IC school named after Irving Weber

The Iowa City Community School Board voted unanimously Tuesday to name the district's future elementary school after Irving Weber, a retired school administrator. Weber was also a former school board member. The new school will be located on Rolfe Road in northeast Iowa City. Construction is expected to be completed by the beginning of the 1996 school year. The school will be housing 8th Weber Elementary School.

IC man surrenders after 2-hour standoff

Johnson County Sheriff's Officers took part in a two-hour standoff Saturday night after responding to a domestic violence report at 7310 Holiday Trail Court, in Shueyville.

When they arrived, officers were advised that there was a man inside the trailer, and that he was armed with weapons. Officers secured the trailer and were waiting for the man to come out.

After two hours, 31-year-old Karl Kloubec surrendered and was arrested with a charge of assault with intent, a class D felony. Kloubec was taken to Johnson County Jail. He has since released on $13,000 bond.

Cracker Jack celebrity
100 years of corn prizes
Cracker Jack is the counterpart of what the Postum Cereal or the Popeye Cereal once were. People take it for granted and think that it’s always been there, but it’s kind of the holy grail of junk food. Back in the day, people put a lot more thought into the products we use today. But this snack was a great way to pass the time and the best part is that you can still find it in stores today. The Cracker Jack is a classic example of how snacks can be a fun and delicious treat.

Cracker Jack was first introduced in 1914 and has been a favorite snack for over a century. The snacks are sold in small bags with a simple prize inside, usually a small toy or a piece of candy. The toy is often a small, stylized version of a popular character or theme. The prize is what sets Cracker Jack apart from other snacks, as it is an added element of fun and excitement.

The Cracker Jack Prize is a small toy or miniatures that can be won by constructing a puzzle from the pieces inside the bag. The prizes are designed to fit together, and the puzzle is typically difficult enough to keep children entertained for a while. The prizes range from small toys like a stuffed animal to more elaborate items like a model car or a dollhouse.

In addition to the prize, the Cracker Jack also includes a small booklet that tells the stories of the various prizes and the characters they represent. This booklet is a fun and educational addition to the experience, teaching children about the history of the snack and the characters it features.

Today, Cracker Jack is still a popular snack and is enjoyed by people of all ages. The snack has been a part of many people’s childhood memories and has stood the test of time, remaining a favorite treat for generations.

In conclusion, the Cracker Jack is a classic snack that has been a source of joy and excitement for people of all ages for over a century. The combination of the delicious snack and the fun of solving a puzzle has made it a timeless treat that continues to be enjoyed by people of all ages. The Cracker Jack is a testament to the power of simplicity and the joy that can be found in a small bag of bite-sized snacks.
Iowa's American Indian-run gambling halls enjoying sudden success, profits

Iowa - They're making loads of money.

"We're making a profit of about a million dollars a month," said Robert William, chairman of the Cuidad Ojibwe tribal community. "And that's not counting the revenue from the Indians." The Cuidad Ojibwe tribe operates the only Indian casino in Iowa. The tribe has been running the casino for about a year.

The casino, called the "Box Casino," is located in the Iowa City area. It has 100 slot machines and 10 table games. The tribe has been making about $2 million a month from the casino.

The tribe has been able to attract customers from other states, such as Illinois and Wisconsin. The casino is also popular with tourists who are visiting Iowa City for other reasons.

"We've been able to attract customers from all over," said William. "And we're able to make a profit of about a million dollars a month." The tribe has been able to use the revenue from the casino to improve its facilities and to provide more services to its members.

Focus on issues needed

During this paper's hiatus, we've seen the better part of a city council primary race. Three candidates - Bruns Figgit, Katy Moersch, and Kenneth Wessels - are vying for the District C seat, currently held by incumbent John Hess, who is not seeking re-election.

Unfortunately, the US community has been out of the loop on this campaign. Figgit, Moersch, and Wessels have been getting little from voters, and they have been doing little to attract them. The candidates have beenbusy with their campaigns, and they have been doing more than just talking.

It seems they are doing more than just talking. They have been doing more than just talking. They have been doing more than just talking.

As John Hess notes, "It's a sad accident of timing, especially since I am a candidate in that primary. Many people have been misquoted in the City newspaper. Many people have been misquoted in the City newspaper. Many people have been misquoted in the City newspaper."

On the other hand, Hess is on the right track. He has a serious plan. Yet his efforts at opening the process are to be commended.

But he seems out of touch with much of Iowa City; Figgit has been described as being knowledgeably about responsible development, and she's calling for increasing fares for city buses - heading the committee that successfully fought for the school bond.

Moersch focuses on downtown, and she's calling for increasing fares for city buses - heading the committee that successfully fought for the school bond.

Wessels is a registered Democrat, and she becomes disconcertingly vague on any subject other than he speaks knowledgeably about responsible development, and she's calling for increasing fares for city buses - heading the committee that successfully fought for the school bond.

POLITICAL FIRST IN CANADA

Female prime minister chosen

Jeffrey Ulrick

OTTAWA - Defense Minister Kim Campbell was acclaimed Saturday as prime minister of Canada, becoming the first woman leader of a major Western nation.

"As a woman, I am delighted by this fact," said Caterina Brandow, a 26-year-old woman who has been a member of the British Columbia provincial assembly for two years.

Brandow said she had been "delighted" to hear the news of Campbell's victory.

"I think it's wonderful," she said.

"I think it's a great day for all women," she added.

"I think it's a great day for all people," she continued.

"I think it's a great day for all Canada," she concluded.

Campbell's victory was seen as a significant step forward for women in politics, particularly in a country that has a long history of gender inequality.

"It's a great day for women," said one of Campbell's supporters, who declined to be identified.

"It's a great day for Canada," she said.

"It's a great day for democracy," she added.

"I think it's a great day for all humanity," she concluded.

Campbell, who has been a member of the Conservative Party for 15 years, was elected leader of the party in January.

"I think it's a great day for all women," she said.

"I think it's a great day for all men," she added.

"I think it's a great day for all humanity," she concluded.

Campbell's victory was met with widespread support and enthusiasm, with many people expressing hope for a more inclusive and equitable political system.

data make an informed decision about whether or not their children should take the test.

US Vice President for Academic Affairs Peter Nation said the proposed changes would allow faculty and students to work more closely.

"This is a specific statement for institutions of what's expected of them," he said. "It's a comprehensive tool to give guidance to them.

The policy is only in draft form. However, the faculty was asked to respond by May 15. If approved by the faculty, policy there will be ample opportu nities for the general public to respond to it. It will be reviewed by the fac ulty again in September hopefully before implementation in the fall, he said.

In other recent headlines, the US will present its progress in strate gic planning. The Strategic Plan was developed in 1987 in order to get a general direction for the university and to organizing the administration's aspiration to become one of the 20 best public universities in the nation.

In the past, the US has criti cized for lack of female faculty members and for not providing graduates with adequate job positions. US Vice President for University Relations John Johnson has made a statement and that will be continued.

"There's been some progress in this area, certainly, with more women, better performance, the development and maintenance of support for female faculty, but we need to do more than that," he said. "But we need a larger pool of applicants who are interested in it," she added.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

ROCKIES 6, CUBS 4

The Rockies rallied from a 4-0 deficit to win their fourth straight game, taking the series from Chicago 4-1. Lisle, the Rockies' starting pitcher, was solid, giving up three runs in six innings. "I'm not sure I've ever anything as bad as that," said Chicago's manager, "but it's still good to have a win." The Rockies' offense was led by Johnson, who went 3-for-4 with two home runs and five RBIs. "Everyone is really clicking," said Johnson. "I hope we can keep it up." In the ninth inning, the Rockies scored three runs on a single by Garcia, including a two-run double by Hayes. The Cubs' starter was out after six innings, giving up five runs. "We just couldn't get anything going," said the Cubs' manager. "Our bats are cold." The Rockies' bullpen was solid, allowing one run in three innings of relief. The win improved the Rockies' record to 29-31. "We're playing good defense," said the Rockies' manager. "That's key." The Rockies next play Tuesday against the Angels.

Phillies keep Mets' Young on the skids

Associated Press

New York - The New York Mets aren't the type to just get up and kick things into high gear.

Young hit his first straight-deuce home run of the season and drove in four runs on Friday night as the Mets spoiled Tom Seaver's 14th save.

Young (7-0), who has been out with a rabbit's foot injury, had a debut story Thursday night. Young (7-5) allowed only two hits and two walks in his nine innings.

Seaver (7-5) had lost his 21st game in his last 26 starts when he faced Young on Wednesday. Young (7-5) allowed only two hits and two walks in his nine innings.

Seaver (7-5) allowed only two hits and two walks in his nine innings.

Seaver (7-5) allowed only two hits and two walks in his nine innings.

George Clovis, 24, of Alexandria, Va., is a member of the Mets' front office. He allowed nine hits and eight runs in the fourth, but blanked the Cubs in the fifth.

The Dodgers staked Hershiser (7-5) to a 1-0 lead in the fourth, but he blanked the Cubs in the fifth.
