LETTERS

God is coming and she is ready

To the Editor:

The recent article in the Corpus Christi Caller-Times regarding the Ford Rancheria is most unfortunate. It seems that the rancheria was established to help the poor and the elderly, and now it is being used as a political ploy by those who wish to gain power and control. This is a sad day for our community and for all those who have lost loved ones.

Million Man March more than a few miles

To the Editor:

The Million Man March is a travesty. I have never been one to take sides on political issues, but I feel strongly that this event is a waste of time and resources. The organizers have promised that it will bring about change, but in reality, it only serves to divide us further.

My son is learning to drive. This terrifies me. He is not ready to be on the road. He has not had enough experience driving, and he has not had enough time to learn the rules of the road. I worry about his safety, and I worry about the safety of others.

I read the article about the new video game in the latest issue of the journal. I was impressed by the graphics and the storyline. I think it has a lot of potential for entertaining and educating young people.

Fatigued Serb refugees fight to survive

Serb refugees fight to survive

REGIONAL

BANJA LUKA — Fighting ebbed Sunday in northwestern Bosnia, where up to 50,000 exhausted Serbs were struggling to survive despite appeals for government help.

In a letter written in the 1-3 p.m. time slot, many of the refugees are now in Omisak, one of the most notorious prisons set up when Serb rebels occupied parts of Bosnia in 1992 and later abandoned.

According to the letter, both civilians and soldiers wounded in the recent fighting were present, and some of these refugees were fighting against forcible shifts in their lines in northern Bosnia.

The U.N.-brokered cease fire that started Oct. 12 was largely observed throughout the country, UN officials said Sunday. The Muslim-led Bosnian government claimed Sunday that it was adhering to the cease fire, but some Serbs had threatened to throw stones to help in the Yugoslav army.

A cease fire was observed in northwestern Bosnia.

In mid-September, government and Croat forces started taking large chunks of Serb-held land in Bosnia, triggering a second Serb exodus.

The family, expelled by Bosnian Serbs three years ago, was returning for the first time since Bosnian government forces rescued most of the central Bosnia last month.

Serb-ethnic military sources and diplomats said a truck full of Serb refugees was driven into neighboring Bosnian territory.

The U.S.-brokered cease fire, agreed in Washington on Oct. 1, that Washington hopes will end the war.

The retired four-star general, who is not related to the British royal family and is not a cousin of the late Serb strongman, said he had no exact knowledge of the Serb refugees.

He said the British army has its own unit, including 20 tanks, was fighting for the Bosnian capital last Saturday and dismantled a serf camp to the tiny

Mike Trout, the second-stringer who went down with a season-ending injury in the sixth inning, was back in his usual spot on Sunday.

"He's the best we have out there," Redich said. "He's got a good arm and is a good fielder."

Trout said he felt fine and that he had no problems. "I'm ready to go," he said.

In the meantime, the Hawkeyes are looking for a replacement for Trout. They have been looking at several players, including freshman John Basso.

The game was smooth sailing for the Hawkeyes, who took a 6-3 lead in the second inning and held on for the win.

"It was a good win for us," said head coach Terry Frei. "We're glad to get off to a good start."

ATLANTA - The last two times the Atlanta Braves made it to the World Series, the only reason they were there was a year bullpen and weak hitting. This year, they will attempt to win the World Series.

The Braves finished off a fourgame sweep yesterday night. The last postseason series against the Reds on Saturday night will be remembered as one of the best in the history of baseball.

Johnstone excels at ITA tourney

Apparently Bryan Johnstone can believe in a supersonic dream. For the second weekend in a row, the junior managed string together a series of very nice wins to place him on the verge of being inducted into the ITA Team. Johnstone earned his way to the second round by winning his first two matches.

First after a first round loss, Johnson бю the second round with his best effort of the season. Johnson is one of the few singles players in the state who can compete with top 25 players around the state.

The Hawks take two from state of Michigan

The Iowa field hockey team is rolling and it looks like they got something really great on their hands. After virtual domination of the conference by the Michigan State team, the Hawks have been able to take two games from the installation.

Michigan's defense, however, managed to hold up the Hawks for most of the second half of the game. The Hawks were able to score just three goals, but it was enough to win the match by a score of 3-0.

The Hawks put a virtual Kiersten Edwards on the line as they went up 1-0 in the first half. Edwards finished the day with two goals, including the game winner in the 11th inning of Game 1.

Wolverines answered exactly Brantner, McCarty and Richards both finished with unassisted to put Iowa on top 2-1.

"Nobody ever gave up, they played the best they could," head coach Larry Gen Сергид said.

The fresh field hockey team is making a name for itself, but it still has a ways to go. The Hawks are currently in fourth place in the conference, but they have the potential to be a force to be reckoned with.

The Hawks take two from state of Michigan

The Iowa field hockey team is rolling and it looks like they got something really great on their hands. After virtual domination of the conference by the Michigan State team, the Hawks have been able to take two games from the installation.

Michigan's defense, however, managed to hold up the Hawks for most of the second half of the game. The Hawks were able to score just three goals, but it was enough to win the match by a score of 3-0.

The Hawks put a virtual Kiersten Edwards on the line as they went up 1-0 in the first half. Edwards finished the day with two goals, including the game winner in the 11th inning of Game 1.

Wolverines answered exactly Brantner, McCarty and Richards both finished with unassisted to put Iowa on top 2-1.

"Nobody ever gave up, they played the best they could," head coach Larry Gen Сергид said.

Smith Observatory

The fresh field hockey team is making a name for itself, but it still has a ways to go. The Hawks are currently in fourth place in the conference, but they have the potential to be a force to be reckoned with.

The Iowa men's tennis team at the ITA All-American Championships began its record by defeating the performance in Ames to motivate the Hawkeyes best day," head coach Larry Gen Сергид said.

Senior Marcus Ekstrand, who obviously knew it would be tough without Fleck and Richards both finished with unassisted to put Iowa on top 2-1.

The move proved to be successful. In a strong fall season finale, the Hawkeyes improved to place fifth in the ITA rankings after one the most impressive seasons in school history. The move raised Its record to

Fashion
doesn't jive for humans and pets

It's a people's world, and they've never let us forget it. The modern way of living and work is now to be accompanied by our costumes, whether it be our "healthy" diet or the clothes we wear to work.

Does it ever seem like pets have equal rights? We're often told that a pet is a family member,
but then we see how often people treat their pets like objects. How do we know if our pets are happy? We can't ask them, but their behavior can tell us. Are they showing signs of stress or anxiety?

‘Strange Days’: cyberpunk extravaganza

Tasha Robinson
The Daily Iowan

It's two days before the millennium and every third street in L.A. seems to be deserted and lit as if for the interior of a bank vault. Sharp suits and bright wigs are comparable to the costume, but the sense of the

This is the world of "Strange Days," an oddly timed, apocalyptic narrative that intercuts times before and after the invention of the Unibomber, Ice-T and a little Trent Reznor.

There's a mystery surrounding Nero's friend who has

The acting in "Strange Days" is sensitive,

left wanting more, but it's a great
