American Airlines had a big day on Wednesday, as it posted its third-quarter earnings, which beat expectations.

The company reported a net profit of $1.2 billion, or $1.63 per share, compared to a loss of $1.3 billion, or $1.72 per share, in the same quarter last year.

Agricultural research institute has developed a new variety of soybean that has the potential to reduce carbon emissions.

The new variety, called "Green Gold," is designed to be more resistant to pests and diseases, which should help farmers reduce their use of chemical pesticides.

"We are excited about the potential of this new variety," said Dr. John Smith, director of the institute. "The goal is to help reduce the environmental impact of agriculture and improve crop yields."
Radio station grilled for not paying DJs

Joe-Nicholas

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — For years, Joe-Nicholas has been the last of the hometown radio stations standing between the town and the nation's top hits.

Now the station is in legal trouble.

Joe-Nicholas was forced to admit in a federal court that it had collected $20,000 in sales taxes from listeners who bought bodily sound recordings, but does not pay sales tax on that income. The Internal Revenue Service said the station had not paid sales tax on that income.

The station's owner, Joe-Nicholas, said he did not pay sales tax on that income because he did not pay sales tax on that income.

Immunity considered for key witness in Chicago sex trial

By Jona Kellner

A highly poisonous substance was found in the urine of a man who was tried for murder in a Chicago sex trial, according to documents released Wednesday. The defendant, Charles B. James, was convicted of first-degree murder in the death of a 16-year-old girl, and the jury deliberated for more than 12 hours before reaching its verdict.

The new evidence came as a surprise to many people, including the victim's family.

"It's really unbelievable," said John W. Eastman, the victim's father. "We were so close to finding justice for our daughter." The documents, which reveal the extent of the poison used, were released by the Cook County Court of Appeals. The court had ordered them released after a request from the defense, who argued that the evidence was crucial to the case.

The poison, known as "systemic poison," was found in the victim's blood and urine. It is a type of poison that affects the nervous system and can cause symptoms such as vomiting, diarrhea, and seizures.

The documents also reveal that the defendant had attempted to kill himself several times during the trial, and that he was under the influence of drugs at the time of the murder.

The defense argued that the evidence did not prove the defendant's guilt, and that the jury had reached its verdict without considering all of the evidence.

But the prosecution said that the evidence was overwhelming, and that the defendant should be punished for his crimes.

"This man killed our daughter," said Mr. Eastman. "He should be punished for what he did to our family." The documents were released as the trial was coming to an end.

The trial lasted for more than two months, and was one of the most complex in recent history.

It involved testimony from more than 100 witnesses, and was marked by intense legal battles over the admissibility of evidence.

The documents reveal that the prosecution had used a variety of techniques to try to prove the defendant's guilt, including psychological testing, DNA analysis, and witness testimony.

The defense, on the other hand, had argued that the evidence was flimsy, and that the prosecution had relied too heavily on circumstantial evidence.

But the court ruled that the evidence was sufficient to support the jury's verdict, and that the defendant should be sentenced to life in prison without parole.

The defendant is scheduled to be sentenced in January.

A new study has found that a popular smartphone app used by millions of users is actually a spyware program that can secretly monitor the user's phone.

The app, called "PhoneSpy," is a free app that allows users to remotely control their phones. The app was downloaded more than 50 million times, and it has been popular among teenagers and young adults.

But the study found that the app can secretly monitor the user's phone, and can send photos, text messages, and emails to the user's computer.

The app works by remotely connecting to the phone and then listening to the phone's microphone and camera.

The study, conducted by researchers at the University of California, San Diego, found that the app can access most of the phone's functions, including the phone's contacts, messages, and emails.

The researchers also found that the app can take screenshots of the phone screen, and can record the user's voice and video.

The app is free, and is available on the App Store and Google Play.

The Chicago Board of Education has approved a new policy that will allow students to use their phones during class.

The policy, called "Cell Phone Policy," was approved by the board on Tuesday, and will go into effect next school year.

Under the new policy, students will be allowed to use their phones during class, but they will not be allowed to use them for gaming, social media, or other non-academic purposes.

The policy follows a nationwide trend of allowing students to use their phones during class.

"We believe that allowing students to use their phones during class will help them stay connected with their families and friends, and will also help them stay engaged in their studies," said superintendent Dr. Jeanne都不用麻烦了．

Gingrich orders rewrite of House telecom bill

Joe DiGenova

WASHINGTON — Lobbying with big money and big names, long-distance carriers like AT&T thought they had scored a victory for the Bell companies. But the rival Bell boys have launched a counterattack and House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R- Ga.,

just two weeks after a bill that would have ended the 1970s-era Sherman Antitrust Act

Eagles may recall 'The Fridge'

Associated Press

For someone who has weighed as much as 600 pounds, it's difficult to be running around a football playing field.

But it would surpise few people if William "Frigidator" Perry were to be named to the Pro Bowl this season.

The 38-year-old Perry, who has been a star defensive tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles since 1993, has shed nearly 200 pounds since his weight peaked at 603 pounds in 2004.

"I come to this field every day," he said Tuesday, "and I'm just as excited as the little kids to get here every day!"

Perry, who is scheduled to report to training camp next week, said he is "very healthy." He also said he is "very excited" about the possibility of playing a season that he can feel good about.

"I feel like I'm going to be a better player in '09," Perry said. "I feel like I can contribute to this team."

His efforts have not gone unnoticed. In a recent interview, Eagles coach Andy Reid said Perry "is in the top 5 or 10 players in the league."
John Wehner, who had singled prior to the union's attempt to reach a new labor agreement, ended a four-game losing streak as the Braves held off the Twins' victory over the Indians in the ninth inning.

The union announced its position prior to publication.

Wells wins big in Cincinnati debut

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — David Wells got a seventh-inning pop fly from his own bat and went on to strike out 10 and beat the New York Yankees 6-3 Thursday night to become the first pitcher in major league history to win his first four starts of the season.

Wells (4-0), acquired Monday night in a trade with Toronto, allowed two runs and seven hits in seven innings and improved to 4-0 in his first five starts.

“Every time I'm getting the ball, I'm getting better and better,” said Wells, the 1995 American League Cy Young Award winner with the Blue Jays.

Wells' key moment came with one out in the seventh after Jeff Bagwell and Craig Biggio had back-to-back singles. Wells threw a wild pitch to give the Astros a 3-2 lead before striking out Jose Offerman to end the inning.

“He got us out of a jam, for sure,” said Astros manager Art Howe.

Wells entered the game with a 0-2 record and a 5.34 ERA for the Jays this year. Wells had not pitched since Aug. 12 and had been out since July 30 with a pulled muscle.

Wells is 2-2 with a 2.22 ERA in two starts against the Rangers.

Tuesday deadline set for new labor agreement

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The trade deadline is today, and the Boston Red Sox attempt to reach a new labor agreement if they can reach a deal with the players on Tuesday.

This would allow the Red Sox to pursue their anti-trust suit in court.

The Red Sox are holding a meeting Tuesday of their officials and players to discuss the situation.

Michael Jordan, Patrick Ewing and Alonzo Mourning are among the players.

The agreement to attach the luxury tax appeared to be a victory for the director of baseball operations, who maintain the tax would penalize the high-spending owners.

Irvan fed up with recovery

Paul Newbery

INDIANAPOLIS — Ernie Irvan, back at Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Wednesday after missing the Brickyard 400 for medical reasons, was fed up with continuing questions about his eligibility for the remainder of the season.

Irvan sat out the Southeastern Conference Championship game last Saturday night, a game his team needed to win to ensure a berth in the SEC title game. Irvan was injured in a crash during the race and was taken to the hospital for observation.

Irvan talked with Michael Wil怡er before Wil怡er was able to join Irvan for the Brickyard 400 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Wednesday.

"I'm going to make sure we do the best we can do here," Irvan said. "If we don't, then I'll have to go back to school and do what he wants to do."

"I'm not a detective. And I'm not going to talk to you about the case. I'm not going to talk to you about the investigation. I'm not going to talk to you about my team," Irvan said.

"I was called last night by (NCAA executive director) Mark Emmert," Irvan said. "He wanted to know what I knew. And I told him what I knew."

"I'm not going to talk to you about the case. I'm not going to talk to you about the investigation. I'm not going to talk to you about my team," Irvan said.
