Restaurant menus may soon tell all

Darlene Superville

WASHINGTON — At Silver Dollar restaurant, the10-inch tall, chalky, chalky, chalky, whiteboard menu lists "specials," "quick specials," and even "specials" for diners who don't eat meat. The menu is updated three times a day, and even blue corn chili is listed. Some diners come just for the menu, and others come just to see what the menu says. A new menu is displayed every day, and the menu changes are sometimes based on what the chef is cooking. The menu is "a living art," and diners can enjoy the "living" menu as much as they enjoy the food.

"There is no one who knows what's on the menu," said a customer. "The menu is always changing, and it's a fun game to try to guess what's on it." Another customer said, "I come here just to see what they have on the menu, and I'm always surprised by what I find."

"The menu is a work of art," said another customer. "I come here just to enjoy the art of the menu, and I'm always impressed by what I find."

New clubs for jugglers catches on in L.C.

Christie Wildman

The Daily Iowan

The jugglers of time and space are a minority and often uneasy neighbors. However, a new Iowa City club, known as the Iowan Jugglers, has caught the imagination of jugglers across the state.

Jordan Saturen, Iowa City resident and juggler for eight years, said that the club "is really important for people who are interested in juggling and who want to get more involved." The club meets every second Thursday at 7 p.m. at the University Union.

"I came across this group a while ago," Saturen said. "I was interested in juggling, but didn't know how to get involved in anything like this. This club is a great way to meet other jugglers and learn new techniques." Saturen has been juggling for eight years and is a member of the Iowan Jugglers.

The club is open to anyone interested in juggling, regardless of their skill level. Meetings consist of a brief discussion on juggling techniques followed by a practice session. Members are encouraged to share their own juggling routines and ideas.

Saturen said that the club's goal is to provide a supportive environment for jugglers to practice and improve their skills.

"The club is really about bringing people together who are interested in juggling," Saturen said. "We want to create a community for jugglers to share their passion for this art form."

LOS ANGELES — O.J. Simpson was back in court Monday as a defense attorney for the first time since his Aug. 9 arrest and charged with murder. While the trial has been on hold, the Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Larry Fidler has given the defense the go-ahead to start preparation for the upcoming proceedings.

In the wake of the National Guardsmen's arrest last week, the Los Angeles County sheriff has been under pressure to take action. Many have suggested that the guardsmen were acting without proper training and under the influence of drugs.

Meanwhile, the legal battle over Simpson's case continues. The defense team is preparing to present evidence that the football legend did not commit the murders. They argue that Simpson was with his friends at the time of the killings.

The prosecution has already faced criticism for its handling of the case. Many have questioned why the trial was delayed for so long and why the evidence was not presented sooner.

Despite the challenges, the defense team remains confident in their case. They believe that Simpson is innocent and that the evidence will speak for itself.

The trial is scheduled to resume on December 11th. It remains to be seen how the case will play out in court.

Marilyn victims receive supplies

Women in Iowa have received silicone breast implants after the destruction of their homes in the 1989 hurricane. The implants were donated by a medical company to help women重建 their lives. The implants were fit to women who had lost both breasts due to the hurricane. The women were happy to receive the implants and were able to start rebuilding their lives. The company was praised for their generosity in this difficult time.

Bicyclists' needs are neglected; drivers and walkers watch out

Riding a bicycle in Iowa City can be a frightening, dangerous and frustrating experience. In the traffic hierarchy, bicyclists are treated as second-class citizens.

When the recession hit and 126 merit staff were let out of their own pockets or charging students for their classes - over 10,000.

As the crying intensified, Dad went upstairs to the master bedroom. The lights were on, and the door was locked.

"It's that time of the month again," she whispered. I raised my eyebrows at my dad. He nodded. "I'll be back in a little while."

FRATERNITY DEATH

On a 1-day deadline to file a lawsuit as early as possible, attorneys for former members of the UI's Zeta Beta Tau fraternity are seeking to have some of the proceedings dismissed over the Tuskegee Incident.

The person most likely to be involved in the Tuskegee Incident was an ex-member of the UI's Zeta Beta Tau fraternity. The incident occurred in 1948.

Although there is no legal obligation to do so, members of the fraternity are expected to cooperate with the investigation. However, some members may choose not to cooperate.

The Tuskegee Incident is a major factor in the legal case. The incident occurred in 1948 and involved the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama.

The Tuskegee Institute is a historically black college that was founded in 1881.

Drug-ringing film strikes a nerve

Leslie Robinson

Spiked Lee has a number of problems to deal with in his new film, "Clockers," which he has directed, written and starred in. But the movie is not as heavy-handed as some critics have said. Lee's previous films, the gritty "Clockers,"" "Do the Right Thing" and "Mo' Better Blues," have all had their share of controversy, but "Clockers" is a more mature, realistic portrayal of life in the inner city.

"Clockers" is set in a seemingly ordinary neighborhood in New York City, but behind the veil of middle-class respectability, a dangerous drug culture has taken root. The film follows the lives of several young people, including a drug dealer, a cop and a journalist, as they become entangled in the world of street crime.

Lee has said that he wanted to make a film that would show the readers of the drug trade, rather than glorify it. He has also emphasized the importance of education and the need for young people to stay in school.

"Clockers" is a passionate, well-crafted film that challenges the audience to question their own assumptions about life in the inner city. It is a powerful reminder of the need for social change and for young people to have access to quality education and opportunities.

Cookin' at home: cheese 'n franks

It was a rainy day and I was in the mood for something comforting. My dad used to make these cheese 'n franks when I was a kid, and it was always my favorite meal. I decided to give it a shot and see how it turned out.

Here's what I need to make the cheese 'n franks: 1 1/2 cups of shredded Cheddar cheese, 3 cups of diced onions, 3 tablespoons of butter, 1 cup of diced celery, 1 cup of diced carrots, 1 cup of diced tomatoes, 2 cups of chicken broth, 1 can of diced green beans, 1 can of corn, 1 can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 cup of milk, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of pepper.

Instructions:
1. In a large pot, melt the butter over medium heat.
2. Add the diced onions, celery, carrots, and tomatoes. Cook until the vegetables are soft, about 5 minutes.
3. Add the chicken broth, green beans, corn, cream of mushroom soup, and milk. Stir to combine.
4. Bring the mixture to a boil, then reduce the heat and simmer for 10 minutes.
5. Add the shredded Cheddar cheese and stir until melted.
6. Season with salt and pepper.
7. Serve hot with a side of steamed vegetables.

Enjoy your homemade cheese 'n franks! It's the perfect meal for a rainy day.
