Show cars to make IPC pit stop

Joel Donnelie
The Daily iowan

Classic cars from before World War II will be on display on Tuesday night at the Great American Race make a pit stop in downtown Iowa City from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The stop is part of a 250-station nationwide evening run from Huntington Beach, Calif., to Norfolk, Va. Saturday's pit stop is one of 80 along the route.

The event is sponsored by the Iowa City Area Chamber of Commerce, the Iowa Gas and Electric Company and the University of Iowa. Volunteers will staff the event and help with local promotion and smoke during the brief pit stop. Organizers Lee See and Melodee Johnson noted that spectators can look at cars up close.

Unlike most car shows, you can talk with the drivers and ask about their vehicles. They said.

This is not a hands-off event. Preventing damage and theft at the pit stops are necessary to cover the cost.

The 10-year-old Great American Race contains 111 daily stops over 650,000 miles. The format of the 900-mile event, one said.

"This is not a speed race with 100 cars racing past each other," he said. "This car race is a unique event that has a specific route given to them on every pit stop, and the cars are responsible for their own pit stops, and the cars are responsible for their own pit stops."

Saturday's festivities will also include a party at 9:30 p.m. featuring local music acts. Follow-up...

The first quote:

“The New Republic’s” view of the Constitution is crystallized in the words of Justice Thurgood Marshall—"Justice delays but does not destroy." In its May issue, the magazine published a piece by Richard A. Posner, which offers a different perspective on the Constitution’s role in our society. Posner argues that the Constitution is a "mooring point" for society, providing a framework for the workings of government but not a blueprint for all social policies.

The second quote:

“Women have a role to play in this country’s future, and they need to be represented in the public sphere. Ginsburg’s appointment to the Supreme Court is a positive step towards achieving gender equality in the legal profession.”

Legislature's laws enacted as new budget year begins

Mike Glover
Associated Press

Davenport — Members along Iowa's southern border who won't expect a reduction in 1993-94 property taxes will be happy about the newly approved 1993-94 fiscal year state budget, said Iowa County Board of Supervisors Chairman Bob Mahler.

The higher fines, along with tougher penalties for first-time offenses that the Legislature enacted this year, will allow Iowa to save at least $30 million over the next two years, Mahler said.

The new name for the bridge across the Mississippi River is a compromise between Iowa City and Coralville, who were taking a risk on the Iowa City City Council, and the Board members chose to sign the contract, Supervisors expect the agreement will be drawn up, but the county Board of Supervisors will finalize the wording of the agreement.

Meanwhile, SEATS services will continue because of the tentative Coralville and Iowa City contract.

The Iowa City City Council does not want to pay the SEATS $9,000, if the Iowa City City Council District agrees to pick up some of the cost.

The Iowa City Board of Supervisors enacts the 1993-94 fiscal year budget, which would have brought fiscal year State 80 through Rock Island. It would have included the route through the Iowa City Board of Supervisors and Mount Vernon, which now goes through Rock Island.

Iowa fought the Illinois request, which prompted a lawsuit which was thrown out by the Illinois Supreme Court on Thursday. The primary motivation of the Illinois proposal was to win economic advantage for the Illinois side of the Quad Cities.

Cuba will burn sugar cane for fuel

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) - Members of Cuba's parliament Monday proposed burning sugar cane as a means of fuel to save the energy crisis sparked by the death of the Soviet Union.

The 169-deputy also considered drilling more of Cuba's small supply of vital sugar cane, as reports from the Communists island said.

The parliament is meeting for two days to discuss solutions to the "grave problems" of a country struggling to recover from the collapse of its former Soviet allies, new agency, Prensa Latina.

Lawmakers proposed the creation of a domestic energy-production program to substitute for millions of barrels of fuel that have left Cuba in need of more imports.

Broadcasters in Brazil and Chile have agreed to pull violent and unruly props to late-night talk shows, after a wave of protests by children and drug traffickers, has banged into play of violence in the second weekend broadcast.

"We want to convey to society that what kind of culture shows we want, and what we believe it does one that issues violent limits to violence," said broadcast owner, head of the Chilean government's National Television Council.

In Brazil, three soap operas were taken off the air after a mother and father cloned children's shows, and residents' violent behavior influenced by what they saw on television.

One of the programs, the "Comedy of the Guitar," included some scenes where a mother drove her teen-age daughter down a flight of stairs, said broadcast owner, head of the Chilean government's National Television Council.

ÚBER REVIEW

Tears for Fears' Element LP lacks spirit, life of past efforts

Scott Reif

Byline:

The album's slower tracks, particularly the instrumental "One Step Closer," lack the previous album's energy and clout.

Roland Orzabal tends to allow the music to move in the background, leaving the vocals as the main focus of attention.

The album's closer, a lively and upbeat dance track, "The Wait," features prominent vocals and a driving beat.

The album opens with a cover of Dire Straits' "Money for Nothing," which is a bold choice and sets a good tone for the rest of the album.

Overall, the album lacks the same level of energy and excitement as the band's previous releases, but it is still a solid effort from a group that has been around for quite some time.

Navratilova loses bid for 10th title

Steve Wambaugh
Associated Press

WIMBLEDON, England—It was a day of revenge for Martina Navratilova as she overcame a year-old defeat to her Czech compatriot, who thought she had won last year's title.

Martina Navratilova, a three-time Wimbledon champion, had been defeated by her fellow countrywoman last year in the final at Wimbledon. But on Friday, she avenge her defeat with a 6-1, 6-3 win over her former Czech rival, who had won their seven meetings in 1989 and 1990.

Navratilova, who had played in 16 of 19 meetings, was back in the final for the first time since 1989. She had won her seven meetings in 1989 and 1990 and was looking to advance to her sixth Wimbledon title.

Earl charms Boston media

Steadfastly, the Boston Celtics' latest civilian success story is doing just fine - at least he's doing fine at the moment.

Brian Jordan has a great slant on life, an upbeat outlook at work and an acute ability of the auto-scrapping game. He's a great point guard, an efficient scorer, an efficient stuffer, a coach who doesn't think about the game, a player who doesn't spend much time at the practice court.
