Director slayers to make RiverFest a success

Paul Michus

The Daily Iowan

"Making sure thousands of people have a good time this year is not a small task in itself," said Jansen, the director of RiverFest.

This year, we just focused on having fun and letting people know about the show. The RiverFest has got to be fun for the students," the Daily Iowan said.

This week, Jansen has several meetings with the other members of the RiverFest committee in addition to three or four individual meetings with community leaders. Interviews with KUSI and KCRN have been taped, and he hopes to use these opportunities to further educate students about RiverFest.

The only thing left for now is to make sure all the public is informed about RiverFest.

"There is still a lot of work to be done, but we are making progress," Jansen said. "We have a lot of people involved, and we are excited about the upcoming show.

The biggest source of money for Jansen explains he hopes to see more support from the community. He said he hopes to see more people attending the events, which will help make the shows successful.

"The biggest problem is that we are not getting enough support," Jansen said. "We have a lot of people involved, but we need more people to attend the shows.

"It doesn't seem real that I'm alive. I'm blessed by God to be here. There must be some plan or reason to why I survived," Wayne Story, survivor of the Oklahoma City bombing.

seven-year-old Marti Chavez prepares cake treats as part of her efforts to participate in the American Cancer Society's "Leash on Life" program. Marci, who has been in and out of the hospital for the past two years, has been diagnosed with leukemia.

Kira said she didn't have a dog but wanted one. "I'm a dog, she really wants one," Kira said as she sprinkled flour on the dough, which was made of flour, sugar and chocolate chips.

"I'm trying to keep her spirits bright," said child-life specialist Kathy Warnock. "I think the best thing out of all the things that have been happening is that she's been able to do a lot."

Marti Chavez said she had a suspicion that she had genital warts because of pain at the tip of her penis.

"I was really looking forward to this activity," Marti Chavez said. "I was looking forward to making something." Marti Chavez said she had been making and baking dog treats for years and had been making them for her daughter through the difficult times.

"The other kids here are doing the same thing," said Marci. "They are making dog treats for their own dogs."

"As a matter of fact, the Zazzle family has been making dog treats for years," said Marci.

"We are trying to keep the kids' spirits up," said Marci. "We are trying to keep the kids happy."

DI granted full funding for summer

After having its entire summer session cancelled, the Department of Music’s Music in the City program is set to resume this summer. The UM Student Assembly Budget and Finance Committee awarded a contract to the UI and this decision set the stage for the summer session.

According to the contract, which was entered into more than 20 years ago, the UI is to receive $1.7 million in academic administrative fees each summer. UIU, however, was only recently told that the contract existed and that now the UI is to receive a $20,000 cut in administrative fees. However, UIU still receives a $20,000 cut in administrative fees.

"The UI is being paid $20,000 less than what it was originally budgeted," said a spokesperson for the UI. "We are working to ensure that UIU is not shorted any funding." According to the spokesperson, the contract was renewed by the UI in 1995 and the University of Iowa will receive all summer funding it has taken away from the UI to go toward supplemental funding for UIU.

College Life: A Few Things To Know

Hey on college campuses those "in the know" are the ones who rule. And it's not just about being smart in the classroom, it's about being wise with your wallet as well. So if you want a great low price on a collect call, just dial 1 800 CALL-ATT it always costs less than 1-800-COLLECT. Always.

There are lots of tricky things for you to learn at college, but here's something that's easy: KNOW THE CODE, and save the person on the other end some serious money. You'll be glad you did.

WASHINGTON — A senator says it is too soon to decide what to do about a new federal law that makes it a crime to talk about an extraordinary amount of harm or action. But he sees talk being talk show chatter and the three senators of his state without a bodyguard.

And just Clinton. Those two, no government and handful of highly placed federal agents, are the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building's first line of defense.

Rwandan refugees find violence at home

BUTARE, Rwanda — Almost a year after that fatal April night, it seemed as if the horror would end here.

The Hutu refugee and her child died in a huddle in the back of a truck at the Butare transit camp.

The same day, two children strolled back to their homecoming reception. Their handbags were full of food and medicine. They met with their friends and neighbors.

"We have reason to worry that there is going to be a huge number of people unexpectedly forced to Butare," added Joe Sills, a spokesman for the Rwandan refugee agency said at UN headquarters in New York. "I think there may be a potential finding of genocide." But Sills added that the refugees have not yet expressed any desire to leave Butare.

The government is accused of the fact that there is going to be a huge number of people unexpectedly forced to Butare. The refugees have not yet expressed any desire to leave Butare.

In July 1991, the Butare massacre occurred, a brutal genocide in Kigali.

Oklahoma City bombing: Are Americans still safe?

In it is true that we have become a nation present to the government and the politicians that some of them are not even aware of how much power we have as citizens. While the bombing in Oklahoma City appears to be a one-off incident, there are many more that have occurred in the past and continue to occur today.

GPHQs like KansanWatch and the Southern Poverty Law Center have been warning the Justice Department of the rise of militias in the last decade. These groups have been linked to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in the past.

Invariably, the government and a paranoid fear of "one world government" is what drives people to join these groups. While the bombing in Oklahoma City appears to be a one-off incident, there are many more that have occurred in the past and continue to occur today.

Terror in River Heaves 'based on real life'

This column is not going to make you feel safer or more secure in Oklahoma City. It is not going to be the latest in a long line of "uncovered" plots that "prove" the New World Order is afoot. What it may do is increase your awareness of the political climate in which we find ourselves and inject a bit of perspective into the debate. We're not going to "prove" anything; rather, we're going to share some information that may help us understand what's happening around us and what we can do about it.

The Oklahoma City bombing in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on April 19, 1995, killed 168 people, including a 19-month-old baby, and destroyed many buildings. The bombing was carried out by Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols, two members of the Aryan Republican Front, a white supremacist group.

This bombing was one of the most devastating acts of terrorism in U.S. history. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) estimated that the blast killed 168 people, injured 680 others, and damaged or destroyed 324 buildings.

The bombing occurred on a Thursday at 9:01 a.m. local time. The explosion was heard for miles around and could be seen from miles away. The force of the blast was equivalent to that of a 13,000-pound bomb.

The bombing was the result of a long-standing dispute between the federal government and the leaders of the Aryan Republican Front. The group had been involved in an armed standoff with federal agents in 1992 and 1993, and the Oklahoma City bombing was seen as a desperate attempt to gain public support for their cause.

The bombing was a brutal reminder of the danger that such groups can pose to the public. It was also a reminder of the need for continued vigilance and a commitment to protecting our democracy.

"I may graduate a semester early."

"I tried a summer class at Kirkwood last year. Just taking that one class allowed me more time to concentrate on my Accounting and Spanish classes when I returned to UNI."

In fact, I plan to take a class or two at Kirkwood again this summer, even with classes I still have plenty of time for my summer job and tennis.

The bomb weighed a little over 5,200 pounds, the official estimated. It was a 1,000- to 2,000-pound bomb.

The off-duty enforcement official said the vehicle McVeigh was driving when he was killed had been weighed on a scale at the Dreamland Motel, from which McVeigh had left.

Before leaving, Rebecca Anderson had recognized him. She said, "It was like she was planning ahead and she didn't even know she was planning ahead, you know?"

The managing editor of the Arkansas Times, Terry Nichols, had said McVeigh was not accused in the case.

"He had a beard and square jaw," said Fred Anderson. "It was inevitable Rebecca Anderson was hit by a bomb."

Eastern coaches fear Bulls, Jordan

Mike Kefal Associated Press

NEW YORK -- Basketball historians have written the last chapter of the 1993-94 season. The Bulls have been locked in the books for a year. But if you asked the coaches, you would realize that Jordan and the rest of the team are not finished. The Bulls are expected to make a run at the championship, but the coaches are not so sure. They are hoping that Jordan and the rest of the team will give them a chance to win.

AL Central
Don't expect 1995 to be a three-team race like last year when the White Sox swept Minnesota and Detroit off the division map. Kansas City has taken itself out of contention and left Chicago and Cleveland to battle for the crown.

The White Sox have had the edge in the division recently, leading the Central with a 1-4 mark against the Indians and sweeping the Royals. But the Indians are the best AL Central team and the Sox will have to beat them to win the division.

Suck it up, Detroit fans. After a 6-11 start to the season, you're likely to see a lot of Detroit fans up and out of the stands soon. The Tigers have an old-fashioned problem: they can't hit. They're hitting .247, which is 21 points lower than last year.

The Indians have been dominating the division, leading the Central with a 1-4 mark against the Sox and sweeping the Royals. But the Indians are the best AL Central team and the Sox will have to beat them to win the division.

In one scene, a teacher says, “We want to change the world, but we also have to prepare our kids to live in it.” This is where the ugly truth of pedagogy rears its head. When does a teacher let go and free the students to think on their own?

That’s what makes his practice of direct cinema resonate with so many truth. The answers are wrapped up in three hours of editing; it becomes the “truth” pedagogy to keep and get to the hot line.

“High School II” debuts at the Bijou Theatre tonight at 7.

Wiseman’s offer of insight that echoes the challenges of a pre­pandemic and pandemic present

At the screening time of three hours and 45 minutes, “High School II” demonstrates the limitation of what was actually accomplished by Wiseman and his crew.

Wiseman works with a 35-to-1 shooting ratio, meaning that for every 35 feet of film he shoots, 1 foot is used in the finished product. Because he spends so much time with his subjects and shoots so much film of them, Wiseman is able to literally blend into the woodwork, capturing his camera with monotony.

Sony tries to replace cassette tapes

John Pavlovit

You're driving down a highway or in a crowded auditorium listening to your favorite music. Maybe it's a rare recording of Billy Joel or a neglected concert tape of Janis Joplin or even a European release of your favorite band. Suddenly, the music stops with a muffled sound of "Pop My Heart." Audiophiles and music lovers know there must be a malfunction, but it sounds like a broken record. Panic-stricken, you try the volume, the buttons, the settings, as if the LP has recovered from a bout of terminal MP3 and gone to the grave.

The fault lies somewhere in the middle of "Pop My Heart," Audiosophiles and music lovers know there must be a malfunction, but it sounds like a broken record. Panic-stricken, you try the volume, the buttons, the settings, as if the LP has recovered from a bout of terminal MP3 and gone to the grave.

Now, Sony Corp. is inking those feelings with the Minidisc. Instead of some three years ago, the Minidisc has been available for many decades and has proven its worth in the market well. Sony produces all types of current cassettes with all the advantages of "Pop My Heart.

There are many who claim the Minidiscs will replace the cassette and the LP, but no one denies that technical perfection has been proven in decades and has proven itself in any market. Sony produces all types of current cassettes with all the advantages of" Pop My Heart.

Despite the glowing endorsement and kudos from the Minidiscs, there are those who have their problems. They are not satisfied with the sound quality and might actually be an approximately will replace the cassette. But it is too early to jump to conclusions. Price has never dropped.

"Until the price drops down on the product, you are limiting the number of people who are going to be able to buy it," said Shihang Ha who added that Minidiscs have still competition from portable CD players.
