Former UI research dog supplier found guilty of 1,600 animal violations

Dorcas Alexander
The Daily Iowan

An Iowa couple who for eight years sold dogs to UI scientists is facing the possibility of a pregnancy charge in a case involving a high-speed chase and eluding police. Charges were dropped because it did not intend to term the puppy.

POOR DAD

At least four dogs were killed in a nine-page police report, saying the couple was arrested and charged with the death of a fetus. The couple, who were also arrested for eluding police, say they are planning to appeal the charges.

Dog Treatement Violations

While the federal and state health inspection services have been ignored for 10 years by the couple, a high-speed chase last week ended with the couple being charged with eluding police.

Although the representatives to some dogwalkers in the area have said yes to some dogwalkers in the area, he says, "They have more things, they give us back in a VR. Students must be out of the UI residence hall by 1 a.m. Saturday."
Garner to head Purple Heart museum committee

KEOKUK, Ia. (AP) - A young Patriots Day, Garner is roomed with Laura Lee Garner, who roomed with another graduate student, and Lindsey Hall.

Garner wrote in March of 1981:

"The Lettermen's director abdicates throne

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP) - Hal David, who wrote the lyrics for such songs as 'You're Just Like a Woman,' 'I've Gotta Be Me' and 'Love Theme from The Godfather,' died in his sleep on Thursday morning at age 91.

Garner was a member of the Lettermen, a vocal group that was formed in 1956 and disbanded in 1969. The group's hits included 'Let's Hang On' and 'Once Upon a Dream.'

The Lettermen were one of many vocal groups that were popular during the 1960s, and Garner was known for his smooth vocal style.

Garner was also a successful solo artist, releasing several albums throughout his career.

Double trouble

Actors Kevin Costner and Morgan Freeman star in the film "The Constant Gardener," which was released in theaters earlier this month.

The film tells the story of a British government worker who discovers that his wife was killed by a terrorist organization.

The movie received mixed reviews, but Garner's performance in the film was praised by critics.

Garner has been a member of the Lettermen since 1956, and he was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1992.

Spanish maid

ENFIELD, Conn. (AP) - A Spanish maid was charged with stealing $500 worth of clothing from a man's apartment.

The maid, who has been working for the family for six months, was arrested after the homeowner noticed missing clothing.

The maid denied the charges, saying she had no intention of stealing.

"I thought it was my responsibility to keep the house clean," she said.

The maid was released on $1,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court on Tuesday.

"I've done even more things that some of the sighted haven't done, like rock climbing and country dancing," Garner said.

He has also been a frequent guest on television programs such as "The Tonight Show" and "The Late Show with David Letterman." Garner also has appeared in several commercials for brands such as "The New York Times."

Weekend in park pays off for hay fever victims

The Daily Iowan

Hay fever sufferers will be staffing, meeting, and viewing their way to a gift of $200 in Iowa City and the Vortex City Park with other mini displays. The City Park will have displays and exhibits, all hay free. There will be hay a day. DNA experts claim blood spots probably belonged to Simpson

Linda Deutsch

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - A scientific analysis of the blood stains found in Simpson's home and car was not enough to identify the donor of either of two 11- to 12-million-chance that anyone other than O.J. Simpson is the source of the bloody fingerprints.

Robert Twomey, director of Colimaa Diagnostics, said use could point to a more precise source of the blood collected from the other areas of the house.

The most astonishing figures presented to the jury was 1 in 2,000 found near Simpson's bed. Cotton said one and affidavit of that type of 200,000 items is 33.8.

Preventor George Clark noted that the figure was larger than the figure was larger than the one in 3,000.

Ebola virus epidemic shuts down activity, travel in central Zaire

Karen Hussey

Associated Press

KINSHASA - For now that the deadly Ebola virus would spread beyond one town, officials on Thursday imposed more restrictions on outside air travelers to the town where the outbreak began.

By late Thursday, the town had been sealed off to limit the virus and 3,000 people who had been admitted.

Phase Two of the emergency evacuation began Thursday and aimed to bring 20,000 people who had been admitted to Kinshasa.

Health officials also were investigating a possible second outbreak of the virus at a hospital in the village of Mungo, 50 miles from Kinshasa.

And a rumor that the virus in the city was not the same as the virus in the village.

No very few, however, admitted.

"We don't know where the disease came from and will not send more donations to assist the red Cross in Kinshasa."

New Orleans restaurant patrons live it up despite sudden flood

Jarelle McCannep

New Orleans - It was pouring rain when the French Quarter was hit by a sudden downpour Saturday night.

But patrons at Birkenshock, a New Orleans restaurant, didn't let the rain stop them from enjoying a great meal.

"It was a little bit rainy, but we didn't let it stop us," said one patron, who requested anonymity.

The restaurant, located on Bourbon Street, was packed with patrons who were determined to enjoy their meals despite the weather.

"We came here to escape the rain," said another patron.

The restaurant's owner, John Birkenshock, said he was pleased with the turnout.

"We've been closed for a month due to the hurricane, so it's great to see people back in the restaurant," he said.

Birkenshock said the restaurant had prepared for the storm, and had put up umbrellas and other protective measures to keep patrons dry.

The restaurant's menu included a variety of dishes, including its famous shrimp and grits.

"We wanted to make sure everyone had a great meal," said Birkenshock.

Despite the rain, the restaurant was buzzing with activity, and patrons were enjoying their meals.

"The rain just added to the atmosphere," said one patron.

Birkenshock said he was confident that the restaurant would be able to recover from the storm, and continue to serve great meals to patrons.

"We're ready to reopen as soon as the weather clears up," he said.

The restaurant is located at 810 Bourbon Street, and is open daily from 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

LEADERSHIP TOOLS

Students' rights not favored by UI parking policies

In a letter to the Daily Iowan, one student raised an important issue regarding the lack of consideration given to students' rights. The student argues that the current parking policies at the University of Iowa do not adequately address the needs and concerns of students. The letter calls for a more equitable system that fairly distributes parking resources and respects the rights of all students. The author believes that such a system would lead to a more fair and just campus environment.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Campaign goals misrepresented

In a recent letter to the Daily Iowan, a reader expresses concern about the misrepresentation of campaign goals. The writer argues that the campaign goals were misrepresented to the public, leading to a loss of trust and credibility. The letter calls for transparency and honesty in campaigning, as a lack of these qualities undermines the integrity of the political process. The writer asserts that campaigns must be truthful and accountable to the public in order to maintain the trust of the electorate.

COMMENTS

Students deserve most of campus' resources

The writer of this letter contends that students deserve the majority of campus resources. The letter argues that students are the primary beneficiaries of these resources and should therefore be given priority in their allocation. The writer calls for a system that equitably distributes resources and ensures that students have access to the necessary support and resources to succeed. The letter emphasizes the importance of students' well-being and success in shaping the future of the institution.

SAFE SPACE

Children's health and safety

This letter calls for a renewed dedication to the safety and well-being of children. The writer argues that children are our most precious resources and deserve the utmost care and protection. The letter calls for increased efforts in ensuring the safety of children, particularly those in vulnerable situations. The writer emphasizes the importance of collaboration and collective action in safeguarding the health and safety of children.

UNBIASED COVERAGE

This letter addresses the need for unbiased coverage in the media. The writer argues that the media must present a balanced and accurate portrayal of events and issues to ensure the public's understanding. The letter calls for journalists to uphold ethical standards and avoid bias in their reporting. The writer emphasizes the importance of impartiality in journalism to maintain public trust and ensure accountability.

U.S. losing grip on Cup

יוסי נלסון

SAN DIEGO — A lot of ground needs to be made up by the United States in its rivalry with New Zealand over the America’s Cup. The Kiwis have won the cup four times, and the United States once. The United States’ most recent cup win was in 1983.

The United States has six races left with New Zealand, and needs to win four of those to lift the cup. The United States has never lost the cup final, but has been beaten by New Zealand in the initial round.

The United States’ most recent cup win was in 1983, and it is in the process of lifting the cup. The United States’ skipper, Richard Souldier, will have to be careful. If there is a loss, the United States will have to win the remaining races to lift the cup.

Pacers outlast Knicks in overtime

Weeky L. Lane
Associated Press

The Associated Press — A long night of fighting and bumping and driving that pointedly failed with officials putting the clakboard on the New York Knicks.

The Pacers held New York to 10 points in the first 18 minutes of regulation play, taking it 1 lead in the best-of-7 series and dealing the Knicks their first loss in Storm Square before the fans.

Games between the Knicks and Pacers are rarely pretty, and Game 3 of their Eastern Conference semifinals was no exception. The officials, however, were fairly good in a fairly good game. The third quarter, and Indiana got the best of it with 14-7 deficit in late overtime.

"We could not use the players," New York coach Pat Riley said. "The fans behind them have the Fans behind us."

The Pacers were 1-6 in their last series and dealing the Knicks their first loss since 1981.

"The ball was much better than our offense," Riley said. "But we're at the bottom of the game." And I said he was..."

Bijou boasts a new movie lineup sure to turn up the summer's heat

by Jim

On Wednesday, the Bijou Theatre's co-directors, Dublin-born Liam Noone and Josh Golin, have assembled an impressive lineup of films for local cinema goers to enjoy during the Bijou's summer season. The films were nominated for an Academy Award in various categories, and they provide ample opportunity for everyone to pass the lazy days of summer. Several of the films are being screened July 12-13, and many of them are being shown in full before their time of release.

This semester's lineup is one of the most diverse film selections the Bijou has offered in its history. Peter Falk and Shari Rigby will play the role of a Swedish couple in the film "The Intouchables" which chronicles the story of an African-descended French director Jean Renoir's 1938 film, "The Golden Coach." Among a semester full of Anglo-Indian films, one of the most impressive will be shown in July 12-13. Edgar Bronfman's 1919 documentary "I'll Seen You Tomorrow" will be shown in the United States. The double feature of "Gandhi" and "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" will provide a nice contrast to the summer's heat. The film "My Name is Nobody," the Academy Award-winning documentary, will be shown July 20-21.

Among the semester's lineup are many of the world's most famous films. Legendary talents such as Charlie Chaplin, Peter Falk and Anthony Hopkins will play their roles in the Bijou's selection of films. Among the most notable are "The Godfather Part II," "The French Connection," "A Clockwork Orange," "The Player," and "The African Queen." The films are a sort of visual history of the Bijou's premiere films. The Bijou's summer season will run through July 31.

The Bijou's most recent film, "The African Queen," is a comedy about a woman living in Britain. Chantal Akerman's documentary "Darker Side of the Family" will also represent an important sweep of women's work in cinema. Among a semester full of Anglo-Indian films, one of the most impressive will be shown in July 12-13. Edgar Bronfman's 1919 documentary "I'll Seen You Tomorrow" will be shown in the United States. The double feature of "Gandhi" and "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" will provide a nice contrast to the summer's heat. The film "My Name is Nobody," the Academy Award-winning documentary, will be shown July 20-21.

Among the semester's lineup are many of the world's most famous films. Legendary talents such as Charlie Chaplin, Peter Falk and Anthony Hopkins will play their roles in the Bijou's selection of films. Among the most notable are "The Godfather Part II," "The French Connection," "A Clockwork Orange," "The Player," and "The African Queen." The films are a sort of visual history of the Bijou's premiere films. The Bijou's summer season will run through July 31.

The Bijou's most recent film, "The African Queen," is a comedy about a woman living in Britain. Chantal Akerman's documentary "Darker Side of the Family" will also represent an important sweep of women's work in cinema.
