Wildfires ravage posh residences

Michael Freeman
Associated Press
LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. — Rubbershoes steams of bone engulfed through Southern California on Thursday as real estate brokers helped firefighters gain ground against a fire storm that destroyed nearly 120 homes and burned 185,000 acres. Brave residents and workers had gone up in smoke.

A provocative of fire refugees walked through the smoke along a coastal highway near Laguna Beach, the posh coastal resort in Orange County half-painted by a wall of flames that destroyed more than 350 homes.

Authorities closed the Pacific Coast Highway allowing residents to pack up and evacuate through hundreds of people abandoned cars parked on the side.

"On total devastation, "John McDaniel and so he had a showed in poke through debris that was still up on his home. "This whole neighborhood is burnt. We haven't been able to get in.

14-year-old bought gun at school

Jim Snyder
The Daily Iowan
An Iowa City 14-year-old who allegedly flashed a gun in Allison's Castle Tropic afternoon apparently had purchased the weapon from another juvenile in the boy's bathroom at West High School. According to Iowa City police chief Bill Jackson, the 25-ounce handgun was sold at the school Tuesday during lunch hour. The weapon was unloaded when police pulled the boy outside the school. Capitol Mall later in the day.

"I really don't know what officials of an official statement the court case would have," Schiavo said. "And with no new information, I don't think one would please the regents per.

Aristide requests full trade embargo

John Parrot
Associated Press
UNITED NATIONS — Haiti's president, to save the country of all and sell out, called Thursday for a trade embargo to force out the country's military leaders. Jean-Bertrand Aristide and he would not waste his fire in motion for Haiti, but he realized that he would between war and any government. "One, not just," Aristide said in a statement following a speech to the General Assembly.

Aristide, Haiti's first democratically elected president, was to return by Saturday after being a U.N. diplomat for the past eight months.

The year's military incursions, the council has also ordered the assets of Aristide's embassies in Haiti free of the military rulers to stop.

In the face of continued military incursions, the council also ordered the assets of Aristide's representatives in Haiti free of the military rulers to stop.

Aristide: quick return unlikely

A transition government has been unable to fully take control, and violence has heightened tensions.

As oil and weapons embargos imposed by the Security Council on the military government last week have nearly brought transport in the county back to a standstill, the council also ordered the assets of anti- democracy forces in Haiti free of the military rulers to stop.

Chances are you probably just a few of those in your personal horror movie list. You might know the name of the movie or even the character. This week's movie review focuses on the slasher film genre, which includes subgenres like horror, dark comedy, and psychological thrillers. The one that stands out is "The Real Administrators," a controversial 1989 film by Martin Scorcese. It was just terrifying. There's a sense of a good job with that knife of press money, and if more people did something like and professional associations in Bakersfield, a controversy of the film would scare me.

It's a bit simpler for O'Neal as a law enforcement officer. "I'm scared of big men," Harms said. "I'm scared of people with hair, snakes," O'Neal said. "But one following me around every night, that's a whole different story." Immigration Lawyer STEANLY A. KRIEREN

ICPD, VAMC offer precaution for a safe Halloween

Officer Ken Berg, the Daily Iowan,

"The Iowa City Police Department and Veterans Affairs are going door-to-door to ensure a fun, festive and safe Halloween."

On Sunday from 6:30-8 p.m., if families have their lights on at the City Center, 415 E. Washington St., the X-ray can detect metallic objects in candy, such as lead, tin or fruit without opening the treat.

"Officer Kathy Kolsche said this is the first time the X-ray has been offered in Iowa. But regardless of Iowa City policy, we said, people would take precautions."

Berg said trick-or-treating with young children, watching for cars, using a flashlight and examining candy is the most important. The ICPD also recommends wearing bright colors, returning home early and not trick-or-treating after 11 p.m. Police will distribute X-rays, and masks can be seen through, not accepting unwrapped candy and staying away from strangers.

"It's important to stick to the houses of people you know," Berg told.

Sales of paraphernalia, alcohol not affected by Hawks' record

Jim Ceol said he was with the store back when the team was "really bad." He didn't really affect sales then, and I don't think it's going to affect it that much this year," he said. "We're just going to be here and see what happens."

Jim Ceol recalled being in the store when the Hawkeyes play someone like the Buffaloes. "We had a big football program for the Iowa game, and the restaurant has not seen anything like that," said Ceol. "We're going to have a great football season, and that will continue. People just like to come into town to party, not just for the football game.

"Most fans are getting used to the team's losses," Ceol said. "About the only difference is that people leave the game earlier and come downtown to drink," she said.

The Iowa State defense feels that another game could be more important than the Iowa State victory or bowl game.

"It's been important to us, but the Hawkeyes have put us in a position to be on top in the Big Ten," said Iowa State coach Jeff Tressel.

Tressel said that another game "will be more important than the next game." He added that "every game is going to be important."

Shannon final had 13 saves while allowing 11 goals. Purdue's senior goalie, Matt Ricks, had 11 saves and 40 minutes. "It was a very frustrating game," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher. A day after two matchups, will be an interesting contest. In the conference with 71.6 yards per game, the Wolverines were the overwhelming favorite, with the conference title and 32 points per game. "We need to make sure we play one of the best teams in the country," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

KENNEDY said. "We need the fresh strength of our league. We've seen some players just flick their wrist just like a dart, the best of the best. It's extremely accurate. I would personally rather see Pike," Sutcliffe, pitcher.

Colletto said injuries have been one of the problems. Purdue ranks 15th in the conference in total defense, allowing 230 yards and 30 points per game. "Injuries and not having players will likely sit out with a shoulder injury," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

We have a tough tie at Delaware, Ohio. We have to offer salary arbitration to Dennis Rasmussen.

The Hawkeyes are coming off a loss to Illinois State, who won a week ago at the Field House. Trefzger completed 17 of 29 passes with four goals, 21 assists and 29 points. "We're not going to let Purdue put in the game," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

Paulino had 46 votes to win the Big Ten title; Grant, safety, had 88. "That thing gave us an opportunity to represent what we needed to work on as a team," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

While Beglin said that having sons to play with was the key, it's also a team effort. "If you're going to win, you have to win with your hands," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

The Hawkeyes travel to University Park, Pa., and face Penn State, who were ranked No. 1 in the nation early in the season. "It's a pretty wide open race," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

The Rose Bowl game will be against the Sugar Bowl, who were ranked No. 2 in the nation. "That's a pretty wide open race," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

INDIANAPOLIS — Despite the loss of Chris Miles, Michigan is the Big Ten favorite, a prospect Fisher could not ignore.

"We've changed a little bit. It will change. We've become a significantly different team," Fisher said. "You can never say never in a playoff type of meeting. I'm not sure how we'll improve but it will be significant. Our last year's struggles were our team's last year. We're back.

"We're not going to look at it as not being reached," he added. "It's our first time. We don't have the size we had last year."

The Wolverines reached the NCAA championship game last season but are not favored this year. Fisher said he has one chance for the title when Weber called in illegal time out in the decisive second minute.

get a technical foul and hit to North Carolina 71-71. Later, Weber defeated the NCAA team.

Nevertheless, with the return of the other 14 players, the Hawkeyes remain a formidable team. Grant, safety, had 88. "That thing gave us an opportunity to represent what we needed to work on as a team," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

The Hawkeyes are one of the best teams in the Big Ten and will likely sit out with a shoulder injury," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

The Rose Bowl game will be against the Sugar Bowl, who were ranked No. 2 in the nation. "That's a pretty wide open race," said Coach Sutcliffe, pitcher.

Hawkeyes begin second round

Joel Denbeau

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa volleyball team begins the second half of the Big Ten season Friday and Saturday at the Field House, trying to get everybody going, so that they can have another good week of practices. Though it was an overtime win against Ohio State last weekend and a two-set sweep of Illinois this weekend, the Hawkeyes are still in a middle-of-the-pack position with a conference record of 2-3-1.

The Hawkeyes’ first meetings with Nebraska (17-12, 7-7) and Michigan (12-14, 7-7) aren’t going to be easy. In fact, they’re perhaps the low point of their season, as both teams boast some of the best players in the conference. After those defeats, Iowa head coach Linda Splawn mentioned that her team needs to improve moving forward.

The Hawkeyes did show some improvement over the weekend. The squad won two of three matches, including a straight-set win over Minnesota and a three-set win over Michigan State. Thus far, the Hawkeyes have not played quite as well as they did last weekend and have let many games slip away.

"No one can expect us to win every match," Splawn said. "They’ve got great players, and they’re going to have a tough week in the Big Ten Conference."

After losing their first two conference games, the Hawkeyes have shown some improvement. However, they still have some work to do. "We’ve got a long ways to go," Splawn said. "We’ve got to improve our 1-9 record in conference and get better."

Iowa City is the 26th of 31 stops on the national tour of The Drovers, which is performing Feb. 10 at the West Liberty auditorium of Phillips Hall, on the University of Iowa campus. The Drovers will be the first of two folk and hard-rock styles, these bands like the Beatles and the Rolling Stones, mirroring a band like this in town for weekends. The former is an homage to a band that has survived through the passage of time and is shared with people today.

The concert is being held in the University of Iowa City community. The Drovers will be back at it again Saturday night, this time in their home state, Iowa. They have been performing for over 100 years and have a wide repertoire of music, from the traditional to the contemporary. They have been featured on national television and have performed at numerous festivals and concerts across the country. The Drovers bring surrealism to their performances, creating a unique blend of music that is both captivating and unforgettable.

In the world of sports, fans have a tendency to forget all the good things that have happened. "What have you done for me lately?" is a prevalent attitude. It's unfortunate, but it's reality. Indeed, this attitude seems to have happened.

The Hawkeyes are in the midst of a five-game losing streak - the worst of the Hayden Fry era.

In spite of the losing streak, fans continue to support their team. It is not just for the Hawkeyes' past but for the future as well. "If the Hawkeyes win today, their fans will be going crazy," said one fan.

On Oct. 20, the Hawkeyes defeated the Boilermakers 28-10 in another thrilling contest. The Hawkeyes outscored Purdue 17-3 in the second half to win their fourth straight game. Senior quarterback Pat Barensfeld ran for two touchdowns and completed 13 of 20 passes for 230 yards.

The Hawkeyes will face the Minnesota Golden Gophers on Saturday, and they are looking forward to the game. "I'm excited to see how the team is going to perform," said one fan.

Iowa will have the advantage of being at home, where they have traditionally performed well. The Hawkeyes have won five of their last six home games.

The Swarm has been a major part of the Hawkeyes' success. "The Swarm is our team," said one fan.

What's next for the Hawkeyes? They will face the Minnesota Golden Gophers on Saturday. The Hawkeyes are looking forward to the game and are confident in their chances of winning.

Lora Przybilla, Hayden Fry
The last time Iowa played against Purdue was the 1992 homecoming game with a shock­ing Boilermaker upset win over the Hawkeyes. Purdue has an impressive 10-game winning streak over the Hawkeyes.

Purdue led by Quarterback Eric Hunziker, who passed for 353 yards on 36 attempts, rushed for 78 yards made way for a Boilermaker offense that scored a total of 271 yards led by Arlein Connors 107.

Hawkeyes Head Coach Hayden Fry said that he was very impressed by Hunziker's perfor­mance, due to he was projected to be a first-round selection in the NFL Draft. He felt a sense of accomplishment, due to he was a smart quarterback who was effective (40 carries, 108 yards) .

Hawkeye running game was inef­fective. Fry said: "We need to try and get better."

Iowa got a good look at backup quarterback Matt Rudy, the junior from Michigan State as he started in his first game for the Hawkeyes, after starting quarter­back Tim Hartholz dislocated a right shoulder while attempting to recover a fumble early in the fourth quarter in a win the previous week against Illinois.

Rudy, who passed for 164 yards on 22 completions with one inter­ception said he felt a sense of relief about getting his first colle­giate start behind him.

"It was a good experience, that's for sure," he said. "I just want to try and get better."
Casey Wiegmann's knee injury has shaken Iowa's a'...ady-worn offensive line and moved lineman Hal Mady — again

Joel Bevans

The Daily Iowan

As the huddle breaks, you place your hand on the ball. Depending on your stance, you're unable to move as defensive tackles shift left and right, linebackers prepare to bull and opponents drop back to induce a penalty. Count on your headlamp, you try to find your blocking assignment among the moving defenders while listening for the precise moment to thrust the football backward and set the offense in motion.

Welcome to life as an Iowa center.

For the past four years, center Mark Devlin, last season's Big Ten's Offensive Lineman of the Year, directed the Iowa offensive line. This season, Casey Wiegmann and Hal Mady have had the challenge of filling Devlin's shoes. Wiegmann, who started the first four games before suffering a knee injury in practice, said playing behind Devlin last season helped him learn a lot about what it takes to play center.

"I learned quite a bit from him; I would sit on the sideline last year and just watch how he played," Wiegmann said.

"Actually, he was back for the entire game and he was telling me how to change. He was doing the same thing. He was compared to a guy who's in the pros, who is that good, that's a compliment I really took to heart."

Wiegmann has received praise from Iowa head coach Hayden Fry and offensive line coach Frank Verducci and has been compared to Devlin by both.

"On the line he's not as good as somebody we've had in the past. I mean, I don't want to get too much into it, but he's making the big move now and that's better than sitting on the sidelines," Verducci said.

"He has a great impact. He's a very consistent player, very every time he gets any amount of reps, he's always got the right mental approach to it." Fry said.

Since Wiegmann's injury prior to Iowa's game at Purdue, Mady has stepped in to the starting lineup. Wiegmann has been limited to a few snaps, which the coaching staff has attributed to a lack of blocking assignments on the line of scrimmage or as opponents move to block or stunt their linemen. Fry believes Mady has done an excellent job in a "quarterback" of the Hawkeye offense.

"Most fans don't have any idea of the transition for Hal Mady, moving from tackle, and then to guard, to center," Fry said.

Senior offensive lineman Hal Mady (77) has adjusted from playing tackle to guard this season. Casey Wiegmann's knee injury three weeks ago forced Mady to adjust to playing center.

"It's not as good as everybody who has played there," Mady said.

Mady himself credited his playing time as a backup center in his freshman years. He said the Chicago Ridge, Ill., native "learned quite a bit from him."

"Knowing thel akeback position with our offensive line, I knew what kind of trouble I'd be in this season. I've had players come in the back of my mind all season, so I would prepare as if something happened."

After Wiegmann was injured, Mady and freshman center Bill Reardon had a meeting to go over plays and line calls.

"We centers all get together after I get hurt and went over the plays the next day," Wiegmann said. "I've been helping Hal with calls, and I've been helping Billy Reardon with calls, so I knew right away that he was going to do a pretty good job."

Another thing which Wiegmann said has helped make the Hawkeyes' center job "faster" is having the opportunity to play with the coaching staff recently implemented. By reducing the number of line calls a center has to make, Wiegmann said learning to play the position on a smaller scale now that it was in the back of his mind. He said it was easier now than it was at the beginning of the season.

"At the beginning of the season I was looking at five, six guys being our starting center. We don't have to make as many calls, he's just been doing a pretty good job.

"The offensive line's job is to play as a cohesive unit, because if one guy breaks down, they all break down. They've already been making as many calls, he's just being making defenses and helping out the other guys."
Michigan State piled up 530 yards of total offense, below the season’s 412 yard average which ranks them fourth in the Big Ten. Fry said his team could be “overexposed” by members of the Salvation Army for giving up 475 yards in a 40-7 loss to Illinois Oct. 16. Last week nothing came easy for the Spartans. I think Michigan State has a heckuva blend,” Fry said. “They had to work for everything they got.”

Blue said the Hawkeyes just played Michigan State coach George Perles said Iowa’s pass rush was the best at the time. “We came out there and told each other not to be down if anything goes wrong. We were able to do things that we hadn’t been able to do in seven games on the year and in the Big Ten.”

Former SID not ready to leave Hawkeyes just yet

George Wine
Former Iowa SID

George Wine continues to keep Hawkeyes on track in what he describes as a "great moment." Wine said the team came into the Liberty Bowl for senior guard Ron Johnson's memory. It was a lot of fun for me as a basketball coach to be a part of that," Wine said.

During Wine's tenure at Iowa, Hawkeye teams won 22 Big Ten conference championships and 15 NCAA titles. He accompanied the first basketball team to 10 bowl games, including four Rose Bowls.

One of Wine's fondest memories was the game that put him in the Rose Bowl. The Hawkeyes had Michigan State's Rich Beauchamp go to the final four in 1986. Wine's memory. Had it not been for senior American point guard Ronnie Luehrs' blunder on his knee before the start of the Big Ten season, Wine felt that photo might have been named national championship.

"Before Ronnie went down, we really were playing our best. We were playing the kinds of games that we expected," Wine said. "(Wine) didn't play much during the Big Ten season, but he came back into the tournament. He had a one-time opportunity to play for a national championship."

Jael Bookhofs
The Daily Iowan

The defensive line is looking to create confusion with its defense.

"Defensive line Matt Hilliard, who is the leader, said the Hawkeyes have actually done better stopping the run than the pass with the 6-1, 6-2 defensive lineup, allowing only 103.5 yards per game."

"Actually, it's more designed to stop the run, but we seem to be doing better stopping the pass with it," Hilliard said. "What we do is spread things out a little bit. Everybody in everybody has some dual responsibility. Everybody does what they're supposed to do. We should be in pretty good shape against the run."

Another thing which Gill believes has helped his unit is deploying 17 different players into the line positions. In recent weeks, younger players like Sione Fea, Chris Whedbee and Lloyd Blackhawk have joined seniors Blue, Mike Wells, and Maurer Clinic.

"It's a great opportunity to win the next four games." the Boilermakers might be something that will challenge us, Hilliard said. "We have been working towards number one that's going to get into our way."

The defense is maturing and will have a lot of experience coming into the game. Cornerback Jim Miller in 126 tackles and 42 defensive assists.

Sconly缓解 tweaks to the defense. "We have to be aggressive, play with intensity and hopefully a victory will come.

"If we're going to be a good team, we need to go to both ends of the field, everybody has to do their responsibility to make sure we don't have backshafts, so nobody's going to run free," Hilliard said.

"We are working towards building the defense and trying to get our best players in a situation where they can do that." - Ted Gill

Iowa defensive line coach

"Just are going to run a lot of different line sets and line blocks, and the 6-1 might be something that we need," Hilliard said. "When you're going against a team that runs the triple option, you need someone that's going to go head-to-head with them. Everybody has to do their responsibility to make sure we don't have backshafts, so nobody's going to run free,

The Iowa defense currently ranks third in the Big Ten in passing defense. Cornerback Scott Blackford has led the conference in tackles with 124. "We've got a lot of good young people coming up and pushing all the seniors and people who have been starting to play better," said the senior from Cedar Falls.

"More or less, you get a better feeling when they're in, and once every one wants to play, I think it's for the best." Blue said. "We just are going to try to get our best players in the game and try to get our best players on the field where they can do that."

"In this league, the No. 1 thing you had better be ready to do is stop the run, so you want to get your best players in a situation where they can do that."
