WASHINGTON — The Clinton administration Thursday backed Baszus Muslim organizations for a larger scale of territory and threatened air strikes if Serbs and Croats resisted ousting aggressors.
"Even I would say that the NATO action is very much alive," President Clinton said.

He tied the threat to any resolution of Serb shifting of barages, the besieged Baszus capital, or any agreement to return to territory within the peace talks have broken down.
The State Department broadened the threat to include any new Croatian drive against Muslims in Bosnia.
The aim was to deter renewed aggression of Serb and Croatian separatists to wesson their offer to end the 17 month war in Bosnia-Herzegovina.
It was reported by Russian President Ali Jazhar to be inadequate to guarantee his country's survival and the talks in Geneva, Switzerland, collapsed Wednesday night.

Unfortunately, the war will continue,
Croat President Franjo Tudjman and afterwards.
State Department spokesman Michael
White held back, "This is a milestone with ominous implications."

Campbell warns elderly about frauds

Rima Vossely
The Daily Iowan

"If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is," local Attorney General Bonnie Campbell warned recently.

Campbell addressed the issue of elderly frauds. She said she has received thousands of reports of frauds related to the Iowa Department of Victory, a state agency that helps veterans and their families.

"It's important to be aware of the types of frauds that are occurring in Iowa," Campbell said. "With the aging population in our state, it's crucial to educate people on how to avoid falling victim to these scams."

Campbell listed several examples of common scams targeting seniors:

- Telemarketing frauds are also prevalent, she said. "Telemarketers will call you, claiming to represent a charity or foundation, and ask you for money. Be cautious and always verify the legitimacy of such organizations."

- Mail frauds, such as false notifications or bills, are another common scam. "If you receive a letter or bill that seems suspicious, contact the organization directly to confirm its authenticity."

- Credit card frauds are also a concern. "If you suspect a credit card has been compromised, report it immediately to your financial institution."

- Phone scams, such as impostors claiming to be tax collectors or government officials, are prevalent. "Always verify the identity of the caller and do not provide personal information over the phone."

Campbell urged seniors to be vigilant and to educate themselves about common scams. "It's important to stay informed and to be proactive in protecting your identity and assets," she said. "With careful planning and vigilance, we can help prevent these types of frauds and protect our community."
States may pay 10% of cleanup

Mike Glover
Associated Press

BRENTWOOD — President Clinton's decision to sign away federal authority to prosecute those guilty of 19 percent of the massive cleanup costs brought long-drawn-out lawsuits to an end Thursday.

Gov. Terry Branstad and Clinton broke a promise to treat flood victims the same way victims of terrorism are treated in other disasters. Democratic Sen. Tom Harkin said Thursday that Branstad could have been "a statesman" if he had preserved the law that those states got nine.

"I don't know if Indiana's statesman," said Branstad.

Republican Sen. Charles Grassley said he would introduce legislation to ease the requirement.

Smoking habit an individual’s choice

My feelings about smoking are well-documented. But it is clear in light of recent events, it is time now for us to re-examine our previously held views on smoking. There has been a lot of media attention being given to smoking as an issue. There is a lot of discussion about whether smoking is a cultural phenomenon or a personal choice.

In addition, it is important for us to remember that smoking is a personal choice. People should be able to make their own decisions about smoking. It is not for us to dictate what others should do. Smoking is a personal choice that people should be able to make for themselves.

But in a world that seems to be ignoring out of control — a world where the water supply is contaminated, the air is polluted, and the environment is in danger — we need to realize that smoking is a personal choice that we cannot control. Forgive us.

We’ll still be in Somalia long enough to ensure that safety and order will be sustained

It’s easy to see why many Americans are concerned about the safety and order in Somalia. The situation there has been very difficult and dangerous for the past few years. However, I believe that we need to continue our efforts to ensure that safety and order are maintained.

While there have been some challenges, the United States and its allies have made significant progress in stabilizing the situation in Somalia. The United Nations has played a critical role in providing a framework for discussions and negotiations. The Somali government has also taken steps to address the root causes of the conflict.

In conclusion, I believe that we need to continue our efforts to ensure that safety and order are maintained in Somalia. It is important that we remain committed to this goal and work towards a peaceful resolution of the crisis.

Cable: another reason to kill your TV

It wasn’t supposed to be like this. Somehow, everything has gone wrong. Cable has become a nightmare. Instead of providing us with a way to watch our favorite shows, it has become a distributing network for content that is not suitable for all audiences.

The first time I saw a cable box, I thought it was a great idea. It was the future of entertainment. However, as I’ve watched it grow, I’ve come to realize that it is not what I thought it would be.

In conclusion, I believe that we need to re-examine our relationship with cable. It is time to consider whether it is serving our best interests or not.

Not a racist

The term "racist" is often used to describe someone who is racially prejudiced. While I believe that it is important to be mindful of our words and actions, I do not believe that this description is accurate.

In my experience, I have never met a single person who could be described as a "racist." I have met many people who are not prejudiced and who treat others fairly.

In conclusion, I believe that we need to be careful when using this term to describe someone. It is important to use language that is respectful and inclusive.

Argentinian 'free love' cult baffles police

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Dozens of devoted, unmarried, heterosexual men and 30 adults belonging to a cult described as an "alternative lifestyle group" were arrested Wednesday in Buenos Aires.

Twelve adults were charged with "complicity to kidnap and conceal children" following a police raid Wednesday on 10 Ramon Azara homes belonging to members of the cult, known as the Family.

Eighteen adults and 26 children, ranging in age from 1 to 18 years, were placed in court custody and were being examined by psychiatrists and doctors for signs of abuse.

Most of the adults and children are foreign to the United States. Cases in France, Brazil, France, Venezuela and other countries.

Britain: Thousands of domestic workers live in slave-like conditions

LONDON, England (AP) — Remy, a young maid from the Philippines, said she worked up to 20 hours a day for a woman who slapped and insulted her, gave her little or nothing, and allegedly accused her of theft.

She fled after a vicious attack over a decibew per cent, Remy said, ending 11 months of torment with the Egyptian woman and husband, a brutal diplomat.

Police could offer only sympathy, she said, because "there was nothing they could do to a diplomat's family.

Human rights groups say thousands of foreign workers live like slaves in some of Britain's poorest backwaters.

"Britain's Secret Slaves," a report published by Anti-Slavery International, an independent advocacy group, puts the number at 4,500, while the Home Office says the number is 1,200.

Many are beaten, insulted, locked up, and are threatened with deportation if they resist. Among those have been a 23-year-old, an 18-month-old boy, and an age 17.5 hours a day and 59 percent get no time off.

The average monthly salary is $350.

Argolian civilians trampled as warring sides fight to the finish

USBA, Portugal (AP) — Hundreds of civilians were trampled in the street and wounded as the government and opposition forces fight to the finish in what they both consider a fight to the finish.

U.N. officials have estimated as many as 1,000 deaths a day in the southern African nation, mostly from hunger but some as the result of fighting.

The civil war has turned citiees into battlegrounds and garrisons, while war-torn families, churches and hospitals are becoming deathly as armies.

Immigrants to return

MOSCOW, Poland (AP) — After leaving Poland, Artur Tarnowski struggled for years to learn America's ways and language. Now he finds himself in a strange and foreign land.

"I am treated as an unusual creature — one who speaks Polish has a strange attire and looks. I come in, I pursue a job until it's done," said Tarnowski, who worked on Wall Street before returning to Poland.

"I have lost a job, and a visa, and a home."

Zielinski and Tarnowski are among the tens of thousands of Poles who fled the country in the 1980s to seek freedom and economic opportunity, now Poland is democratic and capitalist, so many have come back.

They are lured back by new companies that seek people fluent in foreign languages and experienced in Western business practices.

Israel: Demjanjuk's detention extended

ERONL, Israel (AP) — A judge Thursday ordered another delay in the deportation of former Auschwitz administrator Ivan Demjanjuk from Israel, granting a new appeal on behalf of Holocaust survivors and Nazi hunters who demand a new war crimes trial.

The ruling by Theodore S. J. Supreme Court justice, marked the fifth time that Demjanjuk's deportation order was delayed to permit review of new petitions seeking a new trial.

Eight Supreme Court judges and the attorney general have recommended against a new trial, citing the danger of double jeopardy and saying legal proceedings against Demjanjuk are already being delayed for too long.

Search for Aidaev evolves into high-tech hunt

MOGADISU, Somalia (AP) — The U.S. and its allies are searching for a Somali warlord suspected of training and arming Somali Muslim extremists to lay siege to American embassies in the Horn of Africa.

Changing the Name: With the new building in place and the excitement of the season, the Iowa athletics department is making some changes. The name of the football stadium will be changed to Kinnick Stadium, honoring the late University of Iowa football coach, Hayden Fry. The goal is to make the stadium more fan-friendly and to create a more positive atmosphere for the players and fans alike.

The Hawk Eyes face Valparaiso and New Place with Richard Brown, linebacker, returning from his injury. The team will be looking to build on their recent success and continue their streak of dominance in the Big Ten Conference.
Penn State fans reprogram

Nittany Lions players, followers lose East Coast football mentality, adjust to Big Ten Conference.

In a season of layoffs, Penn State had its sights set on Big Ten opponents and was not looking for great things to happen against the Big Ten.

As the Nittany Lions prepare for their first game of the season, the team is looking to improve its record against the conference.

Coach Joe Paterno said that the team is ready to take on the Big Ten and that they are looking forward to playing against some of the best teams in the conference.

The team is expected to have a strong season and is looking to make a statement in the conference.

The team has been working hard in practice and is looking to carry that momentum into the season.

The team is also looking to build on the success of last season and is looking to make the NCAA tournament.

Homecoming for Montana

Dave Goldberg
Associated Press

Think of it as hummus week at Iowa City.

Joe Montana, in his first game with the Chiefs, got things off to a steady pace when he fired a 22-yard touchdown pass to Tony Rice on the Chiefs' third play from scrimmage.

That touchdown was one of two Montana threw in the Chiefs' 24-13 victory over the Browns.

Montana finished 13 of 23 for 232 yards, with one interception and two touchdowns.

The Browns, who had won two of their last three games, were no match for Montana.

Montana, who spent his entire career with the 49ers, was a free agent this year and was signed by the Chiefs.

He has been on the practice squad as the Chiefs' backup quarterback.

But Montana was the starter against the Browns, who were coming off a loss to the Seattle Seahawks.

In his first game since 1993, Montana was able to throw TD passes to Rice and T.J. Loney.

Rice caught four passes for 78 yards, while Loney had two catches for 40 yards.

Montana also had a 72-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, his first rushing TD since 1991.

The Chiefs' defense held the Browns to 232 yards of offense, including 130 in the first quarter.

The Chiefs improved to 5-2 and are in the thick of the playoff race in the AFC West.

In the AFC North, the Pittsburgh Steelers won their third consecutive game, defeating the Baltimore Ravens 27-13 at the Rose Bowl.

Josh Humphrey ran for 104 yards and a touchdown, while Ben Roethlisberger threw for 206 yards and two TDs.

The Steelers, who are now 3-0 in the division, are in the thick of the playoff race in the AFC North.

In the NFC West, the Dallas Cowboys won their third straight game, defeating the Arizona Cardinals 31-10 at the Cotton Bowl.

Tony Romo threw for 243 yards and three TDs, while DeMarco Murray ran for 110 yards and a TD.

The Cowboys, who are now 4-1 in the division, are in the thick of the playoff race in the NFC West.

The Browns remain winless, falling to 0-7 on the season.

In the AFC North, the Cleveland Browns lost their fifth consecutive game, falling to 0-7 on the season.

Browns quarterback DeShone Kizer threw for 228 yards and a TD, but it wasn't enough to overcome a poor performance by the team's defense.

The Steelers, who are now 3-0 in the division, are in the thick of the playoff race in the AFC North.

In the NFC West, the Arizona Cardinals won their third straight game, defeating the San Francisco 49ers 23-10 at the Levi's Stadium.

David Johnson ran for 97 yards and a TD, while Carson Palmer threw for 214 yards and a TD.

The Cardinals, who are now 3-1 in the division, are in the thick of the playoff race in the NFC West.

The Browns remain winless, falling to 0-7 on the season.

Workshop grad to read from new book on AIDS

Shelia Thiel
The Daily Iowan

To honor the AIDS Quilt exhibit at the Library, Dr. Abraham Verghese will add further insight to the story of the quilt's creation at a workshop Sunday at the IMU, 3:00-5:00 p.m. The workshop, "My Own Country," will be followed by a Q&A session.

Verghese, a professor of medicine at Texas Tech University and a 1982 graduate of the UI, will read from his new book, "My Own Country," at a Tuesday workshop, 8:00-9:30 a.m. at the IMU. He has discussed the book, which will be published later this year by Simon & Schuster in the United States and Oxford University Press in the United Kingdom.

In addition to a long list of publications to medical journals and periodicals, Verghese has also published fiction and essays which have appeared in the New Yorker, The New Yorker and Sports Illustrated. After receiving his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania, Verghese's medical career has taken him from the university hospital in India to others in Tennessee, Massachusetts and Texas, where he is currently chief of infectious diseases and preventive medicine.

"Live From Prairie Lights" begins at 8:00 p.m. and will be broadcast live in WFCR-AM 89.1 and WOI-AM 1510. The reading is free and open to the public.

Taking a look at the above, we can see that there are various classified ads available, ranging from housing to employment opportunities. The ads are placed in different sections of the newspaper, catering to different interests and needs. The layout is clear and easy to read, with each ad having its own category, making it straightforward for potential buyers or renters to find what they are looking for. The inclusion of contact information for each ad is also a valuable feature, allowing interested parties to reach out directly. Overall, the classified ads section appears to be a useful resource for those seeking housing, employment, or other goods and services.
Needful Things’ just one more weak adaptation of good book

John Robinson

Daily Iowan

The question’s come up a few times this summer, as fans have complained that novelist Stephen King’s books are being made into films without his approval. The filmmakers, it seems, have taken them at face value, without giving them the slightest thought to what King had in mind. The results have been disastrous, as we saw this summer with the film adaptations of The Shining, Salem’s Lot and The Stand.

A new adaptation is now in the works, this time of the best-selling novel Needful Things. King fans are likely to be disappointed. The film version of Needful Things, a specialty and antique store that appears one day in the lives of small-town residents in Maine, will be a disappointment.

The three principal actors in the film, Max von Sydow, Ed Harris and Amanda Wyss, are all weak or bad enough when compared to their on-screen counterparts. But the consequences of that are more serious than just disloyalty to King’s work. The film version of Needful Things is a poor imitation of King’s novel, and it’s just another example of how Hollywood can turn a good book into a bad film.

The story centers around the town of Castle Rock, where a mysterious shop called Needful Things appears one day. The shop, which sells all sorts of oddities, is owned by a reclusive, eccentric character named Brian Rusk, who has a talent for finding and making useful objects out of junk.

The film version of Needful Things, directed by Alan Pangborn, suffers from an overabundance of dialogue and a lack of character development. The characters are one-dimensional and lack the depth that makes King’s work so compelling.

Max von Sydow stars as the archetypal small-town bishop, a man who is both a respected member of the community and a mysterious character. Ed Harris plays the archetypal small-town resident, a man who is both a respected member of the community and a mysterious character.

Hawkeye senior Paul Burmeister can finally step back and see the progress Iowa's offense has made.

Iowa City's own Paul Burmeister earns nod after 3 solid starts in '92

Despite his lack of starting experience, offensive coordinator Jerry Markbreit said Burmeister has developed into a better quarterback, for sure.

"He's hitting his spots. He's been on target with the ball. He's hit a lot of good throws, and has a big arm," Markbreit said.

Burmeister has thrown for 650 yards and five touchdowns in five games this year.

"I think he'll be even better this fall. He's never thrown a pass in a game. He's got a lot more experience.

"He's hitting his spots. He's been on target with the ball. He's hit a lot of good throws, and has a big arm," Burmeister said.

Burmeister's development has not been without its challenges.

"He's had to work really hard. We've got to have excellent blocking and protection up front for him to be able to throw the ball. The receivers have got to get open, and we've got to have some semblance of a running game to keep the pressure off of him," Fry said.

Burmeister has been working on his fundamentals throughout the season, Fry said.

"He's worked on his fundamentals, and he's been working on his accuracy. He's working on his footwork, and he's working on his release," Fry said.

Burmeister said having Eyde behind him has helped.

"It's been necessary to be better about that, but after a while I was out there and we got it out of our system," Burmeister said.

offensive woes last season. "We put our offense in some situ­ations they should not have been," Cram said.

Corner Mike Wells, defensive­back and Larry Blue and sopho­more George Bennett will make up this season's starting defensive team.

Wells, Iowa's career sack leader with 24, shows against Indiana last year with 13 tackles and three sacks.

Blue had 10 sacks last year, a team high good enough for 72 yards. His best game also came against Indiana, where he registry five solo tackles and three sacks.

Junior John Hartlieb, who fills the outside role of middleback in Fry's system, had seven solo tackles in the 28-12 loss at Colorado and six in a 24-14 loss to North Carolina State in the Kickoff Classic.

"We know the success of a very fine defensive team," Fry said. "I'll be disappointed if this is not one of our better defenses, and we'll be having good one.

Matt Hillard is listed No. 1 on the two-deep at right linebacker this year. He started seven games and had 14 tackles.

Mike Daily is penciled at start­ting left lineback­er.

He started 10 games last sea­son and had seven tackles in Iowa's 52-28 loss to Wisconsin in Madison, Wisc.

Senior John Fry, cornerback Scott Plante and safety strong safety Steve Olejniczak were the veterans of the defensive backfield. Plante and Olejniczak selected to the Kiffin Classic.

Olejniczak, who led the team in sacks last season with 9.5, had four against Colorado and Illinois last season.

Shaw acclimated to Hawkeyes' system

Redshirt season helps tailback learn playbook, adjust to college

Curtis Riggs

The Daily Iowan

Maybe running back Sedrick Shaw will be as adept at skirting defenders as he is at setting up situations about his speed.

"Let's just say that I can pick 'em up and put 'em down," said Shaw, who is prac ticing for the No. 1 spot at the tailback posi tion behind junior Ryan Terry.

The player Hawkeye fans are the fastest one he has ever recruited spent a year as a red-shirt last season to get acclimated to the Hawkeye system.

Shaw says it was beneficial for him to be out of competition for a year so he could adjust to his own speed.

"I put a chance to really sit down and learn the system," said Shaw, a high school Superpreps All-American from Austin, Texas, "I paid off." The year spent concentrating on school and the playbook also helped Shaw make an easy transition from the Texas hill country to the hills of Eastern Iowa.

"He gave me a chance to get adjusted to being away from home and get adjusted to school, most of all," Shaw said.

The thing that stands out about Shaw as a football player is his world-class speed, according to other Iowa players and coaches.

"Shaw is an exciting play," said running backs coach Dave Triplett.

"He's got great speed and quickness." Triplett said that Shaw's 10.3-second time in the 100-meter dash is not fast enough to guarantee him a successful career as a Big Ten running back.

The speed needs humility and discipline.

"I'm hoping he comes with experience," Triplett said.

Shaw gained 75 yards on 13 carries in last year's spring game. Enthusiasm and determination may be the intangibles that will help to carry him through the early portion of his first season.

"I am going to give it my best and help the team the best I can," he said. "If I feel like I'm going to be doin' well, I'm going to be doin' well, and if I feel like I'm not, I'm not going to be doin' well." Shaw has also benefited from the presence of the Iowa running backs.

"All of our running backs are real good. We all have our own individual styles of playing the game," he said.

Running backs coach Dave Triplett says that just because his team is without Kahl's polished skills, they aren't any worse football players.

Running backs coach Dave Triplett says that just because his team is without Kahl's polished skills, they aren't any worse football players.

"I've had a chance to really sit down and learn the system," said Shaw, who has made a great recovery after being a junior Ryan Terry.

"He's got great speed and quickness." Triplett said that Shaw's 10.3-second time in the 100-meter dash is not fast enough to guarantee him a successful career as a Big Ten running back.

The speed needs humility and discipline.

"I'm hoping he comes with experience," Triplett said.

Shaw gained 75 yards on 13 carries in last year's spring game. Enthusiasm and determination may be the intangibles that will help to carry him through the early portion of his first season.

"I am going to give it my best and help the team the best I can," he said. "If I feel like I'm going to be doin' well, I'm going to be doin' well, and if I feel like I'm not, I'm not going to be doin' well." Shaw has also benefited from the presence of the Iowa running backs.

"All of our running backs are real good. We all have our own individual styles of playing the game," he said.

Offensive line battles 'inexperience' label

Doug Alden

The Daily Iowan

One of the biggest challenges facing Iowa football this season is rebuilding its offensive line. After losing all five starters, including all-American center and Big Ten Lineman of the Year Mike Devlin, offensive line coach Frank Verducci is left with limited experience.

Returning lettermen include tackles Bill Lange, Hal Mady and Matt Purdy. Matt Purdy, Fritz Fequiere and John Kline return at guard and sophomore Casey Wiegmann replaces Devlin at center.

Only Lange, Mady, and Purdy have starting experience.

Verducci says the Hawkeye line which ranked second in the Big Ten in total offense last season, admits they are going into the season in the shadows for three or four years and now they’ve got a chance to get out there in the spotlight and think they are hungry, do it right, they have that.

“He said, ‘I have a lot of confidence in them but more importantly they have a lot of confidence in themselves.’

Head coach Hayden Fry also feels that the lack of experience will not hurt the offense as much.

“We’ve got guys that don’t have enough experience but, they have the attitude, they have the spirit,” Fry said. “They’re young and they’re inexperienced and make progress and give us a pretty good group.”

Fry added that although the squad lacks starting experience, older players like seniors Lange and Mady, who have been around long enough to know the system and are ready to step up and be a part of the Big Ten. While Iowa’s defensive line is concerned with this, offensive line coach Frank Verducci is confident that the offensive line will provide enough protection to make the offense a success.

People are labeling (the line) as a weakness because they haven’t played much,” he said. “I’ve worked with these guys. I’ve worked out with them and I know that these guys are not a weakness. They are guys who have been wanting to play for a long time, but because they’ve been limited experience, people in Iowa haven’t had the opportunity. Now they’re thinking that they can improve and make progress throughout the season.”

The players are looking at the pressure on the line (inexperience) as a challenge and an opportunity to prove themselves.

“There’s an incredible amount of pressure on us. Everyone’s labeling us as a weakness because they haven’t had the opportunity. But more importantly they have a lot of confidence in themselves,” he said.

Although Wiegmann understands there is a great deal of pressure on him to replace an all-American, he is confident and ready for the task.

JUCO transfers expected to contribute

With a strong showing of junior college transfers, this year's team expects to be able to hold its own on the field. The addition of these players (No. 2 left tackle) to Iowa's defense (from Waldorf Community College) has been declares academically ineligible by the NCAA. But the team is confident in their ability to contribute to the team's success. According to Fry, the level of play in junior college has improved over the years, and the team is able to get a read on this team because of the experience these players bring to the table. Rainy weather forces field crew into prevent defense

Joe Yates
The Daily Iowan

It's not difficult for Jeremy Schautz to imagine the crowd roaring as he made his way to the middle of a snow-covered Kinnick Stadium.

"It's kind of weird," the Ul senior says. "There will be 70,000 people in here in a couple of days. 70,000 screaming people, that is. But now it's a 6-10 Wednesday morning. The sledding silence is broken only by the hum of a motorized paint machine and the whine of the painter's spray as Schautz puts down the lines for the upcoming game.

It will be three days before fans pack the stadium on Saturday. The Hawkeyes are the main attraction, but without Scheutz and his co-workers, the Hawks wouldn't have a ground to stand on.

"We take a lot of pride in the field," says Larry Putney as he stands in the middle of a silent Kinnick Stadium. "I doubt we'd have a ground to stand on, much of the workers' time was spent on the defensive. We were set with our whoop in a prevent defense to keep the grass looking plush. With the summer's recent rains, it's often a game of give-and-take, with Mother Nature calling the shots.

For Putney, a UI golf course maintenance worker in charge of the Kinnick field during the season, making sure it looks good is a full-time job.

The turf, a mixture of several varieties of bluegrass and rye, must be cut, rolled, patched, and painted. A state-of-the-art drainage system keeps the field dry. It's often a game of give-and-take, with Mother Nature calling the shots.

"This has been kind of a bad year for us," explains Ted Stocker, a sports super specialist for the Ul. "There's been entirely too much rain. I doubt it will make much of a difference on the defensive."
Receivers get one more Guy
Iowa's most famous recruit finally starting full season

John Shipley
The Daily Iowan

The name Willie Guy has meant a lot of different things over the last 105 games. But as the ninth game of the season, Guy will be on the field.

Guy No receiving statistics

Dean showed his playability by catching the fourth game of the season, Guy earned almost every conceivable award as a senior at East High School. Whether he did not attend summer school, it was too much of a stretch for 36 yards.

For as a group I think they're going to be one of the strongest groups of the Iowa's receiving corps into the excellent categories. Senior Jeff Antilla will alternate at split end after extensive injury last season. Dean showed some playability by catching the winning touchdown on fourth down in a 25-22 win over Wisconsin last season.

Defense will anchor mystery team

No one knows quite what to expect from Iowa football this year, including Coach Hayden Fry.

"The only thing we can do is really play the best of us," Fry said at his first press conference this season. "We're not going to be any different than we were a year or two ago.

But that's not entirely true. While the offensive unit is an admirably unknown commodity, Fry's defense will now become familiar, and could now be outstanding.

Iowa returns eight starters and one backup from last season and is notably tackle Mike Wells. He and fellow co-captain Larry Rice will anchor a front five that will rank at the top of the Big Ten.

"We're just an excellent player and they're just as good as we think," Fry said.

Wells is already Iowa's career leader in tackles and could set any of his Big Ten opponents to record.

Fry said he would not name his starters before the season begins.

Defensive tackle Mike Wells will be a major player all season long for the Hawkeyes. The senior cornerback from Anamosa, IA, is the Iowa corner with most tackles and was named First Team All-Big Ten last season.

Fry said he will not name his starters before the season begins.

Game Points

Iowa 10, Tulsa 3

Iowa's defense was able to hold Tulsa to only 10 points, as the Hawkeyes' defense held Tulsa to just 10 first downs.

Iowa quarterback Chris Petty threw for 244 yards and two touchdowns, while Tulsa quarterback Daven Siler threw for 225 yards and one touchdown.

Iowa's defense was able to limit Tulsa's running game, as Tulsa finished with just 68 rushing yards.
