Oddities & Idiosyncrasies

It's do-or-die for 'Saturday Night Live'

Frazier Moreer
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Nation's come and go. The headed-tail deal has a fresh new jaw. Now there's "Saturday Night Live," hopefully sticking in the season longer than last.

What about all the grand gaggles of bringing this show and that show with entries, "The Naked Gun," "Airplane," "Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure," "Heaven Can Wait," and "This Is Spinal Tap"?

But none of that. That's the "Saturday Night Live" for 1996. This is a celebration of its 10th birthday, Mel Brooks as guest host.

The program served as an apt warm-up for the big downhill run of the 1996 presidential campaign: empty promises, empty promises.

That's the disappointing news from NBC's political correspondent in Iowa City, Iowa, who released him Friday. In fact, you never felt that way about the newsmaker in Charlie Brown's show.

This time, the only auspicious sign comes from the "Peanuts" strip, not the strip's creator, Charles M. Schulz, who died two days prior to the "Nightline" return.

Instead, she kept her promise, says the blues singer said. Instead of paying her price, she's out to help others.

Greeks cleanse I.C., their reputations

Evelyn Laser
The Daily Iowan

A Greek cleanup sponsored by members of the Greek community Sunday was called a "cente" for a belated effort earlier in the month.

The cleanup, called "Octobervith," was organized by Theta Delta Tau, Delta Epsilon, and Beta Phi, and as a retaliatory act to the city's arrest of Delta Epsilon members last week. The Interfraternity Council was not notified.

The cancellation was due to a scheduling problem which needed to address and the matter was referred to the Interfraternity Council. Andersen said a representative from the Interfraternity Council was not available.

It could be months before the city and the groups can work together again, he said. The group gets to the game on Monday, October 9.

Andersen said that over the last five years, while economic conditions have stabilized many organizations, Andersen Consulting grew at an average of 20% per year.

Veggie-Fest promises eating for a healthy body and Earth

Chad Graham
The Daily Iowan

What do you get when you cross a cake made from seaweed milk and a room full of people who want to know about it?

The answer is the fourth annual Veggie-Fest held at the University University of Iowa on Sunday, October 9.

The event was sponsored by the UI Annual Coalition, the Iowa Student Association, the UI Campus Coalition, and the UI Environmental Coalition. Steve Hearn of the Iowa Student Coalition, and UI student and environmental activist, said his group hopes to use the event to educate people about the importance of eating healthy.

He said, "We brought the community together and let them know that our chapter is only one aspect of environmentalism," and "We're really excited." UI representative, said she was excited to see so many people come to the event.

"They were doing it to help our image by performing a good act." She said.

The event was also attended by the Iowa Student Coalition, and UI representative, said she was excited to see so many people come to the event.

Alberhasky said she does not have any plans for a third restaurant. “The other restaurant I’ll have is a coffee spot on the heart of downtown傻傻的 e on the other end.”

One of the things Alberhasky likes best about The Cottage is that she can be more intimate with her business than in a larger facility. However, some customers and employees might change the name of the restaurant. The name of the restaurant is expected to be changed to The Cottage on a regular basis.

Gore teen charged with alcohol possession

CHEY CHAE, AP, UPI — The 18-year-old daughter of Vice President Al Gore was arrested Friday for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Sally Ann, spokesperson for the Gore family, confirmed local sheriff's deputies had been called to her home to hold an open container of alcohol when they arrived at her house around noon.

Gore was held for three hours before posting bail and being released.

Montgomery County Police Sergeant Richard Wigram said several juveniles were given civil citations for possession of alcohol at a party about 9:30 Friday night, but details on the case were not released.

A spokesman for the Department of Justice said because of department policy he couldn't comment on the case.

Jerman said the matter was referred to the department's juvenile services division. The maximum penalty for underage drinking is a $500 fine, he said.

The case is still under investigation and another meeting will be held on Friday night, but details on the case were not released.

Lack of funds strikes Wilson from presidential race

SACRAMENTO, CAPE, AP — Following the announcement last month of her exploratory committee, Governor Wilson acknowledged that the $20 million target for fielding a viable campaign is not realistic.

"I'm not the only one who doesn't know what it's like to run a campaign," Wilson said. "I'm not the only one who doesn't know what it's like to raise the funds for a campaign."

The first suit, filed by a cellular phone company in St. Petersburg, Florida, on Oct. 1995, accused the world's largest manufacturer of cellphones, Sony, of making a product that was a danger to users.

"There's a lot of evidence that suggests the need to know more about these phones," said Wilson, "because after all, people are going to say the same thing for the rest of their lives."

Although there is no proof the phones are hazardous, industry representatives say certain materials that scientific studies to date show could possibly cause cell phone users to become ill.

The FDA and the EPA and the state agencies that are looking at this are working very closely together. But if they're not jumping into a political research, said Bob Brown, they're going for public affairs and communications at the Cellular Telephone Industry Association and White House press secretary during the first administration.

"It's a lot of work," said Brown, "and it's not something you can do in a weekend."

When asked if the FDA had taken any steps to stop the phones, Brown said, "No, we're not going to stop the phones."

"The bottom line: if you don't stop there's a possible problem," said Brown, "but I'm not sure if that's what's going to happen."

The FDA and the EPA have not issued any regulations to stop the phones from being sold.

Israel slates awaited West Bank pullout

Hillery Appelstein
Associated Press

JERUSALEM — After 28 years of occupation, Israel has finally approved plans for a major pullout of Jewish settlement homes and military bases from the West Bank, the foreign minister said Sunday.

The impending transfer of power was a hard-won victory for the Palestinians, who have long pressed for an end to Israeli control. The move, which was announced by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

However, the exact timeline of the pullout has yet to be determined, and there are concerns that it may still be delayed or canceled.

"This is a historic day," said Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. "The Palestinian people have waited for this moment for decades."

The pullout plan includes the evacuation of Israeli settlements in the West Bank, the closure of the Israeli military government in the West Bank, and the transfer of control over almost a third of the city of Nablus, near the city of Ramallah, to the Palestinian Authority.

"This is a significant step towards peace and stability," said Netanyahu. "It is a step towards realizing the two-state solution for the conflict between Israel and the Palestinians."

However, the move has been met with mixed reactions, with some Israeli politicians expressing concerns about the security implications of the pullout.

"We cannot risk the safety of our citizens," said one Israeli politician. "We need to ensure that the Palestinian Authority is accountable and capable of protecting its citizens."

Smoking bans burn now, save later

"Tea brown, I would still hit but die for you," — Alexander Pope

President Clinton's effort to curb teen smoking may not help prevent more young people from getting hooked on cigarettes or developing a taste for them. A national group of 20 lawmakers signed a statement March 14 urging Clinton to keep his promise to ban smoking in federal buildings and schools. The statement cited the administration's record of support for smoking restrictions and will be made public at the end of the week.

EQ test scores low, lacks good character

Finally the media is giving voice to new brain research which suggests human intelligence can't be measured by an IQ test. Many scientists agree the concept of emotional intelligence, or EQ, is a more accurate predictor of an individual's future success than the old-fashioned IQ measurement.

EDITORIAL

POINT OF VIEW

EQ replacement test with credibility, paying little attention to environmental aspects of character building.

If the week Time magazine cover story, emotional intelligence is defined, broadly, by qualities such as self-awareness, empathy and self-control -- or what your grandmother always called "character." However, the research consists of experiments like Columbia University psychologist Walter Mischel's "marshmallow test." For one year, he took poor four-year-olds into a room and left them with a single marshmallow and a promise they could have two marshmallows if they would wait an hour.

Daniel Goleman's new book, "Emotional Intelligence," is based on research that standard IQ tests matter for only about 20 percent of success in the workplace, and he argues it is "too simplistic what it means to be smart." Goleman acknowledges a danger in attempting to measure a person's character. The very nature of emotional intelligence can't be reduced to a handy gradient for admissions committees and prospective employers.

EQ test scores low, lacks good character

It is still fraught with dangers, because it is still an attempt to quantify something that isn't uniformly quantifiable. If we are seeing the breaking of the reliance on IQ, which many researchers now agree results for only about 30 percent of success, we are replacing it with a formula that still doesn't take into account the "EQ" of the social arena.

Assuming we all agree that emotional IQ doesn't account for how a wealthy, bright Boston boy who bols and for the second marshmallow might get into the Ivy League and claim the corporate ladder, while an equally bright boy in the Robert Taylor housing project in Chicago can hold out for that second marshmallow all the worse, and still be happy to get the actual one, we have to say it is still an untenable solution. We have to say it is still a world of marshmallows and eventually removed from the theatre department. A

Iowa State reduces McCaffrey's income

The Daily Inman - MONDAY or TOBER 2, 1995

The Iowa State University football program announced on Thursday that it had reduced the income of its head coach, Gary McCaffrey, by $1 million.

McCaffrey was paid $2 million last season, but the university has cut his salary to $1 million for the 1996 season.

The move was made to help the university balance its budget and reduce its debt.

The university also announced that it would cut the salaries of the athletic directors at all of its conference schools by 10 percent.

The cuts were made to help the university reduce its deficit and improve its financial situation.

The university has been struggling financially in recent years, and it has been forced to make cuts to its programs and staff.

"This is a good turnout," Sherman said. "It's going to be a lot tougher next week against Michigan State. We're going to have to step it up to a new level."

The Hawkeyes, who have suffered six losses during the past two years, know how big the game is for them.

"I think it's one of the biggest," Sherman said. "It's a big game for us, a good game to fire up our fans and get us on the right track."

The senior safety finished with sixIDS in the season opener, but he hung in there and played well.

Filsian also posted six tackles as the defense held on to win, 23-17, despite a late surge by the Big Ten's best team.

Kenny Rogers (17-7) started on the mound, and the Dodgers pounded out six runs and five hits in six innings. Music playing in the background.

"I feel great. Today's just the start," Morgan said. "I've been working on my pitch, and I think it's coming along."

"This game was just as important," Sherman said. "The seniors wanted it, the seniors wanted it for the kids, the fans, and the school."
Hawkeyes falter in weekend matches

Joe Lashoff  The Daily Iowan

There was certainly a lot of excitement for the Hawkeyes. There is a lot of work to do for the Hawkeyes. The Iowa volleyball team opened up the season on Friday night, Iowa defeated the University of Iowa in five sets, 16-15, 15-1, 15-15, 15-1, 15-1, 15-1. The Hawkeyes looked dominant at times, and were able to win the first three sets, but were unable to close out the competition. The Hawkeyes come back twice to win the final set, 15-13. The Hawkeyes were in the lead, 15-14, 14-12, 14-10, but the Wolverines were able to comeback and take the final set, 15-13. The Hawkeyes were able to recover from the defeat and win the final set, 15-13.

Boy George album dips into hardcore

David Hackett

Boy George's view over being rock star is one of the rock's most jarring musical moments. He seems nothing normal, that's when they see a shadow toward the Poppy he and we are now.

"It's a joke, a joke, a joke," he says. "I'm just doing it to laugh. We're not working in the industry we do. So I'm just here for a laugh."

Boy George goes punk in his latest album, "Chrysalis and Beauty." He's got the look, the fashion, and the attitude. The album is a mix of rock and roll, with some punk influence. It's a departure from his usual pop sound but still manages to be catchy.

ERICA GINGRICH

ON FASHION

The iconic look of the Dominatrix is a mix of several trends. The black skirts, white fringe dresses, and pixelated pastels are all part of the look. The shoes are usually black or metallic, adding to the edgy feel. The makeup is often heavy, with dark shadows and bold lipsticks.

The Dominatrix Look is meant to be mysterious and edgy. It's a fashion statement that's all about being different. The look is perfect for those who want to stand out from the crowd and make a bold fashion statement.

The Dominatrix Look is a trend that's here to stay. It's been popular for several years and is likely to continue to be in style for a while. If you're looking for a new fashion trend to try, the Dominatrix Look is a great option.
