Expert: Bloody gloves are O.J.'s

Prosecution witness claims he is "100 percent sure"

Linda Denitch
Associated Press

LA JOLLA, Calif. - With a new jury problem arising, an expert gave the defendant new financial knowledge regarding O.J. Simpson's bloody gloves.

Sunday's testimony was marred by charges that defense attorneys have done little to present the prosecution's case.

The witness, who has been linked to O.J. Simpson's financial problems, was questioned about her role in the handling of Simpson's finances and how she handled the financial problems that led to his arrest.

She explained that she was hired by O.J. Simpson's financial advisor and that she had handled the financial problems that led to his arrest.

Defendant's lawyers claim that the witness was biased and should not have been allowed to testify.

The prosecution's case is currently in the hands of the jury, who is expected to decide whether O.J. Simpson is guilty of the charges brought against him.

The case has been pending for several years and has been the subject of intense media coverage.

Prosecutors claim that O.J. Simpson is guilty of murder and attempted murder in the deaths of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ron Goldman.

The trial has been marked by controversy, with defense attorneys arguing that the prosecution's evidence is weak and that their client is innocent.

The case is expected to conclude in the coming weeks, with a verdict expected later in the year.

Eulogy touches Garofalos

Sarah Lanck
The Daily Iowan

Friends and family gathered Tuesday in Elgin, Ill., for the funeral of Matthew Garofalo, who was a 17-year-old University of Iowa student who died Friday at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house.

Mike Kanis, who attended high school with Matthew, and the father of the occasion, said the family was "very grateful for the support we have received from our friends and family." He also expressed his appreciation for the "thoughtful words and expressions of support from the community at large." He said Matthew was "a true gentleman and a true friend." 宝儿, Larry

In an effort to keep your love life from getting stale or just provide some laughter at another couple's expense, the Daily Iowan will debut a new dating game one week from today.

Questions like "Which would you rather have, a good book, a fine bottle of wine or a hot, local partner?" will be used. This is a highly unscientific method, but it is sure to elicit some interesting answers.

Questions will be based on the Daily Iowan, as well as other publications, and the answers will be posted on the front page of the newspaper the following week.

"I will definitely go see the game. It sounds like fun," said a respondent.

"I can't use curse words," said the respondent.

"I don't think he's interested in me," the respondent joked.

Board seats snagged by Galer and Lynch

Sarah Lyon

The Daily Iowan

Martin Lynch and Ernie Galer were the two available seats on the Iowa City Community School Board, and the board races remained contested in Tuesday night's election.

Lynch won with 55 percent of the vote. Galer won with 45 percent. The board's total, which is recorded in the primary, went 58-42.

Lynch decided to run for a permanent position after serving in the past three months.

Galer, superintendent of Iowa City schools, said she is happy with the win.

IOWA- State troopers have arrested a 32-year-old man accused of driving the wrong way on U.S. 65 in southeast Iowa.

The Iowa Department of Public Safety said the man was arrested in Mahaska County after troopers saw him driving on the wrong side of the road.

The man was cited for driving the wrong way and his vehicle was impounded.

The incident occurred around 8:30 a.m. on June 29.

Troopers said they were able to safely resolve the situation without any injuries to the public or the troopers.

The case is still under investigation and charges will be filed based on evidence gathered during the investigation.

The investigation is ongoing and more information will be released as it becomes available.

The Iowa Department of Public Safety encourages drivers to always follow traffic rules and to report any incidents of dangerous driving to law enforcement.
War rape tops Beijing platform

Associated Press

BRUSSELS — All war’s horrors, rape is especially ugly — and the U.N. women’s conference has met head-on against it. Conference agreed Tuesday that countries where rape is prevalent ought to introduce laws that allow women and girls to report cases, and to accept people who have been raped and victims of sexual violence. The conference also agreed to new international standards to which governments can agree to maintain and enforce laws against rape.

In the last session before final approval of the platform, delegations from 189 countries adopted large portions of the document by consensus. However, there were still some issues that required further discussion. One was the recognition of the role of women in peace negotiations. The conference is aiming for consensus before it moves to the final stage of negotiations.

Bangladesh delegate Shoven Hash bashes her heels, Ravend Hara, in the back row of a panel discussion at the Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing Tuesday. The mother and child were attending the "Advance peace, promote conflict resolution and reduce the impact of armed or other conflicts on women" panel.

After a briefing Tuesday by the U.N. delegation, some American women slammed a ban on sexual intercourse with "apartheid" agreements peculiarly U.S. women. They were "worried" about the new language for women's only rights.

The conference is aiming for consensus before it moves to the final stage of negotiations. However, there are differences of opinion on the role of women in peace negotiations. The conference is aiming for consensus before it moves to the final stage of negotiations.

Charges mar prep-school teachers image

Richard Levent
Associated Press

A New Hampshire judge said a prep school must turn over a student's academic records to a family that wants to remove him from school.

The student, who is not named in the case, has been accused of sexual misconduct.

In the case, the judge ordered the school to provide the records, which include grades, test scores, and any disciplinary actions.

The school has until Monday to comply with the order.

The case is one of several recent incidents involving sexual misconduct at prep schools.

In 2017, a student at Phillips Exeter Academy was accused of sexual assault.

The school also has faced criticism for its handling of sexual misconduct allegations.

The judge's order is a rare move in such cases, as schools typically resist providing such information.

However, in recent years, there has been increasing pressure on schools to be more transparent about their handling of sexual misconduct allegations.

The case has sparked a larger debate about how schools handle such allegations.

Some argue that schools should be more diligent in their response, while others argue that schools need to protect the privacy of students.

The judge's order is expected to be appealed.

The school did not immediately respond to requests for comment.

UC-Berkeley crowns list of top doctoral programs

Associated Press

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — The University of California, Berkeley, has been named the top doctoral program in the country for the fourth consecutive year.

The school has topped the rankings for the past three years, according to the National Research Council.

Other top programs include Stanford University, Harvard University, and Yale University.

The rankings are based on a variety of factors, including research output, faculty quality, and student success.

Berkeley has been consistently ranked near the top of the list in recent years, with a particularly strong showing in the sciences.

The school's success in this area has been attributed to its strong faculty, cutting-edge research facilities, and innovative teaching methods.

Berkeley's top ranking is expected to bring more students to the school, as well as more research funding and other benefits.

The school has also been recognized for its efforts to diversify its student body, and for its strong commitment to undergraduate education.

Berkeley has made significant investments in its facilities and programs over the past decade, and is now one of the most prestigious universities in the world.

NEW YORK — Labor peace appeared likely in the NBA after players rejected a nearly $3 billion offer that the owners attempted to impose.

The players rejected a proposal by the National Basketball Association and the NBA player's union by a vote of 269-173. The proposal would have reduced the salary cap, raised the luxury tax threshold and imposed a draft lottery.

The sides had been working since March on a new deal, but talks broke down last week over the cap and the lottery.

"We heard the players say that if they don't win the league, we'll have a draft lottery," NBA Commissioner David Stern said. "Well, we've won the league a lot of times and we'll keep winning it."

"I don't think there's a significant group of players any more that is against this deal," Stern said.

Daniel Silverstein, the NBA's senior vice president, said the results would be announced Friday. If the sides can't negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement, the owners can impose another proposal, which could mean a lockout.

"It's not a shortcut," Stern said. "We want to work with the players."

The sides have until Labor Day to reach a new deal, but Stern said there was no guarantee that a new deal would be reached.

"There's a lot of work to be done," Stern said. "But we're determined to get this done."

Among the 432 eligible voters, 286 voted to keep the union and 146 voted to disband the players' association. The NBA wanted 60 percent of the votes to reject the proposal.

"I think if the deal is approved, there might open up on a little less," Stern said. "The [owners'] view was that there were too many people that are against this deal."}

When Hayden Fry began his head coaching career 14 years ago, the Iowa State quarterback was a tailback who had just returned from a foot injury. The Cyclones had been 11-0 in Fry's first year but struggled to 6-4-1 in 1980.

"Since my fifth year and I'm seeing a kids' team," Fry said. "We got to play a lot of games."

The Cyclones are leading the Big Eight this season, but Fry said it's not because of the competition.

"We accomplished what we set out to accomplish," Fry said. "We'd give up a lot of times to try and keep it close."

"But we've had a lot of fun," Fry said. "We've beaten all our spots."

"I'd say the players are very pleased with the way the team has been handled," Fry said.

3:15. SeeingEyes, Ohio, 10 games in her career on the turf. She is 5-8 and 150 pounds.\n
"I know him, he's been the guy for 20 years on the ground and everything," said Fry.\n
"He's a different style of running than former Iowa State coaches.\n
"I'm not going to take a whole lot of running, the football," he said.

One thing the Cyclones will definitely have going for them is experience running back Troy Davis, who was in the nation's top ten last season.\n
Davis expanded for 281 yards rushing in the first game of the season against Ohio and 180 yards last week against Iowa State.

"For as far as we need, Troy Davis is one of the better backs in the country," said Fry.\n
"He's a great power, great balance. He's got great speed. You give him a little head start he'll run it down pretty far."\n
"The Iowa defense knows it can't stay bringing him down. That's why we想念 of a great rush back," defensive end Scott Lookabill said.\n
"He's a very difficult difficult to stop.\n
"The big thing is we've got to get the line of scrimmage.\n
"If they're not on when they do, we're not going to be able to move the ball.\n
"It's a very exciting team," Fry said. "They have a very fast team.\n
"And I love doubles. I think that's my strong points so I'll love that."\n
Heather Mowery will all get a chance to win their title this year.\n
Campbell is very optimistic about the team's chances. "He reminds us of a great Iowa State basketball player," said Heather Mowery will all get a chance to win their title this year.
Rockies devour Atlanta, 12-2

Associated Press

The Rockies have the昆明 in the NL West title race, but they’re not showing it. The Rockies beat the Atlanta Braves 12-2 on Wednesday, extending their winning streak to four games.

The Rockies scored in every inning of the game, including four runs in the 12th inning to put the game out of reach.

The victory was the Rockies’ sixth in their last nine games, and they now lead the Braves by one game in the NL West.

Hawkeyes place 10th in season opener

Some were revealed, but the Iowa women’s golf team turned in a strong performance during its season opener Tuesday at the Huskers Invitational. The Iowa women’s golf team placed 10th out of 17 teams at the two-day tournament, held in Lincoln, Neb.

With Iowa in stroke play after the first day, but fell to sixth after shooting +2 in the final round.

The team finished with a total of 900 (3) strokes, which was 21 strokes better than the previous year’s score of 921 (3). The team was led by sophomore Jennifer Ryan, who finished in a tie for 11th place.

The Hawkeyes will be back in action next weekend at the NCAA Regional Championship.

Yankees upend Indians again

Associated Press

New York shortstop T Fernandez throws over Wiley Kiley of the Indians to complete a double play on batter Carlos Febrey on the Rockies devoured Atlanta, 12-2. Sports

The Yankees defeated the Indians again on Tuesday, winning 6-0 in a crucial game for both teams.

The Yankees took a 6-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back. New York’s Ditko was impressive on the mound, allowing just one hit and three walks in seven innings.

Ted Simmons (262), Pat Corcoran (193), and Fernando Valenzuela (6-3) were all effective on the mound for the Yankees, blanking the Indians on four hits.

In the first inning, Simmons walked three, including the go-ahead run, and drove in three runs.

In the second inning, Corcoran allowed just one hit and three walks in two innings.

Valenzuela, who had a shutout in his last start, allowed just one hit in three innings, but the Yankees scored four runs off his bat.

The Yankees scored six runs in the top of the third inning, highlighted by a two-run homer by Thurman Munson.

The Yankees added three more runs in the fourth inning, including a solo home run by Bobby Murcer.

The Indians scored their only run in the bottom of the fourth inning, but it was too little, too late.

New York went on to win 6-0, improving its season record to 21-12.

The win was significant for the Yankees, who are now just one game behind the Indians for first place in the American League East.

The Yankees and Indians will meet again Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium for the second game of the four-game series.

Iowa Women's Music Festival begins tonight at Old Brick

As the Urban Bush Women spend their week in residence in Old Brick, Iowa, the Iowa Women's Music Festival begins tonight at Old Brick. The "Urban Bush Women" will take place in Old Brick, about 15 miles from Iowa City and 150 miles from Des Moines, at 7:30 tonight.

Thursday evening, Jewell Goven, writer of "The Gals Raisin' in the Back of the Moon," will perform at Pointe Lighthous Books, 130 Main St., at 7 tonight.

Friday evening, the Urban Bush Women will perform "Room and Ash" at 7 p.m. "Room and Ash," a creative work telling the stories of love, marriage and women's roles in society, is one of the most talked about and travelled shows in the past year. The show will also perform Thursday night at the Coffee Cellars, 18 S. Plum St.

The Iowa Women's Music Festival will hold a day-long celebration at Old Brick on Sunday and Monday, with panels on the theme of women who give birth to art. The festival will conclude with a performance of "Room and Ash" at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Coffee Cellars.

"Meister" trio romps on blues CD

The three brothers and their cousin, together with a new variety of Baptist - who make up the band "Meister" - have a fun time with their CD release party on Sept. 15 at the Blue Loaf in Iowa City. The band is equally well known for its offbeat material as well as its humorous lyrics. The band’s name is derived from the word "meister," which means "master" in German. The band’s new CD, "Mexican Seaport," features a variety of blues styles, including the popular "Meister may offer a fun live show, as its more cleverly composed a kind of adolescent humor." The band plans to release its third album on Sept. 15, which has been titled "Meister and Friends." If you think you’ve heard something that the band’s fans are liking on the airwaves, it’s not because they do, but because you do it. A few beers might help... too.

Antique textiles each show an intimate history. The Banana (Mali) mudcloth marks events in life and also denotes occasions. The black cloth is woven with a striking pattern and includes designs of a sun, designs of a heart, and similar symbols of festivity. The beauty of the cloth lies in the protection it builds for many members of Banama society and in the fact that it is available at Wal-Mart.

The mainstreaming of better underwear fashion for men needs to target the industry leaders. We need to let Harvest, Fruit of the Loom and Calvin Klein know what men really want is rubber bikini bottoms economically available at Wal-Mart. Hey, it’s a concerned consumer who thinks men need more funny underwear options for the boys in our line up.

Of course, underwear alternatives do exist for men, but these options are strictly underground and inconvenient for the mainstream crowd. Take the $88 kind-a fashionable shopper guides are registers of designs. A concept outline of suits, another of historical uses. The Best Way To Save Money On Stuff (Other Than Borrowing Your Roommate's).

Roommates tend to get a little weird when you borrow their stuff. (They're funny like that.) Better to get yourself a MasterCard® card. Then you could use it to buy the things you really want. And with these College MasterValues® coupons, you’ll save up to 40%. And until you get your own place, it's the smartest thing you can do. Roommates are weird enough as it is. MasterCard. It's more than a credit card. It's smart money."
