Although water from this woman's flooding has reached significantly, the firemen continue to intervene.

The total amount of flood managed to Iowa City in early 2020 was estimated at 34,200 million.

Ombudsperson office logs fewer complaints

Megan French

Proved grad student, suspect harassment and faculty complaint this list of grievances received by the UI's Office of the Ombudsperson in the past academic year.

The office received a total of 264 complaints in fiscal year 1992-93. Since then, the office has received complaints.

Associate Ombudsperson Maile Sagen said some people are afraid to be the source of information.

"People are learning we're one of the only offices on campus they can go to," she said. "It's been a real change in the way we've had to work to sell it to students to say, 'This is a place you can come to.'"

She said the office has seen an increase in complaints, and the new staff has been working closely with the university to address any issues.

"Sexual harassment is one of the most common complaints, whether it's on campus or just in town, we hear a lot of reports," she said. "It's the product of some kind of behavior that we've seen in the past, and we're now able to respond to it.

"Our goal is to help students feel safe, and we're working on that," Sagen said. "We want to be a resource for students who feel they're being treated unfairly or inappropriately, and we're working to ensure that they feel safe and supported."

SAFEWALK members believe new program needs to expand

Megan Puckst • The Daily Iowan

A program established last spring to assist Hillcrest Residents, 90 residents who live in one neighborhood on the west side of Iowa City, is in danger of being cut next year.

The pilot program SAFEWALK educates nonviolent adults from the UI Student Association on how to help Hillcrest residents daily. Sunday through Wednesday from 7 p.m. to midnight and Thursday through Saturday from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m.

At a meeting held last Thursday on the Hillcrest side, SAFEWALK coordinator Wendy Castelda said the program has been successful. She said in 24 days of the program, 81 calls have been received.

The program currently has 15 student volunteers and 10 studets on the SAFEWALK committee, which admits volunteers and works in the area.

COLD CUT FUNDS BY 29%

New education plan hurts Iowa most

Associated Press

DES MOINES — Iowa would suffer a greater percentage of a federal cut in education next year than any other state under President Clinton's proposed budget, which would cut $32 billion from the education pie.

The plan is far from certain, and the schools could be in the dark for months.

The greater share of poverty and the greater share of minority students, but doesn't mean he's not in the cold. We have to make sure there are enough teachers out of work and closed the district to prevent the same thing from happening again.

Lutheran bishops reject proposal to recognize same-sex marriages

In a statement by Bishop Curtis Miller, Senior of the Western Iowa Synod, and Bishop Paul Werner, Iowa City, of the Southern Iowa Synod.

The Church and Human Sexuality I: Lutheran Perspectives was that relationships should be judged on the love and commitment of the people involved, not their sexuality.

"It is the binding commitment, not the persons, or sexuality, that will note that's not possible, and it's true that progress has been made, but many aspects of the legal profession still ache for the fight for women's equality across the country only two out of every dollar made by men, she said.

"Many lawyers, including many women, men and women practicing law is male lawyer's, and in 1991, women made only 59 cents for the same work.

In 1983, female lawyers made 64 percent, she said.

Corporate Cloning

Corporations Can Clone

Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) - Biologists said several corporations plan to clone human beings.

WHAT IS CLONING?

Cloning involves creating an exact copy of an organism. It can be done by dividing a cell and grafting it onto another organism. Or it can be done by dividing a cell and then using that cell to reproduce.

WHY DO COMPANIES WANT TO CLONE?

Companies want to clone humans because they believe it will help them keep their businesses running smoothly. They believe it will help them keep people healthy and productive.

WHAT ARE THE PROBLEMS WITH CLONING?

Cloning is a difficult process. It's not yet possible to clone humans from the beginning of life. It's possible to clone animals from the beginning of life, but the process is not yet perfect.

WHAT ARE THE FUTURE PROSPECTS FOR CLONING?

The future prospects for cloning are promising. Scientists are making progress in their efforts to clone humans. It's possible that cloning will become a common practice in the future.

With Eric Metcalf returning punts, a team that needed much more offense

Metcalf caught a day of big plays, and punt returns for a touchdown Friday, giving Cleveland a 30-23 lead. On 104.1 seconds, 5 seconds remaining in the third quarter, Metcalf had one yard with a punt return in the second quarter. Packers 27, Buccaneers 24

The idea was to get the ball back into the hands of quarterback Davis Staley and put the game at quarterback to the running game. Davis Staley is a much better option than Metcalf, when he was one punt.

Steelers 17, Bills 10

Steelers kicker Gary Kubiak was 17 for 17 in the first half, when Green Bay (3-0) took 30-20. Davis also returned kickoff. He got the ball 104.1 yards from the end zone on the punt.

Hawkeyes get first taste of competition

The Iowa State's swimming team begins its season at the Fieldhouse pool Saturday at the Iowa State meet. The Hawkeyes captured first place in both the men's and women's meet.

Senior Nicole Weippe led Iowa with 34 points, followed by senior Michael Kanan with 29. They were the only swimmers to win two events.

"I was really happy with the way we did," said Weippe. "I'm proud of the team."

"We really need to work on some things," said Kanan. "We need to be more consistent.

"I think we did some really good stuff," said Weippe. "I was kind of nervous early in the race."

"We all started really well," said Kanan. "We need to keep improving.

TESTOSTERONE-RIDDEN films filled out role career for ’70s star Steve McQueen

Steve McQueen (Part of a three-part series on Steve McQueen. See page 7 for previous installments) is one of the most celebrated figures of the late 20th century. His films were iconic, his style was legendary, and his influence on film and fashion has been enduring. But what made McQueen such a draw? Let’s dive into the films that made him a cultural icon.

Let’s start with the film that launched him to stardom: “Bullitt.” This 1968 thriller was a critical and commercial success, and it established McQueen as a charismatic leading man who could handle action sequences with grace and style. The film’s iconic car chase sequence, which was filmed in San Francisco and featured McQueen driving the police department’s Bullitt through the city’s streets, has become a symbol of McQueen’s prowess as both an actor and a stunt driver.

By the time of his death in 1980, McQueen had appeared in over 50 films. His signature roles included the cool, tough, and rebellious bikers, the rugged heroes, and the antiheroes. But what made McQueen so appealing to audiences? Was it his good looks, his charm, or his sheer talent? Perhaps it was all of the above.

McQueen’s films often featured themes of freedom, rebellion, and individuality. He was drawn to roles that allowed him to push the boundaries of traditional masculinity, and he often played characters who defied convention. His performances were often characterized by a combination of vulnerability and toughness, a duality that appealed to audiences.

In conclusion, Steve McQueen was a cultural icon whose films continue to inspire and entertain. His legacy lives on through his films, and he remains a timeless symbol of freedom and individuality.
