NEW YORK — Arab heavy security, Muslim cleric Omar Abdel Rahman pleaded innocent Thursday to conspiring to commit suicide bombings, kidnappings and assassinations in the United States. The Brooklyn-based terrorists, who were identified as the major players in a plot to attack Americans, were arrested Wednesday.

Rahman, 35, and two co-defendants entered the names of people associated with the United States as terrorist threats to the United Nations in New York City.

Marching out of ‘hell week’

Hell week usually brings a royal pain in the butt. It’s the period in the fall when the band members are forced to get up at dawn to practice. It’s also the time when they have to take part in grueling exercises and activities designed to toughen them up for the coming season.

For this year’s Hell Week, the band members were faced with a new challenge. They had to practice in the middle of a flood, with water up to their necks in some areas. This made it difficult to practice, but the band members were determined to make it through.

Despite the challenges, the band members continued to practice. They were determined to make the band successful, even if it meant practicing in the water. The band members were also grateful for the opportunity to serve their community.

The band’s dedication and hard work paid off. The band went on to have a successful season, and the community was grateful for the opportunity to see them perform.

Despite the challenges of Hell Week, the band members were able to overcome them and come out stronger for it. This is a testament to their determination and hard work.

We need more of that in our type.”

Several concerned citizens have already offered to donate trees to replace those that don’t make it. Green ash, sycamore and swamp willow all make suitable replacements, they said, adding that those interested in learning more about planting could call 1-800-555-5789 or 1-800-MANCHER.

No matter what blood type you are, do your part and pray for the community. We can’t wait to see how this season plays out.”

Students give faculty plan mixed reviews

Students in temporary housing may be at risk of losing their jobs because of attendance issues. Many faculty members are aware of the problem, but they do not know how to help.

"This program is an attempt to provide some help to students who've experienced a great deal of destabilization," said Richard Hurst, UI professor of anthropology and president of the UI Faculty Senate. "All members of the university community can participate." Hurst said the university has added a few policies clearer to faculty and staff.

The purpose of the manual is to "make policies clearer to faculty and staff," said the manual producer, Mallory Atwood.

The handbook was updated after many years to make policies clearer to faculty and staff. The latest edition will help professors and teaching assistants prepare for their classes.

"We really completely revised it this past summer," she said. "It's seen a more chronological order and includes the actual language."

Specifically, the policy states, "When the faculty member presents him or her own views on such (controversial) issues, they should always be identified as such... and should not be offered as fact.

This policy had previously been presented in the Operations Manual, where of course these things are, Hurst said. "We put a lot of effort into making it more accessible."

"I'm amazed coming from the East Coast, (I)... but you have such good facilities in the heartland of America."

The UI needs to improve its policies and procedures regarding equipment inventory and travel advances, according to a report released Thursday by State Auditor Dave Sieck.

The report recommends that the university take action to ensure all departments conduct an accurate review of equipment inventory every two years and make sure all equipment items are tagged and recorded in the university's accounting structure.

The report states that the university's policies and procedures on the issuance of travel vouchers are also in need of improvement.

The report concludes that the university should establish a specific deadline for the receipt of travel claims and that the university should maintain a record of delinquent travel claims to ensure that a greater percentage of such claims are dealt with in a timely manner.

The auditor also noted that the UI needs to improve its policies and procedures on the issuance of travel vouchers, as well as for ensuring timely reporting of travel expenses.

Chris Pothoven, director of the auditor's office, and Lynn M. Tefft, assistant director, said that the report represents a significant step in the auditor's efforts to ensure accountability over equipment inventory and travel advances.

Southeast Iowa left without power today after a transmission line in Missouri knocked out electricity to about 3,000 customers of utilities in the region.

By late Thursday, service had been restored to most of the area, said Fort Madison Dykes, a spokeswoman for Central Illinois Electric Co.

Dykes said Fort Madison was the last community to have power restored, after two hours and 26 minutes without electricity.

The report recommends that the university establish a specific deadline for the receipt of travel claims and that the university should maintain a record of delinquent travel claims to ensure that a greater percentage of such claims are dealt with in a timely manner.

Lisa Jo Hochstetler, 42, of Carroll, Iowa, was sentenced Thursday to one year of probation and placed her on probation for one year. In addition, she will have to undergo a mental-health evaluation and pay $25 in court costs.

Hochstetler was convicted in June of making a false report about finding a syringe and said she meant it to be a joke.

At her hearing before Magistrate Frank Comito, Hochstetler admitted to putting a syringe in the area, said she meant it to be a joke.

Muslims look to convoy for safety

Sejela Vodic/Associated Press

A U.S. vehicle makes a patroll past a burned bus and part of the Parliament building Thursday in Sarajevo. The building and surrounding area is heavily burned and is now the scene for fighting between Bosnian-led forces and the Serbs.

Nation & World

Croatia's president Zivorad Mladic said the convoy could be going to Mostar to drop off its supplies, the Associated Press reported.

Croatian Red Cross vehicles entered the city to distribute supplies, but the convoy is not expected to return to its starting point until Friday.

More than 400,000 Bosnian Muslims are expected to leave their homes in the next few days, according to the UNHCR.

The convoy is the largest of its kind in the region and includes 300 buses, trucks and ambulances.

The convoy is expected to leave Mostar in the next few hours and travel to the nearby town of Medjugorje.

Croatian Red Cross officials said the convoy is providing shelter and medical aid to those fleeing from the fighting.

The convoy is also carrying food, water and medical supplies to the population in the surrounding area.

Croatian Red Cross officials said the convoy is expected to continue its journey to Medjugorje, where it will be met by a smaller convoy.

The convoy is expected to reach its destination in two months.

The official spoke on condition of anonymity.

For more people, memories of the gathering of 500,000 people in Washington's Memorial Stadium during the Washington Mall on Aug. 28 are not borne out by a speech in which the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. built an emotional plea for equality in the nation "I Have a Dream." But more than one in three of those polled -- 37 percent -- say they are not familiar with that event.

Those who were young adults during the '60s are most likely to have clear memories of the march, the poll indicates. But older Americans, who are less likely to know a speech to blacks was made to young adults, whose school now generally includes black history.

About 60 percent of those polled say the nation has made substantial progress toward King's dream of racial equality, but 30 percent say "not very much" progress has been made.

Blacks believe the situation is much worse than whites do -- 41 percent of blacks think there has not been much progress toward equality, compared to 27 percent of whites, the poll found.

Getting information out of the dark

"Everybody knows that corruption thrives in secret places, and avoids public places, and we believe it is a fair presumption that secrecy means impropriety." Woodrow Wilson proclaimed this view to the 1913 campaign trail, emphasizing that "Government ought to be all out and in the clear.

The National Archives Monday released over 300 boxes of CIA documents, photographs, letters and other materials pertaining to the imprisonment of President John F. Kennedy.

Kept secret for nearly 30 years, this was a small step for the federal government, but a giant leap toward the establishment of open governmental operations.

Official secrets have too often made the nation less secure against threats from abroad and at home. More often than they have white-washed wars, fraudulent and unconstitutional actions. Illegal activities have been hidden with the blanket of government secrecy and the integrity of the Constitution has slowly eroded through submission to executive privilege.

The National Archives Monday released over 300 boxes of CIA documents, photographs, letters and other materials pertaining to the imprisonment of President John F. Kennedy. Kept secret for nearly 30 years, this was a small step for the federal government, but a giant leap toward the establishment of open governmental operations.

It had always been the American way to reject secret government. Since the inception of the Cold War, however, government has used covert operations to become the rule rather than the exception. Ironically, the zeal by which we have sought to keep secrets has brought about the very phenomena we were trying to change.

We have created a situation in which nations to smuggle drugs to the rich American market in exchange for cash, weapons and sundry other items which allow them to maintain power. Meanwhile, our domestic spending for secret weapons programs has created the same.

Racism: exactly what you think it is.

I happened again. Every day I hope that it will never happen again, but it always does. And I’m always trying to figure out how to deal with it. It’s tough. It’s one of those things in life for which we can never fully prepare. What to do in a crisis. How to handle it. How to deal with the aftermath. What to say to the kids. How to teach them to stand up for themselves. How to teach them to be strong. How to teach them to be brave.

I’ve often thought about the power of words. How words can build a world. How words can destroy a world. How words can save a life. How words can take a life. How words can heal a heart. How words can break a heart.

Teams get ready for opener

Saturday Press

Baltimore Ravens

The Ravens made their first trip to the West Coast this season and we're not afraid to admit it.

But they're not just thinking about their game against the San Francisco 49ers this weekend.

They're also focusing on the possibility of playing against the Los Angeles Rams in the Super Bowl.

The Rams are the defending champions and have a chance to repeat as champions this year.

So the Ravens are taking things one game at a time.

They're working on their game plan and trying to stay focused on their game against the 49ers.

The Ravens are coming off a playoff loss to the Tennessee Titans last month.

But they're confident they can bounce back and make it to the Super Bowl this year.

They have a tough task ahead of them, but they're ready to take on the challenge.

So the Ravens are getting ready for the opener and the rest of the season.

Good luck, Baltimore Ravens! We're rooting for you!
Seminoles get chance to prove ranking

Associated Press

For months, football fans have heard about Florida State's dominance. Now the Seminoles have a chance to back up their preseason billing when they play Kansas State on Saturday at State Farm Stadium at East Rutherford, N.J.

"We are taking this seriously," linebacker Derrick Brooks said. "We need to show that we deserve the No. 1 spot."

The Seminoles are 20-point favorites over Kansas, which went to overtime last season. "We don't want to overlook Kansas, but they are no slouches in our way to a national championship," head coach Bobby Bowden said.

The Seminoles beat Bucklin and five other defensive starters from last year's 1-11 team, but those high-profile losses should make for any defensive weaknesses. "Our defense is driven by senior quarterback Charlie Ward, a dangerous runner who has a school record for total offense, 131 yards last season.

Kansas has 12 starters back from last year's 3-8 team, which beat BYU in the Aloha Bowl.

Kansas State has lost its last six games against No. 1 team by an average score of 47-10.

U.S. OPEN

Top seeds may have rough road

Associated Press

While top seeds may have an easy and probably a smooth road to the fourth round at the 1993 U.S. Open, it's more than a fair bet. Rarely, if ever, has a field been more loaded with talent.

It seems so far. Maybe not.

No. 1 Jim Courier appears to have a relatively easy path to the fourth round, but he could face a challenge in third-round play. He begins against Spain's Manuel Orantes, winner of the recent Deauville, France event.

Australian Fred Stolle is another possibility to watch. Stolle was runner-up to Courier in the same event.

Friday lineup showing promise

Scott Williams
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Here's an advance look at fall's new Friday prime-time TV shows:

"BOY MEETS WORLD" (premiere Sept. 23) Bob Saget stars as the innocent, emotionally childlike at 9, Paxton holds the lead in the Tuesday half-hour with "Laverne & Shirley." A good solid show, Paxton is a very good actor who has played difficult roles before. He should have a good shot at winning an Emmy for his efforts.

"ADVENTURES OF BRISCO COUNTY, JR." (premieres Sept. 24; premiere Sept. 7) The best show on TV. It's the most intelligent, well-written, well-acted television on the air with a good chance of winning an Emmy. The cast is strong, including Michael J. Fox as the lead, and it has a good chance of winning an Emmy for its writing.

"HERE IS THE END" (premieres Sept. 20)2) Peter Sater ("Morpion") finally gets the star turn he deserves in this wry, affectionate look at the world of TV. The show is about the power of the medium and how it affects our lives.

"THE X-FILES" (premieres Sept. 20) The most successful, most watched show on TV. It's a supernatural thriller about a paranormal phenomenon. It's a supernatural thriller about a paranormal phenomenon. It's a supernatural thriller about a paranormal phenomenon.

Charlie Sheen is a very good actor who has played difficult roles before. He should have a good shot at winning an Emmy for his efforts.

In the past, people were expected to stay strong in face of social, financial or moral pressures. Now, people are expected to stay strong in face of social, financial or moral pressures.

"BEAVIS AND BUTTHEAD" are two of the most popular shows on TV. They are both very successful, with a good chance of winning an Emmy. The cast is strong, including Mike Judge and Matt Stone as the lead, and it has a good chance of winning an Emmy for its writing.

Iowa Review authors to offer up new essays, short stories

Amy Weinman

As the city rests between the peaks and troughs of the Great Flood, a renaissance focusing on the site of our own futures emerges tonight. The Iowa Review is bringing writers exploring new responses to the headquarters of home to Prairie Lights Books, 15 S. Dubuque St. Tonight, the Iowa Review series "Prairie Lights" begins a series of readings by Iowa writers. Carol De St. Victor, and Joshua Clover will read starting at 8 p.m. The reading will be broadcast live.

Carol De St. Victor will read from her new book, "The Fire." In this month's issue of the Iowa Review, Carol says, "The Fire" is a collection of stories about her travels and her sense of home and belonging. She writes, "These stories are a facsimile of what I see, a portrait of the world previously unimagined, but now visible, a place where I can find a sense of home and belonging."

John Ilil

Iowa Review author John Ilil will read from his new book, "The Fragility of Our Fictions." In this month's issue of the Iowa Review, John writes, "The Fragility of Our Fictions" is a collection of essays exploring the boundaries of home and the complexities of identity. He writes, "These essays are a reflection of my own journey towards understanding where I come from and where I am going."
