Beginning of the end

Simpson to boot TV soaps

Scott Williams
Associated Press

NEW YORK—Closing arguments in O.J. Simpson's murder trial have ended with the prosecution telling jurors the ex-football star is "guilty as hell" and the defense reminding them of the "incredible timing"

PEACE ACCORD BENEFITS

Simpson is listed as a defendant in a federal suit against the West Bank and several other entities. The suit was filed by five former West Bank employees who claim they were fired for refusing to work on the project.

Victim's mother: O.J. trial

Johnnie Cochran Jr. has ended his closing arguments with a powerful and emotional plea for justice. Cochran, representing Simpson, said he would never want anyone to suffer what his client did.

“Simpson is a loving, feeling and caring woman who would never hurt others or cause any problem,” she said.

The Simpson family has filed a federal lawsuit against O.J. Simpson and his former business partners, alleging they conspired to defraud the estate of her late husband, O.J. Simpson.

Greeks at CU ban booze

UI presidential candidate's school cracks down on alcohol

The Daily Iowan

The Greek community at the University of Iowa began cracking down on alcohol use after the student body passed a resolution last week to ban alcohol at Greek events.

The resolution, sponsored by the Greek Council, was passed after a series of incidents involving alcohol, including a juvenile death at a fraternity party.

Student reactions ranged from mixed to supportive. Some students said they were glad to see the resolution pass, while others were concerned about how it would affect Greek events.

Alcohol use at Greek events is common and often a source of controversy on campus. Many students and faculty members are concerned about the impact of alcohol on safety and behavior.

The resolution calls for the Greek Council to work with the University of Iowa Police Department and the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life to enforce the ban.

The resolution is expected to go into effect immediately, and the Greek Council is working on plans to educate and inform the Greek community about the new policy.
Oddities & Idiosyncrasies

International couple: love at first log

"Chloe Craig,

The Daily Iowan

Imagine standing in an airport terminal, surrounded by people going about their business. Suddenly, you notice a man staring at you. He's not wearing a suit, but he's dressed in a shirt and tie. You think to yourself, 'What's going on?'

Five-year-old alien Kriner, an Iowa City resident, was found staring at passersby in the airport terminal. He claimed to have just arrived from Mars and was looking for someone he knew.

The couple's story begins on April 1, when the Daily Iowan first reported on the romance between Sandy Bartels and Little Mikey hands, the two-year-old ogre from Mars.

Sandy, a 12-year-old Iowa City resident, had been waiting for the arrival of her new partner, Little Mikey hands, for months. Finally, the day had come, and Sandy was overjoyed.

"I was so excited, I kept jumping up and down," Sandy said.

However, the couple's joy was short-lived. Little Mikey hands had brought with him a small log that he claimed was a piece of Mars. Sandy was fascinated and began to ask questions about it.

"It's a piece of Mars," Little Mikey hands said.

Sandy was intrigued and asked, "Can I touch it?"

"Yes, of course," Little Mikey hands replied.

Sandy gently took the log and started to examine it. She was amazed by its texture and color.

"It's so different from anything I've ever seen," Sandy said.

Little Mikey hands explained that the log was a remnant of the planet's ancient history.

"Millions of years ago, Mars had a lot of water," Little Mikey hands said.

Sandy was fascinated and asked, "What did the water turn into?"

"It turned into this log," Little Mikey hands said.

Sandy was overjoyed and began to play with the log, imagining all the different things she could do with it.

"I can't wait to take it home and turn it into a treasure," Sandy said.

Little Mikey hands was pleased with Sandy's excitement and said, "I'm so glad you're enjoying the log."

The couple spent the rest of the day exploring the airport and enjoying each other's company.

"I feel like I've known Sandy for years," Little Mikey hands said.

"Me too," Sandy replied.

The couple's love story continued on May 1, when they decided to take a trip to Mars. They packed their bags and set off on an adventure they would never forget.

"I can't wait to see what Mars has in store for us," Sandy said.

"I'm counting down the minutes," Little Mikey hands replied.

The couple arrived on Mars and were greeted by the local alien community.

"Welcome to Mars," a friendly alien said.

"We're so excited to be here," Sandy said.

"We hope you enjoy your stay," the alien said.

Sandy and Little Mikey hands spent the next few weeks exploring the planet, marveling at its beauty and learning about its history.

"Mars is so different from Earth," Sandy said.

"Yes, it's like nothing I've ever seen," Little Mikey hands said.

The couple's love story continued as they enjoyed their time on Mars, creating memories that would last a lifetime.
Study Abroad Fair features prizes

An Iowa

A free Renaissance Fair will be among the prize awards featured at the Study Abroad Fair today from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the IAB of the Union. The fair is sponsored by the different study abroad offices for all areas of the world, which are open to the public.

Women get to choose one of the six prize packages. In order to win their ticket is drawn, Perkins said. The prizes range from fine art to insurance, and will be awarded to the winners at the ceremony.

COURT

In a hearing set for Oct. 12 at 2 p.m., Jessie M. Henricksen, 20, West Liberty, was charged with public indecency, a serious misdemeanor, at the corner of Linn and Clinton streets on Oct. 12 at 2 p.m.

Dennis G. P. Grimm, Washington, was fined $122.50 on Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. for consuming alcohol in public.

Gilbert Cloud, Cedar Falls, was fined $25 Oct. 6 at 2 p.m. for possession of a controlled substance, a simple misdemeanor.

James F. Meacham Travel, 701 S. Gilbert Court, Apt. 302, was charged with public indecency, a serious misdemeanor.

Van C. Switzerland, 151 5th Ave. S., Iowa City, was charged with consuming alcohol in public, a simple misdemeanor.

Compiled by Rima Vesely.

Metro & Iowa

6 friends, 6 countries share I.C. apartment

NewsBriefs

Memorial service to honor UI doctoral student

A memorial service will be held today for Vanessa Rittner, a UI doctoral student from Germany who was killed in a car crash July 20 while mountain-climbing in New York.

The service will be held at 10 a.m. in Room 5405 of the Poppie Johnson Business Administration Building. A private fellowship fund in Rittner's name has been established to aid the UI business school and the economics department.

The Tokyo String Quartet and Pinchas Zukerman

The Tokyo String Quartet and Pinchas Zukerman will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13, in Hancher Auditorium, 123 S. Linn St. They will perform works by Schubert, Beethoven, and the World Premiere of (Marc Neikrug's Viola Quintet).

The Real Estate

Endowment for Arts and Humanities will give $1 million to the UI's real estate endowment.

The Real Estate Endowment for the Arts and Humanities will give $1 million to the UI's real estate endowment.

The Daily Iowan

Copy Editors

app. 20-23 hours/week

Terms: 10-15 hours/week

Primary responsibilities:

- Meet with each other's advisor & mentors regularly.
- Help compile and edit the paper.
- Plan daily cover stories.
- Meet with editors to discuss the paper.
- Assist other editors with assignments.

Staff Openings

Metro Reporters

app. 10-15 hours/week

Applications are available in Room 2001N of the Communications Center.

Questions regarding positions should be addressed to Kristin Schachtgen, editor, at 319-335-4683.

Now Available!

Metro & Iowa

The Daily Iowan

6 friends, 6 countries share I.C. apartment

NewsBriefs

Memorial service to honor UI doctoral student

A memorial service will be held today for Vanessa Rittner, a UI doctoral student from Germany who was killed in a car crash July 20 while mountain-climbing in New York.

The service will be held at 10 a.m. in Room 5405 of the Poppie Johnson Business Administration Building. A private fellowship fund in Rittner's name has been established to aid the UI business school and the economics department.

The Tokyo String Quartet and Pinchas Zukerman

The Tokyo String Quartet and Pinchas Zukerman will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13, in Hancher Auditorium, 123 S. Linn St. They will perform works by Schubert, Beethoven, and the World Premiere of (Marc Neikrug's Viola Quintet).

The Real Estate

Endowment for Arts and Humanities will give $1 million to the UI's real estate endowment.

The Real Estate Endowment for the Arts and Humanities will give $1 million to the UI's real estate endowment.

The Daily Iowan

Copy Editors

app. 20-23 hours/week

Terms: 10-15 hours/week

Primary responsibilities:

- Meet with each other's advisor & mentors regularly.
- Help compile and edit the paper.
- Plan daily cover stories.
- Meet with editors to discuss the paper.
- Assist other editors with assignments.

Staff Openings

Metro Reporters

app. 10-15 hours/week

Applications are available in Room 2001N of the Communications Center.

Questions regarding positions should be addressed to Kristin Schachtgen, editor, at 319-335-4683.
U.S. talks stress strong Bosnian government

Perot backs effort to form 3rd party for '96 elections

Bosnia's Serbs are essentially locals away and start with Britain. At the heart of talks in Sarajevo between Bosnian officials and U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooks and Christopher Hill, the two sides agreed to press ahead with efforts to write a Bosnian future government.

"We must also recognize that the U.N. mission has provided relief for hundreds of thousands of people and saved thousands of lives," Secretary of State Warren Christopher.

According to a copy obtained by the AP, the central government's current political leadership would last until a new agreement giving limited independence to the three ethnic Bosnian entities.

"We think that this is the big achievement of the situation of the Bosnian-Herzegovina situation," Holbrooks said after the Sarajevo talks and a phone call from Christopher.

A senior administration official, who spoke on condition of anonymity said Christopher will join the parties today for a negotiating session with representatives of the Bosnian Serb, Croat and the other third from Serb-held areas. A policy-making president would be appointed by all three parties.

We think that this is a big step forward in the writing of an agreement that has been a big issue for us.

A senior administration official, who spoke on condition of anonymity said Christopher will join the parties today for a negotiating session with representatives of the Bosnian Serb, Croat and the other third from Serb-held areas. A policy-making president would be appointed by all three parties.

We think that this is a big step forward in the writing of an agreement that has been a big issue for us.

A senior administration official, who spoke on condition of anonymity said Christopher will join the parties today for a negotiating session with representatives of the Bosnian Serb, Croat and the other third from Serb-held areas. A policy-making president would be appointed by all three parties.

We think that this is a big step forward in the writing of an agreement that has been a big issue for us.

A senior administration official, who spoke on condition of anonymity said Christopher will join the parties today for a negotiating session with representatives of the Bosnian Serb, Croat and the other third from Serb-held areas. A policy-making president would be appointed by all three parties.

We think that this is a big step forward in the writing of an agreement that has been a big issue for us.
2 Days Only: September 27 & 28

More power to ya!
Need more computing power? Trade in your old system and peripheral at the Apple Trade-Up, Sept. 27 & 28. Most brands and models accepted. Add some dollars of your own, and get an advanced new Apple® Macintosh® system. With more speed. Color. Expandability. And all the power you need to stay ahead. Pick up information today at Weeg Computing Center, 229 LC. Call 1-800-992-0798 for your current system's trade-in value.

Available to University of Iowa students, faculty, staff and departments.
Make Your Appointment TODAY! Call 1-800-992-0798

For Apple's latest trade-up information: web.see.uiowa.edu/weegtec/tradeup/
Shooting for top gun

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, poses for photographs with a shotgun outside the Stairs, Register & Company factory in New York, N.Y., Monday. Gramm, a Republican presidential hopeful, toured the gun factory during a two-day campaign swing in New Hampshire.

U.S. Secret Service steps up security for papal visit

Toni Hays
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Tucked away somewhere in New York City is a symbol of the power of Pope John Paul II: the Popemobile.

The armored, bubble-topped car-green on a cloudy September morning—was built by the nation's leading manufacturer of /*munitions safe vehicles, Oshkosh Corp. of Oshkosh, Wis. The vehicle's exact location, authorities said, would compromise security for the Pope's visit Oct. 4-6.

"We don't even know where in New York City," said Bill Ryan, spokesperson for the U.S. Secret Service, which is coordinating the Popemobile's use.

During the last visit to the New York area, in 1979, the pontiff was accompanied only in an open limousine and freely mixed with worshipers and reporters. No bulletproof glass. No risk of terrorism on U.S. soil.

This time, local and federal officials have launched an unprecedented effort to ensure the safety of the Pope's visit. No more.

"We're hoping for a trouble-free visit;" said Bill Ryan, spokesperson for the U.S. Secret Service.

"We've got a lot more manpower with technology . . . manpower with technology . . . manpower with technology," Ryan said.

The Secret Service has recruited agents from other agencies - including the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, U.S. Marshals, and the FBI - to assure a federal contingent in the Thurmont.

"It's the easiest undertaking in Secret Service history," said speaker Gerry Czajkowski. "Our agents don't have to spend any time in training."

By building, metal detectors will be installed at the ballpark for a portable entrance to the Pope's Mass in Philadelphia, said Czajkowski.

"We have to have non-intrusive detection of the presence of insidious debris," he said.

The blond-haired, bespectacled businessman, a member of the New York Yankees' ownership, has expressed concern about the possibility of a terrorist attack.

"We're having a zero-tolerance policy toward any threats against the pope in the United States," he said. "And we're going to be ready to deal with any plans."

The Secret Service has also hired a private security firm to handle the Pope's visit.

"We have a plan in place," said Czajkowski. "And we're going to make sure it works."

The office plans to install more than 300,000 video cameras throughout the tri-state area.

"We have a plan in place," said Czajkowski. "And we're going to make sure it works."

Gingrich won't 'blink' on debt ceilings

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Speaker Newt Gingrich promised Wednesday to schedule a vote this fall on lifting the debt ceiling, a move that could allow presidential candidates to campaign without fear of a government shutdown.

"We're not going to knock down any opportunities to campaign on the principles of balancing the budget," Mr. Gingrich said in an interview with the Associated Press. "And we're not going to knock down anybody's ability to get out there and campaign successfully."

But he did say he would not campaign more than three times a week.

Gingrich was asked about recent comments by Vice President Dick Cheney and President George W. Bush that they were close to a deal that would increase the federal debt ceiling in the fall.

"I have not heard of anything that we're going to do," Gingrich said. "We're not going to be idle for the next three months."

The Associated Press had previously reported that Gingrich was interested in a plan that would increase the federal debt ceiling.

"I'm not going to be idle for the next three months," Gingrich said. "I'm going to be out there on the campaign trail for as long as it takes to get this country back on the right track."
DRIY CAMPUS

Continued from Page 16

Jack was eliminated this de¬

His obituary was written by the

"The lifestyle is something he

COUNCIL

Continued from Page 16

the council and the community at

Iowa City Councilor Ernie Lehman

"I really doubt there will be any

Continued from Page 3

"I don’t know if there’s a prob¬

ABC’s executive producer of news

Continued from Page 1

and evidence of alcohol is critical.

Continued from Page 3

The networks will be on

"The jury did hear from Brian

"I’m now leaning in favor of

Nov. 2

Black and Gold Blowout presented by Norwest Bank

Nov. 12

Republic of Georgia

Nov. 16

Iowa vs. Marthinion College presented by WHO Radio

Nov. 28

Dale

Dec. 2

Super Chevy Shootout presented by Norwest Bank

Dec. 9

Basketball game ticket prices are:

The Daily

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT

Athletic Ticket Office 335-8202

The Daily

November 1995

Iowa's five home games scheduled during the semester break are available.

Iowa Hawkeye Basketball! Fans!

TICKETS TO THE 1995 SUPER CHEVY SHOOTOUT...and Iowa's five home games scheduled during the semester break are available.

The Daily

 former Student Council president. But I think it's a good thing that's about as far ahead as I don't want to plan."

I don't think the council and the community at

"I really doubt there will be any

Continued from Page 3

Venardos, ABC's executive producer of news, called the trial being interesting.

Continued from Page 1

the council seems to be in full

:—, the council seems to be in full

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

prisoners that will make an impact on the

Continued from Page 1

"The jury did hear from Brian

Continued from Page 3

the networks will be on

Continued from Page 1

"The jury did hear from Brian

Continued from Page 1

"The jury did hear from Brian

Continued from Page 3

the networks will be on

Continued from Page 1

"The jury did hear from Brian

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

"It would be difficult not to

Continued from Page 3

"It would be difficult not to

"It would be difficult not to

Continued from Page 1

"The jury did hear from Brian

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its

Continued from Page 3

the prosecution slated to begin its Search raises some suspiscion

At this point, of the possible six ran 249, the numbers for the position of president of the university have visited campus and have been interviewed, asked, perfilated, and generally fussed over. Every effort has been made to ensure that as many people as possible get to meet with the candidates, ask questions, game play and generally make the candidates accessible to the latter to respond to the former. That grant, why does the search still have the feel of a dog with a bone?

Answer: Because it has the feel - and sound - of a dog with a bone. This is, of course, not to say that the search for President Judith Albin, who - given her time from Corn co. to the U of I - is being badly treated by needs and faculty who really are working to make the campus target of their own ego, it’s also a possibility that she has just been a president. Which means she’s been to a key and this is unsettling enough to make her take a look in the mirror. She is a truly unique individual whose goodness, and bad, is to have a near-unique quality.

EDITORIAL

The political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc- closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be- understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institu- choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame instituchoking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

Six months ago, the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

closing down fraternities or eliminating athletic reserves. The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.

But the main concern is that the political scene, the lield co- press and the under-market sale of WTV-24(affil. of CBS) are not always the provinces of the-merit or the present. When the “hidden man” is primly presented to the public, neither the audience nor the politician is “the moral fortitude of startled rabbits. A recent scald by the UI Constitution. There is no reason to believe it can suc-

The problem is not as simple as mere alcohol use examples. Even in the by-laws and university committees which drinking during these under-age legal, the results involve a complex formula. In volume of publications and alcohol abuse data, the same level of risk exists for the less danger than we used to think overall.

Facebook fans are dressed in the news and doing everything they can to not be-understand. The football fans are dressed down and so smashed esprit de corps, then tum around and blame institute-choking on his own vomit alone in the middle of

The only facts that apply to this argument state eye, vicious schoolyard teasing, gang violence or war.
Hutu inmates include women

Cash incentives, teen home help juveniles turn lives around

An Introduction to the Physiational Assistant Profession

STUDY ABROAD Fail

Hutu inmates include women

Cash incentives, teen home help juveniles turn lives around

An Introduction to the Physiational Assistant Profession

STUDY ABROAD Fail

Hutu inmates include women

Cash incentives, teen home help juveniles turn lives around

An Introduction to the Physiational Assistant Profession

STUDY ABROAD Fail

Hutu inmates include women

Cash incentives, teen home help juveniles turn lives around

An Introduction to the Physiational Assistant Profession

STUDY ABROAD Fail

Hutu inmates include women

Cash incentives, teen home help juveniles turn lives around

An Introduction to the Physiational Assistant Profession
The Graduate and Professional School Fair
Thursday, October 12, 1995
11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
Main Lounge, IMU

Employers attending Career Days 1995

Thursday, September 28, 1995 • 9:30 A.M. • 3:00 P.M. • IMU Main Lounge

Learn About Career Fields and Job Opportunities • All Students (Freshmen through Graduate) Are Welcome day...

SPORTS

THE DAILY IOWAN • TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1995

Castillo takes no-hit bid down to last strike

Harry Adams
Associated Press

ROYALS, Today 7 p.m.,
Atlanta Braves at Kansas City.
IOWA VOLLEYBALL

The Hawkeyes hosted the Cornels in a Big Ten conference match on Sunday. The game was a thrilling back-and-forth affair, with both teams displaying impressive skill and determination. Iowa's defense held strong throughout, preventing the Cornels from finding easy openings. (.)

Iowa's lineup was bolstered by a strong performance from its senior players, including. (. )

Scoreboard

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Set 1</th>
<th>Set 2</th>
<th>Set 3</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hawkeyes</td>
<td>Cornels</td>
<td>Hawkeyes</td>
<td>Cornels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25-23</td>
<td>23-25</td>
<td>25-20</td>
<td>25-22</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Notes

- Iowa's(. )
- Cornels(. )

---

Flag Football

A thrilling game was played on Saturday evening at the IOWA VOLLEYBALLadium. The Hawkeyes faced off against the Cornels in a closely contested match. ()

Score

Iowa 3-1 Cornels

---

THE DAILY IOWAN

The Daily Iowa

ONLINE RULES

Entries must be submitted by noon, Thursday to The Daily Iowa, Room 111 or Room 201 Communications Center. No more than five entries per person. The decision of the judges is final. Winners will be announced in Monday's D.I.
ChiSox drop yet another to Twins

Associated Press

The Houston Astros kept their slim hopes alive with a 10-6 win against the Minnesota Twins on Wednesday night, but they couldn't get any decent pitching from starter Roy Oswalt.

"They allowed our backs to get too close in the wild card race," said Mariners manager Bob Melvin. "We've got some work to do."
NFL

TWO-AND-MORE-INTERESTING

The AFC — more depth and more interesting

Dane Goldberg
Associated Press

With a quartet of the NFL season already gone, one thing to see is whether the Dallas Cowboys will be good enough to win the Super Bowl.

The AFC may lose the Super Bowl for the 13th straight year but it’s deeper, better, and more interesting than the NFC, which has had legitimate teams in DALLAS and NFC EAST solely due to the ball trade.

"Could the NFC be 4-0 to the AFC’s 2-4 as it is in the AFC? They’ve been beaten three times, one of which is by the Jets —

The Daily Classifieds
111 Communications Center • 335-5784

11 am deadline for new ads and cancellations

CLASSIFIED READERS: when responding to any of the ads that require a phone number, please check them out before responding. DO NOT PAY MONEY UNTIL YOU KNOW WHAT YOU PURCHASE. IT IS INAPPROPRIATE TO ASK A STRANGER TO MAKE A CASH TRANSACTION.

HELP WANTED

PART-TIME STUDENT RECORDING

SECRETARY

Johnson County Auditor’s Office

Per Diem and/or Full Time: Responsible for and/or Full Time: Responsible for the day to day operations. May be required to answer phones, schedule meetings, make appointments, prepare memos, and provide general office assistance.

Salary: $48,000 - $52,000

Current opening in the office located at 1600 S E 10th Street, Coralville, Iowa 52240.

Need for English

PRACTICE Nurse Coordinator

Required: BSN and five years of experience.

Immediate opening in our

Burlington, Iowa location.

WIAA

Salary: $43,000 - $55,000

Call 335-5783 for more information.

RETAIL SALES ASSOCIATES

We’re hiring for the right people.

Salary: $5.25 - $5.75

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

NURSING STUDENTS

We have openings for full- and part-time positions in our hospital and in the community. We are looking for nurses who are compassionate, caring, and committed to providing the best care possible.

Salary: $20.00 - $25.00

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

There are no requirements for this job.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

Chief Financial Officer

Located in Cedar Rapids, IA.

Salary: $150,000 - $200,000

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

There are no requirements for this job.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

The Daily Classifieds
111 Communications Center • 335-5784

11 am deadline for new ads and cancellations

CLASSIFIED READERS: when responding to any of the ads that require a phone number, please check them out before responding. DO NOT PAY MONEY UNTIL YOU KNOW WHAT YOU PURCHASE. IT IS INAPPROPRIATE TO ASK A STRANGER TO MAKE A CASH TRANSACTION.

HELP WANTED

PART-TIME STUDENT RECORDING

SECRETARY

Johnson County Auditor’s Office

Per Diem and/or Full Time: Responsible for and/or Full Time: Responsible for the day to day operations. May be required to answer phones, schedule meetings, make appointments, prepare memos, and provide general office assistance.

Salary: $48,000 - $52,000

Current opening in the office located at 1600 S E 10th Street, Coralville, Iowa 52240.

Need for English

PRACTICE Nurse Coordinator

Required: BSN and five years of experience.

Immediate opening in our

Burlington, Iowa location.

WIAA

Salary: $43,000 - $55,000

Call 335-5783 for more information.

RETAIL SALES ASSOCIATES

We’re hiring for the right people.

Salary: $5.25 - $5.75

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

NURSING STUDENTS

We have openings for full- and part-time positions in our hospital and in the community. We are looking for nurses who are compassionate, caring, and committed to providing the best care possible.

Salary: $20.00 - $25.00

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

There are no requirements for this job.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

Chief Financial Officer

Located in Cedar Rapids, IA.

Salary: $150,000 - $200,000

Our first and foremost requirement is that you’re friendly and have a genuine desire to help people.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

There are no requirements for this job.

You may be required to work nights and weekends. We offer a competitive pay package and benefits.

Call ISU Personnel at 398-4581.

The Daily Classifieds
111 Communications Center • 335-5784

11 am deadline for new ads and cancellations

CLASSIFIED READERS: when responding to any of the ads that require a phone number, please check them out before responding. DO NOT PAY MONEY UNTIL YOU KNOW WHAT YOU PURCHASE. IT IS INAPPROPRIATE TO ASK A STRANGER TO MAKE A CASH TRANSACTION.
Itant.

WANTED! Roommate wanted for 3-bedroom, 2-bath home. Preferably one person, immediate availability. $500.00 down. 338-6932.

---

TUTORING

IF YOU NEED IT ASK GIRALYN.

First come, first served.

1-800-632-5985

---

BANK

---

1) THE DAILY IOWAN CLASSIFIEDS

---

2) SUBSTITUTE CARRIERS

---

3) THE DAILY IOWAN MEDICINE HILL CARRIERS

---

4) THE DAILY IOWAN NEWS

---

5) THE DAILY IOWAN WOMEN'S PAGE

---

6) THE DAILY IOWAN CLASSIFIEDS

---

7) THE DAILY IOWAN REAL ESTATE

---

8) THE DAILY IOWAN SPORTS

---

9) THE DAILY IOWAN MEDICINE HILL CARRIERS

---

10) THE DAILY IOWAN NEWS

---

11) THE DAILY IOWAN WOMEN'S PAGE

---

12) THE DAILY IOWAN CLASSIFIEDS

---

13) THE DAILY IOWAN REAL ESTATE

---

14) THE DAILY IOWAN SPORTS
Chili: A meal and a 'tool'

With football season heating up and the weather cooling, there is no better time to make a heaping plate of chili.

I love for chili season. Some people like to warm up on a brisk Saturday morning. High gains, swelling pride and thousands of people cover the smell of beans.

However, he's worked on a diner for more than 30 years, so when it comes to chili, he knows the ins and outs.

Beer and chill. Damn, it just doesn't get any better on a truly Saturday morning. High gains, swelling pride and thousands of people cover the smell of beans.

Here's James' recipe, nothing overly complicated, but the effect is beautiful.

1. Heat the oil and fry the onions.
2. Add the garlic and sauté for about 3 minutes.
3. Add the chili powder and stir well until the onions are soft.
4. Add the water and season to taste.
5. Serve hot and enjoy!

James says if you need more heat, you can add cayenne pepper. However, he warns to be careful as it can be quite spicy.

Benny's chili recipe is a family secret, learned from his mother and grandmother.

It is completely foolish. Granted, it's well worth the wait.

Since the dish is still too thick, he may need to add a bit more water to thin it out.

At the end of the day, the dish is a perfect complement to the cold weather and provides a hearty meal for a group of friends.

To make the chili even better, you can serve it with a side of cornbread or cheese, making it a complete meal.
alone@campus.edu living and learning à la modem

TENURE
TANTRUM
TEAM SPIRIT OLYMPIC METTLE
THE CYBER SCREEN

THIS ISSUE RATED XXX — X-FILES, GEN X, (NO) SEX
Surveying the land,
THE AIR RATIC APPROACH SHOE
spies a good place and hollers back.
"Follow me!"

Versatile, lightweight, and rugged as a tractor tire, the Air Ratic has a fancy inverted Gusseted tongue to keep out the rubbish and a high-friction tread grippy enough to walk up a waterfall.
Which is where you find a lot of good places and not too many monuments.
U. VIEWS / The Campus Dialogue
5 U. Mail, Opinion Polls and Tech Tock

QUICKIES / Our Concession to Your Attention Span
6 Lively campus anecdotes in delicious, easy-to-swallow nuggets.

U. NEWS / Coed Naked News Briefs
8 Hor For Teacher?; Art Shimart, The Buzz; U. Lose, 15 Minutes and oh-so-much more.

U. LIFE / Oh, the Humanity!
15 Offbeat / Meet the Undead Coeds
Vampire culture has gone wild, with students running around pretending or actually claiming to be undead. Why don’t these people get lives? Oh, that’s right…

15 Urge / Let’s Talk About Sex (Not)!
Good news! There’s a way to avoid all the medical, moral and reproductive risks of sex!

16 In-Play / Anything for the Team
They’re the bleacher fanatics—shirtless in December, covered in paint. They’re dedicated. They’re devoted. They’re cold.

16 Pulse / High Time for a Change?
Pot’s legalization warriors—they’re not stoners; they’re not dealers. They’re NORML. Say high.

17 Taste / What’s All the Brew-ha-ha?
Home brewing can be delicious and cheap—tastes great, less shillings. It also eliminates the pesky tradition of having to leave the house to get beer.

17 Etc. / Bizarre Homes & Gardens
From co-op communities to Elvis shrines, alternative housing is often cheap and always interesting. No more filling the dorms in triplicate, please.

FEATURES / Unrelenting Journalistic Inquiry
19 Wanna Bet?
Recent suspensions at the U. of Maryland focus attention on the problem of student-athlete gambling: It makes you wonder—why are they running on third and long?

21 Riding the Tenure Track
The old and rusty tradition of tenure, despite a few challenges, remains the central power structure of academia. It’s sort of like herpes—getting it requires some effort, but once you’ve got it…

22 The Big O
Olympic-bound college athletes don’t just deal with intensive training and world-class competition—they have to get their homework done, too. Makes you feel a little lazy, don’t it?

COVER STORY
25 Technically Speaking
Students are using computers to register for classes, turn in homework and participate in discussion groups. How long before we just plug our frontal lobes into an input jack?

28 Hollywood Can Hack It
Computers are taking over the local multi-plex in the form of virtual-cyber-hacker-type flicks.

R+R / Rock ‘n’ Reel — The Opiate of the Masses
30 Phile Under Phenomenon
The folks behind The X-Files are the hardest working tale-spinners in show biz. Trust no one.

32 Can We Talk?
Lesbian dominatrix dentists? Interracial siamese twin love trysts? Students on talk shows.

34 Rock
PM Dawn’s eternal bliss—plus Rapid Fire, Pocket Band and our U. Radio Chart

35 Reel
Virtual thriller Strange Days—plus Tie-Dyed and Kevin Smith’s Mallrats.

36 U. Magazine Scholarship Winners
Twelve lucky eggheads get $1,000 each. You may already be a winner!

37 Contests!
Win exciting and fabulous prizes on our world-famous contests page!

WRAP / Farewell, My Concubine
38 Future Schlock
U. Magazine breaks the time barrier! Plus Double Take and Strip Tease.

GUEST EXPERT / Elvira, Mistress of the Dark
This issue’s spooksperson. Elvira, Mistress of the Dark, gave her expert undead opinion on our October stories and told us about her new CD, Revenge of the Monster Hits. Just goes to show you that a little stake and garlic can’t keep a good vamp down.

Cover Illustration by Tommy Metcalfe, Cornish College of the Arts Accepted at more schools than you were.

It's everywhere you want to be.
Farewell to alms

I'm extremely frustrated with one student's attitude about being on welfare while attending school ["Breaking Traditions," Aug./Sept., 1995]. The student states he "sees it as the government's investment in his family's future." I argue that education is important, but I feel his choice to have a family first then go to college should not be the burden of the taxpayers.

As a non-traditional student myself (I'm 23 years old and married), I am aware of the additional problems that this status may bring. However, I do not believe Uncle Sam should be the ultimate means of getting a degree because of the choices I have made. I recently returned to school as a full-time student. I've been able to do so [with help from] the Federal Direct Student Loan program. However, my husband works full time and has postponed his own education so he can support our household while I complete my program.

Why can't the student or his wife lessen the burden on the government and society NOW? There's no mention of the couple's employment status. In the article, the student states, "It is absolutely imperative that you get your degree. [Otherwise], you'll be an absolute drain on society." Isn't this a contradiction? How is it not a drain when the student and his wife both choose to be full-time students and use welfare to support their family?

J.D.W., sophomore, U. of Missouri, Columbia

---

tech-tocK, tech-tocK, tech-tocK

My technological clock is a-tickin'

You know, just a few months ago, when I was a college newspaper editor, I couldn't compose on a computer. I'd grab my trusty blue Uni-Ball Micro and go to town on a pad of paper. Sure, I got stares. I even heard a few gasps when I closed myself off in an office and scribbled out the weekly editorial.

And now I sit here staring at the charocal screen that is chipping away at the remnants of what I used to call an attention span. "WRITE THE OCTOBER EDITORIAL ALREADY!" the blank, still untitled document screams. I'm fighting the urge to run spell-check and word count right now, just for the fun of it. Just to ignore that sneaking feeling that this computer is rotting my mind (129 words so far, and Uni-Ball isn't in the dictionary) and that I'm turning into my worst nightmare: a techno-phony.

Sure, I'll admit it. I hate anything with the word "new" or "revolutionary" attached to it. I brag about the fact that I prefer the unsteady hum of a Remington to the monotonous buzz of a Mac. I cringe at the sound of keyboards clicking and grow sentimentally thinking of an old manual typewriter. The sight of a quill pen and a crusty bottle of ink makes the tips of my fingers tingle (224 words, Remington not found). Give me a chisel and a slab of granite over a PowerBook any day.

I can see it now — group therapy for the technologically disenchanted. "Hi. My name is Colleen, and I'm a hitchhiker on the information superhighway." It all started with a mild twitch when people used the word "interface" in casual conversation. Later, my loathing developed into rampaging compulsions every time I heard the computer chime on.

I yearn for the days of long, illegible letters, stamp-licking and paper cuts. There's no such thing as an e-mail care package (323 words, draft superhighway and e-mail are in the dictionary). I'm gonna throttle this monitor the next time it quacks at me.

But I digress. I'm not one to rose-tint the past, but I fear for my senses in the electronic future. I can already feel the communication gap widening — first it was the damn clock on the VCR; now it's the password for your voice-mailbox.

It's a conspiracy. But I won't take this evil plot sitting at my terminal. No sirree. Techno-phonies unite! Write to me today and share your computer angst!

My new address is ugrys@oak.com.

Colleen Rush, Assistant Editor

---

Poll Question

Do you consider yourself liberal or conservative?

800/6U-VIEWS

688-4397

Ext. 65

---

Son of the Poll Question

Do you have a name for your "thingy"?

800/6U-VIEWS

688-4397

Ext. 64

---

October 1995 • U. Magazine
A team of physicists at CU recently succeeded in creating an entirely new form of matter at the lowest temperature ever recorded in the universe. Known as the Bose-Einstein condensate, the matter was predicted by Albert Einstein and is only possible at temperatures nearing absolute zero — a theoretical temperature at which a substance has no heat and no motion. The point of all this being — what did you do for your summer vacation?

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS II

U. of Hawaii

Business students at the U. of Hawaii recently rallied to encourage tuition increases at their campus. Senior accounting major Ty Kanaan says students in the business school believe they're not getting the best possible education because the university lacks current technology. Although more than 30 students picketed in front of the statehouse to voice their concerns, legislators made no reply. "We feel that if you pay more, you get more," Kanaan says. Whatever you say, space man.

CRASH TEST MIKEY

U. of Michigan

Mike Pixley is doing more for humankind from the comfort of his La-Z-Boy than most can do standing up. Well, maybe not. Pixley, an aerospace engineering major at the U. of Michigan, tested La-Z-Boy chairs for eight hours a day this summer. Mike's job, according to a spokesperson for the company, was to "put the chairs through as much rigorous use as possible in an eight-hour period." Pixley replaced a dummy tester when company officials determined that it's easier to get a human to sit back, rock and recline. Rock on, dude!

OUT ON A MCLIMB

North Carolina State U.

Ronald McDonald has been safely returned. The fiberglass statue of the burger-hawking clown was found just three days after it was reported stolen from a McDonal-d's near campus. Ronald was left hanging in a tree near NC State's D.H. Hill Library with a note attached claiming that the Hamburglar was not responsible for the kidnapping. "It said he just went out on his own and wanted to get a Whopper," says Going-Ellis, public safety spokesperson. "He sustained no injuries. He's doing fine now." There are no suspects in the brief McDonald disappearance, but the little Wendy's chick was reportedly found grinning near the crime scene.

THE CHEAPER PAPER CAPER

U. of New Mexico

A UNM custodian is said to have used during the recent explosion, which included a UNM custodian with a 6-inch knife when he walked in on their attempted heist. The target of the theft — one dollar's worth of paper towels. Custodian David Marquez says he walked into a men's restroom at the management school and saw one of the men stuffing paper towels to a dispenser in a backpack. Marquez says the second man then threatened him with a 4-to-6-inch knife and shouted, "You aren't going to stop us!" The men then made a clean getaway and left the custodian unharmed. Police later searched the area to no avail. Guess they're not the quicker picker-uppers.

BRAKEDOWN

U. of Utah

Cops at the U. of Utah are putting the brakes on speeders, but probably won't see any high-speed chases. The limit is 10 mph, and it's for cyclists, skateboarders and in-line skaters. Using radar to catch the offenders, police have clocked cyclists going 60 mph down steep campus hills. Now, how long before skateboards and bikes come outfitted with fuzzy butts!

NOW TRY THROWING BACK THE COVER AND TELL US WHAT HAPPENS UPON IMPACT.
Any Witch Way

The Buzz

- States and schools are scrambling to address affirmative action: U. of Minnesota administrators want to consolidate existing affirmative policies into one diversity plan; Michigan legislators have proposed three bills that would abolish affirmative action; Iowa's governor has stated that he anticipates no changes in the state's policy; and the Association of Big Ten Schools, a coalition of student government representatives, passed a resolution in support of diversity.

- "R" movies are back at Brigham Young U. — In an edited form. BYU, 99 percent of whose students are Mormon, had banned them outright in January. But after 85 percent of the students expressed a desire to see them once they had been appropriately edited, the board of trustees changed its decision.

- Don't worry — the case of the century will indeed live on: Cornell U. has established an O.J. Simpson murder trial archive. Text, graphics, cartoons, videotape and other materials that relate to DNA fingerprinting evidence presented in the trial will be saved and used to understand the DNA science.

A Final Note

In the absence of comprehensive regulations, the issue of sexual harassment in the workplace is a crucible of legal and ethical debate.

Controversy recently flared at Michigan State U. when the discovery of a sexually explicit note resulted in the resignation of the student newspaper's editor-in-chief. MSU senior Kyle Melinn resigned from the paper after a note he wrote describing a sexual fantasy involving a female intern was found in the newsroom by staffers.

After discovering the note and hearing prepared statements from Melinn and MSU junior Alicia Sare, the subject of the note, staffers petitioned Melinn to resign. The incident sparked campuswide controversy and media attention across the state.

"I don't think he should've resigned," says MSU doctoral student Harold Cowherd. "He has a First Amendment right to express whatever he wants. The whole thing is kind of scary, you know?"

MSU senior Kurt Hauglie disagrees. "It's disappearing," he says. "I think he broke the trust with the staff, so I don't think he could have stayed on as editor. The fact that he has a position of authority and power is what makes this so wrong."

Cowherd is still perplexed. "If it was a private note between two people, how and why did a State News reporter pick it up and circulate it?"

"It was left out on a computer that everyone uses," says interim editor in chief Jeff McMillan. "It was a private note; but it was left in a public place."

Melinn himself believes his resignation was the only viable choice.

"I'll look back two or three years from now, and it will still have been best for the newspaper."

Kathryn Phillips, U. of Iowa/Photo by Michael Dickerson, U. of Iowa

Viks Bajaj, Michigan State U., contributed to this story.

Can't Pin Her Down

ABBEY SCHWARTZBERG JUST WANTED TO GET A jump start on conditioning for her upcoming gymnastics season. But after she began working out in the Berkeley High wrestling room in "A couple of the boys asked me, 'Why don't you go out for the team? You're really strong,'" says Schwartzberg, a sophomore at California State U., Bakersfield.

On the first day of wrestling practice in the fall of 1992, Schwartzberg was in the room again, but this time for a different reason.

She wanted to wrestle.

"I was basically ostracized by the boys at first because they didn't think I would make it," says Schwartzberg, who is currently ranked second in USA women's freestyle wrestling. "But then after I did, it was like having 25 brothers."

Schwartzberg parlayed a gutsy five-win/18-loss season during her senior year at Berkeley into an amateur wrestling career with Sunkist Kids, a national wrestling club. She placed second at the World Team trials in Oklahoma in June and fourth at the U.S.
National Freestyle Championships in May.

Schwartzberg knows she is more than just a female in a male-dominated sport.

"I'm also a pioneer, because women's wrestling is just begining," she says. "There's a lot of skepticism out there. But usually your biggest critics turn out to be your biggest fans when they see you out and watch you. You can't argue with heart."

Schwartzberg's rise hasn't come without adversity. In one match, she had to resort to extreme measures.

"The guy was just a brick house, a monster," she recalls. "He was pounding my head into the mat. Then he started crow­ ching me and the referee didn't call it. So I just opened up my mouth and bit him because I couldn't breathe."

Schwartzberg, who transferred from Arizona State U. to CSU this year, is determined to become a chiropractor.

"I'm going to hurt my oppotenets, then give 'em my card and say, 'I'll give you 20 percent off,' she jokes.

Dan Miller, Arizona State U./Photo by Mark Kramer, Arizona State U.
IF IT'S NOT STRONG
IT'S NOT BEAUTIFUL
NEW. VIBRANCE ORGANIC CARE®
Hot for Teacher?

Ex between teachers and students is nothing new, but to North Carolina legislators, it got really old really quick.

When reports surfaced of alleged affairs between a U. of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, associate professor and at least two of his students, there wasn't much school administrators could do. With no policy against such activity, they were stuck in a gray area.

Now, to prevent this from happening again, UNC has adopted a new amorous relations policy—bylaws forbidding teachers from engaging in relationships with students they evaluate. Relationships are not forbidden between professors and students in disciplines other than their own, but they are discouraged.

Meanwhile, the teacher responsible for the adoption of the new policy resigned in July under pressure related to the alleged affairs and to alleged financial misdoings, too.

Information about James D. Williams' sexual exploits with undergraduate students drew the attention of university administrators during a messy divorce between Williams and his third wife.

Court records reveal that Williams had at least two extramarital affairs with UNC students. He also admitted to having sex in his office with a student he employed.

After an investigation, outgoing UNC chancellor Paul Hardin reprimanded Williams for employing the student, but with no amorous relations policy in place, he took no further action.

Rumblings in the North Carolina legislature soon turned the tide against Williams.

Considering the reprimand a slap on the wrist, legislators say the case made them question whether funding for UNC was a worthy expenditure. "Parents put their trust in the university when they send their 18-year-old daughters to college," says Rep. Leo Daughtry.

That was the beginning of the end for Williams.

Michael Hooker, UNC's new chancellor, initiated dismissal proceedings against Williams just hours before his first meeting with state legislators. Hooker said his decision was based on new evidence of unrelated financial misdoings by Williams.

Williams, under extreme pressure, saw the writing on the wall and resigned before the review committee could meet to decide his case.

Art Schmart: Endangered Endowments

Congress is trimming again. Last July, the House of Representatives appropriations committee recommended cutting the annual budget of the National Endowment for the Arts by 40 percent and the National Endowment for the Humanities by 43 percent. A Senate bill, introduced in August, would only cut the arts endowment by a third but would leave the humanities with the 43 percent House cut.

Although the proposed cuts remain in a quagmire of political debate, one thing appears certain: Both the NEA and NEH face serious cutbacks and a possible phaseout over the next few years.

This could spell disaster for universities that depend on the endowments to support research, preservation projects and cultural activities.

In 1994, 197 of the 3,800 NEA grants, totaling approximately $4 million, went to colleges and universities. The NEH doled out $67 million, or 42 percent of the $158 million program fund, to higher education.

College officials are eager to voice their concerns about the impact that such cutbacks might have on colleges and universities.

"I see it as an abolition of a national cultural policy," says Andrea Rich, executive vice chancellor at UCLA. "Great nations that have sustained government money away over time have invested in their cultural core in order to sustain and enhance their cultural values. Without that, you have no anchors, cultural role in the world."

Cindy Peltier, director of the Center Gallery at Bucknell U. in Pennsylvania, says, "We'll be in line with Third World countries in terms of the arts, and I don't think that's where we want to be."

Other schools worry about the impact the cutbacks will have on the future of the arts and humanities.

"This is just part of a larger trend of shifting government money away from cultural preservation and heritage," says Paul Conway, director of preservation at Yale U.'s library, which receives $300,000 to $500,000 a year.

"[At Yale], there is a serious threat of losing material that is on its last leg," Conway says. "We have scholarly resources that just aren't going to make it the 21st century."

Student Videos Sell a Radio Star

Who's James McMurry? The producer and student directors for the rock-folk singer's video album Where'd You Hide the Body? didn't know either, until they were asked to work on the project.

"[Vigil's manager Mark Spector] thought this would be a great way to give students professional experience and James an entire video album," says producer Linda Feferman, who also directed two of the videos, Federman, a friend of Specter's, was nominated for an Emmy for a PBS film she produced, wrote and directed, but she had never worked on a music video—or with students.

"I was blown away," she says. "What they came up with was as strong or stronger than any MTV stuff."

The student influence also gave McMurry's music an edge that just might translate to crossover appeal.

Pip Johnson, a California Institute of the Arts grad student, used children and animation to create her video's nostalgic feel, but she also popped in disembodied, heavily lipsticked, singing lips.

"I wanted to combine many unusual and special visual bits and pieces that the lyrics inspired," Johnson says.

Johnson was one of 11 Cal Arts and U. of Southern California students chosen to make the videos. Students were recommended to Feferman by the schools' faculty and asked to pick up a tape of McMurry's album. Those interested then submitted storyboard, a production schedule and a budget.

"One of my teachers, who knew that most of the stuff I did had music in it, turned in my name," explains Johannes Gamble, a junior at Cal Arts. Gamble had never used a movie camera before—his first few rolls of film came out black. He didn't know how to use the editor, either.

"I went into Columbia Records, and Linda said, 'Here's the instruction book. This button does this—bye!' Then I stayed up really, really late.... I didn't really know that this was going to be so professional and so real."

The music and video albums were released in July, and a TV special is planned.

Bonnie Dett, Associate Editor
the human race by a third. A 43 percent reproduction in pennsr! Have you seen it in the sunlight? Of the vampire's most striking feature, you make your own rules.
Outta Site!

You've watched the Oscars and the Grammys, but have you seen the Webbys? The first annual "Webby" awards for Cool Sites of the Year were announced in August. And the winner is...

The Spot — http://www.thеспot.com — This Web rip-off of MTV's Real World is cyber-fluff. Stop me if you've heard this: Five housemates share their "real" experience of living together in a California beach house. Novel concept, eh? But this group of the buff and beautiful connects with the outside world in diaries on the site.

Runner-up: David Siegel's Home Page — http://www.directem.com

Other nominations:
- Crash Site
- Rocktopolis — http://underground.net/Rocktopolis

---

Burn Your Blue Books

College bookstores may soon have to cut their losses on blue book inventories, because computerized test-taking is quickly becoming a virtual reality.

That's right — within the next few years you may be taking graphically interfaced, computerized finals, and they won't be limited to technical fields. You could be taking your Shakespeare final or your Spanish midterm with a keyboard instead of a No. 2 pencil.

Drake Prometric, a Minnesota-based company, has already implemented electronic tests for pilots at aviation schools around the country and is working on tests for non-technical college classes.

With electronic testing, professors will be able to develop in-depth questions, using advanced graphics, to make sure students really know their stuff. Questions can be designed using multiple choice, short answer, or essays. The tests also boast an instant computerized answering system that computes your score immediately. That means no more angst-ridden waiting period before your grade shows up.

Jonathan Marut, a senior aviation technology major at Central Missouri State U., has already taken exams on computer. "It's a simple interface, easy to use, and you don't have to wait around for results," he says. But Marut still uses an older, analog interface known as "pencils and paper" for making notes and calculations.

Still, some students are skeptical. "I think it creates another barrier between the student and the test," says Scott Kates, a senior at Syracuse U. Students would have to worry about not only the test, Kates explains, but also the computer itself.

What we want to know is: How long before they invent a virtual study program?

Who needs No. 2 pencils when you've got a keyboard?

But while their minds are expanding, their bodies could be deteriorating.

Computer-related injuries have tripled since 1984, according to the Bureau of Labor. Known as ergonomics disorders, these technology injuries can become crippling.

Carpal tunnel syndrome and tendinitis can leave you with pain and numbness in your shoulders, arms, hands and fingers. Ouch! And if you ignore the symptoms, you may have to go under the knife to relieve the pain.

And that's not all. The computer you thought was your new best friend could end up being a real pain in the neck. And the back.

Karen Allen, the U. of Virginia's ergonomics task force chair, stresses prevention. Being armed with the proper equipment — a mouse pad with a wrist rest, an adjustable chair, an anti-glare screen — can help. But you need to use common sense, too. If you're finishing that last-minute term paper, stretch your muscles and drag your eyes away from the screen.

"There's a penalty to pay if you don't," says Chris Goodrum, a junior at Georgia Tech, who actually took a human interface course. "If you're on the computer for eight or nine hours at a time, you can get lower-back pain or wrist pain."

Remember when your grade school teacher scolded you for slouching? You should have listened. Sitting up straight, taking the keyboard off your lap and keeping the monitor an arm's distance away can prevent problems.

Even with awareness, students may not make the necessary equipment and posture changes until it's too late.

Larry Glasser, a junior at Northwestern U., says that although he occasionally has headaches, he doesn't think about the problems his frequent Internet use could cause.

"I figure if every time I turn off the computer I have a sore wrist or throbbing headache, then I'll do something about it." — courtesy Cairns, Penn State U./Illustration by Rob Libby, American Animation Institute, Calif.
The Reebok® Blue Ridge shoe. With a traction-loving, self-cleaning lug outsole and a steel shank for support, you could hike to the ends of the earth and beyond.

ANOTHER TRAVEL ADVISORY ON PLANET REEBOK.
TAKE STOCK IN YOUR FUTURE

Play the Ultimate Stock Market Game for the Experience, the Fun, and over $100,000 in Cash & Prizes.

REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCE
You’ve learned about the stock market in your business, finance, and investment classes. Here’s your chance to apply that knowledge and gain the real-world experience necessary to get a head start on your career. Your participation in the challenge will make for an excellent resume addition and a unique conversation piece in employment interviews.

REAL-WORLD EXCITEMENT
But enough about real-world experience. This challenge is all about real-world excitement! Imagine...you’re the manager of a $500,000 stock portfolio. Who knows where you’ll get your next big stock idea? Investors Business Daily, your local paper, a TV commercial or maybe that new pair of sneakers you just bought. Wherever it comes from, pick up the phone, call your broker and make your trades.

INVEST IN YOUR FUTURE
Make the right moves and win prizes and fame in Investors Business Daily. Make the wrong moves and risk nothing because it’s only a game! So call today for your personal $500,000 brokerage account. At only $495 this is probably the best investment you’ll ever make.

The Eighth Annual

AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge

October 9 - December 8, 1995

GRAND PRIZE $15,000
Plus Laptop

2nd Place...Laptop & $1000
3rd Place...Laptop & $500
4th Place...Laptop & $250
5th Place...Laptop & $150
6th-10th Place...Laptop & $100
11th-20th Place...$50
21st-100th Place...$25

HIGH SCHOOL

1st Place...Laptop & $2000
2nd Place...Laptop & $1500
3rd Place...Laptop & $1000
4th Place...Laptop & $750
5th Place...Laptop & $500

FMA SCHOLARSHIPS

1st Place...$2000
2nd Place...$1000
3rd Place...$500

PBL SCHOLARSHIPS

1st Place...$2000
2nd Place...$1000
3rd Place...$500

TOP 500 PERFORMERS

AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge T-shirt

The Game At A Glance

- Manage a $500,000 stock portfolio
- Execute your buy and sell orders over a toll-free AT&T 800 line or on the internet at http://www.replicacorp.com
- Get real-time stock quotes
- Receive monthly portfolio statements or daily account updates on the internet
- Look for your name among the leaders list in Investors Business Daily
- Win cash and merchandise prizes

Special Offer: Save 20%!
The AT&T Universal Card is the preferred credit card of the AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge. Use it to pay for your $495 investment challenge registration fee, and you’ll receive a 10% credit toward your AT&T Universal Card account!* For more information on the AT&T Universal Card or to request an application call 1 800 438-8627 Ext. 40

*This offer can not be used in conjunction with any other offer
It applies only to College cardmembers. Discover is accepted to first account only.

Sponsored by

AT&T Universal Card

CALL TODAY FOR IMMEDIATE REGISTRATION!

Trading begins on October 9th. (Late entries accepted until October 31, 1995)

1 800 858-1995 Ext. 15

© 1995 Replica Corporation. All rights reserved. The AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge is a contest administered on behalf of AT&T and AT&T Universal Card by Replica Corporation and its affiliate, Wall Street Portfolio. Although the contest simulates actual market conditions, neither the money, securities nor the transactions are real. Awards of prizes are the responsibility of Replica Corporation, and winners may be subject to all taxes for prizes. Payment of all applicable federal, state and local taxes and fees is the sole responsibility of and must be paid by the winners. Winners of prizes valued at $600 or more will be issued an IRS Form 1099 stating the value of their prize.

No Common Cents

In the days of dwindling funding for higher education, this one really hurts.

Unauthorized investment trading since 1992 has cost an unknown number of colleges and universities at least $138 million. As school administrators needed another excuse to jack up tuition and fees.

The investments were part of the Connecttech-based Common Fund, a $20 billion pool of investments from 1,400 schools nationwide. First Capital Strategist Inc., one of many investment firms working for the Common Fund, is the group responsible for the loss.

The lost money was actually investment earnings, not student dollars. But the losses are expected to have a trickle-down effect.

The use of investment earnings varies at each school. Some reinvest; others factor them into their annual budgets.

The Pennsylvania-based First Capital will not say how many schools were affected by the loss, but it seems that many of the 1,400 schools may feel the pinch. Penn State U. officials say the school lost at least $236,000 in the transactions. The U. of Michigan’s losses amounted to at least $1.5 million.

“It looks like the university will have to absorb the loss,” says Randy Harris, associate vice president of finance at Michigan.

First Capital officials say Kent Abrams, a senior trader with the firm, admitted he had a "relatively small" amount of money — less than $100,000 — in an initial investment. But rather than reporting the loss, as is customary, Abrons tried to hide his way out of the red and lost even more money.

First Capital has suspended Abrons. According to First Capital officials, “He clearly understood that his actions were in contravention not only of the Common Fund’s investment guidelines but also First Capital’s policies and procedures.”

The Common Fund, a nonprofit organization, has experienced some fallout from Abrons’ actions. The U. of Minnesota, which lost no money, pulled its investments in July from the Common Fund and from First Capital. Six other schools, including Denison U. in Ohio, have since followed suit.

The Common Fund officials are doing everything they can to recover the losses, says Michigan’s Harris. “But we’re still going to see a big reduction in our year’s earnings.”

Travis Spencer, Eastern Illinois U.
Vampires have invaded the campus, and it's going to take more than holy water and garlic to stop them.

"I really feel as though nobody would understand if I just came out and told them the truth," says Ohio State U. senior Greg Dearing, a self-proclaimed vampire. "I mean, how do you tell your friends that you have a taste for blood? Until now, it's something I've kept a secret."

Thanks in part to novels by Anne Rice and Margaret Carter, movies and role-playing games, the fascination with and study of vampires is quickly becoming a major part of pop culture on campus.

"It's all around us — you can't escape it," says Sharon Evanich, a grad student studying folklore at Southwestern U. in Texas. "They have vampire bars in San Francisco, Chicago and Atlanta. You can't swing a dead cat without hitting a vampire."

Evanich has participated in bloodsports — she watched a vampire enthusiasm parade of her mortality blood. "It was very melodramatic," she says. "I pricked my finger and bled into his chalice. He made a big production out of drinking it."

And while English and folklore professors also note the soaring popularity of vampire culture portrayed in Gothic literature and history.

"[Vampires in novels] used to be nothing but a bunch of bloodsucking psychos, but now authors are starting to give them more human characteristics," says David Van Becker, professor emeritus of English at San Jose State U.

"I have to beat [the students] away with a stick!" says Elizabeth Miller, whose literature class at Canada's Memorial U. covers historical vampire works from John Polidori to Bram Stoker. "There is a revived interest in the Gothic, vampires in particular."

Students feed their interest in vampires outside of class, too. Vampire: The Masquerade, created in 1991 by White Wolf Inc., is a role-playing game that plays either a dice-based or live-action version.

The Camarilla, an international Masquerade enthusiasts club based in Salt Lake City, reports that 50 to 70 percent of its current 3,000-plus membership is composed of college students.

"It's a great way to get out some frustrations, and it's a challenge for me. It forces me to be creative," says Michael Nicholson, a junior at Ohio's Hiram College who organizes Masquerade games on campus.

But beyond the books and games, how about a live interview with a vampire?

"I first started drinking blood when I was a kid and would cut my finger," Deering says. "When I was a freshman in college, I met a girl [who was] into the same thing."

"I am what I am. I don't turn into a bat, but I can go out in the daylight. I like the taste of blood. And I do believe in blood.

Guest Expert: Elvira

On Vampires: "It's scary for college vampires in the '90s — they always have to remember to practice safe sucks."

Does being a vampire suck?

Some students aren't putting up with putting out. In a world where phone sex and cybersex are at your fingertips, there's a new college virgin on campus, and it's not the shy, religious prude of the past.

Debbie Yuan, a graduate of Columbia U., says she's enjoying the simplicities of life as a college virgin.

"I'm not a religious person, so my decision has nothing to do with religion," Yuan says. "It's just about family values and the way I was raised."

David Chamberlin, special assistant to the vice president of the Family Research Council, insists that the number of students who are saving sex for marriage is growing.

However, according to Koray Tanfer, a senior research scientist at the Batelle Memorial Institute, which conducts sex studies and surveys, sex among college-aged adults is not decreasing. He says the fear of STIs hasn't curtailed sex or the risky behavior associated with casual sex.

"We do other things together, and we're still sharing each other," Payne says. "Sex isn't the ultimate thing to give in a relationship."

'Let's Talk About Sex (NOT!)

There are times people think I don't have a life because I haven't done it," she says, but as a law student, a bass guitarist and vice president of the Christian legal society, Chen begs to differ.

Stephon Payne, a senior at Temple U. in Pennsylvania, says he and his fiancee have a stronger relationship because of their decision to abstain from sex.

"Instead of bumping and grinding, we took the route of getting to know each other," he says. "[But] we do have urges to sex each other up."

But what about those who have had sex? Is there such a thing as a born-again virgin?

Chamberlin says yes: "We call it a clean slate. Students are learning the hard way that sex without marriage is empty."

Payne and his fiancee had both had sex with other people before they began dating but are waiting until they're married to have sex again.

"There are all these things we've both missed," he says. "It's not about regretting it, but not being able to see a bigger picture of things."
Anything for the Team

T hese people are nuts. Every Saturday morning, they’re up before dawn to coat themselves in war paint, pack up for the road and fire up the grill in preparation for the gridiron war of the week.

They’re the fanatic fans, kickoff crazies and sideline psychos hitting their prime every fall at colleges across the nation.

It’s ridiculous to most, but to them, it’s religion. ‘I may be an Irish-Catholic,’ says Boston College sophomore Kevin Sullivan. ‘But on game days, I’m a football fan.’

IN-PLAY

Sullivan says he loves to be rude and crude while rooting for his Eagles — especially against the U. of Notre Dame. He was ready last season when ‘that other Catholic school’ came to Boston. He and his friends made T-shirts with big letters on the front greeting the Irish: ‘SOUTH BEND OVER!’

When the Irish ran by Sullivan, he demonstrated the gesture. ‘I just wanted to make sure those heathens knew what the shirt meant,’ he says. ‘[Boston College] is a Catholic school, but that’s why the games are on Saturday. We’ll repent on Sunday.’

U. of Michigan sophomore Andy Smith doesn’t wear shirts. Instead, he paints ‘GO BLUE!’ on his body and strolls around Michigan Stadium.

‘I’m on a quest for the manliest tailgaters of all time,’ he says. ‘When they see my maize-and-blue chest, they invoke me over. Crisp Saturday afternoons, burnt hot dogs, football and free beer is what college is all about.’

But, as U. of Southern California sophomore Kerry Krentler says, going topless can have its consequences.

‘My boyfriend and his fraternity brothers painted ‘GO TROJANS!’ on their chests for the California-Berkeley game last year,’ she says. ‘But they got sunburns and had ‘GO TROJANS!’ branded on their bodies for weeks.’

Michigan State U. police are on their guard when Wolverine fans visit East Lansing. Seems the school’s mascot statue, Sparty, attracts visitors the night before the game. ‘They like to paint certain body parts blue,’ says Michigan State sophomore Waled Ezrat.

The fun usually stops short of police action, but more Waleed Ezzat.

But church on a morning? It doesn’t get any crazier than that. —不明瞭

F YOU THINK DROOPY-EYED POTHEADS are the only ones advocating the decriminalization of marijuana, think again.

The National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) has been steadily gaining support since it was founded in 1970, although it weathered a small slump in the ‘80s just-say-no era. Traditionally strong on college campuses, NORML advocates an end to all criminal penalties for personal possession, use and cultivation of marijuana.

PULSE

NORML chapters have experienced a wide range of reactions from students and faculty.

Tiffany Davis, a senior at the U. of Virginia and member of NORML, says the stigmatization attached to members distracts people from the real issues.

‘People think that if you promote marijuana, you’re a stoner,’ Davis says. ‘For me, it’s just recognizing that it’s a valuable plant and that the government is wasting money by enforcing marijuana laws.’

Keith Meadows, a sophomore at U. of Wisconsin, Waukesha, and president of the campus NORML, says students are afraid of marijuana because they don’t know much about it. ‘One girl started crying because she didn’t want the group on campus. She said marijuana kills people, though she had never heard of anybody who had died from it.’

NORML peaked, both in attendance and membership, from 1974 to 1980, when 11 states reduced criminal penalties for the possession of small amounts of marijuana. Membership declined during the Reagan/Bush era, but support has started to crop up again, with 50 to 75 percent growth per year.

Most health officials on college campuses find the renewed interest troubling.

Frank Calvin, assistant director of the health center at the U. of Texas, Arlington, says legalizing marijuana could have adverse effects on the way students learn.

‘Marijuana shouldn’t be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

In fact, the government is losing money by enforcing marijuana laws.

People who get marijuana from friends or buy it on the black market pay a much higher price. ‘Marijuana destroys the value of the dollar and it goes to support drug trafficking,’ Davis says.

Not all of them are good, but some of them are.

Home brews and hops, es have a new companion. The taste is like that of a fresh, but to the taste of a fresh, Mark Carles at the U. of O. began brewing: ‘Now, the tradi- tion. ’

‘I started it by my house. I might be the first to do it,’ Car- lese said. ‘I never expected it to be as popular as it is.’

‘The response is great,’ he says. ‘People are starting to look at it as a legal way to get high.’

NORML members meet often to discuss the issue.

‘Marijuana is a natural substance,’ Davis says. ‘I’d like to see it legalized as such.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

NORML members meet often to discuss the issue.

‘Marijuana is a natural substance,’ Davis says. ‘I’d like to see it legalized as such.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

NORML members meet often to discuss the issue.

‘Marijuana is a natural substance,’ Davis says. ‘I’d like to see it legalized as such.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

NORML members meet often to discuss the issue.

‘Marijuana is a natural substance,’ Davis says. ‘I’d like to see it legalized as such.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’

NORML members meet often to discuss the issue.

‘Marijuana is a natural substance,’ Davis says. ‘I’d like to see it legalized as such.’

‘Marijuana should be a part of the learning atmosphere,’ he says. ‘It has a sensory-dulling effect. . . . You have no drive for anything.’

New concentrations of marijuana are making it more dangerous than ever, Calvin says. ‘The stuff now is at least 20 times more powerful than the old stuff [from the ’60s],’ Calvin says. ‘Although starting an organization like NORML on campus wasn’t difficult, Davis says that keeping it alive is.

‘We don’t get much support at all,’ he says. ‘Once people realize how common [the use of marijuana] is, the sooner they’ll realize that enforcing marijuana laws is a waste of taxpaying money.’
What's All the Brew-ha-ha?

If you're a beer lover who's dabbled in home brewing, you can relate to the cry of a novice: "Help! It's my first batch, and it smells terrible!" Kim Williams had his first "sour dough" batch six years ago. "You get a real bad skunky smell," says Williams, a grad student at the U. of California, Berkeley.

Not to worry. That first batch of home brew should be thought of as a sacrificial offering. It's part of the process — and do-it-yourselfers say it can be used for shampoo or as an ingredient in the world's best pizza crust.

TASTE

"Not all of the beers you make are good, but you can always use them to marinade," Williams says. Home brewing is growing by leaps and hops, and college campuses have a new crowd of drinking companions. These beer lovers go for the taste gusto.

Mark Castleman, a grad student at the U. of Colorado, Denver, began brewing when his palate outgrew the traditional cheap brew synonymous with keg parties.

"I started when I became more interested in quality than quantity," Castleman says. Williams digs the experimental aspect of doing it yourself.

"I was out picking blackberries by my house, and I said, 'Hey, that might be interesting.'" Using a recipe from another fruit beer, Williams modified it with the blackberries. "It turned out great," he says.

With home brewing, you don't need to fly to Munich for an awesome pint, and you don't need to be 21, as long as you keep things quiet. Brew stores are popping up everywhere — some major department stores even carry brewing kits. And there's always mail order.

The initial investment costs about $70 and yields more than two cases of beer. After the set-up setback, you can brew for as little as 32 cents for a 12-ounce bottle. Of course, the real nectar of the gods can cost a buck a bottle.

Variety, quality and individuality ignite the fever in the home brewer's soul. Mass-market breweries can't afford to produce, market and distribute the quality of brewski dedicated beer nuts can brew.

"My all-time favorite is mead," says Brian Butenschoen, a junior at the U. of Portland, Ore. The main fermenting ingredient in mead is honey, not the barley malt common in most beers.

"Let me just say that it's really strong aphrodisiac," Butenschoen confides.

Clean hair, good pizza and aphrodisiacs — what else could a college student want? Maybe a frothy blackberry stout to top it off?

Tricia Laine, Assistant Editor/Jay Hughes, Colorado State U., contributed to this story/Photo by Chad Weiltrauch, Penn State U.

Don't plan on meditating in the Red House, at Syracuse U. The party began 25 years ago when an alumnus purchased an empty house to rent to students who would share the responsibility of running it. Painted red by the original 20 residents, the house is part of campus lore. With a '50s Oldsmobile as the fireplace mantle, a doorbell that plays 25 tunes and a reputation for wild parties, the Red House usually attracts students in arts fields.

"We look for someone who will jibe with us," says Victor Vitale, a graduate student in architecture. At Ohio State U., Elvis is the similar interest that attracts students to find a new place to dwell.

"He's the King — what more can you say?" says Ohio State senior Scott Klein. Klein and the others have invested countless dollars decorating their place with Elvis lamps, posters and velvet paintings.

"It got started our freshman year when we were still living in the dorms," says Ohio State senior Brent Horner. "We knew this guy [who] was a huge Elvis fan. He's the one who made us the fans we are."

These fans believe that what they started, like Elvis, will never die.

"We've had plenty of different people living in this apartment, and before they left, they were all Elvis fans," Klein says. "This will go on."

Robert Mod, Syracuse U./David Fong, Ohio State U., contributed to this story/Photo by Aaron Burg, U. of Calif., Davis Escape while you can.

The end here was to make a deal with an advisory board to approve the changes, according to author and screenwriter Bob Sheen, who came up with the idea to publish the text-based book. The next step is up to you.
BY ROBERT MANKER
ILLUSTRATION BY CHRIS SOPROCH, EASTERN ILLINOIS U.

$5 BET HERE, A $20 WAGER THERE. Just putting a little money where your mouth is. That's what college sports are all about, right? Not to the NCAA, and definitely not if you're a student-athlete.

The U. of Maryland athletic department learned that lesson the hard way this summer when five Terrapin athletes were suspended for gambling violations. Among them were football quarterback Scott Milanovich, a preseason All-American, and Matt Raydo, a reserve basketball player.

Milanovich, who bet just $200 over a three-year span and placed no bets on his own team, was originally suspended for the first eight of his team's 11 games. The suspension was appealed and reduced to four games. Raydo was disqualified for the first 20 of his team's 27 contests. His case is currently under appeal.

The suspensions are believed to be the harshest sanctions for gambling ever doled out by the NCAA to Division I athletes. And NCAA officials say their message is clear: Gambling on college sports by students-athletes will not be tolerated.

It's everywhere

The Maryland athletes are the 19th group suspended by the NCAA for gambling violations since January 1990. Most of the cases involved athletes betting on football or basketball.

"NCAA legislation prohibits college athletes from gambling on any intercollegiate athletic contests," says Dirk Taitt, NCAA enforcement representative. The sport, the school and the amount of money don't matter, he says.

Upon joining their teams, athletes sign contracts promising not to engage in such activity, and yet it happens — often.

Since 1992, illegal sports-gambling operations have been uncovered at Michigan State U., U. of Maine, U. of Rhode Island, U. of Texas, Arizona State U., Northwestern U. and Bryant College (R.I.). At least five of these cases involved student-athletes.

"I'd have to say it's campuswide," says Albert, a U. of Florida junior and sports gambler. "I know [campus] organizations that are extremely wrapped up in it. It's like an everyday thing — like 'What'd you have for dinner? Who'd you put money on?"

A cause for concern

Student welfare and the integrity of the competitions, Taitt says, are what the NCAA is trying to protect.

"A student-athlete is particularly vulnerable," he says. "Once you're sufficiently indebted [with gambling losses] or addicted [to gambling], you're a prime target for organized gambling.

That is the ultimate fear — that student-athletes could be at the mercy of gamblers while on the courts and fields.

Once under the control of gamblers, athletes could be ordered to throw games or to shave points to yield a higher payoff for gamblers.

Meanwhile, fans may begin to question the honesty of each play. "Was the dropped pass or the missed layup a mistake, or was something going on? The fact that that could enter the fan's thought process demonstrates part of the problem," Taitt says.

No easy answer

It's been said many times — sports are big business. Not only in college, but especially in college. The folks at the NCAA know there's a problem. They just don't know how to fix it.

"With the amount of money bet each year on the NCAA [men's basketball] tournament, we'd be remiss not to address those numbers and notice what's going on out there," Taitt says. "A total of $2.5 billion is bet on the NCAA tournament every year, half of which is illegal. But there are jurisdictional questions about what we have the authority to do."

The problem is further complicated by campus environments in which rampant gambling activity among non-athletes often goes unnoticed and unpunished.

Henry Lesieur is the criminal law chair at Illinois State U., and one of the few scholars to research the topic. His study of six schools — private and public — revealed that 23 percent of students gamble at least once a week and that about 5.5 percent could be considered pathological gamblers.

"College students today are growing up in an era in which gambling is acceptable," he says. "It's about as impossible to control as marijuana consumption or Division I athletes. And NCAA officials say their message is clear: Gambling on college sports by student-athletes will not be tolerated.

"Was the dropped pass or the missed layup a mistake, or was something going on?"

Dirk Taitt, NCAA enforcement representative

Playing with the big boys

The NCAA says the severity of Milanovich's original suspension was justified because he had bet with off-campus bookmakers. The suspension was reduced, Doyle says, because the NCAA discovered he wasn't part of an organized-gambling operation.

The NCAA insists on making a distinction between on- and off-campus betting operations. The reasoning is that the non-students, as "professional" bookmakers, pose more of a threat than students, who are considered amateurs. Student gamblers say such thinking ignores the scope of the problem.

"It's on campus, and students know what they're doing," says Donald, a senior and sports bettor at James Madison U. "And until people realize that and deal with it, it's not gonna go away."

"The sports gamblers interviewed for this story agreed to talk only on the condition that their identities be protected."

Robert Manker, Assistant Editor, spends his lonely Saturday nights at the track — the ponies and a stiff drink his only companions.
The Best Way To Save Money On Stuff (Other Than Borrowing Your Roommate’s).

Roommates tend to get weird when you borrow their stuff. (They’re funny like that.) Better to get yourself a MasterCard® card. Then you could use it to buy the things you really want.

And with these College MasterValues® coupons, you’ll save up to 40%. And until you get your own place, it’s the smartest thing you can do. Roommates are weird enough as it is. MasterCard. It’s more than a credit card. It’s smart money.”

JCPenney
Optical Center

50% OFF ANY EYEGlass FRAME

Save 50% on absolutely every eyeglass frame plus a bonus discount of $20 on our best lenses. Save includes any eyeglass frame in stock when you purchase a complete pair of eyeglasses and use your MasterCard® Card. Less discount applies to our best lenses. See optical for further details. Offer expires 11/19/95. Void where prohibited, taxed or restricted. One coupon per person per day. Limit one coupon per order. Expires 11/19/95.

SANDY GLASE

Camelot

SAVE $3 OFF A CD

Here’s music to your ears... save $3 on one regularly priced Compact Disc at $6.99 or more when you use your MasterCard® Card. Limit two $3 discounts per coupon, per purchase. Limit one $3 discount per box set purchase. Offer Void Without This Coupon. COUPON #336

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

49% OFF A SPECIAL 12-WEEK SUBSCRIPTION

Invest in your future and stay on top of current developments with The Wall Street Journal. For a limited time only, use your MasterCard® Card and pay just $23 for a 12-week subscription to the nation’s leading business publication. To take advantage of this special offer, call 1-800-342-5558 and please refer to source key 350

Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.

VIEWER’S EDGE

GET ONE VIDEO FREE WHEN YOU BUY THREE

Video values just for you! Enjoy a full selection of top-quality videos at discount prices. All videos are priced at $19.95 or less and are 100% satisfaction guaranteed. Act now and get one free video FREE when you buy three and use your MasterCard® Card. Call 1-800-351-0252 for your FREE video catalogue and ask for the COLLEGE MasterValue offer #1081-9399.

Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer #1081-9399 is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.

HERMAN’S

SAVE 20%

Run into Herman’s and save. Take 20% off your next purchase of regular priced merchandise when you use your MasterCard® Card. Find everything you need at Herman’s... We Are Sport! Offer excludes certain merchandise. Coupon Required. Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.

HERMAN’S

SAVE 20%

Take 20% off your next purchase of regular priced merchandise when you use your MasterCard® Card. Find everything you need at Herman’s... We Are Sport! Offer excludes certain merchandise. Coupon Required. Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.

W3W/Panasonic

50% OFF FILM PROCESSING

Hold on to the good times and your money, too. Take 50% off the regular price of processing and printing on the first set of prints at MattsPhotos, when you use your MasterCard® Card. Call 1-800-733-6668 for the location nearest you. Limit 1. Offer Not Valid Without This Coupon.

THE PHOTO

50% OFF FILM PROCESSING

Hold on to the good times and your money, too. Take 50% off the regular price of processing and printing on the first set of prints at MattsPhotos, when you use your MasterCard® Card. Call 1-800-733-6668 for the location nearest you. Limit 1. Offer Not Valid Without This Coupon.

The Sharper Image

SAVE 15% ON YOUR NEXT PURCHASE OF $75 OR MORE

Shopping is easy at America’s premier specialty retailer of gift, fitness, recreational, novel, apparel and more. Save 15% on a purchase of $75 or more using your MasterCard® Card and any purchase at any store location or by mail order. Call 1-800-344-4444, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to find the store nearest you or for a FREE catalog. Offers subject to change. Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.

MR. SHARP

JOIN AND SAVE $45

Join for only $35, instead of the regular $45 annual membership. Then enjoy FREE lift tickets and savings up to 50% on lift tickets, resort lodging and dining, etc., at top resorts East and West. A great gift for skiers/snowboarders. Call 1-800-800-5218 (2574) to join or for details, special in your favorite areas and mention offer #15MSMKL. Plus look for our on the internet at URL http://www.skicard.com/skicard

THE WASHINGTON POST

50% OFF FILM PROCESSING

Hold on to the good times and your money, too. Take 50% off the regular price of processing and printing on the first set of prints at MattsPhotos, when you use your MasterCard® Card. Call 1-800-733-6668 for the location nearest you. Limit 1. Offer Not Valid Without This Coupon.

The Sharper Image

SAVE 15% ON YOUR NEXT PURCHASE OF $75 OR MORE

Shopping is easy at America’s premier specialty retailer of gift, fitness, recreational, novel, apparel and more. Save 15% on a purchase of $75 or more using your MasterCard® Card and any purchase at any store location or by mail order. Call 1-800-344-4444, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to find the store nearest you or for a FREE catalog. Offers subject to change. Offer void 11/15/95 or 1/31/96. Offer valid only on purchases using a MasterCard® Card and when the COLLEGE MasterValue® offer is mentioned. Offer may not be combined with any other discount. Discounts are not available to MasterCard Club Members or students.
Others say the reviews are unnecessary to undermine the tenure process.

The grade
To obtain the stamp of approval, the school, as a member of the tenure review political science department at the Madison, says the university looks at recent letters but places more emphasis on search a professor completes. Students tenure to 60 to 80 percent of the reviews are unnec-quired to obtain the tenure process. To his students’ surprise, Richard professor of English, landed in the tenure. He was approved by the English was denied tenure in one of the letter-writing campaigns, petitions and by two English majors, Rutgers official to give tenure.

Two English majors, Rutgers officials to give tenure.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology.

"Generally, students can do about it. Teachers input students should have is that students are always trying faculty," says Joe Crespo, a senior at Bowdoin College in editor of The Orient. "Generally, students can do about it." A junior at Bowdoin college in conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Researchers at Bowdoin, you don’t add up. Richard, a junior at Bowdoin College in editor of The Orient. "Generally, students can do about it." A junior at Bowdoin college in conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology.

"Generally, students can do about it. Teachers input students should have is that students are always trying faculty," says Joe Crespo, a senior at Bowdoin College in editor of The Orient. "Generally, students can do about it." A junior at Bowdoin college in conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology. Conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology.

"Generally, students can do about it. Teachers input students should have is that students are always trying faculty," says Joe Crespo, a senior at Bowdoin College in editor of The Orient. "Generally, students can do about it." A junior at Bowdoin college in conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology. Conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology. Conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology. Conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.

Richard, a member of the tenure review committee, says they have little to do with balance, politics based on the amount of political ideology. Conservative views, you keep them if you get tenure," Nadel says.
With our coupon, you can escape for a few weekends as a college student. You'll get two savings certificates for discount travel on American Airlines, each good for a long weekend anywhere other than school.

You're a college student; you get a special 14.9% APR for the first six months if you apply before January 31, 1996.

The Best Way To Save Money

Roommates

The other credit card protects college students in many ways as the Citibank card. That's why, hands down, it's the most popular credit card among college students. With your Citibank card, you can:

- Pay no annual fee. You might just need that money for school-emblazoned hats and sweatshirts.
- Escape with a low interest rate. Since the first six months if you apply before January 31, 1996, you're a college student, you'll get a special 14.9% APR for the first six months if you apply before January 31, 1996.
- Write your own ticket. There's no copy of your current validated student ID to apply for a Citibank MasterCard. Simply fill out and mail the attached application. Then relax. Because the credit card company that looks out for more students than any other will be looking out for you too.

Get instant cash. In emergencies, you can use your Citibank card to get cash at over 70,000 ATMs and over 7,000,000 financial institutions worldwide.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.

We're looking out for you.
In the world of academic Darwinism, where research grants fund programs and summon heady prestige, institutions seem to be falling into a pattern of granting tenure to professors whose bodies are in the classroom but whose hearts and minds aren't.

Although the tenure process varies at every university, most schools follow traditional guidelines. After five or six years, the tenure candidate goes through a series of evaluations — by the department, a schoolwide committee, a dean or provost, the president and finally trustees. Many schools require the nod from 60 percent of the department and universal approval at all other levels.

When evaluating teachers, most colleges and universities balance the teacher's performance in the classroom with the quality and quantity of research projects and service to the community. Once tenure is granted, a university must demonstrate "adequate cause" — a tedious and difficult case to prove — to dismiss a professor.

The tenure bubble

Achieving tenure is the pinnacle of many teachers' careers. It often comes with a substantial pay raise, a lighter class load and job security. More important, advocates say, is that tenure allows for greater academic freedom — a key element to higher education. Tenured professors, without the looming threat of termination, have the freedom to try out new ideas and opinions otherwise thought of as "risky."

"I wouldn't have a job if I weren't tenured," says Richard Berthold, an associate professor of history at the U. of New Mexico. Berthold is a self-professed wise-ass with a big mouth. "I'm off-the-wall radical on the First Amendment and freedom of speech. I say things in class that would get me fired without tenure."

Tenure secures academic freedom and freedom of speech at the PC university of the '90s, Berthold says.

But others argue that the current tenure system preserves "deadwood" — outdated professors who continue to teach long after their teaching methods and classroom manner have expired.

Bye bye security?

At Florida Gulf Coast U., a new university in the state system, administrators will have the option of offering multi-year contracts as an alternative to tenure positions. The contracts, renewable after two or three years, do not threaten the liberties that tenured faculty believe they have, says Steve Belcher, director of human resources at the university.

"The faculty are protected in the sense that if they feel their academic freedom or freedom of speech has been violated, they can address the issue in court," Belcher says.

Still, other schools are considering post-tenure evaluations to review faculty performance. Post-tenure reviews are already in effect at the U. of Colorado, U. of Hawaii and U. of Wisconsin.

Advocates say the evaluations will allow universities to pinpoint deadwood and to encourage good faculty members. Others say the reviews are unnecessary and threaten to undermine the tenure process.

Making the grade

How hard is it to obtain the stamp of approval? It all depends on the school.

Donald Downs, a member of the tenure review committee in the political science department at the U. of Wisconsin, Madison, says the university looks at student evaluations but places more emphasis on the amount of research a professor completes.

Rutgers U. grants tenure to 60 to 80 percent of the candidates. To his students' surprise, Richard Barr, associate professor of English, landed in the other 40 to 20 percent.

Voted by students as Teacher of the Year and Rutgers Review's Best Teacher of the Year for two years running, Barr was approved by the English department but was denied tenure in one of the final stages.

Despite a letter-writing campaign, petitions and a hunger strike by two English majors, Rutgers officials still refused to give Barr tenure.

"It's not unusual for somebody to be particularly strong in one area but not in another," says Jean Ambrose, assistant vice president for faculty affairs at Rutgers.

The same thing happened at the U. of Pennsylvania: Three popular English professors were denied tenure despite spotless records with students. The students launched a protest against the university, but still no deal.

Mike Nadel, a senior at Penn and an advocate of forming a student tenure review committee, says the tenure decisions have little to do with balance. Instead, reviews are based on the amount of research conducted by the professor and sometimes on his or her political ideology.

"If you have conservative views, you keep them to yourself until you get tenure," Nadel says.

"If you're a liberal you don't get tenure, no matter how good a teacher you are," says Emily Church, a junior at Bowdoin College in Maine and news editor of The Orient. "Generally, there is little students can do about it."

Just how much input students should have is hotly debated. "I don't think students are always prudent in reviewing faculty," says Joe Crespo, a senior at Duke U. "I get those teacher review slips, and I know what I'm doing. I can leave class."

That outcome is harsh for those denied tenure. Although several do go on to other schools where they receive permanent positions, many are disillusioned by the process and turn away from the teaching profession altogether.

"I worked with students by motivating them, engaging them, inspiring them," says one teacher denied tenure at an East Coast school. "Teaching was an experience. It was about redefining knowledge. I hoped there would be a place for that at college. I guess there wasn't."

Julie Blair, a political science and communications major at Hope College, is looking for a tenure position in the field of print journalism. Any takers?

October 1995 * U. Magazine 21
Some people were born to be the best actor, doctor, astronaut or singer. But what about those whose expertise lies in the field of power walking, badminton, the hammer toss or Greco-Roman wrestling? It's downright impossible to make even pocket change on a street corner fencing or doing the triple jump. Their only goal, and the only place they can peddle their wares, is the grandest of athletic events — the Olympics.

Olympic hopefuls come in all shapes, sizes and ages. Many try to balance the hard work and dedication it takes to achieve their dream with the demanding schedule of college classes. We salute these heroes in the making.

Right on target

During the summer, the whistle of wind being pierced by arrows is a common sound around Greenview, Ill., hometown of 19-year-old Victor Wunderle. But during the school year, Wunderle takes aim at his Olympic dream from College Station, Texas, home of Texas A&M. Wunderle is training to be one of the three athletes to honor their country as Olympic archers.

Until now, the training hadn't affected Wunderle's schoolwork too much, but he plans to take this school year off to focus on his dream. The Olympic trials, which is a series of tournaments that whittles down the field of competitors to the final three, began in August and last through June 1996. Wunderle estimates that he'll spend two to eight hours a day honing his skill.

"I started shooting when I was 5," says Wunderle. "I went to my first tournament when I was 6 and won it. I just kept going up the ladder from there."

That ladder has led him to a spot on a national touring team that has gone to competitions as far away as Norway. The next rung may be Atlanta in 1996, but it won't be easy.

"Most other countries have two or three top guys who are always there, but the competition here is stiff," he says. "Our 15th best shooter could beat their No. 1 shooter on any given day."

Unlike most Olympic sports, archery doesn't require intense physical training. Wunderle says his time is better spent staring down bull's-eyes than running or lifting weights.

Archery is more mental than physical, Wunderle says. But it's not just the shooter vs. the target, he says. "In some tournaments, you can psych some people out. [But] most of the Olympic archers have a lot of etiquette, and there's no stuff like that."

Frank Thomas, head coach of the Texas A&M archery team, says Wunderle has the confidence, focus and mental toughness to succeed. "On any given day, he can bear anybody in the world."

Thomas laughs politely at the idea of his coaching being the key to Wunderle's success. "We just have to keep finding him a place to practice and people to practice with — that's my main job," he says. "He doesn't need much more help than that."

Curses, foiled again

Like a fast-paced game of chess combined with boxing, that's how 20-year-old Felicia Zimmerman describes fencing.

Zimmermann's fencing career was thrust upon her early. "When I was 8, my dad was reading about fencing in the newspaper," she recalls. "He decided to sign me up for it. I had no choice."

Zimmermann, who has not yet thanked her dad, has grown to become the second-ranked female fencer in the United States and 17th in the world.

"I enjoy fencing in that it's a sport that centers only on yourself," she says. "The only person you can blame is yourself, and the only person who can win is yourself."

In September, Zimmerman and the rest of the U.S. fencing contingent began a series of tournaments, including games in Canada and some World Cup events. When it's all said and done, the three fencers who have accumulated the most points will wear the red, white and blue in Atlanta.

The Rush, N.Y., native attends the U. of Rochester. She admits that balancing schoolwork and an Olympic dream leaves time for little else.

"I've worked so much and so hard at fencing, and I've done OK in class, but it's difficult to make friends and meet people. That's the hard part," she says.

Racking up impressive finishes, on the other hand, hasn't proven to be too hard. Earlier this year, Zimmerman became the only U.S. woman to win a Junior World Cup gold medal at the Tournoi Frederico II in Italy; the same as the Canadian Women's Circuit in Montreal and third at the Tournoi International in Germany.

Zimmermann's 10-year trainer and current national coach, Buckle Leach, says she has the potential to be one of the top 10 fencers in the world.

"She has good discipline, good determination and huge desire," Leach says. "You need tenacity and good problem-solving ability. You need to be able to see situations and react to them. She can do that."

Women's fencing is broken down into two divisions, based on the weapon. Florence, which Zimmerman uses, is a lighter, more flexible weapon than the épée. Foil users must be more technical, as they can only score points by connecting with the tip of the sword on the torso from neck to groin. The épée can contact any point on the body to score.

"The strategic nature of the sport puts a premium on brains rather than brawn."

"It all comes down to who has the coolest head," Zimmerman says. "You can't just stick your arm out and start running at them. They'd look at you like, 'Do you think I'm stupid?' It's more faking, blocking and counterattacking."

Zimmermann missed the opportunity to participate in the '92 Olympics by one point.

"It was very hard, and that's why this Olympics is so important to me," she says.

"This time is my time, and I can't let it pass."

Shad Powers has joined U. as an assistant editor, and he says doing Neopix Russell impressions should be an Olympic sport.
5:45 a.m.

(Breakfast at Tiffany's this aint.)

THE NEW
KODAK FUNSAVER POCKET.
The ONE-TIME-USE,
(Hassle-Free. Go Anywhere, Shoot Anything)

It's your Life.
Shoot it or Lose it.
U. is here

http://www.umagazine.com
FLINT WAINESS IS A BUSY GUY.

As president of the student assembly, the senior represents the U. of Michigan's 40,000 students before university administrators and the world.

To do his job well, Wainess needs to spend a lot of time talking to a lot of people: campus leaders, random constituents, professional consultants working with the assembly on long-term projects. Wainess estimates he interacts with between 60 and 80 people a day.

He couldn't do it without the Internet.

Open 24 hours

Like many students on college campuses across the country, Wainess has found a new way to deal with the demands of his life. He sits before a screen, typing and talking. He messages assembly members about meetings and activist students about issues. From thousands of miles away, he arranged for a Colorado consulting firm to study the university and devise a viable universal health-care plan for students.

Technically, or rather technologically, Wainess works even while he's sleeping — before he saws logs, he logs on and dashes off mail to university president James J. Duderstadt.

"He checks his e-mail every morning at 6 a.m. before he goes jogging, so if I need something from him, I've already dealt with him by the time I get up," Wainess says. "I could have an appointment with him, face to face, in his office, once a month, or I could do this."

Nowadays on campus, those who aren't connected are obsolete. Heather Lowman, who graduated from Michigan way back in '93, says classes after hers get a completely different college experience.

"In just one or two years, suddenly there was a whole different generation of students dealing with
"I could talk to dozens or hundreds of people at once and really get my message across," Warren says. "It's so different from trying to meet people in person. It will never replace it, but it changes the whole structure and function of face-to-face interaction."

Some campus life observers worry that students will forgo flesh friends for on-line connections. Although at best the Internet should only supplement personal dealings, critics agree that students have the capability to go into Internet seclusion and still take care of daily routines.

Certainly, "net riders can make and maintain electronic relationships. But there's a lot more. In some schools they can register for classes, get transcripts, review library holdings, cruise document databases for research, turn in written homework, take exams, attend professors' office hours and one "talk" with classmates in technoculture".

Internet options also allow people to place orders and pay bills — things that normally require some venturing into the outside world — with a keyboard and terminal instead of car keys or bus fare.

Michael De Paola, a senior at Johns Hopkins, says he even learned to fix his car's brake — a decidedly hands-on activity — over the Internet.

"I just wasn't in the mood to ask anyone, so I didn't," De Paola says. "I floored a message on a newsgroup that said, 'How do I fix my brake,' and about 50 people replied. The direction was perfect, probably a lot better than if I had asked a real person."

For De Paola, the convenience of organizing his life from his desk outweighs most benefits of personal presence. Last year, he lived off-campus in Baltimore but spent many weekends at home in New York.

"It was great. I could hand in homework from hundreds of miles away, and I could talk with my professors from anywhere."

De Paola's use of the Internet points to the question college students and administrators around the country are raising with increasing frequency: How does new technology change the college experience and how much change is too much?

Please don't call on me

Archie C. Epps III, longtime dean of students at Harvard's Harvard College, says he worries that Internet communication takes away from a key component of the "college experience": learning to work and deal with people.

"You cannot develop into a mature person if you don't learn to look someone in the eye or hear a tone of voice," Epps says. "College teaches valuable life skills that students need to learn because they are pre-professional pre-adults. The Internet, when overused, allows people to hide from those things."

Some students say they lack the life skills necessary to succeed in an Internet social world and part of the charm. De Paola, for example, says he would much rather e-mail a professor than talk face to face.

"I get nervous and intimidated, and e-mailing is much less formal than what you want to get right. I can be more focused with don't think that's hard if we want."

The week it (Wide Web) is growing. Some estimate it will be as growth of 1 million people by next year to the Internet. A recent Amex and Universities found that 93 percent of the large campuses have e-mail. Of those, about 80 percent have used e-mail, but only five percent have been of the correct mail habit. I once, he says he won't again."

"You can make an amount of time..."

I chose my college for the personal attention.

---

Netiquette

Emily may not have ever posted, but that doesn't mean you shouldn't mind your manners when you're online.

- DON'T SHOUT!! Typing in all caps is considered rude. Put asterisks around a word to emphasize a point.
- Anybody home? Check e-mail often — it's as important as clearing and returning phone messages.
- Do you like to read babble? None of us do. Keep paragraphs and messages short and to the point.
- What are you talking about? Use the "re" or "mama" lines — it's nice to know what you're getting when you open a file.
- Keep your cool — flame (pasting scathing replies to others on the network) hurts. Be nice.
- That's not funny. Sarcasm and humor don't always translate when you're not face to face. Use symbols to convey your point.

"I had to send messages telling them that if they wanted me, they should call me."

YVONNE CHIU, DARTMOUTH COLLEGE
MEMBER THE COMPUTER NERDS from Weird Science. How about the scrawny yet brainy Matthew Broderick in War Games? In the not-so-distant past, computer users appeared on the silver screen as socially inept characters who found more excitement in the cyberworld than the social realm. But now that the Internet has entered the mainstream, Hollywood has refashioned the look of technology, too.

Take Bullock, for example. After playing Reeves’ gussy sidekick in Speed, she ran away with the MTV bucket of popcorn for Most Desirable Female.

In The Net, Miss Most Desirable plays a computer systems analyst who inadvertently accesses a classified program. It may be every computer hacker’s dream to have someone like Bullock sitting on the other end of the computer terminal — but it’s not what you’d call a slice of life.

Larger than life

“One reason movies about the Internet are so hot is that — despite the fact that practically everyone has heard about the Internet — relatively few people actually know very much about it,” says Sam Choi, a graduate student at the U. of Pennsylvania.

“The less you know about something that you think is cool, the more it seems magic,” Choi says. “The monster is always scarier when you haven’t seen it. Once you’ve seen it, it’s pretty tame.”

Each techie film offers its own high-tech monster, which is often a representation of technology gone awry. And, as in most Hollywood fare, good guys tangle with bad guys to save humanity.

In Hackers, a group of young, in-line skating computer whizzes becomes involved in a conspiracy. In Johnny Mnemonic, Reeves must download several megabytes of info that have the potential to save people from a previously incurable disease. And in Virtuosity, Washington plays an ex-cop who battles Sid 6.7, a composite of serial killers who leaves the computer-generated world to become truly interactive.

The man behind Sid 6.7, director Brett Leonard, says that he tried to depict both the advantages and abuses of technology in Virtuosity. Leonard also directed Lawnmower Man — a film about virtual reality that was only nominally based on a Stephen King short story.

After the success of Lawnmower Man, Leonard read a number of scripts dealing with virtual reality and decided on the one by Eric Bernt because it didn’t treat the concept as a gimmick.

“The mythology of technology is currently on everyone’s mind,” Leonard says. “We all sense it will change our lives, and it hasn’t happened yet. There have been radical changes in the way the government works and the way the media work. The only thing we can do is tell stories about how technology might change our lives. I’ve created a cautionary tale with Virtuosity.”

The final frontier?

The fascination with technology isn’t new, says Michael Carroll, an associate professor at Highlands U. in New Mexico. As a pop culture scholar, Carroll says America has always been fascinated by technology — from the railroad expansion to television.

Techie films not only represent a continuing infatuation with technology but also reflect the ideology of the frontier.

“When Kennedy created the last frontier with the space program, it took the place of spatial expansion that had come to a stop with Vietnam,” Carroll says. “All the frontier ideology was transported into outer space.”

When it became clear that outer space was not a dream in which everyone could participate, Carroll says, Americans shifted their frontier mentality to the Internet.

“I’ve found more than 300 articles published in American magazines which refer to cyberspace as a frontier,” Carroll says. “Using the Internet as a frontier seems to work better than outer space because everyone can actually play this game.”

Yet he thinks Hollywood’s new techie films go too far to add excitement to what he calls a cold medium.

“The Internet is pretty much a waste of time,” Stoll says. “It’s astonishing that Hollywood has latched onto it.”

That’s easy for a veteran to say — what’s left after uncovering espionage?

“Wherever you look on the Internet, there is no emotional interaction,” Stoll says.

“The best you can come up with is virtual interaction. There is cybersex, cyberlesben and cybersluts, but there ain’t no lusty, roll-in-the-hay sex. There’s no one so much as holding hands or rubbing noses — let alone fornicating in the grass. You can only talk about it. You can’t do it.”

“What a cheat.”

Impersonal or not, Hollywood’s on the virtual bandwagon. Only time will tell if there’s a pot of cybergold at the end of the celluloid.

Jeff Niesel is a graduate student at U. of California, San Diego. He’s a totally cool ’net-surfer dude — and the entertainment editor at the UCSD Guardian.
R+R
OUT THERE
The File Frontier

JUST WHEN YOU THOUGHT IT WAS SAFE TO GO BACK IN THE ENTERTAINMENT SECTION
The mysterious secret behind The X-Files? Hard work.

BY AUDETTE FULBRIGHT
CENTRAL PIEDMONT COLLEGE, N.C.

FBI agents are stock Hollywood characters. They've been the good guys, the bad guys, the fall guys and more. But Friday nights on the Fox network, two FBI agents live life a bit differently -- they track down mysterious UFOs, deadly poltergeists and mutant liver-eating serial killers.

It's The X-Files, of course, and although it's a far cry from standard TV fare (or perhaps because it is), this show is hitting a nerve out there. In much the same way "Trekkies" created a culture out of their love for Star Trek, "X-Philes" are carving out their own niche as they form online fan clubs, buy up novels and comics based on the series and come together by the thousands at X-Files conventions. Just what is going on here?

"Mulder thinks about UFOs the way other men think about sex."

DAVID DUCHOVNY, a.k.a. SPECIAL AGENT MULDER

Suspended disbelief

"We're exploring the areas of extreme possibilities," says Paul Rabwin, one of the show's producers. "The subject matter is supernatural, but it's in a grounded area. The science and technology on the show is real. People realize that genetic mutations, for example, can and do happen. It's a small step from there to the plots we've presented."

It's the shadow realms that The X-Files specializes in. Special Agents Dana Scully and Fox Mulder don't just come across ghosts, demons and aliens -- they come across as real people.

"Mulder thinks about UFOs, the way other men think about sex," says David Duchovny, who plays the driven, troubled Mulder. "That's the challenge for me -- to bring that kind of intensity to the part."

Duchovny has gotten into story and plot development because he believes the show will benefit from revealing more of who the characters are. In this way, the show can achieve a balance between the "real" world of humans and emotions and the paranormal world with which they deal constantly.

"People are familiar with FBI agents, what they do," Rabwin says. "I think what draws people in and keeps them there is that there are two people in a mundane environment, but they deal with supernatural events. And one of them is always speaking for all of us, because one character is a believer and one comes from a more scientific, skeptical background."

The never-ending story

The show sustains much of its credibility by grounding the stories with solid narrative techniques, Rabwin says. Behind all the special effects and conspiracies, the art of storytelling remains.

"People love mysteries... and well-told stories," says Gillian Anderson, a.k.a. Special Agent Dana Scully, as she takes a breather outside the set in Vancouver, British Columbia, where the show is filmed. Scully is the skeptic -- week after week, she analyzes the particulars of the case and tries to find a rational explanation.

"People want to talk about these topics, and we provide them that chance," Anderson says. "And on this show, which is different from most episodic series, people don't know what to expect next. We have few sequels, and those that we do have are so high-pitched that people are desperate to find out what's going to happen."

This isn't the sort of thinking that goes into many television shows these days. The level of commitment both on and off the set is a big part of the reason The X-Files has become the sensation it is.

"Everything about this show is high-quality," Anderson says. "The writing, the editing, the directing, the quality of the co-stars. We've got people busting their balls to take risks and make this show good."

Episode director Kim Manners agrees. "I've been in this business for 17 years, and this is the best I could ask for. We have the best equipment and the best people."

"Chris [Carter, creator and producer] hands me a script and says, 'Make a feature.' I've worked on shows where they actually got upset if you did good film work. All they wanted were the basics and for me to hurry up and get a close-up of the star. Here, I'm not only given permission, I'm given free rein, and I'm expected to produce high-quality work."

Finest worksong

Behind the scenes, the effort continues. Everyone is friendly and cooperative, but there's no question that they're on the job. The set hums. Most of these people have worked together before, but whether they have or not, the impression is that of a working ensemble.

"When you can get on a show like this, it's a blast," says Nick Lea, who plays the evil counter-agent Krycek. "Care goes into every aspect. Inevitably, that care is reflected in the ratings."

Critics are picking up on the quality as well. Last season, The X-Files was a dark-horse winner at the Golden Globe awards for Best Drama. This year the show was nominated for seven Emmys, including Best Drama, Best Writing and Best Cinematography.

The heat is on. The success of the show may seem supernatural, but the formula is classic: Work hard -- the rest will follow.

For The X-Files, the proof is out there.
HE'S A COP ON THE EDGE.

SHE'S A WOMAN WITH A DANGEROUS SECRET.

THEY'VE BEEN TARGETED BY THE RUSSIAN MOB,

AND NOW THEY'RE BOTH...

FAIR GAME

WILLIAM BALDWIN
CINDY CRAWFORD

COMING SOON
AMERICANS ARE OBSESSED WITH OTHER PEOPLE'S embarrassments — Hugh Grant, Bob Packwood and Courtney Love come to mind. We like outrageous stories. "We've been through 20 years, at least, of making an industry of the private lives of famous people," says talk show host Jerry Springer. "The talk show simply takes the very same subject matter and calls promoting their own true stories.

"It's at least, of making an industry of the private lives of the 'Talk Show.'"

BY NATALIE Y. MOORE
Howard U.

A student's bizarre love triangle tickled Montel Williams.

"My goal is to have a show that continues to educate, be open and have no censorship. It's a forum on television for people to talk about things that affect them," Springer says. "This isn't brain surgery — this is entertainment."

"This isn't brain surgery — this is entertainment."

Getting some
Stressed coeds enjoy 60-minute sabbaticals from the reality of classes and exams. It's often a relief to see your social woes are nothing compared with those of the weirdos on talk shows.

And bizarre topics like "All of my baby's mothers hate each other," "Marry me or else" and "Call me crazy... but I love my cheatin' man" capture and titillate the college audience for a few mindless moments.

"We definitely watch talk shows to make fun of people," says Rachel Smith, a junior at the U. of Texas, Austin. "The worst thing that could possibly happen to me would be going on a talk show. It would be humiliating." Ain't too proud to beg is the mantra for talk show guests, but some students say they'd never go on.

"I wouldn't want the whole world to know if my girlfriend dumped me for another guy — or another girl, for that matter," says Billy Menz, also a junior at UT.

Patricia Priest, who earned her doctorate at the U. of Georgia, wrote her 1992 dissertation on why people go on talk shows. She says people enjoy seeing faults in others.

"It's a lot of fun for college students to watch as a group and ridicule people," she says.

And Priest should know. She conducted in-depth interviews with 50 former talk show guests, then published her findings in her new book, Public Insults: Talk Show Participants in Tell-All TV (Hampton Press, 1995).

"So much of TV is formulaic," Priest says. "You never know what's going to happen on talk shows. They're choreographed for fireworks."

Just another group session
Some students aren't satisfied with merely watching the shows. Dave Alexander, a graduate student at Western Carolina U., N.C., wanted a piece of the action. His story: His girlfriend regularly accused him of cheating. He insists it was just flirty.

Alexander, accompanied by his ex-girlfriend — she finally broke up with him — and a friend, flew to New York. It all happened just 24 hours after he left a message on the Jerry Springer Show phone line.

"I expected to be attacked (verb­ally) by the audience," he says. "But the crowd lent Alexander a sympathetic ear while Priest played Dr. Jill's advocate.

One woman started crying during a commercial break, Alexander recalls, and the producers scrambled to get the tears on film.

But talk shows aren't all hype and circumstance. Alexander says the show provided a venting session for both himself and his ex-girlfriend. After leaving New York, they got back together.

Psychologist Karen Sykes says going on talk shows is a way for some people to purify themselves of their problems. But many go on just for the glitz.

"The guests are intrigued with the notoriety of being seen on TV by millions," Sykes says. But people aren't necessarily looking for catharsis. Springer says talk shows are an extension of our culture of openness.

"My goal is to have a show that continues to educate, be open and have no censorship. It's a forum on television for people to talk about things that affect them," Springer says. "This isn't brain surgery — this is entertainment."

"Name has been changed

Real life meets daytime TV
Kenya Mitchell was sitting in her dorm room — bored. Mesmerized by the scene on TV, she did what any wired talk show fan would do. She escaped the monotony of college life by calling the Montel Williams Show.

The Southern Illinois U. junior phoned Montel to share the details of a tangled love triangle. In simple terms, Mitchell's boyfriend's ex-girlfriend didn't seem quite grasp the concept of "ex."

"I laughed about lying your way onto a talk show. If the producers of the Jerry Springer Show find out that a story is fictitious, it costs the guest big bucks.

"Guests sign a statement saying that everything they'll say on the show will be truthful," Springer says. "If they lie about anything, they're liable for the production cost of the show — which is about 80,000 to 100,000 dollars."

The bitten ex-girlfriend slashed the tires of Mitchell's dad's car, sent death threats by mail and constantly harassed Mitchell over the telephone, Mitchell says.

" Basically, she's a loopy tune and went berserk," she adds. The producers fell in love with her colorful story and called back the next day. She was in the Big Apple within 24 hours, surrounded by Nielsen-conscious producers and luxurious accommodations — with Montel picking up the tab.

But Mitchell didn't show up with her boyfriend and ex in tow. She recruited two friends to play the roles.

"Tension from the sour relationship was too high for the real boyfriend and ex to be on the show with her," Mitchell says. "I would have gone to jail."

The producers hinted that Mitchell should save her fiery words (she called the ex a "bitch" off the air) — and perhaps a smack or two for the ex — for on the air, but she refrained. Mitchell says she chose her clothes and words carefully to avoid embarrassment or exploitation.

The Montel staff didn't suspect anything fishy — Mitchell and her friends pulled off the scam.

But be warned about lying your way onto a talk show. If the producers of the Jerry Springer Show find out that a story is fictitious, it costs the guest big bucks.

"Guests sign a statement saying that everything they'll say on the show will be truthful," Springer says. "If they lie about anything, they're liable for the production cost of the show — which is about 80,000 to 100,000 dollars."

Getting some
Stressed coeds enjoy 60-minute sabbaticals from the reality of classes and exams. It's often a relief to see your social woes are nothing compared with those of the weirdos on talk shows.

And bizarre topics like "All of my baby's mothers hate each other," "Marry me or else" and "Call me crazy... but I love my cheatin' man" capture and titillate the college audience for a few mindless moments.

"We definitely watch talk shows to make fun of people," says Rachel Smith, a junior at the U. of Texas, Austin. "The worst thing that could possibly happen to me would be going on a talk show. It would be humiliating." Ain't too proud to beg is the mantra for talk show guests, but some students say they'd never go the distance.

"I wouldn't want the whole world to know if my girlfriend dumped me for another guy — or another girl, for that matter," says Billy Menz, also a junior at UT.

Patricia Priest, who earned her doctorate at the U. of Georit all happened just 24 hours ago. "It's like someone reached out to me," Alexander says. "He was like, 'Hey, I have a message on the Show phone line."

"It seemed like he was attached to the show," he says. "But he said he needed to get the message."

Alexander says he started crying during the break. Alexander says producers scrambled to find a way to make the story continue.

"It is untold that the producers are scrambling," he says. "But many go on just to make sure the story is told.

It's not all hype, Alexander says. He says he is working on a new show about his own experiences as an American actor in New York.

But Karen Sykes says it's not just hype. Sykes says it's a way for people to purify themselves of their own experience.

"It's not just about the show," she says. "It's about the people who tell their stories."

Sykes says it's an extension of our lives, a way to have a show that educates, entertains, and informs. It's a way for people to talk about their own experiences.

"We are changing the way people think about storytelling," she says. "It's not just about the show. It's about the people who tell their stories."
Pocket Band

Maggie, Pierce and E.J.

In the tradition of Peter, Paul and Mary and Crosby, Stills and Nash come Maggie, Pierce and E.J. — three scrappy musicians making a case for folk in the cynical, post-grunge '90s.

"Rock is the term we've come up with," says E.J., who handles bass duties both vocal and instrumental. "You know, part rock, part folk — whatever."

It's the whatever part that distinguishes Maggie, Pierce and E.J. There's a sense of freedom and playfulness on their eponymous debut CD that makes every song an adventure. Oddball left turns dominate — from soaring three-part harmonies to sneaky guitar rave-ups to Death Valley bass runs and back again.

"We definitely don't want to be pigeonholed into one sound," says vocalist-guitarist Pierce. "That's instant death."

He knows whereof he speaks. Pierce and E.J. logged in two albums with the tripped-out hip-hop band The Goats before music business pressures drove them out.

"It's amazing how you can be manipulated by a record company," E.J. says wearily. "They can literally say, 'We don't want this track on the album,' or 'Sound like this,' you know. But [with the trio], we don't have anyone to please but ourselves."

"We just do whatever we want," says guitar player Bryn. Which is why the folk approach works so well for them.

"Folk by definition is music by the people," says E.J. "So that can be anything — even grunge is folk."

"But there is a difference," Pierce says. "Folk has always been around. Something like rap, I'd say, will always be around. But grunge — grunge is like disco. It'll pass."

For more information, call the MPE/I hotline at (810) 827-8697.

Rating system

Dracula: ★★★★★
Frankenstein: ★★★★★
Wolfram: ★★★★★
The Mummy: ★★★★★
Swamp Monster: ★★★★★

When PM Dawn debuted in 1991 with "Set Adrift on Memory Bliss," they seemed to be treading the De La Soul territory of hip-hop flower children bugging on peace and love. Whereas De La have since rejected the hip-hop tag, PM Dawn have embraced it — and expanded their smooth R&B into a deeper shade of soul.

On Jesus Wept, PM Dawn build on the remarkable confidence and depth of 1993's "The Bliss Album!" From the propulsive radio pop of the opener "Downtown Venus" to the audacious closing covers of Prince and Talking Heads, Jesus Wept explores the nooks and crannies between pop, soul, hip-hop and psychedelia.

Prince Be's melodies are often submerged in waves of ethereal harmony, yet the production remains lucid — a testament to the maturity of this exciting and underestimated band.

Love Jones

Powerful Pain Relief

★☆☆☆☆

Love Jones is not a band I'd want to market: First, they follow their croonfest debut (1993's excellent Here's to the Laura) by touring in matching smoking jackets — then they bulk at being lumped into the lounge revival trend. Next, they release a crystal-clear batch of shimmering pop gems that, unfortunately, has absolutely nothing to do with anything currently happening in music. Where.

Ah, well. Such is our lot. Just be grateful that LJ love us enough to share their weird-ass world of funk, swing, retro-pop and disco-woo. Powerful Pain Relief never captures the je ne sais quoi of Love Jones, but it does elevate their sound to breezy new heights. "World of Summer" is the standout, a heartfelt paean to the salad days of youth so light and blichy it's likely to float right out of your CD player.

One last tip — you'll never be able to fully appreciate the delicate ego of an LJ recording until you've witnessed the savage id of their live show. Check your local listings.

Rare on Air

Vol. 1 and 2

Mammal

These two Rare On Air compilations feature live on-air performances from artists on Morning Becomes Eclectic, the syndicated N.P.R. music show out of Los Angeles. Performers include The Cranberries, Jackson Browne, Tori Amos, Beck, Natalie Merchant, MC 900 Foot Jesus, Los Lobos, Phillip Glass (and) E.J. and Dando with Juliana Hatfield. Among lots of others.

The immediacy of live broadcast, together with the intimacy of a radio studio, creates a unique vibe here. The sound quality is superb, allowing the more delicate numbers to shimmer (Tanya Donelly, Joni Mitchell) and fuller songs to really stretch out (World Party, Bertie Servantes). Rare On Air is also good for you, in a karmic eat-your-vegetables way — proceeds go to N.P.R. flagship station KCWR.

Even Plum

Cherry Alive

Say So

★☆☆☆☆½

Another poppy post-punk band with a female singer. Owes a lot to R.E.M. and Sonic Youth. Name is a campy '70s reference. Still, I can give you seven good reasons to dig Eve's Plum.

One: The ace musicianship of Cherry Alive is to be heralded and applauded (let's see Veruca Salt try this stuff). Two: Like all the best bands, they remember that rock and roll was originally a euphemism for sex. Three: Sometimes, swear to God, they sound like E.L.O. Four: They have a song called "Jesus Loves You (Not as Much as I Do)." Five: They like to do cool Thurston Moore over-space things with their guitars. Six: No matter what your sex or persuasion, by the end of the album you will have a mild crush on singer Colleen Fitzpatrick. Seven: No ballads!

VIBRANCE, ORGANIC CARE

Morrisey

Southpaw Grammar

★★

On the 11-minute opening track of Morrisey's latest offering, the British pop icon croons, "To be finished would be a relief." Never did such a lyric so appropriately sum up an entire CD worth of material. Although his solo efforts have always been hit-or-miss affairs, last year's Vauxhall and masterfully explored lush pop melodies with uncalculated lyrics. Southpaw Grammar, unfortunately, takes the opposite approach.

Overblown instrumentation and extended guitar and drum solos turn many of the eight songs collected here into would-be rock anthems. Even veteran producer Steve Lillywhite (who also produced Vauxhall) couldn't save these songs from becoming Morrisey's most lyrically pretentious and musically incoherent. What was conceived as a "band project" sadly comes across as a misguided journey to a rock-and-roll graveyard.

Rapid Fires

Bugs and Friends

Sing the Beatles

Rhino

★☆☆☆☆

Deep, rich production on their latest outing facilitates Clannad's successful blend of traditional and contemporary Celtic folk. Van Morrison wishes he was still this relevant.

Clannad

Lore Atlantic

Deep, rich production on their latest outing facilitates Clannad's successful blend of traditional and contemporary Celtic folk. Van Morrison wishes he was still this relevant.

Notes from the Underground Priority

Generally on the ass-kicking side, this two-volume compilation is full of angry young people with guitars. Which is good if you feel you're losing your punk-rock identity. (And you are.)

Rapid Fires

Bugs and Friends

Sing the Beatles

Rhino

When cross-marketing and nostalgia meet, Bugs sings the Beatles. Still, it's awkwardly cool for obvious reasons, so settle in with some good sugar cereal and roll with it.

Clannad

Lore Atlantic

Deep, rich production on their latest outing facilitates Clannad's successful blend of traditional and contemporary Celtic folk. Van Morrison wishes he was still this relevant.

Notes from the Underground Priority

Generally on the ass-kicking side, this two-volume compilation is full of angry young people with guitars. Which is good if you feel you're losing your punk-rock identity. (And you are.)

Rapid Fires

Bugs and Friends

Sing the Beatles

Rhino

When cross-marketing and nostalgia meet, Bugs sings the Beatles. Still, it's awkwardly cool for obvious reasons, so settle in with some good sugar cereal and roll with it.
0

CARY? WE'LL GIVE YOU SCARY
Every movie coming out this month is about a cop or an ex-cop. Besides that, there was a strange fit of guerrilla filmmaking with strange groupings of directors and actors (RuPaul, Roseanne, and Lily Tomlin). And don't forget Halloween XI (we didn't bother reviewing it — you know the deal). People are strange.

Never Talk to Strangers
Rebecca DeMornay's cradle-rocking days are over, but she's back into tricky business. Now she plays a criminal psychologist on the trail of a serial rapist. But someone's on her trail, too. Antonio Banderas (Desperado) plays the handsome stranger you shouldn't talk to.

Heaven's Prisoners
Sassy
Alec Baldwin (The Shadow) plays a Louisiana cop who, bogged down by the job, makes the force to live a peaceful life on the bayou. But when his family is threatened, he gets sucked back in and has to swim through mysteries and mysterious women to get justice.

Screamers
Triumph Films
It's not about sex. It's about people making creatures to fight their battles on a war-torn planet. This race of killing machines is called Screamers. Not to be confused with Terminators. Or Replicants. Peter Weller plays the leader of the good guys, who now need to destroy the warriors to stop the war.

Strange Days
20th Century Fox
Ralph Fiennes (Quills Show) plays Lenny Nero, an ex-cop who knows what you want and knows how to get it — via virtual reality. But when what someone wants is death, Lenny finds that virtual reality is a lie. Meanwhile, real reality isn't that great, either. If Nero doesn't stop fiddling around, the whole world will burn.

Vampire in Brooklyn
Paramount
Director Wes Craven (Nightmare on Elm Street) is no stranger to horror. What's strange is that Eddie Murphy is cast as the vampire. Angela Bassett (What's Love Got To Do With It) plays a New York cop he wants to neck with. See this if only to find out what that laugh sounds like on the undead.

Dead Presidents
Hollywood/Carnac Pictures
The Walking Dead didn't knock 'em dead. But now Albert and Allen Hughes, who did some knocking with Menace II Society, take their own swing at the black Vietnam war. Anthony Curtis (Larenz Tate, Menace) plays a 22-year-old who — guess what? — gets warped by his war experience.

Get Shorty
MGM/UA
If you thought Vincent Vega was out of place in short and a "UC Santa Cruz" T-shirt, get a load of John Travolta as Chili Palmer, Chili, a loan shark. Comes to Hollywood to collect a gambling debt and gets tangled up in the movie biz. Tah. Always a shame when the good ones get corrupted.

Screen Saver
Reel Deal

Mailrats
You remember the '80s. Hanging out at the mall. Maybe — if you got really motivated — catching a movie. The Breakfast Club, Sixteen Candles, Ferris Bueller's Day Off.

Mailrats will remind you of those days, says director Kevin Smith, who rocked Cannes last year with his low-budget first effort, Clerks.

"My intention was to make a John Hughes movie, but through my eyes," Smith says. "Mailrats takes shots at the John Hughes angst."

You know, the day-to-day traumas of those crazy kids — not getting along with parents, breaking up, getting mistaken for a would-be assassin. But there's always the mall. Former zinger Shannen Doherty stars, as does Dazed and Confused's Jeremy London. But Smith's Clerks friends still make appearances, including motor mouth Jay (Jason Mewes) and his sidekick Silent Bob (played by Smith). The language in Clerks, particularly Mewes', did some rocking of its own. How is it in Mailrats, Kevin?

"It's toned down, but it's still there. It's "R" enough for Seventeen magazine not to do anything with us."

But it's no Kids (whose ratings controversy made Clerks' look like child's play)? "Kids was like being locked in a room with 20 Jason Meweses. A little Jason goes a long way."

Screen Saver
Tie-Died: Rock 'n Roll's Most Deadheaded Fans
Be grateful there's a movie. Even if you never followed the Dead — or thought Wavy Gravy was just a Ben & Jerry's flavor — you'll like the documentary Tie-Died. Filmmaker Andrew Behar spent the summer of '94 traveling with Deadheads and capturing the phenomenon of a culture of music enjoyed by the spirit of the Dead and Dead culture scholars; and a lot of talk about peace, love and respect.

Tie-Died had a limited release in late September, but it will be truckin' on a spring college tour (sorry — not in a psychedelic VW microbus).
The National College Magazine has awarded $1,000 scholarships to 12 outstanding undergraduate students in a variety of fields. Eleven of the 1995 U. Scholarships were offered in partnership with corporations that advertise in U. In addition, U. has awarded a $1,000 Scholarship to a student who has demonstrated commitment to and achievement in the field of journalism.
WIN 2 ROUND-TRIP AIRLINE TICKETS, $1,000 CASH AND A CANON COLOR BUBBLE JET PRINTER!

All it takes to win is imagination! Send us a postcard or e-mail describing the coolest, funniest, smallest, weird or widest place you could print with a Canon BJC-70 Color Bubble Jet Printer.

This new Canon printer can go anywhere you can think of...it’s compact (11.8" long x 6.2" wide x 2.2" high), weighs only 3.1 pounds, can be powered by a rechargeable battery and prints anything in brilliant color and sharp black and white. (For more product info, see the ad on page 7, or call (800) 487-4123 ext. 101.)

The Grand Prize winner will get $1,000 cash and round-trip airline tickets for two to anywhere in the U.S., Mexico or the Caribbean AND a new Canon BJC-70 Color Bubble Jet Printer! PLUS, two second prize winners will each receive a new Canon BJC-70 Color Bubble Jet Printer AND $500 cash. Fifth prize winners each win $349 cash (about what it takes to buy a Canon BJC-70 Color Bubble Jet Printer).

To enter, send your entry (50 words max) describing your most creative print site to U MAGAZINE, Canon Cool Print Site Contest, 1800 Century Park East, Suite 820, Los Angeles, CA 90067-1511 or e-mail to contests@umagazine.com.

All entries (snail mail or e-mail) must include your name, school, address (school and permanent), phone number to be eligible to win. There is no limit to the number of times you may enter. Deadline for entries: Dec. 1, 1995. Winners will be notified by Dec. 20, 1995, so be sure to include your permanent phone number.

1. What was the first vampire movie you ever saw?
2. Did you ever think that vampires sung were hollow and that they sucked the blood through them like straws?
3. If you come home to discover that your roommate has been turned into a bloodsucking living dead vampire, you should:
   A. Not worry; it’s not transmittable through casual contact.
   B. Offer him/her a nice juicy stake.
   C. Find out if you qualify for that “you get a 4-D, your-roommate-dies” rule.
   D. Other

4. Is eternal youth, inhuman strength and getting to stay up all night every night really as bad as most vampires make it out to be?
5. If you won the trip to Atlanta and got to visit the White Wolf Game Studio, do you think you’d be apt to break anything?
6. On a hot summer night, would you offer your throat to the wolf with the red roses?
7. In the space provided, please write a short essay on why you should win first prize. (Please write backward so we have to use a mirror to read it.)

Send your entry with your name, school, year, address and phone number to:

WHITE WOLF CAMPUS BLOODSUCKERS CONTEST
1800 Century Park East, Suite 820
Los Angeles, CA 90067-1511
or e-mail to contests@umagazine.com
Deadline for entries is midnight, Oct. 31, 1995. Winners will be selected in a random drawing.
Imploding Drastic Inevitables

W E THINK OF EVERYTHING.
Not content with simply chronicling collegiate history and documenting the current campus scene, we here at U. Magazine have now figured out a way to accurately predict the future.

You can thank us later. (And you will — we've foreseen it.)

See, last week our intern Kasey (hereafter referred to as Brilliant Young Protag) formulated an awe-inspiring complex planar triangulation program and fed it into our supercomputer HAL. By tracing the trajectory of cultural trends of the 1970s through the present and projecting them forward 20 years, we've been able to ascertain what life will be like in the year 2015. In our never-ending quest to better the lives of you, our loyal readers, we've provided our findings below.

Projecting the path of 1970s disco through 1990s rave culture reveals that in the year 2015 dance music is really, really fast (up to 1200 bpm), while bell bottoms are still in fashion. As is John Travolta. The trend toward synthetic drugs (cocaine to speed to ecstasy) tops out with the popular designer drug H20. “Hydrotripping” becomes the new rage as kids from Manchester to Manhattan drink dozens of gallons of water in a night. Post-modern urinal art dominates the design scene.

In the late 70s, tabloid TV was experimenting with prototypes like Real People and That's Incredible. 1995 sees the genre in full bloom as dumb people everywhere sacrifice all dignity for the chance to Be On TV. In 2015, the networks have arranged for everyone to be televised all the time. Remote hook-ups in your home record your every move and bounce it off a satellite directly back to your own monitor. In other television news, the sitcom has been reduced to one static shot of Sinbad mugging at the camera and a continuous laugh track. Also, final statements are being prepared in the O.J. trial.

In '70s rock, men were men and women were women — Motorhead and Black Sabbath were its mean and snarly; Carole King and Linda Ronstadt were sensitive and poppy. In 1995, Eddie Vedder coos softly about hearts and thoughts fading, as it's no secret Liz Phair could kick Bono's ass. This trend continues. In 2015, women own rock and roll. Frances Bean Cobain fronts the world's biggest band, and no label has signed a male artist in five years. Rock and roll is the better for it.

Projecting current political trends: The '70s saw the tail end of meaningful student activism. Presently, the central issue galvanizing students nationwide appears to be, um, campus parking. In the year 2015 students are entirely passive none-taking automatons. One lone holdout at Berkeley attempts to protest the administration's 3,000 percent tuition hike but is shot and killed for smoking a cigarette behind the Union.

Some random tidbits: The proliferation of caffeine drinks continues — in 2015, coffee has been added as a fifth food group and 70 percent of the Earth's surface is covered by Starbucks cafes. America's degenerate conviction that fast food equals beauty (Farrar Fawcett to Christie Brinkley to Kate Moss) produce supermodel Susie Pumpkins Jones, a ravishing 4-year-old blonde weighing in at 12 pounds. In sports, the NBA is recruiting directly from junior high, baseball exists only in computer simulations and hockey players fight with knives.

So there it is America — The Future! Exciting, isn't it? Embracing now. Our Brilliant Young Protag is currently working on projections for the year 2165, and although we haven't gleaned much, HAL spit out two words: Emperor Travolta.

Feet of Clay C.S. Harding, U. of Arizona

Don't you hate living in the city, Abbott?

No, why?

Well we can't even go out in public without people freaking out because we're... um... I mean, that's all they seem to notice!

Yeah, but that's just what I like about people.

Why?

They're so busy trying to adjust to me being an ape, they don't even care that I'm going around butt-naked...
WE SUPPORT SOBER THINKING.
Discover® Card offers you nationwide acceptance, so you can experience the world in comfort. Use it where you see the NOVUS® sign.

©1988 Greenwood Trust Company, Member FDIC.