Fraternity pledge found dead

Heavy drinking at Thursday night party may be factor

Sarah Lueck
The Daily Iowan

Speculation that Friday's death of a Lambda Chi Alpha pledge was caused by excessive alcohol consumption may be correct, according to one eyewitness.

"The big brothers were getting the little brothers totally smashed," said Kelly Hirsch, a Northwestern University student who attended the Big Brother Night party at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity Thursday night.

UI sophomore Matthew Garofalo, a Lambda Chi pledge from Elgin, Ill., was found dead Friday morning in the fraternity's house.

Garofalo's death has been listed

"The big brothers were getting the little brothers totally smashed."

Kelly Hirsch, a Northwestern University student who attended the Big Brother Night party at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity Thursday night by the Johnson County Medical Examiner's Office as accidental and the result of pulmonary edema, or fluid in the lungs. An autopsy, which has been ordered, will determine whether alcohol caused the lungs to fill with the fluid.

Deputy Medical Examiner Victor Edwards saw the body and ordered the autopsy. He said Garofalo's face had been marked on.

"It looked like there was a beard that was painted on; the significance of that, you're going to have to ask the fraternity brothers," Edwards said.

Until the autopsy report is released, one doctor said he could only comment hypothetically on the situation.

Dr. Agustin Aguilar, an emergency room doctor at UI Hospitals and Clinics, said if alcohol was involved in Garofalo's death, he was probably "breathing poorly." That would lead to a change in the acid balance of Garofalo's lungs, and his "capillaries would leak fluid into the lungs."

Aguilar was not involved in the case, and he had not seen the body.

Hirsch said though many of the pledges were drunk at the party, she noticed the fraternity members were continually checking on anyone who had passed out.

"I was really impressed. People were opening doors and checking if everyone was OK," she said.

UI freshman Matt Streets was across the street from the fraternity house Friday morning.

"The ambulance came about noon. There were crowds of people outside, just people walking by, and a guy came out of the fraternity and cleared everybody out," he said.

The mood of the fraternity members was solemn as they stood around in front of the house, Streets said.

"A lot of the frat was outside by the steps, and a bunch of guys

SHACKLEFORDS, Va. — A plane carrying 11 members of a skydiving school crashed into a house and exploded Sunday, killing a man sitting on his back porch and everyone aboard.

The house caught fire, but authorities said no one else living

"I ... saw the plane in the air, and it turned like it wanted to go back the other way, then it made a nosedive."

Mattie Byrd, who was lying in bed when she heard the plane laboring overhead in the row of about 10 houses along a lane in rural Tidewater Virginia was injured.

"I was assuming it was coming in the back door of my house. It sounded like it was going through something, and then it went boom. By the time we got outside, it had blown and there was fire everywhere."

She said her neighbor, Vincent Harris, was killed but his son, Vincent Jr., who is 8 or 9, was playing outside and wasn't injured.

BEER ADDS TO FESTIVITIES

Football fans relish madness of tailgating

Evelyn Lauer
The Daily Iowan

Before Iowa's first football game Saturday, parking lots, backyards, front yards and alleys became homes to thousands of tailgaters, who seemed to have at least two things in common — a love for the Hawks and a love for beer.

Thousands of UI students, alumni and die-hard Hawkeye fans gathered near Kinnick Stadium to partake in the tradition of tailgating before the Iowa-Northern Iowa football game.

Near a sign that read "The Professional Tailgaters," loyal fans from Parkersburg, Iowa, mingled before kickoff.

Dave Stock, one of the "professionals," said he and his friends have been partying before Hawkeye games for 15 years and know everything there is to know about tailgating.

"We've got tailgating down to a science," he said. "We've got our own gas grill, a 4-by-8 serving table —

SENATOR'S BRAGGING BACKFIRES

Diaries mark onset of Packwood's ruin

Scott Sonner

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bob Packwood's power made things happen but it could not, as it turned out, make things go away.

Checking into an alcohol-abuse clinic back in 1992, confessing to unspecified wrongdoing, pleading ignorance to changing mores, jousting with investigators with all the strategic thinking that had carried him into high Senate regard during happier times — none of that stopped his 33-month spiral into disgrace.

Not since the Civil War has the Senate expelled anyone, and back then the sin was support for the Confederacy.

Under threat of expulsion, recommended unanimously by the Senate Ethics Committee, Packwood announced his resignation Thursday.

The same compulsive behavior which got the Oregon Republican in trouble with wine and women helped bring his downfall — painfully detailed diaries boasting of his sexual exploits and well-heeled connections.

Those pages told a tale of ego and vanity overshadowing almost anything seen in the Senate, where self-importance is hardly unknown.

His "stream of consciousness thinking," as he put it, lingered over the sex in his office, the favors for lobbyists, the admiration he heard from so many quarters, even

'ER' sweeps Emmys, secures NBC victory

PASADENA, Calif. — The NBC medical series "ER" passed its first Emmy checkup with flying colors Sunday — tying two records — while "NYPD Blue" won best drama series and "Frasier" was the top comedy.

"ER" equaled marks set by "Hill Street Blues" for most wins by a series in one year and by a new series — eight in 1981.

Showing no signs of sophomore slump, the farcical NBC comedy "Frasier" won five Emmys in all, including best comedy actor for Kelsey Grammer.

NBC led all networks at the 47th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards with 28 wins, including trophies presented in a non-televized ceremony Saturday. CBS had 19, HBO won 15 and ABC took home just six Emmys.

The fast-paced telecast was lean on production numbers and acceptances were mostly brief. It even managed to end five minutes short of its scheduled three hours.

The five wins by "Frasier" were the most for any show Sunday night but "ER" also won five awards Saturday. The 1981 records were tied with "ER" wins Sunday for drama directing, dra-

"After happily returning for a couple of hours and drinking bottles of Rhineclander beer, Mackins went home to nap."

"That's the key," he said.

Feeling rejuvenated, Mackins and his friends headed out on the town to continue their celebration.

"I'm sure we ate something, didn't we?" he asked his friend, Iowa City resident Sam Sneed.

"I know we drank while we showered."

Mackins and Sneed both agreed they weren't concerned with being arrested for public intoxication to open containers because of the good company that surrounded them.

"Everyone who was out was drinking," Sneed said.

After returning around 3:30 a.m., Sneed said he left rested and sober enough to enjoy breakfast at the Elsie Inn Pancake House, 9 Star-View Corner Drive, Sunday morning.

"I woke up in someone else's apartment," Mackins said. "They weren't home, and I still don't know how I ended up in their washroom."

Mackins said he and five of her friends left the football game during the third quarter after hours of tailgating. Kummer said she consumed a fair amount of alcohol before heading to the game, and parties after the game, but said she wasn't concerned with being arrested.

"There were so many people out, walking around with beer," she said. "I wasn't worried."

IU senior Richard Mackins survived almost 12 hours of alcohol consumption without an arrest.

Mackins said he started drinking with his friends at 2 p.m. Saturday outside of Kinnick Stadium.

"I didn't have a ticket," he said. "I just hung around outside and drank."

Beijing conference: Polar views deadlock

Kathy Wilhelm
Associated Press

BEIJING — Critics of China's repressive Communist system feel vindicated. So, too, do Chinese leaders, who believe the West is conspiring to topple them.

The world's last great Communist regime and thousands of banner-waving, outspoken women have been face to face for nearly two weeks, but the experience has generated more frustration than understanding.

China's leaders are already jittery and defensive because of an impending succession crisis. Nearly two-thirds of the way through two women's conferences, they've hardly been reassured that they are not threatened from abroad and can slow down their nuclear and conventional arms buildup.

China wanted to use the U.N.-sponsored Fourth World Conference of Women and its parallel gathering of unofficial women's groups as a chance to show off its achievements and improve its image.

But when it banished the unofficial event to a remote suburb, gave the conference tents for meeting halls and imposed heavy police surveillance, these are the world headlines it got:

"Chinese Wall Around Women," declared Gazeta Wyborcza, Poland's largest daily. "Session Under Special Surveillance."

"Unparalleled Repression of Women," said Sweden's Dagens Nyheter.

China, stung, retreated to ritually blaming the negative reporting on "a few people who, with ulterior motives, provoked troubles, distorted facts, spread lies and slandered the organizanizing work."

Confrontations with overseas Tibetans reinforced fears that Western forces seek to slice Tibet away from China.

Amid attack and counterattack, South Korea's Chosun Ilbo said dryly, "It is doubtful how much this conference will help expand understanding of China."

Foreigners did gain some insights. Many of the nearly 30,000 foreign women at the meetings received a crash course in Chinese security methods enjoyed by few short-term visitors. Most tourists don't have their luggage searched upon arrival at the hotel, or find police stationed on each floor.

But most tourists aren't carrying materials critical of labor conditions, family planning, environmental pollution and nuclear testing.

POWELL'S INDEPENDENCE BID DISCOURAGED

Gingrich defends 2-party system

Jim Abrams

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Newt Gingrich urged retired Gen. Colin Powell to give up any idea of an independent candidacy, saying Sunday that having a president outside the current party system is "a joke" that could lead to disaster.

Gingrich, in an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press," also revealed some details of the GOP plan to restore fiscal integrity to Medicare, including a proposal to apply means-testing to couples earning more than $125,000.

Powell, in his new autobiography, said he is comfortable with neither party and the time may be ripe for the rise of a third party to represent the political center in America.

He makes no commitment to lead such a party.

Gingrich, R-Ga., strongly urged him against that course. "I think it's frankly, in the long run, a joke," he said.

"This country is a party country. ... There is no magic independence of people who are just able to stand up and magically produce a government."

An independent presidency would be "a disaster for this country," he said.

If Powell, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, ran as a Republican, he would immediately become the chief rival to GOP front-runner Sen. Bob Dole, Gingrich said.

Gingrich, like Powell, said he will make no announcement of his own presidential intentions until the end of the year. He has stated he would take a pass if Powell were to run as a Republican, but in any case is leaning against entering the race.

Russian troops retreat as Chechen rebels agree to disarm soldiers

GROZNY, Russia (AP) — Long columns of Russian troops rolled out of Chechnya on Sunday, the first since a July 30 accord calling for a partial withdrawal.

The Chechen rebels, meanwhile, agreed to a schedule for disarming their fighters, another key point in the military agreement, which has remained largely on paper amid mutual mistrust and accusations.

Armed clashes have persisted in the southern republic. On Saturday, a Russian tank commander was killed near Kurchaloi, about 12 miles east of the capital, Grozny, when rebels fired grenade launchers at his vehicle.

The tank driver was missing and presumably taken prisoner, Russian military officials said. Two other servicemen were killed and three were wounded in rebel attacks Saturday and early Sunday.

Retired Whitten dies after 53 years in House

Jack Elliott Jr.
Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss. — Former Rep. Jamie Lloyd Whitten, a Mississippi farm boy who served a record 53 years in the House and exerted quiet but powerful control over the nation's purse strings, died Saturday. He was 85.

Whitten, a Democrat who retired in 1994, died from complications of chronic cardiac and renal disease, said Drs. Keith Mansel and Michael King, his physicians at Baptist Memorial Hospital-North Mississippi in Oxford. He had been hospitalized since last Monday.

"His mind stayed fine until the very end. Just his body broke down," said his son, Jamie Whitten Jr., a Washington lawyer.

Whitten had battled health problems since 1992, including several strokes and a recent bout with pneumonia. "Congressman Whitten dedicated himself to the concerns of the hard-working people of this country," President Clinton said in a statement released by the White House. "He worked tirelessly on behalf of America's farmers, especially our family farmers, and he never gave up working to build more opportunity for all Americans willing to make the most of their own lives."

A conservative Democrat, Whitten served with 11 presidents and was chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee from 1979 to 1992.

He was elected to Congress on Nov. 4, 1941, about a month before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. At his retirement, he was the last member still serving who had been in Congress when the United States entered World War II.

Packwood sent packing

Sen. Bob Packwood resigned last week after being found guilty of sexually harassing 17 women, altering personal diaries and trying illegally to get his estranged wife a job. A Senate ethics panel had already voted 6-0 to expel him.

The process leading to Packwood's expulsion lasted more than two years. Finally, panel chairperson and fellow Republican Mitch McConnell acted. Responding to Packwood's pleas for a chance to confront his accusers on television, McConnell stated, "The committee has heard enough, the Senate has heard enough, the public has heard enough." He then cited 40 pounds — or 10,145 pages — of incriminating evidence against Packwood as sufficient cause to deny his request.

After months of waffling on this case, the Senate has finally done the right thing. Nevertheless, Packwood still basically got off. By resigning instead of being expelled, he will still get his lifetime government pension. The alterations of incriminating journal entries should have gotten him jail time. Like most government criminals in recent history, Packwood has largely avoided the due punishment for his personal crimes and violations of public trust.

While Packwood's actions are distressing in themselves, perhaps even more disturbing were the efforts to cover up, defend and downplay Packwood's actions, the charges brought against him and the accusers themselves. It was OK to hold public hearings on Whitewater and Waco, but the Senate would not do the same for Packwood.

Sen. Barbara Boxer's allegations that Packwood made unwanted sexual advances to her, got her little support from her peers. Instead, many sided with the guilty party; Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole said the most important issue was to make sure Boxer didn't "gain control of the ethics of everybody in the Senate." Then he engineered a 52-48 vote against public hearings on Packwood's hearings.

Packwood had other supporters who sought to intimidate perspective accusers. Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., had previously said anyone who tried to accuse Packwood of misconduct would encounter so much opposition that he or she would have to "dig out from under the rubble."

Such statements blame the accuser of being the cause of the problem. Upon announcing the panel's decision to protect the privacy of the case, McConnell said of Packwood, "The victimizer is now claiming the mantle of the victim."

Progress has been made, as Packwood's forced resignation shows. At least we didn't have a repeat of the Anita Hill hearings.

When Hill testified, there were just two women in the Senate. Now there are nine. Hopefully, with increasing numbers of women, the "boys' club" in the Senate will continue to crumble.

Chinese officials crack down on women's equality conference

With the release of Harry Wu, the Chinese-American expelled from China after disclosing China's human rights abuses, the Clinton administration gave the go-ahead for Hillary Rodham Clinton to attend the Fourth World Conference of Women.

After all, U.S.-Chinese diplomatic and economic relations have been improving, and the United States wanted to show it was a world player in bettering the roles of women. Unfortunately, the conference attendees met unnecessary challenges while in China. Those challenges were as monumental as the issues the women from various nations met to discuss.

Gertrude Mongella of Tanzania, a conference organizer, remarked on the first day of the conference, "A revolution has begun. There is no going back. There is no going back."

Seems as though the Chinese government had other opinions on the subject. Many women from Beijing were not allowed to attend the conference, while others, including Winnie Mandela, were denied entrance to the Great Hall of the People after arriving late. The women were not casually late in arriving. They were delayed after taking buses to the Hall provided by the host city.

Throughout the conference, there were complaints of inadequate facilities, transportation and other accommodations in addition to many attendees being videotaped by Chinese officials. Perhaps the Chinese government suspects some covert meetings are taking place. Maybe Chinese officials are so accustomed to controlling diverging points of view they — out of habit — thought "crackdown" was the best way of becoming involved in the conference.

It seems doubly challenging to women to carry out their mandates of "empowerment" in politics, education and economics when many are prevented from joining discussion affecting them. Let's not forget — the aim of the conference was to examine and strengthen women's socio-economic positions throughout the world.

Credit should be given to the Chinese government for hosting the conference. After the Tiananmen Square massacre, Chinese officials wanted to show the world they were sensitive to human rights and proposed China host the conference. Six years later, we see some things have changed and others have remained the same. If U.S.-Chinese relations continue to improve, maybe the next women's conference should be held here in the United States.

Never fall short in Normal

Since I admitted my Normalite status, people from all over Iowa City have been coming out to me. A woman in my office admitted she lived in Normal for a year, and countless others "know" people from there or visited once or have at least seen the signs.

The latest person reminded me of yet another crazy thing about my home town. The tallest residence hall in the Midwest — Waterson Towers — is located right downtown.

Three years ago, a female resident was hanging out near her 18th-story window (there are 28 floors), when she slipped and fell through the screen. A sapling broke her fall, and she was able to walk away from the accident relatively unharmed. The woman did, of course, have to change her name, because she was an immediate celebrity.

Unlike the UI, it's not how high you ascend on the academic ladder in Normal that makes you a college success, it's how many stories you fall.

Up next — 'Talk show addicts and the people who love them'

This fall, there will be no fewer than 14 new talk shows on the tube. It seems talk shows, once considered a passing fad, are now here to stay.

Thank goodness. I love 'em. I can't get enough of them. It's like these things have some sort of high-powered tractor beam I just can't avoid. I mean, one minute I'm sitting on the couch flipping through the channels and the next minute I'm dancing around like the village idiot, clapping wildly and singing, "Go Ricki, go Ricki, go, go, go Ricki" at the top of my lungs. I'm sick I tell you, sick. I need help.

I fully expect to find myself standing up in a smoky room in the basement of some church, choking back tears and saying, "My name is Mike, and I'm a talk show addict." This, in turn, would bring a response of "We love you, Mike" from all the other tired souls in the room who have the same devastating problem.

Then I would go on to tell my story.

Mike Brogan
appears Mondays on the Viewpoints Pages

"I knew it got bad when I found myself lying on the floor of my apartment, sweating and convulsing, strung out on some bad Montel I got from some guy on the street ... It was right then and there I decided to change my life.

"It all started so innocently. One day, about four or five years ago, I guess. I don't know, I mean everything's such a blur. Anyway, one day I sat down and watched Oprah. I had never tried it before, but all my friends were doing it and I just wanted to fit in. I just didn't think it was that big a deal, and besides, I was curious.

"So I tried it, and I liked Oprah. I liked it a lot. I started cutting class just to watch. It got so bad I even stole some of my mother's jewelry to pay for a VCR in order to tape the shows I missed.

"But soon Oprah wasn't enough. It just wasn't doing it for me anymore. I needed something with a little more kick, something a little harsher. That's when I began experimenting. I tried Geraldo, Maury Povich, Charles Perez and even Sally Jesse Raphael. I mean, you name it, I did it. But it was never enough. I couldn't get enough.

"I knew it got bad when I found myself lying on the floor of my apartment, sweating and convulsing, strung out on some bad Montel I got from some guy on the street. That's when I had that moment of clarity we talked about in rehabilitation. It was right then and there I decided to change my life.

"I haven't watched a talk show in almost two years. It's been a struggle, but I've done it. I guess I just have to take things one day at a time."

So the real question is: What causes this talk show addiction? If we can find what causes it, we can help the millions of people with problems similar to mine. I think the addiction is so strong because nothing boosts your self-esteem like a talk show. Is there anything else that makes you feel so superior? Is there anything that makes you feel better about yourself than a talk show?

I mean, think about it. You're having a bad day. I don't know, maybe you flunked a test or got into a fight with your roommate, little problems that always seem to come up at the wrong time and aggravate the hell out of people. You're feeling pretty down, and then all of a sudden, you turn on the tube and there it is — your cure.

This episode happens to be about transvestite immigrants who seduce farm animals and the women who love them. All of a sudden, you step back, look at your situation and realize you're pretty lucky. You're young, you're in college, you have your health and you don't know anyone who cross-dresses and screws sheep. Hell, you are one upwardly mobile dude. You feel great, and it's all because of a television show.

These freaks and trash recruited to stand up on national television and tell sordid stories serve a vital purpose in our society. They're kind of like human aspirin. When something's really, seriously wrong with you, they don't help. But if it's just a minor little headache, they can work wonders.

There will be 14 new shows this fall. That means 14 times the fun. Some people say talk shows are leading to the decay of our decent society. Well, I don't think we've ever been decent, and our society began decaying long before anyone had ever heard of a guy named Donahue. So bring 'em. Bring 'em all on. The more talk shows we have, the happier I am. And that's one to grow on.

What is the most outrageous talk show you have seen?

"The father was divorced from the wife, came back and was hooked up with his daughter somehow. It was really outrageous.

Miranda Akyea, Iowa City resident

"I don't know the names of these people. I've seen the shows about people's personal lives, especially young people's personal lives. I think it's like washing your dirty linen in public.

Jessica Herring, Iowa State University junior

"On Ricki Lake, this guy was going to propose to his girlfriend. Before she could answer, they brought out his ex-girlfriend to talk trash about him."

Fred Langrock, Toeterville, Iowa, resident

"Masturbation on David Letterman. They didn't get into it too much — I think he was afraid they were going to get zapped off the air. I thought it was kind of inappropriate, but maybe that's because of my age."

were crying," Streets said.

When TV news cameras arrived, the fraternity members were herded inside the house.

Garofalo's uncle, Dominic Garofalo, of Des Plaines, Ill., said his nephew was a "great kid."

"He would do anything for anybody. He was there for anybody who needed him," Dominic Garofalo said.

He could only describe the mood of the family as "sad." Dominic Garofalo said he doesn't expect the family to take legal action.

"I doubt it," he said.

The family has not yet been contacted by the UI or by the fraternity, but Dominic Garofalo said he and the Garofalo family are waiting for word from either the UI or Lambda Chi Alpha.

The UI will conduct an independent investigation into Garofalo's death.

Steve Parrott, acting associate director for University Relations, said the UI will take two key steps in response to the death.

"First, we'll try to provide counseling for the fraternity members and the young man's friends," he said. "The second step will be a follow-up investigation after the police investigation is finished."

Parrott said although the fraternity is on private property, it is still subject to UI rules.

"We'll be looking into whether there were any university policies violated," said Ann Rhodes, UI vice president for University Relations.

Both Rhodes and Parrott said they feel badly for the Garofalo family.

"It's a great tragedy. The hardest thing to deal with is the death of a student," Rhodes said. "I can't stop thinking about how awful it is for the family and the people that knew him."

In a statement issued Sunday evening, chapter president Ben Smith stated, "The entire membership is in shock. It will take some time before the members can start to deal with this death."

The international headquarters of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity issued the following statement concerning Garofalo's death:

"A staff member from headquarters (in Indianapolis) has been dispatched to campus to assist the chapter in dealing with this tragic loss. All chapter activity has been postponed during the investigation."

When contacted Sunday night, a fraternity spokesperson said the investigating staff member from Indianapolis had arrived.

Although fraternity members declined comment, one friend of Garofalo said he will be missed.

"He was a really good guy," said UI freshman Matt Kory, who was in Garofalo's rush group. "I'm sorry what happened to him happened."

"Right after the crash, there was a couple of people tried to get in there to get him but they couldn't. It was all in flames," she said. The fire melted the vinyl siding on her house, about 50 feet from the Harris home.

The plane went down just east of Shacklefords, which is about 40 miles east of Richmond.

The Beechcraft Queen Air BE-65 crashed about 15 minutes after takeoff from West Point Municipal Airport, said Arlene Salac, a spokeswoman for the Federal Aviation Administration. The plane can seat six to nine people or can carry cargo.

The pilot and 10 parachutists were from a skydiving school based at the airport, which is about 1 1/2 miles from the crash site, state police spokeswoman Mary Evans said.

A man who answered the phone at the school declined to comment.

FAA and National Transportation Safety Board agents were investigating.

ma writing and supporting dramatic actress.

Grammer, the radio psychiatrist who can handle everybody's problems except his own, took the best comedy actor award for the second straight year.

Mandy Patinkin, the brilliant and overzealous surgeon on CBS' "Chicago Hope," was named best drama series actor. Ironically, Patinkin will not be on the show this year.

Candice Bergen repeated as lead actress in a comedy series for her depiction of a hard-driving journalist-mom in "Murphy Brown." It was Bergen's fifth Emmy. She won the same award in 1994, 1992, 1990 and 1989.

Bergen becomes the winningest performer in a lead series role.

Kathy Baker, who plays town doctor Jill Brock on the CBS series "Picket Fences," won for best drama series actress.

"Frasier" co-star David Hyde Pierce, who plays the show's wobbly psychiatrist, won best supporting actor in a comedy series. The show also won for comedy series directing and best writing in a comedy series.

"Does this mean that I'll never have to work again or that I'll never work again?" quipped Pierce.

Christine Baranski, the sardonic divorcee on "Cybill," led off the evening with the Emmy for outstanding supporting actress in a comedy series.

Julianne Margulies, a troubled nurse on "ER," won best supporting actress in a drama series. Ray Winstone, the cantankerous Judge Henry Bone on "Picket Fences," won the Emmy for supporting actor in a drama series.

"I have 30 seconds to tell you that I've been waiting 60 years to get up on this stage," Winstone told the Pasadena Civic Auditorium audience.

NBC headed into the awards with an edge as the leader in nominations and preliminary trophies given in weekend ceremonies.

"ER" alone had 23 bids.

NBC had a total of 96 Emmy nominations, followed by CBS with 91 and cable's Home Box Office with 50. ABC had 42 bids, while Fox Broadcasting Co. had 19.

Jason Alexander of "Seinfeld" and Cybill Shepherd of "Cybill" hosted the show telecast by Fox Broadcasting Co.

"The Tonight Show With Jay Leno" won its first Emmy, for best variety, music or comedy series. The show was blanked in its previous seven nominations over the last three years, but has been gaining on — and often surpassing — "Late Show With David Letterman," last year's winner.

"As my dad would say, fight the good fight," Leno said.

HBO's "Barbra Streisand: The Concert" won best individual performance in a variety or music program and best variety, music or comedy special. The star and co-producer noted it had been 30 years since her last Emmy.

This one, she said, was more significant because of "so many doubts that I had over so many years of not performing. You know, would I, I mean, could I do it? Would my voice be there? Would the people still pay to see me?"

But ultimately he had believed his diaries would not sink him because they referred only to his sexual successes, not the times he was a "rejected suitor," his gentlemanly phrase for actions women said included pinning them up against a wall and grabbing their crotches.

Trouble came at him after the 1992 election when The Washington Post reported allegations by 10 women that Packwood had made unwelcome sexual advances toward them. He had been presented with the allegations before but attacked the women's credibility and the charges were not immediately reported.

But his alteration of the diaries in an alleged attempt to deceive the committee leaves Packwood vulnerable to prosecution. If the Justice Department brings charges, conviction could lead to prison.

we've got so much stuff, we had to get a trailer. We come prepared."

The group said they even practice tailgating to make sure everything runs smoothly.

"Last weekend, we did a dry run-through to practice tailgating," Steve Burns, one of the tailgaters, said.

Karen Anderson, a member of the professional tailgating group and aunt of Hawkeye center Casey Wiegmann, said the practice included a lot of drinking.

"There was nothing dry about it — we were all drinking," she said. "It was more of a wet run-through."

The tailgaters said they look forward to their visits to Iowa City all year long.

"We live for the Hawks," Stock said. "It's our annual vacation, party and fun."

No matter the outcome of the game, the tailgaters said they celebrate afterward.

"After every game, we drink two bottles of champagne," Stock said. "It doesn't matter if the Hawks win or lose. We're just happy to be here."

UI students also took part in tailgating festivities to cheer for the Hawkeyes, enjoy time with their friends and drink beer.

Many UI students made a stop at the Magic Bus, a Melrose Avenue tailgating tradition, before the game.

UI senior Brice Ballard said the Magic Bus was on his list of tailgating parties to hit all season.

"This is the second time I've been to the Magic Bus," he said. "Last year, I was too drunk to know what was going on. This year, my friends and I are coming every game."

Brian Decoster, owner of the Magic Bus, said Saturday's weather provided a great party.

"This is great weather," he said. "It's a beautiful day for a football game. We need a bigger yard, though."

Decoster will raffle away his Magic Bus at the end of the season before replacing it with a new bus. He said part of the proceeds from the $5 raffle tickets will go to the Children's Miracle Network.

UI senior Dan Adams said he is looking forward to the big giveaway of the Magic Bus after the Iowa-Minnesota game this season.

"I want to be the one to drive the Magic Bus around," he said.

As seniors who have one last football season to enjoy, Ballard and Adams said they plan on tailgating before every game this season.

"It's our final run," Ballard said. "We're going to hit it big every game."

The Magic Bus wasn't the only Melrose Avenue landmark bringing partygoers to the area.

The parking lot behind Slater Residence Hall was also the tailgating site for some Northern Iowa Panthers fans, who said they love to tailgate in Iowa City.

Mark Rosacker, a UNI alumni, said he and his friends slept overnight in Slater's parking lot to ensure a good spot.

The lot also provided many students with a place to tailgate and guzzle beer.

UI seniors Joanna Upton and Sally McLaughlin sat behind Slater with some of their friends "to drink all day."

"We don't even go to the game," Upton said. "We come to tailgate and hang out with our friends. It's even better than the bars because there's no cover charge."

UI sophomore Shawn Jones and his friends from the sixth floor of Mayflower Residence Hall tailgated behind Slater before the game, as well.

"We tailgate as much as possible," Jones said, while drinking a Bud Light. "If there's a game and there's beer, I'm there."

SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS WEEK

Rape Victim Advocacy Program • 24 Hour Rape Crisis Line: (319)335-6000

One in three women will be sexually assaulted in her lifetime and one in six men will be sexually assaulted in his lifetime, which means that all of us probably know someone who is a survivor. However, many people say they do not know how to respond when a friend or loved one has been the victim of a sexual assault. It is sometimes hard to find the right words to express caring and empathy. Throughout the week, we will offer information about what is helpful to say to a survivor of sexual assault. Think of it as basic first aid. Sexual assault survivors are often isolated following the assault, and need to know that you care.

DO Communicate these points to survivors:

I'm glad you survived and You did the best you could. If they feel guilty for not fighting back, tell them that no matter what they did when they were assaulted, that was what they needed to do to survive the assault. Fear often paralyzes people. If they submitted to an assault, this does not make them a willing participant.

It's not your fault. Tell them over and over again that you do not believe it was their fault. No one asks or deserves to be sexually assaulted.

DO be a good listener. Be around to just sit and talk about nothing. Eat meals together. Study together. It's important to allow them to talk about the assault but only if they want to.

If you would like to talk with someone confidentially about sexual abuse that either you or someone you know has experienced, please call the Rape Crisis Line. You can talk immediately on the phone with an advocate 24 hours a day. To schedule a counseling appointment, call the RVAP office at 335-6001.

U.S. Navy ship fires on Serb missile sites

Associated Press

SPLIT, Croatia — A U.S. warship in the Adriatic Sea fired 13 Tomahawk cruise missiles at Bosnian Serb anti-aircraft missile bases in northwestern Bosnia on Sunday, NATO and U.S. military officials said.

The effect of the missiles fired by the cruiser USS Normandy wasn't immediately known, said NATO spokesman Maj. Panagiotis Theodorakidis.

It was the first use of cruise missiles in NATO's campaign to force the Bosnian Serb rebels to pull their artillery and other heavy weapons out of range of Sarajevo, and to ease their pressure on other U.N. "safe areas" such as Tuzla.

The Tomahawks were fired at Serb surface-to-air missile sites in the Banja Luka area, Navy spokesman Lt. Conrad Chun said in Washington.

Tomahawks were last used in 1993, when the Navy fired 26 missiles at Baghdad, Iraq.

Also Sunday, Bosnian Serbs shelled the U.N.-controlled Tuzla airport and NATO retaliated swiftly with air strikes, destroying rebel positions near the northeastern city.

In an attempt to end the 12-day standoff with the Serbs, President Jacques Chirac of France, speaking before the missile attack, said late Sunday he had demanded the NATO raids stop for several hours to allow for a possible agreement on the withdrawal of Serb guns. He did not say when the suspension would take effect.

Despite morning cloud cover, NATO warplanes also carried out air strikes Sunday in other parts of Bosnia, said alliance spokesman Franco Veltri in Naples, Italy.

Another NATO spokesman, Capt. Jim Mitchell, said cruise missiles were used Sunday because of their accuracy and because they can be used in all types of weather. He said their use also reduced the risk to NATO pilots flying over Bosnia.

A NATO plane, believed to be an unmanned U.N. surveillance plane, came under sustained fire from Bosnian Serb anti-aircraft guns firing from Poljine, northeast of Sarajevo, said Maj. Guy Vinet, a U.N.

spokesman. It was not hit.

Mitchell said the decision to use the missiles did not represent a change in the mission being carried out by NATO and the United Nations, nor in the targets being attacked.

He said the U.S. ships were attacking Bosnian Serb "air defense assets" in northwest Bosnia.

Earlier Sunday, the Belgrade-based news agency Tanjug quoted Bosnian Serb officials as saying NATO warplanes had been in action several times overnight in the wider region of Banja Luka in northwestern Bosnia.

Since Aug. 30, NATO has carried out heavy attacks against a broad array of Serb targets across Bosnia, including ammunition depots and command and communication centers.

NATO and the United Nations have been trying to force Bosnian Serbs to withdraw their heavy weapons from the 12 1/2-mile exclusion zone around Sarajevo.

Bosnian Serb commander Gen. Ratko Mladic reportedly said Saturday that he would not pull back the guns ringing the capital. He argued it would allow Bosnian government forces to move in.

Following a telephone conversation with Chirac, Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic, under apparent Western pressure, gave guarantees that his troops would not launch an offensive in the Sarajevo region if the Serbs withdrew their heavy weapons.

Chirac said the NATO air strikes would continue if the Serbs refuse to bow to demands.

"We will not weaken vis-à-vis the Bosnian Serbs who are the aggressors," he said.

Igor Ivanov, Russia's first deputy foreign minister, was quoted by Moscow's ITAR-Tass news agency as saying Mladic had no plans to pull back his weapons.

Ivanov, who met with the Bosnian Serb commander Saturday in Belgrade, the Serbian capital, said Mladic told him the weapons were needed to defend Bosnian Serb civilians.

It also was likely the Serbs want to keep the guns in place to underline their claim to part of Sarajevo in any eventual peace settlement.

According to ITAR-Tass, Ivanov said Mladic was ready for "concessions needed for normalization in Bosnia" if NATO halts its air strikes.

Mladic reportedly reiterated he would then ensure free passage of aid and utilities to Sarajevo and would order military operations restricted to self-defense.

Bosnian Serbs began firing artillery at the airport in government-held Tuzla shortly after noon. For at least two hours, the shells came at a rate of one a minute, said Maj. Buster Hows, a spokesman for the U.N. rapid reaction force.

Hows, speaking from Kiseljak west of Sarajevo, said NATO jets retaliated by targeting an artillery position east of Tuzla from which the air base was attacked and a command control bunker steering Serb artillery.

He said the targets were "neutralized," meaning they were destroyed. He said no casualties or damage were reported from the air base.

Bosnian Serb media have claimed between 100 and 200 civilians have been killed since NATO began bombing Serb targets in retaliation for a mortar attack that killed 38 people in Sarajevo's central market.

Studies link teen pregnancy to childhood sexual abuse

Sarah Nordgren
Associated Press

CHICAGO — Stephanie Whitaker was 6 years old when one of her adolescent brothers began sexually abusing her. She hadn't turned 10 when her mother's uncle began doing the same.

At 14, her grandfather pulled her aside and said he was her boyfriend, and he planned to consummate the relationship the following weekend when she was supposed to stay in his home.

Miserable and confused, Stephanie left her home, crossed the street and had sexual relations with a 14-year-old friend. She hoped to get pregnant, believing it would keep abusers away. She did and it did — but only until the birth of her first child, Jeffrey.

"I knew it was going to be a relief period," the soft-spoken, 23-year-old woman recalls. "And that's how Jeffrey came about."

Experts in sexual abuse and teen pregnancy say Whitaker's experience is all too common. An alarmingly high number of girls who become pregnant as teens were sexually abused as youngsters.

A University of Washington study of 535 young women who became pregnant as adolescents, for example, found 66 percent had been sexually abused as children. An Illinois study by Ounce of Prevention, a social service group, found 61 percent of 445 teen mothers reported sexual abuse.

For Whitaker, the abuse was not forced, but secret and coercive. It happened behind closed doors, frequently in her own home.

"I had many perpetrators," said Whitaker, who meets your eye when she speaks. "It started with two of my brothers, my mother's uncle, my mom's dad, two friends of my family."

Deborah Boyer, co-author of the Washington study, said Whitaker fits the profile of teens who were abused prior to pregnancy. For many, the assailant is a family member. Abuse is chronic. Victims often don't realize they can say no.

While pregnant, Whitaker told a counselor her mother's uncle had abused her. Authorities were notified and, although no charges were filed, he never again molested her.

"I didn't want them to press charges," she said. "As long as it stopped, I just wanted it to stop."

During this time, Whitaker's mother said she, too, had been abused as a child. She confessed how guilty she felt over not having better protected her daughter.

Having Jeffrey did not end the unwelcome sexual relations for Whitaker.

At the age of 16, with another baby on the way and a boyfriend she wanted to keep, she was assaulted by a cousin while driving him home from work.

Sexual Harassment

Dear Reader:

Sexual harassment is illegal under federal and state laws. The University of Iowa Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships states that sexual harassment will not be tolerated by the University. The Office of Affirmative Action publishes information about sexual harassment prevention annually in The Daily Iowan to educate members of the University community about the prohibitions against sexual harassment and the limitations on consensual relationships. Please cut out and keep this information for your future reference. Copies of the University of Iowa's Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships, the Sexual Harassment Complaint Procedures, and brochures and posters on sexual harassment prevention are available from the Office of Affirmative Action. Materials will be made available in alternative formats. Questions about the policy, the complaint procedures or educational programs on sexual harassment prevention should be directed to the Office of Affirmative Action, 335-0705 (voice) and 335-0697 (text).

Sincerely,

Susan Mask, Assistant to the President and Director, Office of Affirmative Action

Sexual harassment is illegal. The University of Iowa is committed to maintaining an environment that is free of sexual harassment. In particular, managers and departmental executive officers are responsible for providing and maintaining an environment conducive to work and/or learning. Students, faculty, and staff can help by understanding and working to eliminate sexual harassment.

Anyone can be targeted for sexual harassment, regardless of gender, age, race, or physical characteristics. Both women and men may experience sexual harassment; it can occur among peers or from someone with power over someone else. It can occur across genders between men and women, and between people of the same gender.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA'S POLICY DESCRIPTION

Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- submission is made an express or implied term or condition of employment or status in a class, program, or activity;
- submission to or rejection of the behavior is used to make an employment or educational decision (such as hiring, promotion, or grading a course);
- the conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with a person's work or educational performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment for work or learning.

Sexual harassment may take many forms:

- physical assault
- direct or implied threats that submission to sexual advances will be a condition of employment, work status, promotion, grades, or letters of recommendation
- direct propositions of a sexual nature
- comments of a sexual nature or subtle pressure for sexual activity
- sexually explicit statements, questions, jokes, or anecdotes

- unnecessary touching, patting, hugging, or brushing against a person's body
- remarks of a sexual nature about a person's clothing, body, about sexual activity, or about previous sexual experience
- a pattern of conduct that would discomfort or humiliate a reasonable person.

ABOUT CONSENSUAL RELATIONSHIPS

The University prohibits amorous relationships between faculty (all instructional personnel at the University, including graduate students and instructional staff) and students enrolled in their classes or subject to their supervision. These amorous relationships are prohibited and viewed as unethical even when the relationship appears to be consensual (i.e., both parties have consented). Due to the power imbalance, the degree to which the student's consent is voluntary is questionable.

Such relationships present a conflict of interest for the parties which significantly impacts the learning environment.

Amorous relationships between students and faculty outside the instructional context are discouraged because they also present the potential for conflicts of interest.

IF YOU ARE SEXUALLY HARASSED

Remember you have a right to a work and an educational environment free from sexual harassment. Some things you can do if you are harassed include:

Learn more about your rights and responsibilities: Request copies of the University's sexual harassment policy and complaint procedures, available from the Office of Affirmative Action or any one of the offices listed under Administrative Resources section which follows.

Seek information and support: You may feel a range of emotions from helplessness, to rage, to confusion, to fear. Talking with someone can help you to develop strategies to remedy the situation and lessen isolation you may be feeling.

Explore your informal and formal options:

- Document the incidents.
- Talk with the accused directly or write a letter to the accused. Clearly recount the incidents in question and their impact on you, and demand that the behavior stop. Deliver the letter by certified mail or in person; keep a copy.
- Discuss your experience with a supervisor, the Office of Affirmative Action, or a resource person in an office listed under Administrative Resources. They can further assist you in defining and remedying the situation.
- Contact the Office of Affirmative Action for an informal resolution or a formal investigation of the situation.

WHAT TO DO

- Pay attention to how your words and actions affect others.
- Think about the impact of your actions and words on another person's work/learning environment, performance, and self-esteem.
- Distinguish between behaviors which may be acceptable socially, but which may not be acceptable in the workplace or classroom.
- Stop when someone asks you to discontinue a behavior.

WHAT NOT TO DO

- Do not assume that your peers or supervisors enjoy comments about their appearance, sexually-oriented jokes or comments, being touched, stared at, or propositioned.
- Do not assume that what you consider to be welcome sexual invitations will be welcomed by others.
- Do not instruct co-workers and supervisors to put up with offensive behavior.

See answer on Page 2B.

WEEKEND IN REVIEW

Dolphins & Huskers continued to impress

Random thoughts on this weekend in football ...

I came to two realizations this weekend. 1) Nebraska is going to repeat as national champions this year and 2) The Miami Dolphins have finally gotten it together.

I was never a big Nebraska believer — My '94 vote still goes to Penn State — but the Cornhuskers are simply tearing their opponents up. No, Michigan State is not an Orange Bowl-caliber opponent, but Nebraska made the Spartans look like Iowa State.

Just imagine what Nebraska will make Iowa State look like.

Normally I think of Nebraska as a team that simply gets the job done. But in the first two weeks, the Cornhuskers are showing more offensive firepower than Florida State.

I'll admit it, I'm jumping on the bandwagon.

As for the Dolphins, I'm not quite on the wagon yet. I'll stick by my Browns-in-the-Super Bowl pick, but I can sense I'll be eating that come January.

Miami destroyed the Jets in Week 1 (Big Deal), but really showed what it can do Sunday. I wasn't surprised to see Irving Fryar catch two TD passes or Marino throw like a machine. What did surprise me was the way the Dolphin defense marched onto the Patriots' home turf and made Drew Bledsoe look like a guy leading an offense that could only score three points.

At this point, I'd say Miami's the AFC team to beat.

I can't guarantee that Nebraska will win the national championship, but I can guarantee one thing. Penn State won't.

Are the St. Louis Rams really 2-0? Yeah right. Next thing I know, you're going to tell me the New York Giants are 0-2.

I'll admit that my knowledge of the all-time NFL greats is limited. I basically stick with players of my generation when I choose the best ever. My top player — Walter Payton; top receiver — Jerry Rice; quarterback — Joe Montana. So what if they all played in the '80s?

Anyway, I'm getting worse. I have a hard time believing that any quarterback, ever, dominated the game like Steve Young.

What did he do Saturday? Oh, just 331 yards passing, three touchdown tosses and 50 rushing yards. He'll probably do it again next Saturday and the one after that, too.

And he won't stop until February.

I don't know if I would have felt bad for Notre Dame or not had they lost to Purdue Saturday. But I do know one thing — I would've laughed.

I watched two plays of the Illinois-Oregon game. And, yes, I saw Simeon Rice slam a runner for about a five-yard loss. He just grabbed the guy's jersey and whipped him down like a rag doll.

Too bad one guy can't win a ball game, though. Isn't it sad to think that he'd have as many wins with one of the expansion teams if he really was the No. 1 pick in the Coulda' been better, coulda' been worse.

That seems to be the consensus after the Hawkeyes' first test of the 1995 football season — a test they passed by defeating Northern Iowa 34-13 Saturday in front of a sellout crowd at Kinnick Stadium.

Iowa did outgain the inspired Panthers 450 yards to 238, but according to Hawkeye coach Hayden Fry, they were "probably the ugliest 450 yards you've ever seen."

The game could have been better had Iowa won by more than three scores, thrown less than three interceptions or gained more than 21 yards on the ground in the first half. But a win is a win and every game is a learning experience.

"A bad sign when you win? That's not in my vocabulary," Fry said after the game. "We didn't go out to try and score an x-number of points or hold them to an x-number of points. We went out to win and try to play a lot of guys and benefit from the game and hopefully, we wouldn't get anybody hurt."

"That's exactly what happened. I think the score ended up perfect."

Iowa's offensive stars all had their moments, they just didn't seem to click together. Quarterback Matt Sherman excelled in the second quarter, completing eight of 10 passes for 187 yards, a touchdown and no interceptions. In the second half, however, he tossed two interceptions and all five of his pass attempts were incomplete.

Running back Sedrick Shaw ran for 102 yards, all of which came in the second half. Tavian Banks ran for 61 of his 70 yards in the second half as well.

The two areas of Iowa's team that seemed to be fine-tuned all day were the defense and sophomore Tim Dwight.

Dwight, officially the back-up flanker, first got his hands on the ball with 27 seconds to go in the first quarter. Lined up in the backfield, Dwight ran a counter to the

The offense may have had the hype, but the defense stole the show in Iowa's 34-13 victory over Northern Iowa Saturday.

Despite the loss of starting defensive tackle Chris Webb, the Iowa line held UNI to 43 yards rushing and 238 yards in total offense.

"You always lose somebody. You just have to come together and get stronger and stronger," linebacker Vernon Rollins said.

"Losing Webb was a big loss for us, but we've got to just come together."

The Panthers' only offense seemed to be Chris Berg passing to Dedric Ward. The two connected five times, including tosses of 46 and 54 yards, the latter setting up UNI's only touchdown of the game in the fourth quarter.

"I was really happy with the defense. Up until right at the end of the game with the bomb, they held the other team to two field goals," Iowa coach Hayden Fry said. "We had an awful lot of question marks on defense, so I was very happy with how they played."

Linebacker Bobby Diaco led the Hawkeyes with 10 tackles. Rollins and safety Chris Jackson had nine apiece as the Panthers were held to under one yard per rush.

"We just have to work on pass defense a little bit," Rollins said. "Overall run defense was great."

Freshman tackle Jared DeVries led Iowa with 2½ sacks, including a 15-yard tackle for loss on UNI's final scoring drive. Junior defensive end Bill Ennis-Inge added two more.

"I think we did all right, but

Sampras and Graf seize Open titles

Steve Wilstein
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Knuckles bleeding, aces knifing through the whipping wind, Pete Sampras outlasted Andre Agassi to capture a third U.S. Open title Sunday and gain the No. 1 ranking in the esteem of his greatest rival, if not the rankings themselves.

Sampras spilled blood diving for a volley, rocked Agassi with 24 aces, and when they engaged in the most crucial baseline rallies beat the defending champion at his own game to win 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, two months after taking his third straight Wimbledon.

Right down to the end, when Sampras served his 142nd ace of the tournament at 120 mph, he put on brilliant show of his power, control and resilience under pressure that he dedicated to his absent and ailing coach, Tim Gullikson.

"That's for you, Timmy," Sampras said to the television camera, knowing Gullikson was watching at home in suburban Chicago. "Wish you were here."

One point, a magnificent rally of 22 shots that sent them both scurrying from side to side, made all the difference in the first set and, ultimately, the match.

A backhand crosscourt by Sampras ended that rally, broke Agassi and closed a set in which Agassi had yielded only two points in his first four service games.

"That's one of the best points I've ever seen in my life," Paul Annacone, Sampras' interim coach, said. "I watched it in awe, as many of the people here did."

It was a game that showed both the best of Sampras and the worst of Agassi, with a little luck thrown in. Sampras reached his first break point with a forehand return that clipped the net cord and trickled over out of Agassi's reach. Agassi's service winner brought it back to deuce, but he went to break-point again when he clubbed an easy overhead 10 feet long.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Texas downs Milwaukee for second straight

MILWAUKEE — Kenny Rogers allowed six hits in 8 1/3 innings as the Texas Rangers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 5-2 to win consecutive games for the first time since Aug. 21.

Three Milwaukee errors led to two runs and sent the Brewers to their 11th loss in 13 games since pulling within one-half game of the AL wild-card lead on Aug. 27. They began the day 3 1/2 games behind Seattle.

Indians 5, Orioles 3

CLEVELAND — Sandy Alomar hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning, extending Cleveland's league-high home winning streak to 14 games.

It was the Indians' 43rd comeback victory, the 26th in their last at-bat and their sixth overall.

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 2, 11 innings
TORONTO — Detroit scored three unearned runs in the 11th inning on a bunt single, two errors, three walks and a wild pitch.

Cecil Fielder led off with a chopper to third that Alex Gonzalez could not field. A walk and a bunt single loaded the bases before Phil Nevin hit a grounder off the body of shortstop Tomas Perez.

Yankees 9, Red Sox 3

NEW YORK — Darryl Strawberry, Bernie Williams and Ruben Sierra drove in two runs each to lift the New York Yankees to a victory over Boston, completing a three-game sweep of the Red Sox.

Twins 9, Angels 8, 10 innings
ANAHEIM, Calif. — Rich Becker scored on third baseman Spike Owen's throwing error with two outs in the top of the 10th inning of the game that lasted 4 hours and 25 minutes.

Becker was hit by Mark Holzem's pitch to start the 10th and went to second on Matt Walbeck's groundout.

One out later, Matt Lawton grounded to third. Becker avoided Owen's tag and scored the go-ahead run when Owen's throw to first was in the dirt.

Mariners 5, Royals 4
SEATTLE — Joey Cora's RBI double in the eighth inning completed Seattle's three-game sweep of fellow AL wild-card contenders.

White Sox 5, Athletics 3
OAKLAND, Calif. — Chicago starter Alex Fernandez won his fifth straight decision and beat Oakland for the third time this season.

Rockies 5, Reds 4

DENVER — Larry Walker bunted for a base hit, scoring Eric Young with the go-ahead run in the seventh inning, as the Colorado Rockies beat the Cincinnati Reds.

The Rockies, posting their fourth straight victory and sweeping the three-game series, remained less than one percentage point ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West race.

Dodgers 5, Pirates 4

PITTSBURGH — Former replacement player Mike Busch hit a game-tying pinch-homer in the seventh, and pinch-hitter Chris Gwynn hit an RBI single an inning later.

Astros 5, Phillies 4
PHILADELPHIA — Craig Biggio scored twice and broke a 4-4 tie with a sixth-inning sacrifice fly, his career-high 65th RBI.

Doug Drabek (9-8) shut out the Phillies after allowing four runs on four hits in the first inning.

Drabek wound up giving up seven hits in seven innings. Mike Henneman, who got the loss Saturday, pitched the ninth for his fourth save.

Giants 8, Cubs 7

CHICAGO — Deion Sanders, showing that he's a pretty good baseball player, too, tied his career high with four hits as San Francisco completed a three-game sweep.

William VanLandingham (6-3) allowed four hits and one earned run in five innings before leaving with a strained groin muscle. The Giants have won nine of 12 to keep alive their slim postseason hopes.

Mets 6, Expos 2

MONTREAL — Carl Everett and Jeff Kent hit consecutive home runs in a five-run third as New York beat Montreal for the third consecutive day.

Rookie Jason Irsinghausen (6-2) allowed eight hits, struck out six and walked none in winning his fourth straight decision dating back to Aug. 20.

Marlins 5, Braves 4

MIAMI — The Florida Marlins scored an unearned run to tie the game in the ninth inning, and Alex Arias hit a bases-loaded single with one out in the 11th for a victory over the Atlanta Braves.

The Braves' magic number for clinching their fourth division title since 1991 remained at two.

U.S. OPEN

Agassi thought he'd even it up again when he got Sampras running desperately in a baseline duel. Instead, it was Sampras who put away that last shot of the longest rally, and Agassi who could only stare at it and hang his head.

"It's probably one of the best points I've ever been part of," Sampras said. "That was a huge point. I certainly hope it turns up on the play of the day."

"He's so quick. I felt I could keep him moving, keep him moving. I could come in on a short shot. But I never really thought I had a winner until and I hit that last backhand."

For Agassi, that point made him realize there was little he was going to get away with on this day.

"Pete knows how to seize opportunities," Agassi said. "I ran him from 12 corners. He had to work at the end of the first quarter. That was a cool-looking play.

And, coincidentally, the first interesting play led to the first score.

No offense. I'll admit I'm no offensive coordinator. But, as a fan, with this offense, the exciting plays are my favorites.

— Iowa should do better offensively next weekend against Iowa State, but the defensive players will have their work cut out for them if they want to perform as well as they did Saturday.

It will be interesting to see if

Iowa State running back Troy Davis is able to equal his 180-yard rushing performance from Saturday's loss to Texas Christian.

Davis, in two games this season, has already compiled 471 yards on the ground.

for it, but he got it. And to think, the wind was against him there."

Agassi, who came in with a 26-match winning streak, scrambled back in the third set, capitalizing on Sampras' suddenly more erratic serves and breaking him for the first time in the third game. When Agassi broke Sampras again to close the set, it seemed for a few moments he might finally wear him down, push him all the way to a fifth and raise this final to the level of the hype that preceded it.

Graf spoils Seles' return in finals

NEW YORK — Steffi Graf, keeping her emotions under control until the final point, halted Monica Seles' remarkable comeback today by winning the U.S. Open women's title 7-6 (8-6), 6-3.

After capturing her fourth title on the hardcourts of the National Tennis Center, Graf rushed to the stands and gave a high-five to her coach, Heinz Gunhardt, before returning to hug her opponent.

This, her 18th Grand Slam tournament singles title, had to be her most emotional. It came only a month after her father, Peter, was jailed on tax evasion charges.

"It sure feels incredible now," Graf said after the 1-hour, 52-minute battle.

And it was a battle.

Seles, who returned to the sport only last month following a 28-month layoff caused when she was stabbed by a Graf fanatic in Hamburg, Germany, matched Graf stroke-for-stroke, power-for-power as both pounded the ball deep into the corners.

But Graf has had more on her mind than just tennis recently. Because of an investigation into her involvement, she has not been allowed to even speak with her father since he was placed in prison, she has had chronic back pain from a bone spur and she has suffered from an inflamed bone in her left foot.

None of that mattered today as she added the U.S. Open title to her 1995 trophy case that already included crowns from Wimbledon and the French Open.

Seles thought she had won the first set when, at 6-5 in the tiebreak, she hit a serve down the middle. Seles threw her hands up in triumph and began to walk to her chair when she realized the serve had been called wide.

More than likely shaken by the turn of events, Seles lost the next three points and the opening set.

But then Seles pulled off something spectacular. She pulled even with a love set, the first time Graf had failed to win a game in a set since the 1993 Canadian Open final, in which she beat Jennifer Capriati 6-1, 0-6, 6-3.

left side and darted nine yards into the end zone, giving the Hawkeyes' their first score and a 7-3 advantage.

In the second quarter, Iowa went on a tear, scoring three touchdowns. Less than 45 seconds after Dwight's score, cornerback Plez Atkins scampered in 31 yards for a touchdown after intercepting UNI quarterback Chris Berg.

Iowa fullback Rodney Filer boosted the score to 21-3 less than four minutes later when he capped off a six-play, 79-yard drive with a one-yard TD run.

The final touchdown of the half came when Sherman hooked up with Dwight at the 5:35 mark on a 22-yard pass. Dwight broke one tackle before diving in for the score.

"What can you say about Tim Dwight? We called on him time after time in key situations and I think he produced every time," Fry said.

Dwight caught three passes for 88 yards and carried the ball three times for 38. And his 52-yard punt return in the fourth quarter set up Iowa's only second-half score — a one-yard run by Shaw.

Dwight's first touchdown may have been the catalyst for Iowa's scoring surge, but it was the defense that held the Hawkeyes together while the Panthers gained the early advantage.

Iowa's first three drives stalled, two ending in a punt and one in a Sherman interception. But the only points the Panthers were able to put on the board came on a field goal following a blocked punt that put UNI in excellent field position.

The Panthers' Dedric Ward, who caught six passes for 175 yards, blocked the Nick Gallery kick and returned it to the Iowa 25-yard line. The Hawkeye defense stiffened, though, and didn't allow a first down. Linebacker Bobby Diaco came up with the key tackle, stopping James Porter for a two-yard loss on 2nd-and-4.

The Panthers kicked a 38-yard field goal and didn't score again until the second half.

"Thank God for our defense because I think they saved the day today," Sherman said.

Sherman said he discovered right away that the Panther defense came to play. Iowa lost a total of five yards in its first two possessions.

"It shocked me because I really thought we could overpower them right away," he said. "But they were ready to go, they were pumped, and that's all it takes."

Fry wasn't surprised to see UNI's eight-man front at the start of the game.

"They didn't do anything we didn't anticipate. But you don't know when they're going to do it," Fry said. "I think Terry had a good game plan because the only way they could have won is to stunt and blitz and try to make us audibilize and things of that nature. It worked for a while."

The Panthers scored their only touchdown with 4:27 left in the game. Ward out-jumped Iowa's Ed Gibson for a 30-yard touchdown toss.

A week of game films and practices should help Iowa prepare for its next test — a road trip to Iowa State Saturday. According to Sherman, the Hawkeyes are ready to dive into preparations.

"This proved to us that we're not that good of an offensive football team right now," Sherman said. "We have a lot of work to do and we have a long way to go."

"I guarantee you, nobody on the offensive side of the ball is satisfied right now."

Jonathan Meester/The Daily Iowan

UNI's Dedric Ward makes a leaping grab over Iowa defender Ed Gibson Saturday for the Panthers' only touchdown — a 30-yard pass from quarterback Chris Berg in the fourth quarter. Ward caught five passes for 175 yards.

we've got a lot to learn," DeVries said.

"We're young and we need to improve a whole lot more if we're going to win some big games."

Ennis-Inge, who led the team with three tackles-for-loss, thought the overall performance was just average.

"I would probably have to say (our overall grade was a) 'C' because they scored on us," Ennis-Inge said.

"No matter what happens, they scored on us. We're on the defense. We don't want to be scored on. That's our motivation."

UNI jumped to a 3-0 lead, but the Hawkeyes never felt they weren't in control of the game defensively.

"Once the defense got through the crowd noise and got our checks going, we started rolling," Jackson said.

With the offense slow to get started, the defense just did all it could to keep Iowa in the contest.

"We stayed consistent and gave the opportunity for the offense to get the ball really quick," Ennis-Inge said.

For game notes, see tomorrow's DI

Saturday marked the much-awaited debut of the linebacker Rollins.

Rollins sat out last season for academic reasons, but earned a starting role this year.

Rollins didn't disappoint during his debut. The redshirt freshman recorded nine tackles, including six unassisted stops and one tackle-for-loss.

"It felt great. With all the fan support, I had fun and I was hyped up," Rollins said.

"I was really up for the game. I just wish that the fans would come out every game like that. Maybe we'll win every one at Kinnick Stadium."

NFL ROUNDPUP

Bengals and Rams at 2-0?

Richard Rosenblatt
Associated Press

So what if the NFL season is only two weeks old — the Cincinnati Bengals and St. Louis Rams are undefeated.

The Bengals won only three times a year ago, while the Rams had all of four victories in their final season in Anaheim, Calif.

Jeff Blake threw two touchdown passes and the Bengals' perennially weak defense had seven sacks in beating the Jacksonville Jaguars 24-17 on Sunday.

The Bengals, the NFL's worst team the past two seasons, survived a last-minute scare at home to improve to 2-0 for the first time since 1993.

"There's no champagne popping in here or nothing like that," linebacker Steve Tovar said. "Lord knows we made enough mistakes. We've got to correct those."

At St. Louis, Chris Miller threw a 33-yard TD pass to Isaac Bruce and Todd Lyght returned an interception 29 yards for a score and the defense had five sacks as the Rams beat New Orleans 17-13 in their new home debut.

"Everything was poetry," said Rams owner Georgia Frontiere after the Rams won their second straight for the first time since 1991. "Even better."

Added new coach Rich Brooks: "This exorcises a lot of skeletons out of the Rams' closet. We talked about that all week long."

The Bengals, meanwhile, played before a crowd of 48,318, and clinched the game on Dan Wilkinson's fourth-down sack at the Bengals' 41 with 11 seconds left. Blake was 20 of 29 for 247 yards, including a 68-yard score to Pickens that put the Bengals ahead 24-10 with 13:16 left.

Dolphins 20, Patriots 3

At Foxboro, Mass., Irving Fryar caught two TD passes — one from Dan Marino, the other from Terry Kirby — and Miami forced three turnovers in beating New England for the 12th time in 13 games. Fryar caught a 67-yard pass from Marino for a 10-0 lead with 2:40 left in the first quarter. Marino was 14 of 20 for 193 yards and one interception, while Bledsoe was 25 of 51 for 267 yards and two interceptions.

Raiders 20, Redskins 8

At Washington, Jeff Hostetler (22 of 29 for 205 yards and 2 TDs) led conservative Oakland to its second straight win. Hostetler had second-half scoring passes of 1 yard to Andrew Glover and 8 yards to Derrick Fenner.

Gus Frerotte, starting in place of the injured Heath Shuler, was 20 of 34 for 272 yards and one interception.

Steelers 34, Oilers 17

At Houston, Andre Hastings returned the game's first punt 72 yards for a TD and Carnell Lake added a 32-yard interception return for a score as Pittsburgh moved to 2-0. Mike Tomczak was 13 of 24 for 123 yards and a TD. Chris Chandler was 15 of 30 for 176 yards for the Oilers.

49ers 41, Falcons 10

At San Francisco, Jerry Rice caught two TD passes and had 11 receptions for 167 yards and Tim McDonald returned an interception 13 yards for another score. The 49ers lost free agent Deion Sanders to Dallas on Saturday, but McDonald, with two TDs on interceptions, appears ready to make up for his absence.

Steve Young was 27 of 40 for 331 yards and three TDs. Rice, with 50 games in which he has 100 or more receiving yards, tied Don Maynard's NFL record.

Cowboys 31, Broncos 21

At Irving, Texas, Deion Sanders wasn't around, but Troy Aikman and Emmitt Smith were all Dallas needed. Aikman accounted for three TDs and Smith rushed for 114 yards and a TD. John Elway, 11 of 24 for 152 yards, had two TD passes. Aikman was 18 of 31 for 196 yards.

Colts 27, Jets 24, OT

At East Rutherford, N.J., the Jets blew a 21-point lead and Mike Cofer kicked a 52-yard field goal 4:27 into OT to lift Indianapolis. Backup Jim Harbaugh replaced Craig Erickson and rallied the Colts by hitting 11 of 16 for 123 yards, including a 24-yard hookup with Sean Dawkins on third down in OT.

Chargers 14, Seahawks 10

At San Diego, Stan Humphries threw a 15-yard TD pass to Ronnie Harmon with 13:41 left and Natrone Means had 115 yards as the AFC champions barely beat Seattle.

Humphries was 23 of 35 for 260 yards, while Tony Martin had a career-best 13 catches for 163 yards. Rick Mirer was 13 of 29 passing for 127 yards.

Vikings 20, Lions 10

At Minneapolis, Fuad Reveiz kicked two short field goals to set an NFL record with 30 in a row and Minnesota smothered Barry Sanders (13 carries, 35 yards). Robert Smith led the Vikings with 111 yards and a TD on 20 carries, while Warren Moon hooked up with Qadry Ismail on an 85-yard scoring play with 4:40 left.

Bills 31, Panthers 9

At Orchard Park, N.Y., Jim Kelly completed just four passes, but still led Buffalo over Carolina and four former teammates, including Frank Reich. Kelly was 4 of 21 for 176 yards and three interceptions, but hit Russell Copeland with a 77-yard scoring pass to start a four-TD third quarter after Carolina had a 9-0 lead.

Reich was 6 of 21 for 44 yards and one interception. The last time teams combined for just 10 completions was in 1982, when Buffalo beat Baltimore 20-0.

Chiefs 20, Giants 17, OT

At Kansas City, Mo., Steve Bono rallied Kansas City with a 14-point fourth quarter and Lin Elliott kicked a 23-yard field goal with 7:11 gone in OT.

After the Giants took a 17-3 lead on an 87-yard fumble return by Keith Hamilton and a subsequent endzone recovery for a score by Tito Wooten, Marcus Allen scored from a yard out and Bono hit Dana Hughes with a 3-yard score with 1:25 left.

Browns 22, Buccaneers 6

At Cleveland, Vinny Testaverde, facing his former team for the first time in the regular season, threw for 256 yards and two TDs for the Browns, who led 19-0 at halftime. The Browns had seven sacks, while the Bucs Trent Dilfer was 20 of 36

Nebraska loses star tailback

Associated Press

LINCOLN, Neb. — Lawrence Phillips, the star Nebraska running back who scored four touchdowns Saturday, was arrested Sunday night for allegedly beating his ex-girlfriend and was thrown off the football team.

"We will do everything we can to help him get his life back together, but he is dismissed from the football team effective immediately," coach Tom Osborne said.

Phillips allegedly attacked the woman early Sunday morning at a Lincoln apartment. The incident was reported at about 4:45 a.m., Lt. Kent Woodhead said. The player surrendered to police at about 8:15 p.m. and was released about 45 minutes later on 10 percent of a $1,000 bond, or $100.

Woodhead said Phillips allegedly hit the woman inside and outside her apartment. The woman was not hospitalized or seriously injured.

Phillips ran for 206 yards and four touchdowns in Saturday's 50-10 win over Michigan State and piled up 153 yards and three touchdowns in No. 2 Nebraska's 64-21 rout of Oklahoma State in the Huskers' opener.

Penn St. 24, Texas Tech 23

At State College, Pa., Brett Conway kicked a 39-yard field goal with four seconds remaining in Penn State's season opener. Conway missed two earlier field goal attempts as Texas Tech opened a 20-7 halftime lead with the help of three Penn State fumbles.

Tennessee 30, Georgia 27

Jeff Hall's 34-yard field goal with 10 seconds left capped a 48-yard drive against the visiting Bulldogs (1-1, 1-1 SEC) in a game featuring 934 yards of offense. Tennessee (2-0, 1-0) began the winning drive at its 36 after Georgia's Dax Langley missed a 53-yard field goal try.

Michigan 24, Memphis 7

Tim Biakabutuka rushed for 143 yards and two TDs, and visiting Memphis was held to 96 yards. Michigan (3-0) is off to its best start since opening 9-0 in 1986.

Oregon 34, Illinois 31

Strong safety Jaiya Figueras made a sack and a fumble recovery in the end zone with 6:25 left in coach Mike Bellotti's home debut. Figueras replaced Dante Lewis after an injury late in the third quarter, when the Ducks trailed by 14 points.

Notre Dame 35, Purdue 28

Randy Kinder rushed 52 yards for the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter to give coach Lou Holtz his 200th college victory and make him the 15th coach to reach that milestone.

Freshman paces cross country opener in Peoria

Unlike his Big Ten Conference counterparts who ran veterans and looked to win the Bradley Invitational Friday night, Iowa coach Larry Wiecek ran a young group in Peoria, Ill., to get a look at the type of contributions his freshmen and sophomores would make on this season's cross country team.

However, it was Iowa freshman Stetson Steele, who was first of the 182-man field to cross the finish line. Steele set the course record at Bradley by ten seconds with his time of 24:47.

"Stetson ran a tremendous race. He was well prepared and looked terrific in practice, but I'd be less than honest if I told you I thought he would win," Wiecek said.

Steele stayed in the pack behind the leaders for a majority of the race and didn't take the lead until the final sprint.

"I let the leaders do the work until the end when I made my final move," Steele said.

As a team, the Hawkeyes finished 9-7 in dual meet action. Redshirt freshmen Chad Schwitter and Steve Kurth paced the team with times of 25:48 and 25:59, respectively, good for 30th and 38th place.

"I was very pleased with the performance of Chad and Steve. It was a very positive weekend for them and our other freshmen and sophomores who now have a race to build upon," Wiecek said.

Men's golf upset by Drake at Big Four

Some things just aren't meant to be.

The Iowa men's golf team came up short Saturday and Sunday in its quest to win the Big Four Invitational — falling to an intrastate rival for the second straight season.

The Hawkeyes stormed out to an early lead after 18 holes, but failed to hold on after shooting a dismal ten-over par for the final nine holes. Drake won the competition with a score of 448. Iowa and Northern Iowa tied for second place with 451. Iowa State finished fourth with 452.

Iowa Coach Terry Anderson said it was very similar to last year's Big Four Invitational, where Iowa State passed Iowa on the final nine holes to capture an upset victory at Finkbine Golf Course.

"We had one of those days where things weren't going on our way," Anderson said.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Volleyball loses big at Hawaii

It was a blue Hawaii weekend for the Iowa volleyball team.

The No. 24 Hawkeyes finished fourth at the Aston's Emma Wahine Volleyball Challenge in Honolulu, going 0-3 in tournament play.

After winning its first three games last weekend, Iowa was thoroughly dominated in Hawaii.

Iowa was upset by Idaho State Saturday, and were then dominated by No. 29 Loyola Marymount 15-8, 15-9, 15-6. The Hawkeyes' offense was ineffective against LMU. Iowa finished with a .040 hitting percentage compared to LMU's .242.

Junior Jennifer Webb was one of the few bright spots Saturday as she led the Hawkeyes with 11 kills and 10 digs.

Junior Katy Fawbush led Iowa with 26 assists, but was limited to just one kill.

Sunday's match against No. 3 host Hawaii was more of the same for the Hawkeyes. Hawaii routed Iowa 15-6, 15-7, 15-2. The Hawkeyes hitting percentage was .032 while Hawaii's was .321.

Webb earned the honor of being named to the All-Tournament Team.

Iowa plays at Kansas Wednesday.

Field Hockey can't get revenge

It was David and Goliath all over again. Except this time, Goliath won.

The Iowa women's field hockey team almost pulled off the upset of the young season Saturday, but the Hawkeyes were clipped by No. 1 North Carolina, 4-3.

Iowa rebounded Sunday, destroying LaSalle 6-0 to take third place in the Temple Invitational. Hawkeye coach Beth Beglin said she was satisfied with her team's effort the whole weekend.

"I'm really pleased with the effort we gave. We can definitely build off what we've learned this weekend," Beglin said.

Iowa came into Saturday's game fresh off a 1-0 shutout of Boston University. But the Tar Heels drew first blood as UNC's Meredith Lawrence scored with 18:35 left in the first half. The Hawkeyes answered when Diane DeMiro scored with 7:04 left in the first half to knot the score at one apiece.

Iowa edged ahead in the second half as Ann Paré picked up her fourth goal of the year with 33:09 left in the contest.

North Carolina came right back when UNC's Nancy Pellgreen scored a goal at 26:40 to even the score, 2-2.

DeMiro's goal with 21:51 left in the game put Iowa back on top 3-2 and it looked like an upset in the making, but UNC's sophomore standout Kate Barber shot down Iowa's hope with a pair of goals to put the Tar Heels up for good.

Hawkeye goal-keeper Lisa Celucci turned in a solid performance with 11 saves.

Infidelity unjaded in 'Love'

Mark Pittillo
The Daily Iowan

Don't let the opening sequence, set to the Black Crowes' cover of Sam Cooke's "Hard to Handle," fool you. Diane Kurys' new film, "Love After Love (Après l'amour)" is a very quiet, reflective — and very French — romantic drama.

Showing in 35 mm film at the Bijou Theatre, located in the Union, tonight and Tuesday night, Kurys' ("Peppermint Soda," "Entre Nous") takes what in America are extremely difficult topics — infidelity and its consequences — and weaves around them a complex array of characters dealing with the passion and pain of a more permissive society.

The film stars Isabelle Huppert ("Madame Bovary," "Heaven's Gate") as Lola, an author of autobiographical novels who is seeing two men, including David (Bernard Giraudeau), her live-in lover. Tom (Hippolyte Girardot), Lola's other flame, is a rock musician who is married and has two children.

Opening and closing with birthday parties for Lola, the film presents a year in the life of these troubled Parisians, a year in which they move from encounter to encounter with a fluidity unheard of in the United States. At the center of it all is Lola, an independent but confused woman who chastises herself for falling for the wrong men but can't seem to break free of their hold over her.

It's hard to tell how Kurys feels about all this unbridled love and sex, but it's hard not to enjoy the exploits of characters this complex. Huppert, in her wonderfully underplayed performance as Lola, and Kurys, through her delicate direction and slow camera movements that seem to caress the actors, expertly guide viewers through this amusement park of unfaithful love.

"Love After Love" 's writer Lola, played by Isabelle Huppert, spends some quality time with part-time lover Tom, played by Hippolyte Girardot.

Bijou explores films by female directors

Jonathan Hansen
The Daily Iowan

"Après l'amour" (Love After Love), directed by Diane Kurys, is one of five films directed by women being screened at the Bijou this fall.

The theme of women directors is worth noting, because filmmaking has been a predominantly male industry since the advent of sound.

Each one of the films showing this semester, however, was chosen according to its individual merit, not simply the sex of the filmmaker.

Two short films directed by Su Friedrich, "Damned if You Don't" and "Sink or Swim," have already been shown this semester, bringing a good response to the theme so far.

"(The Su Friedrich films) did really well, which is tremendously exciting because it was a somewhat experimental film," Sally Shacto, co-director of the Bijou Theater, located in the Union, said.

Included in these five films is the popular title which was released just this year, "The Incredibly True Adventures of Two Girls in Love," directed by Maria Maggenti, which will be showing in November. Also showing is "Priest," directed by Antonio Bird (Drew Barrymore's director in "Mad Love"), in October and "Martha and Ethel," directed by Jyll Johnstone and co-produced by Barbara Ettinger, in November.

"We're a good alternative to the cinemas downtown. We're cheap and we show what they don't show," Shacto said.

'Large Sizes' treats crowd to familiar groove

Sam Paxton
The Daily Iowan

Cedar Falls natives House Of Large Sizes rocked a capacity crowd at Gabe's Saturday night, proving the band has lost nothing over the years.

Probably the most consistently successful live act in Iowa City for the past several years, House Of Large Sizes has been a mainstay at Gabe's, 330 E. Washington St., since the band's inception in September 1986.

"A friend of ours said our music is a succinct dadist approach to contemporary power trio dynamics," singer-guitarist Dave Deibler said.

"Basically, that means we're a rock 'n' roll band — a power trio."

The band, consisting of Deibler, bassist Barb Schilf and drummer Mark Munn, just started recording demos for a new album, which members hope will be completed by the first part of next year. In the meantime, the band has two 7-inch singles coming out this fall. One will be released on Idol Records out of Chicago, and the other on Faye Records from Columbia, Mo.

As for receiving national exposure, "Entertainment Tonight" has been using music from the band's debut, My Ass-Kicking Life, as background music on the show. According to Deibler, the song "Mean and Hateful" backed a story about disgraced skater Tonya Harding. "I've tried to watch the show twice, but I can't make it through an entire episode. I have to turn it off after 10 minutes," Deibler said.

The show was, as usual, satisfying. Deibler jammed, Schilf grooved, Munn held it all together and the crowd was nuts. It was a very typical scene, which is not surprising since Deibler said returning to Iowa City is always a treat.

"Iowa City was the first place we played and did really well," Deibler said. "So this is like home. It is a very special place to play."
