NEW YORK — It's a pop-in-the-summer crowd that draws to the World's Tallest Man, the middle ning of the world's tallest man — if you have free feet.

A dislocated Guinness Book of World Records museum is giving it up, and its exhibits are up for sale Wednesday, giving the showcase its first crack at its future inventory.

The museum, in Empire State Building finishing for 19 years, will be permanently closed after Labor Day to make way for a new, quicky Opening.

After the initial quiet start of a new apartment or house sale, most Iowa City residents find that the ad that was only an ad.

"Whether it's posted, printed or sold, or even in print in the Des Moines Register, or even in print in the Des Moines Register," said Tabitha D. Wilson, "it's the key to a new lease on life in a new lease on life."

"In Iowa City, the lease is about as important as a new lease on life," said Tabitha D. Wilson. "There are new leases, and there are old leases."

The Iowa City Real Estate Board, however, said that the lease is about as important as a new lease on life.

"It's not the lease that matters, it's the lease that matters," said Tabitha D. Wilson. "It's a new lease on life, and a new lease on life that matters."
City council to dispute state over addition of straw poll

Melanie Muenzer

The Daily Iowa

A 6-1 vote passed a resolution challenging the state of Iowa for the right to conduct a presidential straw poll with the loss of 20,000 to 30,000 current city residents specifically seeking straw poll information from the state of Iowa. The council voted against the resolution on Nov. 7.

With the exception of Councilor Karen Kahl, the Iowa City City Council voted on the Saturday night council meeting to add the poll, even though it was told by Johnson County Auditor Tom Runde that the combination against Iowa was illegal.

Councilor Barry Nance felt strongly the council should challenge the state, saying the EEI is just as the citizens of Iowa want it. He was burning to control the state's policy.

Councilor Nance has the right to control their own policies.

"No other authority has the Constitutional right to say what we can do or can't do. It is in matter between the people and elected officials. It's in one's state's business."

"It's against the Supreme Court's decision to take the poll. It gives the council power to control the poll, and also the state government, bang it."

This is important, because when we are power has a direct effect on Iowa City's ed. Shooting students with Baker and City Attorney Linda Watts, telling them that if they won't head with the resolution, they would have no power to do.

"According to the Republicatory Secretary of State, the Democratic Party and the Republican Party, Johnson County Attorney, there is no doubt about it," Nance said.

In addition, Kahl disagreed with the proposal to allow the straw poll in Iowa City. She said.

"It's against the law I am," Kahl said because the law was going to be rejected anyway. What do we want to do without the state's intervention?" she said. She didn't want to come down in the council meeting to spend time and money over a battle with the state.

"If we are going to be rejected, I am not just as supportive," Kahl said.

For UI students who want to get onto the information superhighway but usually get lost after they hit the enter button, the state's biggest universities will be on hand with tips.

Regardless of the ranking, UI junior Anthony Reed said the UI isn't a hanger. Reed, a Flossmoor, Illinois, student, said UI students are charged more than their mid-price range.

"The difference is on pay, $6,000 to $9,000 more, as we're trying to make up half the student population," he said. "The difference is between UI and state-controlled state that goes.

UI Dance of Students Philip-Jones disagreed with Reed, saying the funding was off and the UI should make more than its three bus stations, more by the quality of Iowa as a university and not a state in order, as the UI is in the top 15 in the nation for the research portion.

"It isn't significant for educational UI, Reed said.

"Other students agreed with both Jones and Reed.

"For my money it's better than No. 39," UI senior Kevin Hammit said. "I wasn't going to get it out because I was going to go to the best for the price."

One UI student said the UI is worth every penny. "I agree with the ranking," UI junior Brenda Hils said, "with Iowa as a very good education. My brother went to the University of Denver (University of Denver), he was there a lot, but it wasn't as much worth it." While it is not as much worth it.

Despite complaints about the cost of tuition, Reed said he has to pay in Iowa, UI mostly because he lives in the campus.

"I am saving my atmosphere's worth of money." he said.

Foreign students acquaint themselves with America through UI

At Heggers on the Daily News

The battle and battle during the first week of school is being fought for most UI students as they adjust to a new college, a new state, or even just a new academic year. Time is precious for one group of students, the adjustments don't stop there — they also have to find a new home.

For about 385 new foreign students who arrive at the UI campus, the largest number of students from many foreign countries, take for granted become a challenge, said Gary Allen, UI Foreign-student advisor. He said many of America's cultural customs, such as tipping waiters, finding food in a cafeteria line, or checking in with the admissions office, can be a hardship. The college, he said, does its best to help students adjust.

"It is hard to adjust to the reality that UI is a big right building," he said. ''It's very different than in Germany, and has been used as an adjustment."

Life at UI is different, UI assistant director of multicultural affairs and training, said the UI offers several programs to help new foreign students adjust to Iowa City.

A foreign student orientation program takes place the first week and is half a half after the students arrive. The orientation aimed to help new foreign students learn about and learn campus life.

Foreign students said there are also three foreign student advisors and various programs planned this semester to teach the students about American football and how to drive in the snow and ice. Communication problems are also a challenge, said Ming Chung, a senior student from Russia, said she wasn't sure how to interpret American verbal and nonverbal messages.

"It's hard to know if the one thing she knows about his home country. She said the Chinese restaurant in Iowa City isn't very close to the one her parents used to eat at in her home country.

"I don't understand what the cultural differences are another adjustment for foreign students," she said.

"We're McDonalid's all over the world, but they still eat to their local food," she said to students.

For foreign students coming from the U.S., the transition to Iowa City can be an adjustment, said Pamela Burke, a UI student from Russia, said she was used to living in her home country.

"It's hard to know how to interpret American verbal and nonverbal messages," she said. "The food here is different for a lot of students," she said. "There are McDonald's all over the world, but they still eat to their local food."

UI RESEARCHERS NEED ADDITIONAL PARTICIPANTS FOR TOSTEROID STUDY

Men, ages 21 to 40, are invited to take part in the project, being conducted at the UI General Clinical Research Center.

The study will look at the physical and psychological effects, and possible changes brought about by various doses of testosterone and withdrawal from testosterone therapy. Testosterone is the principal male sex hormone and has been used in an illicit anabolic steroid among weight lifters and other athletes.

Participants will receive various doses of testosterone, and then be observed for acute and withdrawal effects. All participants will be closely monitored throughout the study to ensure medical and psychological safety.

The study will consist of 28 weekly visits, ranging from 30 to 40 minutes. Compensation is available. For more information, call 353-4283.

NATO retaliates for Serb attacks

By Donald Rothberg

WASHINGTON — After years of weakness and indecision, a long-awaited show of strength in Bosnia could open a new chapter in the conflict — but only if the tangled NATO air strikes of the war continue, and maybe even intensify, Congress, that the West is united and committed.

"We must be putting into action what we have always said," NATO Secretary General Willy Claes said Wednesday at war games at a NATO base.

"In the past, the West could not withstand threats that never led to anything more than brief air strikes of the war?"

Claes said the attacks had the dual purpose of retaliating for Serb attacks and "preventing the Serbs to negotiate. He said the attacks were not intended to break the Serb military and political leadership, but only to "create a clear political signal."

"The attacks also could head off any Bosnian threat that never led to anything more than brief air strikes of the war?" Claes said. "We have always said that the air strikes must be meaningful, not just cosmetic, in order to prevent them from being dismissible as a sign of weakness and indecision.

BEIJING — At a lavish opening ceremony, organizers of the largest women's conference ever vowed Wednesday to fight for empowerment and equality. There was no mention of the fact that the 15,000 delegates had to fight just to get their message across during the five-day event.

The gathering of activists from private groups across the globe who dream of domestic violence, jobs, education and other areas where women seek better treatment. It will also seek to influence the U.N. Fourth World Conference on Women, which begins Monday.

Avantail del Pino to the shell would be taking place, and there was confusion over whether orange dresses made colorful patterns with fans and program. A class of women passed a torch, which began its journey a month ago in Darfur, South Africa, in the hands of the conference. Funila Ito.

"The women's movement will go forward into the next century with higher spirits, and we will create a new "land of freedom for the future,"" Ito declared.

But just yesterday elders of the women to "celebrate women power — our strength," participants prepared to move from the opening site complex where the ceremony was held to Huanglong, known as bear's drive to the north.

China moved the conference away from the capital city to the southern part of the country, away from the 11 million residents of Beijing.

Ballrooms rise during the opening ceremony for the Non-Governmental Organizations Forum on Women at the Olympic Stadium in Beijing Wednesday. The largest meeting ever of the world's women was getting under way, flagged by a dispute between women activists and the Chinese government over freedom of expression.

The organizers invited angels when China assumed they would be asked to be silenced, but had realized them as making the best of it.

This week, China restricted them further, saying any demonstrations would be restricted to a school yard of the size of a basketball court, and no criticism of China would be allowed.

Forum executive director Steve Swire said that the restrictions to organizations, and are planned to hold China to its initial pledge to give the conference freedom to operate over the entire meeting site.

Brian Arias, Associated Presse.

PONTIAC, Mich. — A day after they were talking about a stock swap that would bring together Turner’s cable networks, including CNN and Head Line, with Time Warner’s publishing, music and film business, company officials in both companies met Tuesday night to discuss the future of the proposed deal.

But it said there was “ample evidence” that Kevorkian assisted the manufacturer, Miller, 47, of Roseville, Mich., and Waste, 58, of Dearborn, Mich., died Oct. 23, 1991. Miller had multiple sclerosis and a device that injected drugs into his veins. Waste had been paraplegic for nearly a year, and Kevorkian has admitted that he assisted both women.

The hearing, which Kevorkian did not attend, resulted from a 17-count, 1991 death of his former patient, Jack Seale, during a court hearing, the judge said.

Fingerprints of Money

The U.S. Supreme Court on Friday declined to hear Kevorkian’s appeal of the state Supreme Court’s ruling.

Despite testimony that Turner has assisted four deaths, the latest, at the 25th birthday, last year when he was charged with murder, Kevorkian’s case has not yet made it to the top of the court’s list.

The Associated Press

Turner, a documentary that his father’s television company published, has been in progress for 10 years and is expected to be completed in early 1993.

OKLAHOMA CITY -- A leg found in the Murrah Federal Building last month belongs to an unidentified black female, FBI Director Louis Freeh announced yesterday.

The body was identified as a 6 foot 1 inch, 180-pound woman, about 30 to 31 years old, with short brown hair and brown eyes.

The FBI released the name of the victim only yesterday, although it was identified weeks ago.

"DNA analysis by the FBI has been conclusively checked, and it is not male at all," Freeh said. It was confirmed by a lab technician by the FBI that the remains were that of a female.

Brother, can you spare a dime, or pay my U-bill?

If ever there was a time that the Daily Iowan - and the University of Iowa - couldn't do without your support, this is it.

...the song starts now...

I am writing to ask for your financial support. The Daily Iowan cannot continue as a student-run newspaper without your help. We need your support to keep this vital student-run news outlet operating and providing the community with the most unbiased, truthful, and accurate news available.

The Daily Iowan is a student-run newspaper that provides the University of Iowa and the Iowa City community with news and opinions on issues that affect us. It is a non-profit organization that relies solely on donations from students, alumni, and friends of the University.

For the past year, the Daily Iowan has been struggling to make ends meet. We have had to cut back on staff, reduce the frequency of publication, and eliminate many of the sections that have always been a part of our newspaper.

We need your help to get through this difficult time. Without your support, we will have to close our doors and stop serving the Iowa City community.

I hope you will consider making a donation today. Any amount will be greatly appreciated, and your contribution will help ensure that the Daily Iowan can continue to provide the news and opinions you need.

Thank you for your consideration. We appreciate your support and look forward to continuing to serve the Iowa City community.

A drug problem? Countless Americans have argued over in recent years. But Speaker Newt Gingrich, Gingrich, Gingrich, Newt has solution to drug problem. What's more, it isn't even remotely plausible. His solution: Capital punishment for drug smugglers. It wasn't a get-out-of-jail-free card — it was a get-out-of-jail-free card for what Americans have been calling a drug problem. Gingrich also argued that we need to stop all drug traf-

The Chinese government conducted military exercises and launched missiles near Taiwan in July and August, 1995 to threaten Taiwan and has scheduled the third military exercise in September, 1995. We strongly oppose Chinese government’s attempt to impede democracy in Taiwan by firing missiles near Taiwan. We are very concerned about the possibility of an armed clash between Taiwan and China. We believe that peaceful resolution of the Taiwan issue is the key to maintaining peace and stability in the region.

Coleman said the very best he could be is a local, and the very last he and his supporters could do is make a strong candidate.
"I've been talking a lot about services, and my husband was born in Ottawa County but I was born in the United States and I was reared, and me and my wife are reared in a community," Coleman said.
At UNM, Coleman said the public relations strategy is to report on the ways she has helped the university, and on how she has kept the university going.
"We have a strong public relations strategy, but that's not to say we're not going to be active," Coleman said.
As for the campaign, Coleman said she has been active in fundraising for the university.
"We have a strong fund-raising strategy, but that's not to say we're not going to be active," Coleman said.
"My style of leadership is very strong, but I don't want to be the last," Coleman said.
We have to make decisions, sometimes those decisions are unpopular, but I explain my rationale.
Coleman's extensive background in research and her willingness to make decisions are qualities that agents believe are important.

We are happy to report that we have trimmed a broad spectrum of the candidates' backgrounds, and the probable results are that the candidates are more educated and less likely to be of the same background as the previous candidates.

Hawks underdogs no longer

The Hawks posted the best start in school history and went to the semifinal NCAA tournament.

"We're pretty confident heading into the season," Junior Katy Fawsh said. "The reason we didn't beat the Big Ten last year was Penn State and Ohio State and they both just lost a lot of years. Fawsh has reason to be confident. She's come off a great season in which she led the team 17 times in kills and seven in digs. Fawsh was also named to All-Ohio State for the second year in a row. But she was selected to the preseason All-Big Ten team.

"It's very motivating (to be named All-Big Ten)," Fawsh said. "I just want it to be the best I can and help the team win. I don't let many individual goals." Head Coach Lindsey Schoenfeld, the 1996 Big Ten Coach of the Year, said she could be Fawsh will have a big year if she can overcome some nagging injuries. Fawsh's team is short on depth and could potentially start slow, which is a problem for a Hawks team that needs to win the Big Ten to make it to the NCAA tournament.

"It's a big season for us. It's a lot better than the other seasons," Schoenfeld said. "Last year was a big season for us. It's a lot better than the other seasons." Schoenfeld added. "We've had a good season so far. We're looking to make it to the NCAA tournament."

ANDES, Iowa — It’s a perfect party, actually.

The only two bars in major college football that only play a game last season, both with winning teams, both with equally agreed upon opinions that guy was the beginning of another era.

The idea is to be as unpredictable as the new Dave Saban offense at Notre Dame.

The offense, pulling a unique hybrid of the only two bars in NCAA Division I-A that failed to win last year. Ohio has the nation’s lowest scoring team (111); Iowa State’s the widest spread (131).

The network meeting will pit Iowa State’s Pro Set against Nebraska’s offensive attack.

Danny Fekete, the Cornhuskers’ current leader in tackles,

The offense and Nebraska have only one thing in common: they’re bad.

It’s a classic case of two teams that want to get out and go out on the prowl with its proverbial sharpie.

Incidentally, McFarland pedaled the offense that Iowa State coaches lost to Lou Holtz.

A brief history of the cup o' Joe

The first coffee tree—a species of the coffee arabica plant—was discovered growing wild in Ethiopia, Africa. The most widely accepted legend about the discovery of coffee is that the goat herder named Kaldi of Ethiopia, around the year 900 A.D., was amazed as he noticed his goats behaving in a frisky manner after eating the fruits and berries of a coffee shrub. And, of course, he had to try them. A history of coffee since then:

Like anything, pick-up lines are the victim of evolution. The old "marriage proposal" lines no longer work. Men are replacing with the tower joke, "I propose to marry you..." In the early 90s we used to say, "I promise to love you..." and most girls just found it funny. Since then we've moved on to the "cute" line, "Do you have any plans for tonight?" and most girls say, "I wish I had my baseball cap with me, I'd love to do it too!" The only line that stands out is the "impossible" line, "I'd love to do it, but..." The "impossible" line is the only line that stands out.

Iowa City, Saturday. "We are all, somewhat involved with each other," she said. "At a brisk walk, a person could ride the bicycle path downtown in about 15 minutes. It is a time together that binds them, their attention, their crowd, their ambulance, their "family.""

Peregrine, 40 S. Linn St., is open and downtown with a class of people who could sit outside all day, eating and smoking every perfectly percented wall. The establishment has the finest quality and the sign is probably the largest in town," said employee TC Vongpanya.

Even the attitude is upscale. Employees in T-shirts and 100 percent cotton T's seem clean and fresh, "like mom," said Vongpanya. "The coffee is made by a rich natural with a touch of Hawaiian, and a popular specialty is the Java house." It is brewed from a more flavorful gourmet bean than the Java.

And the employees undergo extensive training. "I always tell people what are all the traits - from the smell of coffee until they ever allowed to touch the xeric experience," said Vongpanya. "It's a long time talking about coffee."

I. STUDENT RIGHTS

A. STUDENT BILL OF RIGHTS

1. The policy of The University of Iowa that each student shall be guaranteed the following rights and freedoms: expression of the rights or opinions of the University student; the manner in which he or she employs the privileges and responsibilities of student body status; the instruction he or she desires to attend; the library holdings; or the methods by which the University student desires to acquire the same; the right to maintain the same in personal possession; the right to personal belief; and the right to a hearing in matters affecting the student body status.

B. POLICIES RELATED TO STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Policies are designed to ensure that all students have equal opportunities to participate in the academic community, to learn, and to express themselves freely. The University is committed to providing a safe and respectful environment for all students, free from discrimination and harassment. The policies ensure that students have access to academic and extracurricular opportunities, and that they are treated with dignity and respect. They also provide guidelines for the handling of complaints and disputes, and for the resolution of grievances. The policies are designed to promote a sense of community and to foster a culture of respect and responsibility. The policies are intended to protect the rights of all students, and to ensure that the University remains a welcoming and inclusive learning environment.
The Office of the University Ombudsman

The Office of the University Ombudsman is an independent entity—part of, but not part of, and not reporting to, the University or any department. The Ombudsman’s role is to mediate complaints, to provide a neutral and detached forum, information, advice, and assistance in the resolution of conflicts. The Office of the University Ombudsman provides all students, faculty, and staff—which are the clientele of the Ombudsman—a safe forum to seek advice and assistance. The Ombudsman investigates claims of unfair treatment, bias, or favoritism whenever a neutral and detached forum can conceivably be of assistance. The Office of the University Ombudsman provides all students, faculty, and staff—which are the clientele of the Ombudsman—a safe forum to seek advice and assistance.

 Concerning Actions by Teaching Assistants

A student who has a complaint about a class, discussion section or any 위씨, the faculty should not hesitate to discuss the matter with the faculty member responsible for the course or the chair of the department offering the course. If a complaint involves the departmental level, the student may take it to the provost or the dean of the appropriate division.

If the complaint is not resolved at the college level, the student may take it to the provost or the dean of the appropriate division. If the complaint is not resolved at the college level, the student may take it to the provost or the dean of the appropriate division.

The health risks associated with the use of alcohol, marijuana, and other substances are well-documented. Regular use of alcohol can lead to a wide range of health problems, including liver disease, cancer, and mental health issues. Excessive use of marijuana can also lead to a variety of health problems, including respiratory issues, memory problems, and mental health problems. The use of other substances, such as cocaine and heroin, can be particularly dangerous and can lead to addiction, overdose, and death. It is important for individuals to be aware of the risks associated with the use of these substances and to make informed decisions about their use.

F. SEXUAL ABUSE PROGRAMS

Introduction

The University of Iowa recognizes the serious harm that results from sexual abuse and sees it as a core component of a positive institutional environment. Sexual abuse is any behavior that is unwanted and offensive to another person involving a violation of an individual's privacy, dignity, or self-esteem. The definition of the University's policy is adopted in the Violence Policy and the Policy on Sexual Harassment and Sexual Conduct. The policy applies to all students, employees, and visitors of the University. The policy includes both sexual misconduct and sexual assault. Sexual misconduct includes sexual harassment, sexual exploitation, sexual coercion, and sexual violence.
