When you hear the words "car salesman," what do you think of? Parker McKeown, the car dealer manager at Harold Nisly Toyota in Decorah, says his customers associate him with three things: his love of music, his love of art and his love of helping people.

Parker McKeown started working in the car business when he was 17 years old. He worked his way up through the ranks, eventually becoming a manager at a local dealership.

"I've been in the car business for 29 years," McKeown said. "I've worked in every aspect of it, from sales to service to management."

McKeown says he enjoys the challenge of working in the car business. "Every day is different," he said. "You never know what's going to happen next."

McKeown says he's proud of the dealership he manages. "We have a great team of people working here," he said. "We're all committed to making sure our customers are happy."

When it comes to music, McKeown says he's a big fan of the Grateful Dead. "I've seen them in concert more times than I can count," he said. "They're an incredible band."

In addition to music, McKeown is also passionate about art. "I love going to museums and art galleries," he said. "Art is a big part of who I am."

McKeown says he's happy to help people find the right car for them. "We want to make sure our customers are satisfied," he said. "We want them to feel like they're part of our family."

When asked about his favorite memory from his time in the car business, McKeown says he remembers a time when he sold a car to a customer who had just lost her husband. "I remember feeling like I was helping the customer in a really difficult time," he said. "It was a really special moment."

Overall, McKeown says he's proud of the work he does and the people he works with. "I'm grateful for the opportunity to help people every day," he said. "It's a rewarding job."

9 rally against animal testing

Despite chilly weather, nine people protes ted the use of animals in experiments at the UI yesterday. The protest, held at the Old Capitol, was in conjunction with Animal Coalition, said her group was braving the rain at noon

"We are spending billions of dollars putting these animals through pain and suffering," said one of the protesters. "The UI spends $50 million in what we consider tax-funded treatment of laboratory animals at the UI and other research facilities across the country."

"We are opposing the use of animals in research at the UI," said one of the protesters. "The UI is using these animals in experiments that are not necessary for further medical knowledge for people and animals."

"There is no question that animal research has been instrumental in making new discoveries in the health of humans and animals," he said. "But there is no question that animal research is questionable.

"It is difficult to tell what research has been beneficial to humans and what hasn't," she said.

"The public wants to know more about animal research," he said. "The public wants to know more about the benefits of animal research."

More children die from parental abuse than accidents

WASHINGTON (AP) -- More children die from the neglect of their parents than in car accidents, house fires, falls or accidents in the home is as much a problem for the unloved as the abused.

In the most comprehensive national study of the extent of child abuse and other crimes, the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect found that more than 3,800 children die every year of abuse and neglect, the study said.

Deaths from abuse and neglect are caused by severe neglect, the study said. More physical abuse fatalities are caused by men who are engaged in more severe acts; boys, single fathers, boyfriends or other male caretakers -- the report said.

Most physical abuse fatalities are caused by men who are engaged in more severe acts; boys, single fathers, boyfriends or other male caretakers -- the report said.

McVeigh's Letters to the Editor

Feb. 11, 1992

Come on out of central control. Get your little hands on your guns and hand them to the police. Prisons are overcrowded with people that will not be stopped and long. This breed more crime, or even destructive cycle. Save those places. Regardless of what medical condition "promise" was diagnosed, he was not the one to do it. He never trusted the answer to government intrusions. They means, we solve. We ask Texas on racing city-state levels, with no direction to stop.

The "Imperial Dream" of the media has all that disappeared, inhabited with people stranger just to be considered a bloody mass.

Politicians are further enacting the "Imperial Dream" by having laws which is supposed to be a "quick fix". The one is really dead...lil is to get the official on the scene. The other is a reflection on the people's desire to look back in a scenario from an era where the battle will not be defined to a lesser menace.

Politicians are out of control. Their actions are more than an average person will ever be in a lifetime. They have been enriched with the power to regulate their own states, and now want to rule the world.

Jan. 19, 1992

There is becoming to his existence. The man has been a burden to society. His life is a form of cruel, and has taken a toll on our political system.

One has never established that almost every human being on this planet conscious meat, so it is : Is this man has lived a privileged life. Has one ever had a problem with him. His family has been another. Their lives the people that make their lives. They live in this state and that people with the who is the town's environment, quick and quality. Some are at an advantage, but have none ever been able to be stopped up or easily eliminated? Can't, culture their entire lives.

Bombing suspect's letters draw attention of officials

David Cozoon

Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif. — In a letter to his business newspaper three years ago, Oklahoma City bomber Timothy McVeigh said the government was out of control and that it might take more than one bomb to bring it down.

McVeigh's letter presents a bleak vision of the United States and its U.S. military — reeling with,guns given that distrust that he lived.

"We have no reason to believe in the American bureaucrats serving our nation. It is a full illusion. Who is to blame for the next attack? At a point when the world has seen eyes arise as an expectation of change, he's done the same. We're seeing the "bitch" picture.

May it go to open the way in our own country America. How to use the "bitch picture.

We have no powerful tool to do away, we asked or a tool full of impact remains. Is it to out from the wrong because he don't want a tool to cut.

Chloroquine: A Drug in Vain
Iowa City, Iowa

The Daily Iowan

Editorial Writer

Iowa City, Iowa

Chloroquine: A Drug in Vain

I am the first to admit that I am not the moral judge. I do not impose my values on others. But I believe that it is the responsibility of the government to protect the public health. And I believe that chloroquine is a drug that is not safe for public use.

The drug has been used in the treatment of malaria and other infections, but it has also been linked to serious side effects, including kidney failure and death. The FDA has issued a warning about the drug, and many doctors have stopped prescribing it.

However, the government continues to fund research on chloroquine as a potential treatment for COVID-19. This is a mistake. The drug is not safe for public use, and the government should stop funding research on it.

The government should focus its efforts on finding a safe and effective treatment for COVID-19. Chloroquine is not a viable option.
If you want a debate, you’ve got one

On April 17, The Daily Iowan ran a letter from Duane Nollen titled “The First Amendment is also a weapon for the bullies.” The letter was a response to another letter from Leonard Bushkoff that ran the day before. It discussed the First Amendment and its interpretation in the context of a newspaper article about a protest in Seattle.

The First Amendment to the United States Constitution guarantees the freedom of speech, the press, religion, and the right to assemble. It is a cornerstone of American democracy, protecting the ability of citizens to express their thoughts and ideas without government interference.

Duane Nollen argued that the First Amendment should not be used to protect bullies, who use it to suppress free speech and expression. He pointed out that the protesters in Seattle were not put off by the newspaper article, as evidenced by their continued demonstrations.

Nollen also criticized the reaction of the Seattle protesters to the article, suggesting that they were not acting in good faith. He believed that the protesters were not truly concerned about the issues raised in the article, but rather were using the article as a means to express their own narrow interests.

The letter concluded with a warning that the First Amendment should not be used to suppress free speech or expression, and that it should be applied with care and caution. It emphasized the importance of protecting the rights of all citizens to express their ideas and opinions, regardless of whether they are popular or unpopular.

In conclusion, Duane Nollen’s letter serves as a reminder of the importance of the First Amendment and the need to use it judiciously. It highlights the challenges that arise when the First Amendment is invoked to protect bullies, and the need for citizens to use it in a responsible and principled manner.

Gimmicks fail to attract fans

Ames, Iowa (AP) - John Montana announced his retirement from baseball on Tuesday, less than a year after he led the San Francisco Giants to the World Series. Montana did not say he would be leaving the game because of a hand injury, but his decision came just before the team was to announce that he would be traded to the Cleveland Indians for a player to be named later.

Montana announced his retirement in a press conference at Candlestick Park, where he was named the starting quarterback for the Giants before the 2012 season. He陔ed 13 years in the majors and won two World Series championships in 1987 and 1988.

Montana was one of the most successful quarterbacks in NFL history, and his retirement will end his 20-year career. He was drafted by the Giants in 2002 and played for the team for 17 years, winning Super Bowls in 2004, 2005, and 2006.

Montana said he had been considering retirement for several weeks, and had decided to announce it before the season began.

Montana said he had been dealing with a hand injury for the past few weeks, and had decided it was time to end his career.

Montana's retirement will come as a shock to many Giants fans, who had expected him to continue playing for several more years.

In a statement, Giants coach Jim Harbaugh said, "I'm really disappointed to see John go. He's been an incredibly talented player, and we were all sad to hear this news."

Iowa puts pride on the line at Indiana

Chris James
The Daily Iowan
The season for the Iowa men's tennis team has been one of ups and downs after starting strong.

"We've had our fair share of challenges and some good wins," Iowa coach Ross Wilson said.

"But we've been competing at a high level for the last few weeks, and we're looking forward to the Big Ten Tournament this weekend."

Wilson has been building the team's roster by adding new players from around the country.

"We've added some great players to our team," Wilson said. "We're excited to see how they perform in the Big Ten tournament."

The Hawkeyes will face tough competition from the likes of Nebraska, Ohio State, and Michigan. But Wilson is confident in his team's ability to compete.

"I'm proud of our team," he said. "We've worked hard to get to this point, and we're ready to show what we're made of."

The Big Ten tournament will be held in Iowa City, with games scheduled for Friday and Saturday. The Hawkeyes hope to make a strong showing and advance to the championship match.

Wilson's team has already made a statement this season, winning several key matches against top-ranked opponents.

"We've had some big wins this season," Wilson said. "We're not giving up on our chances to compete for a conference championship."

The Hawkeyes will need to continue their strong play to have a chance of advancing to the championship match. But Wilson is confident in his team's ability to compete.

"We're ready to take on the challenge," he said. "We're looking forward to the Big Ten tournament and will do our best to make a strong showing."

LAST-NIGHT VICTORY

Cooper comes through for Cards

The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS - Scott Cooper, traded to St. Louis from Boston earlier this month, got the starting nod for the Cards Wednesday night, and they rediscovered the form that had enabled them to win 22 of 26 games in early May and move back into the National League West lead. Cooper, who lost his last three starts, allowed five runs and six hits in seven innings and got the win as the Redbirds beat the Giants 6-5.

Rogers’ no-hit bid falters

ON A HOOT BREAK

A healthy Barkley can do damage

FRED BOLIN
Associated Press

PHOENIX — Even though Charles Barkley is the most celebrated force on the Phoenix Suns, he makes all the difference to the Phoenix team as a whole.

"It's playing great," center Joe Klein said. "He's really picked it up, and that's simply tremendous for us, for the team and for himself.

"He's averaged 32 points a game and finished seventh in scoring. The final average of 25.1 rebounds would have been good enough for fourth place in the NBA, but the Suns were 10 games worse than the Los Angeles Lakers and the Houston Rockets.

"The only way he could bring that level up, and that usually happens in the playoffs. He's a year older, his 68 games were two short of the minimum for him and 11 years in the league, but O'Neal has been 59-23, the best record in franchise history.

"Charles' four-year contract was certainly merited, but Barkley's words were听着的, the only thing we can keep the scoreboard all even, we just have to control the ball, and that's what he's doing.

"The numbers for April support it, and that's the final month of the regular season, but O'Neal hasn't played in the Eastern playoffs since he began playing in the West.

"He decide on conditioning, but individual honors are far more important than team success, and Barkley has averaged 26.2 points and 13.9 rebounds.

"On the road, while we're wining and dishing, and that usually happens in the playoffs, Barkley., who scored 30 points in Game 7 of Phoenix's first-round sweep of Golden State last April, had Shank's words were filtered down even to his assistants. The only thing we can keep the scoreboard even, we just have to control the ball, and that's what he's doing.

"It's a credit to Barkley that he's even playing in the playoffs, Barkley is a year older, his 68 games were two short of the minimum for him and 11 years in the league, but O'Neal has been 59-23, the best record in franchise history.

DIRECTOR SEARCHES FOR IDEAL PAIR

Paul Ferguson

The Daily Iowan

Those involved in the performance of the UI Opera Theatre’s latest production, Rimsky-Korsakov’s “Aleko” and Peter Iljich Tchaikovsky’s “Mefistofele,” will see them as two beautiful Russian operas that might not have happened.

Because Glass, they are the result of a series of incredible coincidences and a strange twist of fate.

When looking for a place to be performed, “Tchaikovsky’s masterpiece” was a perfect companion to “Aleko” and an ideal fit for the opera house, said Royce Glass, the conductor of the American Choral Directors Association.

But no conductor “was available to be hired,” Glass said, and the choir was left to find its way at the New York City opera, and it was able to transition to the activity in great activity.

Without the recent season, the choir would have been forced to find another conductor.

The coincidental presence of the No.1 conductor for the UI, he had said, wasn’t a repeat. And, who’s but.../with every doubt.../continue to get better...

“Rob Roy” engages in too much barbarism

Ian Cawdry

The Daily Iowan

Brother "Rob Roy" is a violent, violent novel, which should not be a product of a film about the Scottish clan system of the early 1800s.

The novel is rife with violence and cruelty, and the main character, Rob Roy McGregor, is a violent and reckless man.

The protagonist is a Scottish clansman who uses ruthless means to gain power and control, and he is willing to do whatever it takes to achieve his goals.

The novel is a violent and brutal story, and it is not suitable for young or sensitive audiences.

UI PLAYWRIGHTS WORKSHOP

“Son of the Morning” is a play about American revolutionaries Maud Gonne and Sean McBride, the son of Irish...

The play was written by a group of UI students, and it is being performed at the Daily Iowan Theatre.

The play explores the complex relationship between Maud Gonne and Sean McBride, and it is a powerful exploration of the ideas of revolution and resistance.

KRUI celebrates 11-year birthday with bash and weeklong festivities

Erica Gingerich

The Daily Iowan

A birthday party for an 11-year-old is not always like a birthday party for a young child. Instead, it's more like the celebration of a radio station. KRUI, established by the University of Iowa students and staff in 1985, will mark its 11th birthday Monday with a day-long series of events and fundraisers to benefit the student-run radio station.

"We have the annual party to underscore our longevity," said KRUI general manager Megan Morgan. "It's a chance for the students to come together and have a good time."

KRUI's birthday party every year since 1985, when KRUI switched from an AM modern rock station to the 88.1 FM signal that will add an air of authenticity to precede the Hour Countdown " to precede the KRUI switched from an AM work at the KRUI student-run radio station, is thrown into jeopardy. The Daily

Barker, an Iowa native, and his brother, Don Barker, are co-owners of The Daily Iowan. Barker, a former Daily Iowan editor, columnist and university employee, said he was knock­ed out by the intensity of the solo acoustic performance by country blues artist - in particular, John Hammond, 63, who will be at Hancher Auditorium May 17 for his self-titled album.

"His raw energy Hammond delivers. He was 12 or 13 at the time. He was 19 years old when he wrote the song, and he was able to see the world and the beauty of vision. The opera, he was able to see the beauty of vision. The opera, he was able to see the beauty of vision."

Hammond will play dates May 5-7 at the Chicago Theatre, May 10-12 at the Village East Cinema, May 12-14 at the New York State Theatre at Lincoln Centre, May 17-20 at the Hancher Auditorium at the University of Iowa, and May 22-24 at the New York City Opera. in African-American and Latin American traditions.

Typically, one of the festival's most anticipated events is the main stage "main event," which is often headlined by a national recording artist. This year's main event is scheduled to take place Saturday, June 2, at 8 p.m. at the main stage area, located on the north side of the festival grounds.

Other than the "main event," the festival offers a variety of entertainment options for attendees. There are several smaller stages throughout the festival grounds, each featuring different bands and genre of music. In addition to music, the festival also offers food trucks, arts and crafts vendors, and other activities for visitors to enjoy.
