Students cry out for yodeling contest

By John Ralston
The Daily Iowan

"The atmosphere around a yodel is kind of electric," said University of Iowa senior Linda Hoel. "I think there's something really special about it. I think it's a musical thing, you know? You can't do it too loud or too soft. It's just something that's unique."

But the school has been without a yodeling contest for a number of years, and students are clamoring for one. The present yodeling contest has been canceled due to lack of interest. "I do think it's something that people should be able to enjoy," said Hoel. "I think it's a fun thing."

But the contest has not been without its controversies. "I think there's a lot of controversy about who should be able to yodel and who shouldn't," said Hoel. "I think there's a lot of controversy about whether or not yodeling is a sport."

Several students have expressed interest in organizing a yodeling contest. "I think it would be a great idea," said Hoel. "I think it would be a lot of fun. I think it would be a great way to bring people together."

But others have expressed skepticism. "I don't think it's a good idea," said Hoel. "I think it's a bad idea. I think it's a stupid idea."

Still, there is hope for a yodeling contest in the future. "I think it's possible," said Hoel. "I think it's possible that we could have a yodeling contest in the future."

But for now, the yodeling contest is on hold. "I think it's too bad," said Hoel. "I think it's too bad that we can't have a yodeling contest. I think it would be a lot of fun."

A mock trial of an acquaintance rape at the 2009 Sexual Assault Awareness Program will feature the case of Theresa Garthoff, 3, of Water- linn, during a stop at the Big Food Diner in Eldon.

RVAP takes sexual assault seriously. According to statistics, 1 in 4 women and 1 in 6 men will be raped at some point in their lifetime. The impact is severe and long-lasting, and the recovery process can be difficult.

Susan Schnell, a sexual assault survivor, will give the audience a picture of what an acquaintance rape is and how it affects the survivors.

“The key to changing our society so we can get an end to sexual violence is education,” said Christine Munson, RVAP director. “We have to do more and do more and educate more people. This is the third time since Jan. 1, 2009, that Howard has been charged with a domestic abuse incident. On Jan. 12, he was charged with second-degree assault, and on Jan. 4, he was charged with simple assault. Upon arrival, police were told that the woman had been left at her home and was dancing away.

The case is under investigation. The woman, who was left at her home, has a history of domestic abuse issues.

Gaza, March 28 - Israeli forces moved at night into Gaza City, said a major holiday in the city, and hundreds of Nakba, the event of 1948 Residents took over the streets of the city, which has seen limited fighting in the past, and set up barricades and burning tires. The army said it was pulling out of the city after two days of heavy fighting.

The armistice agreement, reached in 1948, was seen as a victory for the Palestinians, who had lost control of the city in 1967. The army said it was moving to Gaza City to clear the streets and prepare for the return of the Palestinians.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

The apron syndrome

America has found the perfect scapegoat. She is a woman, her hair is straight and her mind is sharp. Her name is Hillary Rodham Clinton. And yet, she doesn’t have her place.

She should and could be a wife, in part as a result of wining the chocolate-chip/mobile cooking contest against incumbent Barbara Bush. However, she also stepped out of that role — now she’s under fire.

She took on a business suit and — to the great dismay of crime. The tendency for women to be valued only when wearing professional. This is evidenced in the numerous career women who had already been living in a unisex household and prevented her from being valued as a person.

The crime of profession was not going to be renewed for her in the kitchen or sometimes even in her home. She was the lawyer, she was the professional and must include people in society who hold these beliefs.

It is easy to see that, from the beginning of the union, the single apron has been a symbol of their identity. The greatest benefit of wearing an apron is that it detaches one from a certain sense of identity, it erases my personality and prevents me from being valued as a person. The reason is that the single apron is a symbol of their identity and not a symbol of their action.

When she protested this treatment by taking off the apron, it was a symbol of her desire to be seen as a person, not just as a lawyer. The boss men don't put up with that kind of treatment.

Stocks drop; Dow reaches six-month low

NEW YORK (Stock Exchange) — Stocks plummeted again Monday in violent downspouts that wiped more than 150 points off the Dow Jones industrial average, heralding increased selling pressure throughout the street.

by David G. Bireley

The Dow average of 130 premier U.S. stocks plummeted again Monday and closed at 3,978.36, down 45.81 points from Thursday and the low-end point since Jan. 31. Broader trends, where big investors have bonds outweighing the nation's leading purveyor of stocks, showed the economy grew in March for the seventh straight month but had little effect on the market.

The decline in the stock and bond markets over the past few months has been widely blamed on the Federal Reserve's move to raise short-term interest rates. Fears of a recession, continuing a 5-year-old strategy of lowering rates to stimulate the economy, have sent the Dow Jones industrial average down more than 400 points in the past two months.

Biosphere scientists charged with vandalism

Associated Press

The charge of vandalism against the Biosphere 2 project in the Arizona desert drew a swift rebuke from University of Iowa spokesman Chris Helms.

"We are not concerned to a sense or have reason to suspect that vandalism is occurring, and in fact, the project has undergone the most stringent, highest level of security possible," Helms said in a statement.

The University of Iowa is one of the four institutions that established the Biosphere 2 project in the Arizona desert in 1990.

"This is a stupid story and it will go away," said Helms, referring to the press release issued by the Associated Press.

The release stated that eight people were sealed into the Biosphere 2 project in March 1991, but Helms said that number is not correct.

"The university has no reason to suspect that any of the individuals involved in the project have committed any acts of vandalism," Helms said.

The release also stated that the project has undergone "the most stringent, highest level of security possible," but Helms said that is not correct.

"The university has no reason to suspect that any of the individuals involved in the project have committed any acts of vandalism," Helms said.

The release also stated that the project has undergone "the most stringent, highest level of security possible," but Helms said that is not correct.

"We are not concerned to a sense or have reason to suspect that vandalism is occurring, and in fact, the project has undergone the most stringent, highest level of security possible," Helms said.

The University of Iowa is one of the four institutions that established the Biosphere 2 project in the Arizona desert in 1990.

"This is a stupid story and it will go away," said Helms, referring to the press release issued by the Associated Press.

The release stated that eight people were sealed into the Biosphere 2 project in March 1991, but Helms said that number is not correct.

The most serious objection may be that it is a war on Meadows. Anti-Meadows sentiment and the fact that he is the only African American in the state administration are probably doing him some good in his bid for re-election, said one political observer.

Grandy fielded audience questions to the same types of punishments that Mexicans believe their race receives when studying, according to the study.

In all, that should be enough to keep the crowd at home.

JIM'S JOURNAL

I was watching TV today. Suddenly my phone rang. It was my mom. She was clearly upset about something. I asked her what was wrong, and she said she was sending me a text.

Before I knew it, I was dead
daydreaming

I got up, grabbed my phone, and read the text message:

"I'm sorry, but I need to talk to you. There's something going on at work, and I need you to come home right now."

I wasn't sure what to say, but I knew I had to go. I hung up on my mom and headed back home as fast as I could.

When I got there, I found my mom sitting on the couch, tears streaming down her face. She told me that one of her coworkers had been laid off, and she didn't know what she was going to do. I offered to help her in any way I could, and she was grateful.

The next few days were tough, but we made it through. I'm grateful for having someone to turn to when I needed it most.

BUCO'S BLOG

Monday, April 13, 2003

I was feeling pretty good after my baseball game yesterday. I hit a home run in the fourth inning, and our team won by a score of 10-2. It feels good to contribute to the team and help us win.

YOUTUBING

I know that a lot of people out there love YouTube, and I'm no different. I've been watching videos on there for a while now, and I've found some pretty cool stuff. I especially like the music videos and the funny videos.

But I've also noticed that YouTube can be pretty addictive. I've found myself spending hours on there, just watching one video after another. It's something that I need to watch out for.

IOWA BASEBALL POSTER DAY!

I love baseball, and I was thrilled to hear that we had a Poster Day for baseball here in Iowa. It was a great opportunity to show our support for the sport and the players.

The event was held at the baseball field, and there were a lot of people there. I saw some old friends and met some new ones.

It was a great day, and I'm looking forward to the upcoming season. Baseball is one of the best things about spring.
