the Bands, describes the bands as being "mostly alternative music." The seven bands picked for this year's Battle are Misled, Noise Ordinance, Dove Thil Joint, On, FunkFarm, Clockwerk Orange, and High and Lonesome. "There is a lot of variety to draw a diverse crowd," said Cleek.

Additionally this year, Soundstage will be moved from the Wheelroom Patio to Hubbard Park underneath a tent. The two acts scheduled to perform are The Blues Instigators and Pimentos for Gus. These bands will play between set changes for Mainstage. Soundstage will be held outside, rain or shine, while Mainstage will be moved to the Main Lounge, IMU, in case of rain.

The performances at Mainstage will have special meaning this year. They will be dedicated to Bill Graham, a concert promoter who died a year and a half ago. He worked mainly in the New York and San Francisco areas. This year's Mainstage is sponsored in part by the Iowa House, IMU Food Service, University Alumni Association, and the University Book Store.

RiverRun '93 to pull out the fun run, 5K walk, and 5K and 10K races. April 25.

This year's race promises to offer something for everyone with four divisions: a one mile fun run, 5K walk, and 5K and 10K races. In addition, a new category, the Duck Awards has been added to the race this year to draw more participants.

"We are doing something new to involve more runners so not only the 'best' runners win," Race Director Jennifer Lange said.

The Duck Awards will be given to the first person to cross the line who let's say, is wearing an Iowa shirt or a pair of swim goggles." Runners can get as creative as they choose in the outfits worn.

The course is run within Iowa City limits and is mostly flat with one major downhill and four steep grades. The starting line is located on Madison Street in front of the Iowa Memorial Union. The race will end on Clinton Street in front of Burge.

There will be aid stations along the course and at the starting and finish lines. The race is TAC certified, which according to Lange means that "the times can be used to qualify for other races."

Registration after April 11 is $13.50. The fee includes a T-shirt, but only those who register before April 11 will be guaranteed a shirt at packet pick-up. Race packets will be available from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. April 24 and from 8 a.m. April 25 in the Terrace Lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Lange said she hopes the price of the race will help bring in a larger number of participants than in the past.

"The number of runners has varied from 600 to 1,000," Lange said. "Last year it was down a little bit, but we're hoping the lower price this year will boost it up."

A Fitness Fair, including workshops and displays, will be held from 9:00 a.m. to noon in the Ballroom at the Iowa Memorial Union. Fruit and refreshments will be served. This will also be the site of the awards ceremony to follow the race. If winning runners are not able to attend the ceremony, awards can be picked up in the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities in room 145 of the Iowa Memorial Union, Monday through Friday.

Registration is now available at area businesses, The Dome, Iowa, and the University box Office (335-3041.)

Lange said she hopes the race will strengthen relations between the Iowa City community and UI with over 200 volunteers.

"The purpose of RiverRun and of RiverFest, as a whole, is to bring the University and the community closer together," she said.

Multicultural activities add diversity

By Rachel Swatland

On Saturday, May 1, 1993, RiverFest is continuing its tradition with the Multicultural Food Tent. From 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., south of the Wheelroom Patio, a variety of ethnic foods including Chinese, Mexican, and African will be sold to the public. This food tent is one of the main events during RiverFest, so don't miss it!

In addition to the food tent, there will be a Martial Arts showing from The Academy of Martial Arts, Coralville. It's an excellent opportunity to view Karate experts, Chinese Kung Fu masters, and Tae-Kwon-Do professionals. Not only is there martial arts, but people will get a chance to show off their talents as the University of Iowa Folk Dance Club gives lessons in folk dancing. Additionally a Traditional Dress Fashion Show, Latin American Dance and Song, and Dance from India will be showcased. These performances were added to RiverFest's agenda to allow people the experience of enjoying a culture other than their own.

Another multicultural event is the Arts for Kids program located in the same area as the food tents and martial arts showing. There will be an information board full of decorative clothing which natives used to wear. In addition, there are native pictures which children may color. This is yet another way in which people can actually get involved and learn something new. All multicultural performances and activities will take place on the Wheelroom Patio and will be held in the Wheelroom in case of rain.

According to Winnie Chan, Multicultural RiverFest Executive, "This will be a great opportunity for the people who come out for these events to get involved, be educated about different cultures, eat good food, but above all, have fun!"

This year the Multicultural Committee includes seven students who are adding their own diverse backgrounds to organizing these events. Some of these students come from places as far away as Japan, Denmark, Taiwan, and Ghana. This diversity will give foreign and American students the chance to better understand each other.

CBS College Tour targets students

By Kristin Palmer

Have you ever dreamed about being a famous television star or a professional athlete? What about competing on your favorite game show for prizes? This year at RiverFest '93 all your dreams will come true as CBS brings their college tour to Hubbard Park for the first time ever.

This exciting nationwide tour is at over 40 college campuses this year, offering free attractions to all students. There are over 5000 prizes that can be won by all on Thursday, April 29 from 11:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. and Friday, April 30 from 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Hubbard Park. The tour will be held outside, rain or shine.

One activity, Studio CBS, has a set that is modeled after "The Young and the Restless," where students may act out scenes while being videotaped for free. Another is the Broadcast Booth where students may create play-by-plays of the greatest moments in sports by recording over actual footage of a classic. Others include being a movie critic in a theater, playing "Family Feud," or "The Price is Right," participating in a basketball game, or trying your hand at the job of a meterologist in a weather booth. Every participant receives a free video or gift following his or her activity.

A unique challenge is the Comedy Quiz. Contestants watch selected scenes on a big screen television, and when the scene stops, the contestants have to guess the next line by selecting from multiple choice answers. The one who scores the most correct answers wins a special prize. Executive Director of RiverFest, Rich O'Connor, had this to say about the tour, "We anticipate this to be a yearly tradition during RiverFest and are extremely excited about it." This event will put a whole new edge onto RiverFest with two whole days full of fun and excitement.

By Mike Ferrieri

Bill Murray, John Candy, and James Belushi are a few famous alumni that began a good part of their comedy careers with The Second City, a comedy touring group from Chicago. The Second City will make one of its stops in Iowa City during RiverFest week on April 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the IMU.

The Second City was founded in New York in 1967 when they formed their first touring company. It was an instant success as it traveled to college campuses throughout the country. Surprisingly, the attraction to the comedy act was not the future stars such as Martin Short or Dan Akroyd, but rather the improvisational brand of comedy that was brought to the audiences. Many topics were used in this improvisation that were thrown out by the audience such as politics and social problems.

In 1976 Andrew Alexander, an organizer of The Second City in Chicago, came up with the idea of SCTV. The program was later syndicated across the country and for a short time NBC filled a late Friday night slot with it. Graduates of SCTV heightened their careers by moving on to Saturday Night Live and the silver screen.

The Second City finds its way to Iowa City during RiverFest week for a night of improvisation. Come watch this hilarious group that has produced such stars as Bill Murray, George Wendt, Martin Short, and Gilda Radner.

Watch the Dragon Boats race down the Iowa River on May 2 as they compete for first place. This event is becoming an annual tradition of RiverFest Week in Iowa City.

Palm Beach

The traditional styling and tailoring of the '365' suit by Palm Beach adds to the fit and comfort essential to the American man's lifestyle. Tailored in a year round blend of 55% dacron polyester and 45% worsted wool in solids, stripes and plaids; single or double breasted, plain or pleated trousers; perfect for interviewing or your normal business appointments...made in the USA.

REGULAR FIT- Normal 6" drop clothing
Example- 42 Coat; 36 Pant

ATHLETIC FIT
8" or 10" drop clothing...
broader shoulders, slimmer waist and trimmer seat.
Example- 42 Coat; 36 or 38 pant

BIG & TALL
For you guys, Ewers have both the regular and athletic fit, but in bigger and taller sizes.
