Mayflower residents prepare for big day

Chris Pellowen

The Daily Iowan

It’s taken a week or more, but UI students assigned to the Mayflower Residence Hall will finally get a permanent “home away from home” when the hall officially opens at 6 a.m. Monday.

Mayflower has been closed since July 1 because of flooding. Water soaked the basement and the second and third floors, so the hall was declared uninhabitable.

The flooding was caused by a main water line breaking Monday, July 18, as workers were installing a new fire hydrant outside the hall. Water began seeping into the hall and rising 2 feet in about an hour. By 3 p.m., the water had risen to 6 feet and the hall was evacuated.

Water was left standing for two days before workers could clean it up and dry the floors. The process could not land until the water was removed and the hall was declared safe.

Senior Cassie Szczeponek was a junior at the hall and had been assigned to the residence hall as a student worker.

"If you think about it, the flooding just happened, and now you have to live in a dorm where you can’t wash your clothes because the water was just in there. I understand why it took a while," Szczeponek said.

The flooding also killed the hall’s fire alarm system, so it is not ready to be used by residents.

"We can’t use the fire alarm system, so we need to be careful about that," Szczeponek said.

The flooding also caused a lot of damage in the hall. "We have a lot of stuff that’s going to need to be replaced," she said.

The flooding has caused a lot of damage to the hall, but the residents are still happy to be back.

"We still have a lot of work to do, but we’re excited to be back," Szczeponek said.

President Rawlings: Will regents be asked for big day

The Daily Iowan

The University Student Judicial Court will begin a preliminary investigation Monday into impeachment charges against President John Gardner.

The closed hearing will decide whether the charges are valid and if they warrant a full-fledged trial. The hearing will be open to the public, but no one will be able to attend except the accused, the presiding judge, and the Judicial Court’s five members.

The court will consider the charges against Gardner and determine if the charges are valid. If the court determines that the charges are valid, it will present them to the Board of Regents.

The court will also consider whether the charges warrant a full-fledged trial. If the court determines that the charges warrant a full-fledged trial, it will present them to the Board of Regents.

The Board of Regents will decide whether to proceed with the impeachment trial. If the Board of Regents decides to proceed with the trial, it will be held in private.

Playing for keeps

Many UI students are passing time controlling the fate of soldiers, kings and queens on a chessboard, not necessarily by their imaginations.

Mary Hickey
The Daily Iowan

"The game of chess is a battle between two thinkers," said Delrina's Mark Skapinker. "It's a world unto itself with elements of beauty and danger, but if you don't take it seriously, it's only plastic and sound.

"It's a battle of wits, a mental game. You have to strategize and think in order to win.

"You have to be patient and think ahead. It's not a game to be played casually."

Meanwhile, back in Iowa City, the growing number of Iowa City’s residents seems to be increasing the interest in playing the game.

"There's a regular routine of people gathering to play chess," said Delrina's president, Mark Skapinker.

"It's a great way to socialize and meet new people.

"There's a lot of competition going on, with many students and faculty members participating."
UI groups pressure state Legislature for graduate assistant tuition waivers

University of Iowa

Despite the respite provided by the recent economic downturn, University of Iowa graduate students are once again seeking financial relief. A recent survey conducted by the UI Graduate Student Association (GSA) revealed that 78 percent of UI graduate students are concerned about their current financial situation. The survey also highlighted the high cost of tuition, with 82 percent of respondents reporting that they have had to increase their working hours or reduce their living expenses due to the rising cost of living.

The GSA has been advocating for state funding for graduate assistant tuition waivers for several years. The group recently met with members of the Iowa Legislature to discuss the need for tuition assistance for graduate students. The GSA is seeking state funding to cover the cost of tuition for graduate students, allowing them to focus on their academic and professional development without the burden of financial stress.

UI Graduate Student Association President Kate Miller said, "Graduate students are the backbone of the academic and research enterprise at the University of Iowa. They contribute significantly to the institution's reputation for excellence and innovation. However, the rising cost of tuition is a significant barrier to their continued success. State funding for tuition assistance would provide much-needed relief and enhance the quality of the educational experience for our graduate students."

The GSA is calling on state legislators to prioritize funding for graduate assistant tuition waivers in the upcoming legislative session. The group is hopeful that with continued advocacy, the state will provide the necessary support to help graduate students achieve their academic goals.

The GSA encourages graduate students to contact their state representatives and senators to express their support for state funding for graduate assistant tuition waivers. They can learn more about the GSA's advocacy efforts and find resources to help them engage with their legislators at gsa.uiowa.edu.

New database opens doors for area high-school students

The new information network will allow access to potential employers and colleges.

William Pepper
The Daily Iowan

Thanks to a new information network developed by the City High School counselors, students may now have access to information about careers and colleges that they previously didn't have.

The program, "Discover," was developed by the National Association of Colleges and Employers. "We've taken a look at several other colleges that have this kind of thing, and we decided to do this," said Steve Dowd, the City High School's guidance counselor. "I think it's a good move. It will help students make a better decision about their career plans."

Current data shows that one in five college graduates is unemployed, he said. "This can help them make a better decision about their career plans."

Dowd said students can use Discover to search for a job in a specific geographic area, such as Iowa City. "They can search for jobs in the area that they are interested in."

The program is free to use and can be accessed through the internet. "We're happy to hear about these things," said Dowd. "It's a good move. It will help students make a better decision about their career plans."

Some students have already started using the program. "I've used it a couple of times," said Michael Nameche, a senior at City High. "It's been helpful. It has given me some ideas about what I might want to do after high school."

While the program is still new, Dowd said he expects it to be widely used by students. "I think it will be a great tool for students. It will help them make a better decision about their career plans."

The program is still in its early stages, and more features are expected to be added in the future. "We're happy to hear about these things," said Dowd. "It's a good move. It will help students make a better decision about their career plans."

For more information, contact Steve Dowd, the City High School's guidance counselor, at 549-5551.

Yeltsin, parliament agree to talk; church to mediate proceedings

Janna Robins
Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Hoping to break a week-long-old stalemate, President Boris Yeltsin agreed Thursday to church-mediated talks with lawmakers who have occupied the White House parliament building.

Yeltsin and talkers will start at 2 p.m. at a Moscow monastery. His aides said they will listen.

Yeltsin's announcement came after a Kremlin meeting with Patriarch Alexy II, head of the Russian Orthodox Church, and other top officials to discuss the political crisis that has resulted in the deaths of 10 people. The姬

Yeltsin's refusal to meet with the parliament demonstrators who have occupied the White House since

Yeltsin disbanded parliament in October 1993 opened the way for the talks and was viewed as a sign that he is willing to compromise in an effort to resolve the crisis.

The White House has been occupied by lawmakers since Yeltsin disbanded parliament in October 1993 as a way to prevent the government from signing a peace treaty with the rebels in Chechnya.

The lawmakers say they will use the building to press for the ouster of prime minister Victor Chernomyrdin and the creation of a new government.

Russian President Boris Yeltsin and Russian Orthodox Patriarch Alexy II shake hands before negotiations in the Kremlin Thursday. Patriarch Alexy II is offered to mediate a compromise between Yeltsin and the hard-liners who have occupied the White House since parliament was dissolved on Oct. 11, according to the Tass-Tass news agency.

Earlier in the day, Rutskoi offered to mediate a compromise between Yeltsin and the hard-liners who have occupied the White House since Yeltsin disbanded parliament on Oct. 11.

Yeltsin had been in the parliament building for 18 days before Yeltsin disbanded parliament for the second time in as many years. Yeltsin's aides said the parliament should be restored.

Yeltsin will be met by Patriarch Alexy II at the Kremlin Thursday. The two leaders will meet to discuss a compromise between Yeltsin and the hard-liners who have occupied the White House since Yeltsin disbanded parliament in October 1993.

A statement issued jointly by Yeltsin and the patriarch said that they would met to discuss a compromise between Yeltsin and the hard-liners who have occupied the White House since Yeltsin disbanded parliament in October 1993.

Canada's Supreme Court rules against assisted suicide

TORONTO, Canada (AP) - Canada's highest court on Friday said that a woman in the terminal stages of Lou Gehrig's disease cannot have a doctor help her commit suicide.

The court's 5-4 decision upheld rulings by two Canadian courts that laws against assisted suicide do not infringe on the constitutional rights of Sue Rodriguez.

Rodriguez, who is married and has an 8-year-old son, has been told by her doctors that she has less than a year to live.

15 years later, Mexico heals wounds of massacre

MEXICO CITY: Mexico (AP) - Vietnam's protests swept the United States in 1968, and France endured a student uprising. In Mexico, a government-initiated massacre of young protesters scarred a generation.

The 25th anniversary Saturday of the Mexico City protest that killed hundreds of people has prompted an outpouring of newspaper articles and outside interest about the "Generation of '68." The government, long resistant about role in the killings, announced an investigation.

On the night of Oct. 2, 1968, just days before the summer Olympics opened in Mexico City, some 6,000 students and sympathizers gathered on the side of the Sports Palace to call for change. Their students marched, shouting for more freedom of speech, education and democracy, as the Mexican government was closing in on the site.

The students were demanding greater freedom (of speech and press), more education and autonomy for universities while many Mexicans were going hungry. At least 300 people died, according to the best estimates.

Cuban mystery epidemic ends after three months

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) - A hurricane that swept through Cuba in May has apparently ended an epidemic that killed more than 200 Cubans, but the cause of the deadly illness remains a mystery.

Ruth Thelen, head of a World Health Organization investigation team, said the week the conduction of an unknown illness and poor nutrition in Cuba apparently was blame.

American and Cuban scientists were working to identify the illness, possibly a bacteria in contaminated food, said Thelms. Results of the study are not expected until next year.

The disease has been identified as a toxic meningitis, either sudden onset, pain and weight loss, from which they recover, or their eyesight is profoundly affected.

Espin' s Mar)inez: Good pitcher, but no, Nicaragua president looks set for another term

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - Some think Maht3l, Nicaragua's pitcher, Espin' s Martinez could play political hookey.

A small, recently formed political party called the New Democracy Party is gathering signatures on petitions to make Martinez a candidate for Nicaragua's 1994 presidential election.

No matter that he recently obtained U.S. citizenship and plans to live in Miami. The 36-year-old, half-Nicaraguan native has been barred from Nicaragua and his political involvement unites public opinion, which views his prospects as "proof" of a new political order.

Disputed with politics, Russians sway through crisis

MOSCOW, Russia (AP) - Gorbachev returned to the streets and asked Russians what they think of the standoff between the opposition and the parliament.

More often than not, you'll get a one-word answer: "revolution." It's not just buried wreaths, water cannons and barracks, but it's the refusal of politicians to have submitted to about 100 default lawsuits in the parliament building, or outside "White House," it's also the presence of policemen.

"We're fed up," Oto, a Latin politician, for the opposition, said. "We need to be heard.

"We had several years of extreme interest in politics; it's now completely mad," the official said.

"They see more politics, but daily life has gotten worse. They are really sick of it, really tired and disapponted," Lats said.

China calls U.S. world cop, condemns sanctions

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - China Monday pressed a tough new stance to appeal to delegates by an international ban on nuclear testing, announcing that the United States is now the "self-appointed policeman of the world."

Vice Premier Qian Qichen, addressing the U.N. General Assembly this week, said China has always opposed nuclear testing and the "incredible" number of tests is the smallest among all nuclear powers. He repeated U.S. intelligence predictions that China is preparing for a nuclear test.

Monday President Clinton appealed indirectly to China to respect the ban on nuclear testing. "We should support our foreign minister, Klaus Kinkel echoed that appeal."

"There must be no further testing," Gork said. The assembly before the Chinese envoy quipped, "This is an appeal to the sense of responsibility of all nuclear powers."

Qian did not mention the United States by name, but his criticism was clear.

Chinese airliner hijacked to Taiwan; no one hurt

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) - A Chinese passenger jetliner was hijacked by a man with 60 people on board to Tai- pei, Taiwan officials said Wednesday.

The hijacker, a 29-year-old truck driver from northeastern China, said he wanted to go to Taiwan. He didn't raise a bomb at the pilot but asked for an order of Tabasco sauce. The hijacker said he wanted to go to Taiwan to protest what he called U.S. interference in Taiwan. The hijacker then asked for a special meal, "butterfly-flight" and said he would agree to surrender to police if he could return to China.

The hijacker was reported to have left the cockpit and to be in the airplane's front region. The plane was later reported to have landed safely at Taipei International Airport.

What do we remember from classes?

Let's face it: this is the time of your lives when people haven't thought about learning in years. So let's take this year's final exams, get a grip on our lives and make ourselves look very busy, very scholarly, very young. By the time we graduate, we will have a very good idea of what to do with a graph with 15 line segments.

I would like to respond to the guest essay by Stevie Kaczynski that was published in the Daily Iowan on Sept. 14. Even as a guest, I understand the argument that this is a public forum to speak out on issues that matter to us as a community. I agree with him in part, but I also think that the notion of being in the news, even as mountain lions, threats and fears, are at our door and cannot be ignored.

I have been a hunter for over 40 years, and I have found that it is not just as news we kill.

However, responsible hunters do not kill long animals. Larger animals take longer to hunt, and this means that we need to be patient, as we need to be aware of the animals we are shooting. Spending time talking with other hunters about their experiences can be very helpful in understanding the dynamics of animal life, but not just as news we kill.

Concerning the first fact, most hunters will tell you that hunting provides the experience through hunting participation. Hunters are unique in that they have to be ethical, and they have to be patient. We are not just looking for a kill, but we are looking for the experience of being in the woods with nature.

Concerning fact two, I suspect that the notion of hunting does not prevent disease from spreading. However, hunting is not leading to a weaker group, to be sure. I have thought about this, but I have not found that those who are successful in hunting are generally less successful in fighting doença.

Concerning fact three, humans are biologically equipped to use meat — or at least the idea that we are the apex of the food chain for humans. The human body is not designed to eat mountain lions, threats and fears, are at our door and cannot be ignored.

The fact that the federal workers unions so strongly endorse Clinton's plan is reflective of the consequences for an idea that has come of age.

The idea is to apply to federal government the same principles utilized in General Motors and the United Auto Workers, involving profit-sharing and profit-sharing in the form of a profit-sharing program, which will be given to the workers, and is weighted slightly in favor of profit-sharing for profit-sharing.

We are concerned with preserving species through habitat protection.

I, Kris Wiley

I am writing this letter to my high school friends.

I have been thinking a lot about the upcoming football game. It's against our biggest rival, the Wolverines. I know it's going to be a tough game, but I'm ready.

I remember our last game against them. We were up by 14 points in the fourth quarter, but they came back to tie it. It was a bitter pill to swallow.

This year, we have a lot of new players. Tyron Wheaton is a huge loss, but we have some great replacements. I think we have a good chance to win.

The Wolverines haven't played in a month, so they might be rusty. We need to take advantage of that.

I'm excited for this game. It's going to be a great opportunity to show our team spirit.

The last time the New York Giants and Buffalo Bills met, Tony Ronzone's field goal in the final seconds went wide right and gave the Bills chances to win the 1980 AFC East.

So the Bills tried to strike three times and never came nearly as close.

It's any consolation, Buffalo fans, that the bills were scored by two punt returners for the Giants on Sunday night at Rich Stadium, and not New York is 1-0 and Buffalo 2-1.

This is the reason Buffalo should be favored. But at home in Miami - 1-0 - last week and demonstrates that the road is a fourth straight Super Bowl win for the Bills.
