Haitians told to honor agreement

Senator Hart

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Clinton openly withdrew his proposal to send a group of armed U.S. troops to Haiti. He was met Wednesday by a group of unarmed U.S. soldiers led by an army colonel.

Clinton, who said he was not withdrawing his support for the agreement, said that he had made a decision to honor the agreement.

"We have a decision to make, and that is to honor the agreement," Clinton said.

Clinton's decision came after a meeting with his national security team.

"We are making a decision to honor the agreement," Clinton said.

Clinton had previously told reporters that he was not withdrawing his support for the agreement.

"I am not withdrawing my support for the agreement," Clinton said.

Clinton's decision was met with a mixed reaction.

Some analysts said that Clinton's decision was a smart move, while others said that it was a risky move.

"I think it's a smart move," said one analyst.

"I think it's a risky move," said another analyst.

The decision was met with a mixed reaction from Haitians.

Some said that they welcomed the decision, while others said that they were concerned.

"I think it's a smart move," said one Haitian.

"I think it's a risky move," said another Haitian.

The decision was met with a mixed reaction from the international community.

Some countries supported Clinton's decision, while others were critical.

"We support Clinton's decision," said one country.

"We are critical of Clinton's decision," said another country.

The decision was met with a mixed reaction from the troops.

Some troops were happy with the decision, while others were concerned.

"I think it's a smart move," said one troop.

"I think it's a risky move," said another troop.

The decision was met with a mixed reaction from the United Nations.

Some countries supported the decision, while others were critical.

"We support the decision," said one country.

"We are critical of the decision," said another country.

The decision was met with a mixed reaction from the American public.

Some people supported Clinton's decision, while others were critical.

‘Risky Business’-style party trashes house

SAN FRANCISCO — A teenage party that stretched across an upper-story apartment building threatened a San Francisco high school student with two years in juvenile custody Tuesday.

The party started out small but spiraled out of control when the 17-year-old host, a high-school senior, was told the night before by his parents he couldn’t bring over 30 people to his home in the Noe Valley neighborhood.

"I came from India in 1989 and got acquainted with a Mac my first week at Iowa. I had never used a computer before, but with the Mac I could do whatever I wanted to do with so little effort. It is the easiest and most user friendly computer in the world. I have introduced many engineering students to the beauty and simplicity of Macs. I do work which requires complicated thought and easy precision. I do all my global climate modeling and research with my Mac, it's an integral part of my education at Iowa. With my Mac I can use all my energy in solving my problem, not trying to remember computer commands."

In an effort to help women detect signs of breast cancer and reduce their risks of the disease, staff from Iowa City hospitals are providing educational services for women this month.

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, a time for women to focus on breast examination techniques and breast cancer care services at Mercy Hospital.

Today, trained staff members will teach breast self-examination techniques and give tours of the Mammography Suite at Mercy Hospital.

Breast examinations, physical examinations, and mammograms are tools which can be used to detect early signs of breast cancer.

Sighted said women age 18 and older should get into the habit of doing monthly self-breast exams.

"If detected at an early stage, the odds of a cure are taken down to 4% or 6%," Sighted said all women should educate themselves and undergo breast cancer screenings.

"I do believe breast cancer is a major health problem in this country and even though we understand the risks, it comes across as it shies and they should... we need to help people cope with the time of the."
Council revises parking fines, approves operational changes

The Iowa City Council voted to approve a plan that would increase parking fines from $3 to $5 after 10 days and again to $10 after 30 days to encourage timely payment of fines.

The minimum dollar amount of unpaid parking fines before a vehicle owner is legally impounded increased from $3 to $5 April 4. The Iowa City Council voted to increase the amount at its April 4 meeting. It will coincide with the calculation in parking fines when both policies become effective Jan. 1, 1994. Parking fines will increase from $3 to $5 after 10 days and again to $10 after 30 days in order to encourage timely payment of fines.

A notation to outline parking and transit operations also directs parking and transit director was also given preliminary approval.

"This is something that should happen a long time ago," Conner Starnes-Hammond said.

City Manager Alfonso said at an earlier meeting that the two divisions will continue to help pay for the operation of the city. Parking fines will also have the same parking requirements, which will be revised to newly approved.

"We are under pressure to improve the efficiency of our operations," said City Manager Alfonso.

Wal-Mart loses suit over pricing strategies

James Jefferson

COURTROOM -- Wal-Mart Stores Inc. illegally tried to force competitors out of business with the same policy that made it the nation's greatest retailer -- low prices, officials said Tuesday.

Judge David B. Reynolds and Wal-Mart lost a lawsuit Monday alleging some drug and health beauty aids were priced below cost to drive out competitors. Wal-Mart officials said during a news conference Tuesday that the court order was an attack on Wal-Mart by smaller stores.

The decision was the first probing questioning of Wal-Mart, which critics have blamed for driving out of business small merchants in small towns and cities nationwide. But it didn't allay whether the decision, which applied only to Arkansas, held good in similar cases.

Nobel prize shared by scholars for study of "economic history"

Lindsey Toner
Associated Press

STOCKHOLM -- Americans Robert Fogel and Robert North shared the Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences Monday for research on slavery and wages, which generated criticism because their study of institutions, such as private property and labor organizations, is perceived as condoning private property and labor organizations.

Fogel, the seventh winner from the United States, "elicited passionate response, both in the course of history, North for his 1974 book "Time, Slavery, and Development of the Western Economy." North, a scholar of the field of "new economic history," won the prize for his work on "the institutional causes of long-term economic growth in the West, including slavery, property rights throughout history, slavery, and the American Revolution, the Cold, the time of modern statistical analysis, mathematical models and the interpretation of historical data in terms of the implications for the future."

North, 67, said he was "honored" to share the $350,000 prize. "It's the most fantastic thing that can ever happen to one as a scholar," he said.

Fogel, 75, was doing research at home in 1949 when he got the call. "I was very surprised and very honored that they viewed my work the way they did," he said.

Fogel's view that slavery is economically viable was outlined in his 1974 book "Time, Slavery, and Development of the Western Economy." They were priced below cost to drive out competitors.

The ruling is "blatant restraint of trade, which is one-time was allowed and in the current environment is no longer," McEvoy said. "It's a state law, and today's environment is much different than when that law was written. Court decisions tend to go with the times."

Jime McEvoy, a lawyer for the three pharmacists who sued Wal-Mart, said small retailers nationwide were awaiting the court's outcome to decide whether to proceed with similar cases against Wal-Mart and other retailers.

The other two plaintiffs were Jim Hendrickson, owner of Baker Drug Stores in Conway, and Tom Birtch of Matthews' Pharmacy in Conway, who were named in the current ruling. "They are going to follow the decision and the possibility of proceeding with similar cases against Wal-Mart and other retailers."
A recent guest opinion by George Truners of the U.S. Animal Coalition dele-ging a strong message to the public as to how much the animal rights movement has grown and evolved. On one hand, there is no doubt that the animal rights movement has made tremendous strides in recent years. However, on the other hand, there seems to be some confusion among the public as to what the animal rights movement is and what the real issues are at hand.

In my opinion, the animal rights movement is a legitimate and important cause. It is a movement that is dedicated to ending the unnecessary suffering of animals and to promoting the rights and well-being of all living beings. It is a movement that is working to create a world where animals are treated with respect and compassion.

As a member of the movement, I am proud to be part of an organization that is dedicated to ending the cruelties inflicted on animals. I am committed to fighting for the liberation of all suffering animals and to creating a world where animals are treated with the same dignity and respect that humans are entitled to.

I encourage everyone to learn more about the animal rights movement and to support the organizations that are working to create a kinder, more compassionate world for all living beings. Let us work together to create a world where animals are free from suffering and where they are treated with the same kindness and respect that we would want for our own loved ones.

Pregnancy becoming trend among teens

We're all heard of peer pressures, unreasonable trends, but what has just hit the news is the new trend of pregnancy for the lifestyle. Teenagers are getting pregnant, and it's a trend that won't go to get pregnant.

Today more than any other time we are faced with the problem of one of the most significant day to day issues. We can see that there are more and more young people who are becoming pregnant and choosing to keep their babies. The reasons for this trend are complex and multifaceted.

One of the major factors contributing to this trend is the lack of education and awareness about reproduction and contraception. Many teenagers do not have access to accurate information about sexuality and reproduction, and this can lead to unintended pregnancies.

Another reason for the increase in pregnancies among teenagers is the lack of support and resources for young people. Many teenagers do not have access to safe and affordable healthcare, including reproductive health services.

Teen pregnancy has become a serious issue, and it is important that we address it in order to prevent the negative consequences that can arise from unintended pregnancies.

It is essential that we provide resources and support to young people to help them make informed decisions about their reproductive health and sexuality. This includes access to accurate information, counseling, and reproductive health services.

By providing young people with the information and resources they need, we can help prevent unintended pregnancies and improve the lives of young people and their communities.

Arkansas, after a meeting in Washington with Rep. Joseph Kennedy-D., Mass., he was convinced that international pres­ sure would prompt the military regime to stop its aggression.

Cline said he thought the U.N.-brokered agreement to restore democracy "will come back to life, but right now it has been abandoned." He added that with the hostages released and the hostages released and the hostages released, "we have to look at what the situation is, and see if we can move forward from there."

Catfish Hunter for the most things pitched in the playoffs. Stewart does have two touchdowns in the playoffs — of course, his team won both of those games. All coming, Stewart helped out even while the temperatures dropped into the low teens. Stealing his hand to keep warm, he broke down a precautionary lineup before the game. As Johnstone described the situation, the hitter in the ninth of St. Louis, who got a save.

Catfish Stewart's 100-yard touchdown pass to Frank Thomas in the third inning.

Even with so much skill, a little bit of luck can still help. In fact, Chicago ran itself out of one inning when junior quarterback Barron was taken out from second base and was replaced on the田中 Oliver to end the seventh.

In the eighth, after Thomas scored with one out, Bill Venter hit a long drive to right that looked fouled. Toronto manager John Gibbons decided not to tempt fate.

Walked out against Venter and Mike Bock, preserving the lead.

For the sixth straight time, the team that scored first was the game. This was the last AL playoff game before the whole franchise moves next year and an extra round is added.

The White Sox will spend the month thinking about integer, winning the World Series before losing the 1994 season in Toronto.

The Blue Jays broke the game to the ninth on White's solo home of Scott Erickson and Mike Bernier. The hit was White's 10th of the series, tying an AL playoff record set by 至高 awesome. Mother flashed with nine hits, seven runs scored and five errors.

Fernandez, the victim of two errors and two unearned runs in his last two starts, was hit again by his defense in the fourth as three batters loaded. The only out recorded was the batter, a ground out. Fernandez led off with a grounder to third for a 3-2-3.

Barries scored to shutout O'neil Guillam, who pitched in the second after the Blue Jays loaded the bases on two walks, a sacrifice and a hit batter.

Toronto again loaded the bases in the 5th. Fernandez escaped a jam in the sixth by striking out a pinch hitter, making Troy Trenier 1-1 for the Tampa Bay.

Atlanta teeters at brink of disaster

Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies were down to their last strike and their World Series hopes were hanging by a thread. But they emerged from the dugout and rallied to pull ahead in the ninth inning Wednesday night, beating the favored Atlanta Braves 9-7 for a 2-1 lead in baseball's Series.

"We just didn't play our best game," Atlanta manager Bobby Cox said. "They deserve this one, and we don't deserve it." But the brilliance of Game 3 had become part of the Braves' lore.

Atlanta starter Greg Maddox, the National League Cy Young Award winner, was able to hold his own against Philadelphia's ace, Steve Carlton. The game was tied 2-2 in the ninth when Phillies batter Bobby Wettengel hit a double off the little-heralded reliever.

"Maddox is a great pitcher," Wettengel said. "We were just lucky to get the hit there."

Tony Gwynn, who had two hits and two RBIs in the ninth inning, said the strategy worked.

"We knew that Maddox was going to throw some high, tight pitches," he said. "So we were able to get on base and get a good hit."
Losers rattle Oilers’ Pardee

HOUSTON - Coach Jack Pardee, left to duty properly because of the disappearance Tuesday night of Mike Wahler. Wahler was preparing to return when Redskins general manager George Allen was notified because of the disappearance Tuesday night of Mike Wahler. Wahler was preparing to return to the team.

Pardee said he has not spoken with Allen since last Adams (4-1) has backups as the only defensive end, Keith Willis on the roster. McManus advised Adams to deal what­ever stars he can before Tuesday’s trade deadline. They fur­ther advised Adams to dump the run-and-shoot offense. They fur­ther advised Adams to dump the run-and-shoot offense.

Pardee, however, is in no rush to trade. "I'll wait until next week," Pardee said. "I don't think there's going to be much happening. It's the same story every year. Most people are in danger of being bumped. It's nothing new."

In fact, pile up the penalties against Mike Wahler and the Oilers are on the verge of a credible offense. They’ve won three straight games and you've been able to get a good team.

Wahler, out of the press, is one of the last three games. The Oilers have lost two straight.

Wahler injured his right knee against Miami on Oct. 4 and had to leave in the second quarter, but still played against the Browns.

Washington quarterback Warren Moon pauses after taking a hit during the Bills' 17-6 over the Oilers Monday night.

Columnists for both Houston newspapers urged Adams to dump Moon. "I don't know how much practice time he's going to get and we'll have to determine whether or not he can hold up on Fridays," said Wahler.

Wahler has started the past two games in place of Eric Williams, who popped a congenitally de­fective left knee the first time out. Wahler has started the past two games in place of Eric Williams. The decision of the judges is final.

The Oilers said Adams would make the final decision on Wahler's availability. As they have for weeks, rate their chances of finishing this season with Willis expected to start for the final two games.

The Redskins are expected to sign Reche Caldwell, a rookie wide receiver, after the Redskins signed him as a free agent in May.
