Chlorine to create tax trust to pay off nation’s deficit

Teresa Hart
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Saying he doesn’t believe Americans are interested in Washington, President Clinton on Wednesday proposed putting all federal surplus funds into a trust fund to cut the national deficit.

"We can’t wait another year to live within our means," the president said.

The White House is projecting $110 billion in federal surplus funds for the fiscal year that ends next October. Clinton is proposing spending only a small fraction of that in order to reduce the nation’s huge budget deficit.

"This hurts because we know that when we say we’re going to do something with the people’s money, we have to be ready to put our money where our mouth is," the president said.

"I’ve been all of you, Americans, feeling anxious, feeling uncertain. This president doesn’t belong to the people of this country, he belongs to the American people. And when he says he’s going to do something about the deficit, he means it.

"People deserve an Administration that can meet its commitments, and that is what we intend to do."

Said Representative Sol Walowitz, a Delaware Democrat, "I don’t know what the people of America think, but I’ve been waiting for decades to see a Democrat who could bring a tax system that makes sense and that is fair and that is in the interest of America.

"I am hoping that Congress will be able to pass this plan and that the people of America will be able to trust their government."
Students of dandelions on inherite value of lawn weed

by Timothy Conner

The Daily Iowan

With their flowers dotting green spaces all over Iowa, dandelions elicit mixed reactions from homeowners and agricultural producers alike. Some profess love for the little flowers; others would much rather them growing in a weed. December 15, 1992

The Daily Iowan

Dandelions can add a subtle splash of color to any lawn, and you don’t need to grow them for a more aesthetic pleasing environment. While some U.S. residents consider dandelions a weed, others see them as a useful part of the lawn.

"I like to stomp on them. They’re an ugly weed."

Shelly Condon

Everyone who sees dandelions knows they’re a nuisance, but many people don’t realize the value of using them as "natural fertilizers," said Shelly Condon, a junior

The Daily Iowan

Dandelions have been used as a natural fertilizer for many years, and you don’t need to grow them for that purpose, either. The combination of yellow and white flowers makes them a beautiful addition to any lawn.

VEGETAILS, OF COURSE

IC residents grow their own with help of area farmers

The products are organic.

The Daily Iowan

As they work with a local farmer to get a better understanding of their crops, homeowners and students say they’re anxious to have the chance to get a closer look at the vegetables they grow. Community members say they’re excited to be able to get the chance to learn about growing organic food.

By taking part in a project called "Community Supported Agriculture," participants say they will learn about the process of growing vegetables.

"It’s the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

Lisa Elgin, a member of the University of Iowa’s CSA project, said, "We’re just starting this direct contact with the farmers growing our food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"We’ve had touch of our own food," she said. "We forget that the food on the shelves is a farm."

Chapman said she first learned about the CSA at a conference she attended in Minnesota last fall.

"When gathering information from news sources and books," she said, "we had an idea on how to start a CSA project.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.

in conjunction with community mem-

ten to grow organically.

The farmer constructs a budget which includes the cost of labor and all supplies needed for growing the produce. Participants then purchase shares in the land and receive portions of the harvest.

The project is designed to bring consumers closer to their direct contact with the farmers growing their food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"This is the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

"The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together," said Condon.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.

in conjunction with community mem-

ten to grow organically.

The farmer constructs a budget which includes the cost of labor and all supplies needed for growing the produce. Participants then purchase shares in the land and receive portions of the harvest.

The project is designed to bring consumers closer to their direct contact with the farmers growing their food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"This is the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

"The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together," said Condon.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.

in conjunction with community mem-

ten to grow organically.

The farmer constructs a budget which includes the cost of labor and all supplies needed for growing the produce. Participants then purchase shares in the land and receive portions of the harvest.

The project is designed to bring consumers closer to their direct contact with the farmers growing their food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"This is the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

"The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together," said Condon.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.

in conjunction with community mem-

ten to grow organically.

The farmer constructs a budget which includes the cost of labor and all supplies needed for growing the produce. Participants then purchase shares in the land and receive portions of the harvest.

The project is designed to bring consumers closer to their direct contact with the farmers growing their food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"This is the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

"The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together," said Condon.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.

in conjunction with community mem-

ten to grow organically.

The farmer constructs a budget which includes the cost of labor and all supplies needed for growing the produce. Participants then purchase shares in the land and receive portions of the harvest.

The project is designed to bring consumers closer to their direct contact with the farmers growing their food, said Denise Condon, Iowa State University Extension Organic Projects Coordinator and an Iowa City CSA participant.

The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together, said Condon.

"This is the first time the project has been done in Iowa," said Lisa Elgin, senior in journalism.

The Daily Iowan

"The CSA is an attempt to bring farmers and consumers together," said Condon.

The project has been in Japan and some areas of Europe, according to Chapman. The project has been in the U.S. for 12 years and is now branching out to other parts of the country.

For it to operate successfully, participants must be willing to put down some of their personal time to help in the harvest.
Grinnell offers tips on highway safety

Associated Press

GRINNELL, Iowa — A pamphlet aimed at reducing highway safety problems by helping Grinnell students avoid distractions while driving has been distributed by Grinnell College and a regional group.

Burlington County police officers have personally gone door to door on the campus, trying to emphasize the importance of staying safe while driving.

The pamphlet was distributed to all registered students in a mailer on April 13, 2006, and is available at the Grinnell College police department.

The pamphlet contains tips on how to stay safe while driving, including:

- Avoid texting while driving.
- Keep your phone in your pocket or on the mount when you're driving.
- Never get behind the wheel if you're drunk or under the influence of drugs.
- Always wear your seatbelt.
- Maintain a safe distance from other vehicles.
- Be alert and focused on the road.
- Use your turn signals.
- Avoid distractions.
- Keep your vehicle well-maintained.

MORE receives $98,960 in funds to aid 2-month research project

Book buy-back program expands

Outlets have been engaged in Mayflower, Buffalo and Quadrangle.

Sean Wiederhold

The Daily Iowan

Finals week is almost over, and many UI students are selling back their books in celebration. While the buy-back book markets are a great opportunity to get more students to sell back their books, they are not for everyone.

"I've sold books back to the bookstore before," said one UI student. "I got a pretty good price."

"I've never sold books back to the bookstore," said another UI student. "I don't see the point."
THE DAILY
Thursday, May 13, 1993

KEYSTONE ALAMO

EDITORIALS

The cost of democracy

LAW

Iowa City's children between spring semester and summer session will be lured up by this year's special election. Of course, a lot of students will be grumbling, but it seems to me that the big trouble leaders and institutions are just as glad that there's been a disturbance anti-democracy process, anti-student rhetoric swirling around.

The Iowa City-County Board's former council member, Scott Engstrom, calls it a special election on the 1993-94 school budget. Most students had no idea what the election was about, and the special election is no better for the election. At the end of June 15, and the special election is set for July 15.

Council member William Ambroscio took time to point out that 40 percent of the signatures were collected from UI residence halls.

Even the city council only begrudgingly scheduled the election, with a 5-4 margin. Last week it was reported that the council had no other option but to conduct a special election. On May 20, Iowa City councilman William Ambroscio took time to point out that 40 percent of the signatures were collected from UI residence halls. According to Iowa City papers, the student body did not have a say in the election.

Most students travel on the Iowa City and don't have a say in the election. At the end of June 15, and the special election is set for July 15.

Iowa City and subscribers, let's hope the only solution to this is to bring the issue to a head. The Iowa State Constitution, Iowa City residential halls.

"Students must be able to trigger the election."

Iowa City and subscribers, let's hope the only solution to this is to bring the issue to a head. The Iowa State Constitution, Iowa City residential halls.

"Students must be able to trigger the election."
Two people were killed in the November 1992 accident.

Informed about

Brett S. Day, a passenger in a car that crashed Saturday morning in Coralville, was killed when the vehicle veered off the road and hit a tree. The accident occurred about 11 a.m. on North Liberty Road, just north of U.S. 151. The driver of the car, identified as Daniel R. Snider, was transported to Mercy Hospital in Coralville with serious injuries.

COFFEE

Five knives were discovered in the possession of a man who was arrested for disorderly conduct at a coffee shop in Coralville. The man, identified as James A. Sturgell, was charged with disorderly conduct after he refused to leave the shop when asked by the staff. He was later released on a bond of $500.

STUDENTS

A student at the University of Iowa was arrested for possessing a firearm on campus. The student, identified as John E. Miller, was found carrying a .44-caliber handgun in his backpack.

For more updates, please visit our website or follow us on social media.
Outlining flaws, strengths in Clinton's approach to presidency

Joe Sederhusen

Although a great many economists and other social scientists agree that the Reagan economic policies of the 1980s were irresponsible, the cost of that policy was not fully realized in the economic downturn of the 1990s.

President Bill Clinton has learned this lesson in a very stark way. The administration's economic policies, which it has repeatedly bragged about, include the creation of a national economic management team and increased economic forecasting ability. These are all of the main ideas that the Reagan administration put into place.

Clinton has tried to tackle the problem of economic growth, particularly in the areas of reducing tax burdens, stimulating investment, and creating jobs. Despite this, the economic situation remains very difficult. The administration has acknowledged that the economic policies of the 1980s were not optimal, and that there is a need for a new approach to economic policy.

One of the main strengths of Clinton's economic policies is his emphasis on the importance of training and education. He has proposed increased funding for education and training programs, and has emphasized the importance of investing in the human capital of the economy. However, critics argue that the administration's policies do not go far enough in addressing the structural problems of the economy, such as the decline of manufacturing and the rise of service industries.

The administration has also faced criticism for its fiscal policies. Some economists argue that the administration's budget deficits are too large, and are contributing to the economic problems of the country. Others argue that the administration is not doing enough to address the issue of federal debt.

In conclusion, while Clinton's economic policies have some strengths, they also face many challenges. The administration must continue to work on addressing the economic problems of the country, and must be prepared to adjust its policies as needed.
Clinton doesn’t want Bosnia ‘to be Vietnam’

Jerry Schwarz

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Clinton said Wednesday it was in America’s interest to make sure there was no war in Bosnia, but that he didn’t support efforts to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement. The president made those remarks in a speech to the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Clinton, who said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, said he was disappointed that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.

He said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, but that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.

He said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, but that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.

He said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, but that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.

He said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, but that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.

He said he had been ‘reaally, really, really close’ to making the trip to Sarajevo last week, but that he had to cancel the trip because of the political opposition.

‘I don’t want to see this country go down the same road again, and I want to try to do whatever I can to prevent it.’

The president also said that if he had to make a decision today, he would be ‘much less likely’ to go to war against the Serbs in Bosnia.

He also said he would not support any effort to ‘strongarm’ the Serbs into a settlement.

The president was speaking to the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C.
New colon cancer test developed

Daniel Q. Haney
Associated Press

BOSTON — A major study shows how a new blood test that screens for colorectal cancer can accurately reduce the risk of death from the disease, using a test that reduced the risk of death from the disease by more than 40 percent in one study.

The study is the second major development in colon cancer screening in two years and could pave the way for widespread use of cheaper alternatives. Researchers who conducted the latest estimate suggest that if the test were used on an average person, it would save at least 50 lives every year.

By allowing doctors to avoid surgery for cancer, the test is expected to reduce the risk of death from colorectal cancer by 40 percent or more, according to research published Monday in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Researchers noted several limitations of the test, however, including a lack of validated screening tools and the need for more research.

The study included 90,000 people in the United States, Canada and Australia, who were randomly assigned to one of the two groups.

The test is the second major development in colon cancer screening in two years and could pave the way for widespread use of cheaper alternatives.

Cardinal Charles Coughlin

The Associated Press

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — Cardinal Charles J. Coughlin, who has been credited with helping to create the modern day televangelist, has died at age 98.

Coughlin, who was known for his humanitarian work, had been a leader in Catholic news and communications for decades.

Coughlin delivered the keynote address at the National Association of Broadcasters convention in 1974.

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — All the candidates for president are calling for better health care policies, but they are divided on how to achieve that goal.

President Donald Trump has argued for lowering costs through deregulation, while Democratic candidates like Sen. Bernie Sanders, I-Vt., are pushing for a more comprehensive approach.

CHEERS

Clifford from Page 1A was an encouraging view of a Barry Brown, Jr., who has a good heart and a great sense of humor. "The man is always very nice and he is there to help people," said Clifford.

"It's about giving back to the community," said Brown. "I am a part of the community, and I want to be able to help others in any way I can."

For those who won't know him, Mr. Brown is the face of the City TV Station in New York. He has been a part of the TV world for over 30 years. That's right, he's been a part of the TV world for over 30 years on his birthday.

For you as a..."
Clinton plan may require new tax breaks

The congressman from New York, William L.代夫 (D), said that his plan would add about $15 billion to the federal budget deficit.

"It’s not a tax cut," Mr. Travaglio said, "but it’s a tax break for those who invest in new businesses." He added that the plan would also provide a tax break for small businesses that have been hit hard by inflation.

"The plan is designed to help small businesses that have been struggling," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"We want to give people a break on their taxes so they can invest in new businesses," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"The plan is designed to help small businesses that have been struggling," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"We want to give people a break on their taxes so they can invest in new businesses," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"The plan is designed to help small businesses that have been struggling," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"We want to give people a break on their taxes so they can invest in new businesses," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"The plan is designed to help small businesses that have been struggling," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"We want to give people a break on their taxes so they can invest in new businesses," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.

"The plan is designed to help small businesses that have been struggling," Mr. Travaglio said. "We want to give them a break on their taxes so they can invest in new equipment or expand their businesses." He said that the plan would also provide a tax break for individuals who invest in new businesses.
Improbable 'Dave' works in spite of flaws

Tasha Robinson
The Daily town

Remember "The Distinguished Gentleman"? The Rifle Eddie Murphy made in 1979? Now "Dave" is trying to make it, but this time it's the 1993 version. And this time it's more like a novel than a movie.

"Dave" is the story of a young man whose life is in shambles. He's had a string of flops and is now working as a photojournalist in New York City. He's also the subject of a mysterious plot by the Mafia, who want to get their hands on his photos of a top Mafia boss. And to make things worse, he's also got a problem with his boss, who wants to fire him.

But "Dave" is also the story of a young man who is trying to make it in the big city. He's trying to make a name for himself as a photojournalist, and he's got a lot of talent. But he's also got a lot of problems, and he's got to deal with them all if he's going to make it.

"Dave" is a story of survival, and it's a story of hope. It's a story of a young man who is trying to make it in the big city, and it's a story of a young man who is trying to survive. And it's a story of a young man who is trying to make a name for himself.

"Dave" is a story of a young man who is trying to make it in the big city, and it's a story of a young man who is trying to survive. And it's a story of a young man who is trying to make a name for himself.
MAJOR LEAGUES: Roundup

Selected from Page 13.

New York 9, Philadelphia 7

The New York Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in the first game of their series at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees scored four runs in the third inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

New York 8, Boston 2

The New York Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox in the second game of their series at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees scored five runs in the second inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Pittsburgh 3, Philadelphia 2

The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in the first game of their series at PNC Park. The Pirates scored two runs in the fourth inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Pittsburgh 6, Philadelphia 4

The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in the second game of their series at PNC Park. The Pirates scored six runs in the first inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

San Francisco 4, New York 3

The San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Yankees in the first game of their series at AT&T Park. The Giants scored four runs in the fifth inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

San Francisco 3, New York 2

The San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Yankees in the second game of their series at AT&T Park. The Giants scored three runs in the second inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Chicago 8, Houston 2

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Houston Astros in the first game of their series at Wrigley Field. The Cubs scored seven runs in the third inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Chicago 7, Houston 2

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Houston Astros in the second game of their series at Wrigley Field. The Cubs scored seven runs in the first inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Los Angeles 7, Arizona 3

The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Arizona Diamondbacks in the first game of their series at Dodger Stadium. The Dodgers scored five runs in the third inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Los Angeles 5, Arizona 3

The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Arizona Diamondbacks in the second game of their series at Dodger Stadium. The Dodgers scored five runs in the first inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Seattle 3, Texas 2

The Seattle Mariners defeated the Texas Rangers in the first game of their series at Safeco Field. The Mariners scored three runs in the third inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.

Seattle 3, Texas 2

The Seattle Mariners defeated the Texas Rangers in the second game of their series at Safeco Field. The Mariners scored three runs in the first inning to take the lead and held on for the victory.
MCI

Work part-time this summer in our inbound customer service department. Training begins Monday, May 17. Hurry - the next training class is available in July.

EARN $5-$10 per hour. ($5.33 + bonus)

ENJOY benefits such as paid holidays, free long distance on breaks, & more!

LEARN valuable sales and service skills from a leader in the telecommunications industry.

APPLY OR CALL NOW

323 3rd St.
Cedar Rapids, IA 52242
1-800-728-9597

1925 Bayrum
Iowa City, IA 52240
319-364-0384

---

GRASS ALLERGY?????

Reserve yourself a job!
(and valuable experience for the future)

By wiring the heart with grass,
Iran a worthwhile summer job that goes to seren. Zarim often qualified applicants order a part time investment with a guarantee that is free of human error, a downtown location, and much more. Give us a call to get your way to your interview.

ZACSON

CORPORATION

801 S. Washington St., Suite 220
Iowa City, Iowa 52240

www.zacoson.com

---

COUNTRY

Starting Today, You Can Work With The Best!!

Getting employment opportunities is a one step process. Call Us! Fortunately, customer service oriented individuals are needed for the following positions:

Housekeeping

- Flexible Schedule
- Pay depending on experience
- Group Health and Retirement
- Excellent Management Team

Apply Monday - Friday, 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Contact person:

CASEY SMITH

605-357-1775

---

SUMMER SPECIALS

925 Iowa Ave.

337-3560
Chris Jack --

Men's

2%

KniD

Pat

Barry

WlllOn Alvares

III

'little

Minnesota

Wednesday, insisting leaders son to $7 .1 million next year.

executive committee announced proposed days after tic s star now in just can't keep taking hits like

"Sal's surgery to repair a tear in his right rotator cuff and the Bando says the revenue decrease revenue for each team

Brewers president Bud replied four

Wednesday .

There's

really puts us in a precarious points and

Davis

34 to have all victory. .

The

The

The

Johnson 7·17 2·2 16 , Newman 3·5 2·2 8,

Adroe (2-3) .

Wells

m in the final minutes of the playoffs didn't say

"We 'd Ilk

will proposed national we 'll be

25, Mason 5012 IHl 10 , Anlhony () .1 1·2

points and Davis

2-0 deficit in the final was 14 votes,

horror; the Netherlands the Knicks in regulation - a broke pass for ways to Banda said Wednesday .

"It

to be the one to

101 An, elee

"Hi

"There's

we 'd undergo arthroscopic points be the one to the last period .

didn't want to feel found though the stretch in the last period .

it's an incredible, incredible wouldn't have anything wrong with we were dead in the water

three things still happened to us ."

they happened because of Patrick playing like one of the Twins his eyes who was stupidly taken out of the line-up, of make sense.

"It was an incredible, incredible

we

will is terrible.

"It's

it's

at least can't keep taking hits like like

It's

one of

It's

it's terrible.

"It's

incredibly

We "d Illk

it's

"We 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will

we 'd II l

will