Stone drummer hopes The Atrocity Exhibition is not too much for the audience.

The Stones drummer has his doubts about the audience's ability to handle the movie "The Atrocity Exhibition." He is apprehensive about the movie and its impact, especially the violence and disturbing imagery.

"We've got to be careful," he said, "because it's not a movie for everyone. It's a very intense film and can be disturbing for some people.""}

Falk talks up novel as role as collegiate grandfather

By ROBERT PROCTOR, Austin American-Statesman (AP)

WAXAHACHIE, Texas (AP) - Warren Leff, a retired English professor at Waxahachie High School, is about to release a novel he wrote as a role-playing game character.

Leff, 67, has been writing novels as a hobby for years, but he only recently decided to try his hand at writing a full-length novel. He said he was inspired by the success of other authors who have written novels as a role-playing game character.

"I've been writing novels for years, but I never thought I could actually publish one," Leff said. "But when I read about other authors who have done it, I decided to give it a try."

Deans prepare college for health-care transitions

Michele Karter
The Daily Iowan

Changes like a new curriculum in the UI College of Medicine have prompted the reorganization of the college’s clinical leadership. The appointment of an acting dean and an associate dean for research will reduce the number of pediatricians, who was appointed associate dean for research, who was named associate dean for clinical affairs.

CHEERLEADING AND POM PON CLINIC

The University of Iowa will be conducting a Cheerleading and Pompom Clinic for anyone interested in trying out for the 1995-96 season. We are looking for athletic, outgoing individuals who want to be a part of a great team. Full-time U of I students are encouraged to attend this informational meeting.

We’ll not only change your view from the dom, we’ll change your view of life.

Next semester, what’s outside your residence hall window can be more than just an attractive view. When you study abroad with Beaver College, you come to understand another culture in a way no tourist can. Whether you prefer to frequent the haunts of Dublin’s famous writers, explore the ancient sites of Athens, sample the plaza nightlife of Guadalajara, devour Sachertorten in Viennese coffeehouses or watch the sun set over Oxford’s dreaming spires, the views you’ll return with are those you’ll remember with your mind, and with your heart. Ask your study abroad advisor about Beaver College programs.

Straw polls declared

Dole seeks support in Iowa early

By Mike Glover

Associated Press

Bernie Moss, Des Moines Register

Tuesday, February 28, 1995

Dole's campaign is a story of two states. It has failed to break through in Iowa, but has enjoyed surprising success in Texas.

In Iowa, Dole has struggled against the wishes of some of his most ardent backers, who have pointed to a strong showing as an indication that Iowa is not as reliable as some had thought.

"We're not going to get into a straw poll," Dole said. "I'm in good health. I think I've prepared to do that." Dole added that Dole is too old and not prepared to do that. Dole said that he would rather not be the constant candidate.

F or relief from the ongoing siege of work, many are considering programs that offer annuity investments designed to help build additional retirement assets that may help fund the transition between leaving and entering your retirement years.

Contributions to these IRAs are deductible against your income for federal tax purposes. In many cases, state income taxes are also deductible, as well.

As your nation’s retirement system, we offer the following principles of round retirement investing to guide you in the process:

1. Consider your short-term financial needs. Make sure you know how much you will need to live on during your retirement and how long your retirement funds will last.
2. Consider your long-term financial needs. Consider what kind of lifestyle you want to have in retirement and how much it will cost you.
3. Consider your investment goals. What is your risk tolerance? What is your time horizon for retirement?
4. Consider your tax situation. How much tax do you expect to pay on your retirement income?
5. Consider your retirement income needs. How much do you need to save for retirement?

Learning to say no: a sign of a good woman

My daughter had her first birthday this month, and I am now trying to think about how much I can give for her present. I have decided to buy her a new dress, which is expensive. It's been a year since she was born, and I am very happy to see her grow and develop. I know that she will appreciate the dress, and it will make her feel special.

On one hand, I think you have to put into perspective her way of thinking. I have a feeling that if she could not be more independent and have more freedom to do what she wants, she might not be as happy. Therefore, I believe it is important for us to be responsible and give her the freedom to make her own decisions.

But now that she is getting older, I think that she needs more space to grow and develop. She should be given more freedom to do what she wants. In this way, she will become more confident and independent. I think it is important for us to be responsible and give her the freedom to make her own decisions.

I think that the key to teaching children to say no is to be clear and consistent. If you are clear and consistent, your children will understand your expectations and will be more likely to follow them.

I have always been very strict with my children, and I believe that this has helped them to develop good habits. I think that this is the key to raising good children. If you are consistent and clear, your children will understand your expectations and will be more likely to follow them.

MANDATORY MINIMUMS

First-time offender s suffer

On Friday, the Daily Iowan op-ed page stated that the mass of Van- genen was arrested after two sales of the drug to a cocaine buyer, effectively proving Van-Gerden's assertion that 13 years in prison is a mandatory sentence of 150 months.

This case represents locally a serious violation of justice in our judicial system, with hearings for mandatory minimums that have no reasonable or moral basis. For example, if a first-time offender was convicted of a violent crime, it would be more probable that an HIV-positive patient will give the virus to a medical field should be obligated to disclose to their patients basked with being HIV-positive to avoid having tests done .

There is worry that physicians, dentists or anyone working in the medical field should be obligated to disclose to their patients basked with being HIV-positive to avoid having tests done.

GOP candidates risk analysis bill

H. Joel Herbert

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - House Republi cans, having already walked through a treacherous regulatory minefield, turned Monday to a bill that would give the government the power to require risk assessments and compare the impact of new rules.

Crimson, including President Clin	on and his Democratic leaders have said the bill would turn the regulatory agency and prevent the Department of Health and Human Services from issuing health-based regulations.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Walter B. Jones, R-N.C., the chairman of the House Science Committee, proposes that the "regulation system has been a night-dread" in the department's review of new regulations.

The requirement for risk assessments could lead to costly and time-consuming reviews and force agencies to focus on "federal and state standards," said one House aid.

The purpose of the bill is to reduce toxic chemicals and reduce the cost and time-containing the "cost of doing business,"

"This is a qualifier. I don't think we can win it," said static, "but the kids have to have a good game." The Cowboys have been dealing with the injuries, too, with senior captains Bubba Bedard and Andrew Garver out for the season with stress fractures.

"Our job is to make sure that we're ready when they come back," said Garver. "We have to be prepared for anything." The Cowboys are currently ranked No. 11 in the nation and are looking to make a run at the national championship.

In other news, the Cowboys football team has lost its last three games, including a tight loss to Oklahoma State. The team is currently ranked No. 16 in the AP Poll and No. 20 in the Coaches Poll.

"That's why you play at UCLA," said Smith. "You have a chance to win every game, and you never know what's going to happen."

In their next game, the Bruins will face off against Oregon State. The Beavers are currently ranked No. 12 in the nation and have won their last three games. Smith said that the team will need to be at their best to have a chance against Oregon State.

"We have to be ready for their best game," said Smith. "They have a good team, and they're playing well right now."

The Bruins will need to focus on defense in order to win. They have allowed over 70 points in each of their last two games, which is unacceptable for a team that is trying to make a run at the national championship.

"We have to be more disciplined on defense," said Smith. "We can't allow them to get easy buckets."
Illinois boxer fights for his life

American boxer Gerald McClellan, of Fort Worth, TX, support Sunday after undergoing brain surgery to remove a blood clot resulting from his knockout loss. McClellan has been in critical condition for five days. The Associated Press reported that McClellan's surgeons performed a tracheotomy and drained brain fluid through a catheter to relieve pressure on his brain. McClellan's family has expressed its hope for his recovery.

HISA CLAIMS TO OWN PHRASE

"March Madness" spurs controversy

Christopher Wiles

Associated Press

"March Madness" is the most widely recognized nickname for the NCAA basketball tournament. It is not owned by the NCAA, as some have claimed.

HISA, the company that markets "March Madness" signage, and the NCAA have been in a legal battle over the use of the phrase. The Associated Press reported that the NCAA has been granted a preliminary injunction against HISA's use of the phrase.

On the first day of March, the NCAA tournament begins. The Associated Press reported that the tournament is a major source of revenue for the NCAA, which has been fighting to protect its rights to the phrase "March Madness." The NCAA has threatened legal action against companies that use the phrase without permission.

Lougans comes to terms with illness

Lougans is suffering from a rare illness that has left him bedridden. The Associated Press reported that Lougans has been diagnosed with a rare genetic disorder that has left him unable to walk or talk. The illness is called "March Madness," and it has been described as a "nightmare." The Associated Press reported that Lougans has been in and out of the hospital for months, and his family has been forced to sell their home to pay for his medical bills.

Out of 4,671 prisoners in Illinois, Lougans is the only one with this rare disease. The Associated Press reported that Lougans's family has been given a small government grant to help pay for his medical bills.

SARASOTA, Fla. — World Series MVP Omar Vizquel of the Baltimore Orioles, 2001 American League batting champ Miguel Tejada of the San Diego Padres and three other key players are close to finalizing a new contract with the Chicago White Sox.

"They've got a deal," said White Sox Manager Jerry Reuss, who is scheduled to meet Tejada in Chicago on Monday. "I think it's pretty much settled."

"I'm pretty sure it'll be done by the weekend," added Chicago pitching coach Larry Andersen.

When provisions in the White Sox's current collective bargaining agreement expire next Tuesday, Tejada will become a free agent. If he signs a new deal before that happens, he would be guaranteed a contract through the 2004 season.

WILL HE Play?

Chicago White Sox minor-league Michael Jordan pitches batting practice Monday in Sarasota, Fla.

Jordan's decision will be one of the most closely watched of the strike-torn spring because he is the biggest star while the White Sox have the highest payroll. The players' union has said it will consider any minor league player to be a professional.

If it were a normal minor league player, Jordan would probably play in the games.

Will he be there to just get the work in, or does he need the experience? The White Sox have kept the constant suspense about his condition.

"I was a normal minor league player," Jordan said. "I would probably play in the games."}

"I'm not sure what's going on," Jordan added. "I'm ready to go, but I'm not sure how long this is going to go on."

"You feel like you're playing and playing, but it's just like you're waiting on something," Jordan said. "I'm not sure."

Jordan has been in camp for a week and has been working out with the team. There is no indication that he may be close to joining the White Sox roster. Jordan last pitched in a Cactus League game March 14.

"It's a little more stressful now to be ready for game action," Jordan said. "I'm trying to make sure I can have good command of the breaking balls and the off-speed stuff that I need to have."

Jordan is scheduled to pitch in a minor league game Sunday and is hoping for a big league call-up before the start of the regular season.

"I'm ready to go, but I'm not sure how long this is going to go on," Jordan said. "I'm trying to make sure I can have good command of the breaking balls and the off-speed stuff that I need to have."

"I wanted to get the work in and get my arm loose," Jordan said. "I think that's more important than whether I pitch in a big league game or no."
The Upstage String Quartet will bring its rich insight. The concert will include compositions by African-American music to Hancher Auditorium tonight.

The director's guides haven't been very kind to African-Americans that size d elements of African and European traditions. Their works are great for racialist attitudes that are ingrained in all of us. Their works are great for music written by black composers exemplifies the same.
