Moira Rawlings cleared the move with the UI's leader to ensure that the outgoing president's staff would continue to do their jobs after the changeover. Although Rawlings was given a ceremonial sendoff, Pomerantz said she has traveled around the country to Iowa, where she can observe the campus from a distance.

Living in a small town gets tiring, said Iowa City resident Jeanette Thomas. "The movie was pretty accurate," she said. "It was like a small town takes you there, but it's a little bit different."

"The story could have taken place in any small town," she said. "It seems so real, like you could live there for a while and see someone you know sitting in a café."
Coralville police standoff

A Coralville woman is in the custody of the Iowa Department of Corrections after allegedly threatening her estranged husband with a .38-caliber handgun and waging a 16-hour standoff with Coralville police.

Court records show that on May 31, Patricia Arbuckle "entered...the residence of her estranged husband with a .38-caliber handgun and waging a 16-hour standoff with Coralville police.

Records show Richard Arbuckle was charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of his club, fracturing a rib in the process.

Once Cape began to hammer on the door, he slammed the door and was taken into protective custody at a local hospital. However, no court dates have been set.

The arrest took place in Coralville on May 31.

Patricia Arbuckle was the author of the "Ruby Fox" comic series and had his own show for the Iowa City Public Access channel. Both Lyle and Denise Harris remain in the Scott County Jail on $25,000 bond each, but no court dates have been set.

Suspension of Iowa City police officer

An Iowa City police officer accused of using excessive force during the Oct. 20, 1993, arrest of a pedestrian had his suspension from the force extended May 31.

The case developed after Iowa City officer Steven Jaeger was accused of using excessive force while searching and arresting a pedestrian. He was later suspended.

The Civil Service Commission awarded the 10-calendar-day suspension to McMartin in February to 10 weeks. The decision was made following an appeal filed with the commission after City Police Chief Chris Stuedemann had denied the unit's recommendation for a suspension.

If anyone was to approach the residence, Arbuckle's gun was set at $500,000.

Arbuckle surrendered her gun after the break-in, they said. After 16 hours of negotiations, Arbuckle was released on $50,000 bond, but no court date has been set.

"Johnson made up lying not of a best article of the Mabey bridge," said Lt. Ron Meyer of the Johnson County Sheriff's Office.

Police have determined alcohol was not involved in the incident.

"We're looking at the possibility of some sort of a drug overdose," said Joe Clark of the Coralville Police. The body was eventually recovered from Coralville Lake.

As Coralville police searched the downtown-central campus area, Free transfers are available from the City Transit service is provided from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekdays and from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday.

These ingredients are often required to enjoy a hot sum-mer day —lemons, saltine crackers and the perfect pair of sandals. Comfort and affordability are the primary concerns of most Iowa City shoppers searching for sum-mer sandals, and when it comes down to it, few people want to spend more than $10 on a pair.

University graduate student Melissa Lockwood bought her favorite black rubber sandals for $2 in Iowa City two years ago. She said she wore them every day when she lived in Potters Hall and they are the only pair she owns.

Lockwood said she doesn’t believe in spending a lot of money to keep up with the trends. She also thinks it doesn’t make sense that people will pay more than $10 for Birkenstocks, Tevas and Doc Martens.

“I just feel people are just paying to wear them in the fall and refuses to pay that much on a pair of sandals,” she said.

Birkenstocks, but for the time being, they are out of her price range.

“I’ll never be able to pay that amount for a pair of shoes,” she said.

“I'm more than happy to wear them in the fall, but I just can't pay that much,” she said.

“Instead of investing money to keep her feet in the height of fashion, UI student Rita Prochaska continues to wear the sandal she's had since 1995. She said Birkenstocks cost as much as taking a trip somewhere.”

Prochaska said she never leaves the house without sandals on her feet during the summer and refuses to pay for her favorite summer sandals.

“I've been to a picnic, black leather shoes every morning and I said I'll get them for $6 worth. I decided to be comfortable and ethical, and at the only affordable sandals people find in stores happen to be $150. It's nothing wrong with them, but it's not something I can afford,” she said.

Prochaska visited the Iowa City resident Steve Schloete, who also feels a bond with his favorite summer sandals.

“I spent $80 on a pair of Birkenstocks and I felt comfortable and ethical,” she said.

“I want to support brands that are good for the environment and the people who make them,” she said.

Decency hasn’t just been missing. It’s as if we’re living in a world where decency is not even wanted or important. This is not the way I was taught to value, to respect, to live. It’s as if we’ve forgotten what it means to be decent, to treat others with kindness and respect.

It’s time to start a new conversation about what it means to be decent. We need to start listening to each other, to understand where others are coming from. We need to be willing to learn and grow.

We can start by asking ourselves: What does it mean to be decent? How can we be more decent in our daily lives? How can we make the world a more decent place?

It’s time to start making changes, to start being the kind of people we want to see in the world. Let’s start by being decent to each other.

Speaking

as the...
Around the NBA in 80 days

From random thoughts as the 1992-93 season winds down...

- I know I shouldn’t, but do you think we’ll be seeing Reginald Lewis, the black knight of the business world, on a new, black horse? He would have been an interesting governor of the NBA. But I just read that he’s decided to invest in a new professional football league. Too bad.

- Mike Tripplett of the Houston Chronicle is a featured writer for ‘The Sporting News’ and his series do take place and Houston remarkably caught up to a 9-5 deficit.

- By the way, just to bring this back to the same column I wrote that the Rockets might beat Orlando, then fell to the Nets 1-0, then lost to the New Jersey Nets at home in overtime. Unfortu­nately, my message didn’t get out.

- And I really can’t believe it, but the Rockets are, they’re really surprising me. I can’t decide if I like Orlando or not, but I do know we can beat ’em. I’m probably the only one who wants to see a Memphis-Musatov playoff, but as I don’t know that Washington went in and got, by staying, continue to play in a league that doesn’t have to be the better one, and then Chris Webber.

- If there is a conclusion to this column, it’s that John Donnelly on Boston. They had the best record in the East, at one time, then they thought the Boston Celtics.

- That means I’m jumping to the Magic headquarters? No, still not there.

- Chris Mullin only scored 8 points in his first game, and he block­ed his own shots. He’s not that good.

- We’ve heard many times that Joe Dumars is the best player in the world. But I have to admit that I’d rather see, say, Larry Bird or Magic Johnson in the NBA. And as a result, I think the NBA is a pretty good league.

- And they don’t have a fresh face, someone who’s going to make the NBA. If you can do it, people will notice. Looks like the first time in the NBA for a 10 years ago.

- The Houston Rockets are the best team in the NBA, a year after winning the title.

- Cleveland Indians’ Jim Thome follows the right of his Brother third inning home run against the Milwaukee Brewers.

- Michigan State’s Chris Webber is a young star, and he’s doing a lot of good things for the team. He’s got the size and the skills to be a great player, but he’s still young, and he’s got a lot of room for improvement.

- For example, he’s a great shooter, but he’s not a great passer. He needs to improve his vision.

- Mark McGwire of the St. Louis Cardinals, is one of the top hitters in baseball.

Gary Gilmour led Cards past Atlanta

Associated Press

Bernard Gilmore had four hits and scored twice Sunday as St. Louis defeated Atlanta 5-2 in the Cardinals’ 4-14 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Gilmore had a double, three singles and a walk. He was 7 for 8 in the three-game series, scoring six runs and getting a hit in every game. The first baseman had six hits in Atlanta’s 4-15 victory over New York on Saturday.

Brian Jordan added two RBIs and a walk, and Albert Pujols and Craig Biggio each drove in a run. The Braves also got singles from Chipper Jones, Andruw Jones and Ryan Klesko.

The Cardinals’ first six batters scored on Jones’ three-run home run in the first inning, and they added another run in the fourth on a home run by Jordan.

Mark Langston (5-1) gave up three runs on seven hits in seven innings, striking out eight. atlanta started 2-2, but Langston retired the first 10 batters he faced.

Bob Horan had two doubles and drove in four runs, and Mark DeCock had three hits.

Murray said. "It was a funny shot. I thought it was a goal. Winning the game like that, you’d put it in a perfect spot.”

It was Lemanczuk’s 15th goal in 15 regular-season games.

The Flyers took the game at 2-1 in the third period. Defensive defenseman Yorke had scored from his position in the neutral zone to give the Flyers a 1-0 lead. Yorke said he has been back in to the Islanders’ lineup.

Robert DiPietro scored for the Devils, who closed out their season with New Jersey’s 45th NHL game.

The Flyers also got goals from Park, Lecocq and Despres. Park scored his first career goal at 3:42 of the first period. He poked the puck away before sliding it to Paul Laracuente, who centered the puck to the right of the net.

Laracuente made an assist to Despres, who hit the puck off his stick to the left of the net.

The Flyers had three goals on New Jersey’s last five shots. Laracuente was 3-for-3 on his shots on goal.

Gilmore doubled off him in the sixth line, and the club had elected to play a power-play goal at 1:30, just to keep the scoring going through the braces by Rod Brind’Amour and Martin Biron.

The two controlled a loose puck, but Laracuente flipped a pass to Larocque, who found Larocque on the left of the net.

Gilmore scored his first career goal at 2:25 of the second period. Larocque set up the goal from Laracuente, who centered the puck to the center of the net.

Robert DiPietro scored for the Devils, who closed out their season with New Jersey’s 45th NHL game.

The Flyers also got goals from Park, Lecocq and Despres. Park scored his first career goal at 3:42 of the first period. He poked the puck away before sliding it to Paul Laracuente, who centered the puck to the right of the net.

Laracuente made an assist to Despres, who hit the puck off his stick to the left of the net.

The Flyers had three goals on New Jersey’s last five shots. Laracuente was 3-for-3 on his shots on goal.

Gilmore doubled off him in the sixth line, and the club had elected to play a power-play goal at 1:30, just to keep the scoring going through the braces by Rod Brind’Amour and Martin Biron.

The two controlled a loose puck, but Laracuente flipped a pass to Larocque, who found Larocque on the left of the net.

Gilmore scored his first career goal at 2:25 of the second period. Larocque set up the goal from Laracuente, who centered the puck to the center of the net.

It was Lemanczuk’s 15th goal in 15 regular-season games.

The Flyers took the game at 2-1 in the third period. Defensive defenseman Yorke had scored from his position in the neutral zone to give the Flyers a 1-0 lead. Yorke said he has been back in to the Islanders’ lineup.

Mantle in good health, spirits after emergency liver transplant

Kurt Beals
Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb. - - Mickey Mantle, America's greatest athlete, is doing well a week after a five-hour emergency surgery to save his life.

"The surgery went well, and no complications were encountered," said Dr. Garnet Remick, medical director of the University of Nebraska Medical Center, where Mantle was operated on.

"His liver is still recovering," Remick said. "But only 1.7 percent of liver donors are able to give the entire organ, so Mantle's need is quite favorable. He will be well before long." Remick said saying Mantle's mobility was the next goal.

"We'll keep walking more frequently," he said. "First, it's around the hospital. Then it's in the hallway, then into the hallway today or tomorrow."

The next phase of Mantle's recovery is fighting fairly always to help his right to reject the new organ.

Cal State-Fullerton thunders USC en route to World Series victory fullarton pitcher Tim Silva (3-1) and his top-ranked teammates smacked six home runs en route to a storming 13-3 drubbing of USC in the opening game of the NCAA College World Series.

Walkers, who never trailed by a run, exploded for nine runs from the third inning on.

"He gave credit to his team's hustle," said Klintman.

"We executed our game plan - a middle-age man with a ricket's runner for the Trojans in the third inning," Remick said.

"I wondered why we're not at the 40 for the third, and the third and fourth team to win the college World Series.

"I didn't ask for no home runs," the manager said.

But it was all over and done, he told me I could ask him for anything I want, and I will do anything to let my name be known," Remick said.

"It's very difficult removing it. We had a great team of doctors and nurses led by Dr. Remick, who risked his career," Mantle said.-

"He's already been in the hospital five times since the surgery," Remick said.

"The liver is still recovering. It's a very delicate process and placed in 4-degree Celsius breaking, for instance, severe army of cancer that blinded his face, which forced the transplant.
