Buchanan: Crusading for pro-life
Candidate claims to lead anti-abortion stance

President Clinton's $90 billion bailout of the Mexican debt was just the latest in a long series of government interventions to prop up the failing economies of the developing world.

"You cannot recite old grievances against women or blacks by creating new injustices against white folks," Buchanan said. "I'm not sure that money again." Buchanan said of President Clinton's $90 billion bailout of the Mexican debt.

"We're in the process of clearing the decks for the American taxpayers," Buchanan said of his campaign.

"If elected, Buchanan and the Republicans will have an adverse effect on the American economy," Buchanan said.

"It's the American taxpayer who will end up paying the price," Buchanan said of his campaign.

Buchanan, a former speechwriter for former President George Bush, has been working on his campaign since 1988.

"We're not going to have a government that's going to be able to bail out countries," Buchanan said.

Buchanan, who is seeking the Republican nomination, said his campaign is focused on creating new injustices against white folks.

"We're not going to have a government that's going to be able to bail out countries," Buchanan said.

Konechne's project has now moved through women's eyes, and she interviewed that she felt Hillary Clinton's presence at the conference was "The conference was held in the U.N. conference hall in Senegal, and her passion for women's issues inspired me to think that the U.S. women are more influential around the world and that they are more visible."

Panels at the conference addressed women's justice and the U.N. conference. "It was an experience for me to see how strong women are in Senegal and to see how they are fighting for their rights," said Harrell. "Power, Power, Power! Bringing Beijing Back!" was held Thursday at the Thanksgiving Triangle Auditorium of the State Capitol.

"The work begins when we come back from Beijing," said Konechne. "I will continue to work on this project, and I will be working with the Chinese national government to get Chinese women a voice in the world."

"This Chinese woman was there, and they knew who she is," said McGuire. "They understand the hardships of Chinese women, and they know who she is." McGuire said she was impressed with Konechne's project and determination, "I was so excited to see women from Massachusetts. Fried animal rights at the conference as "Serious 'Serious' decline - what will we do next?" Lunch was held at the conference and "The conference was a turning point in the campaign."

"I think we can do it," Jischke said. "We've worked with the Department of Natural Resources and have faced problems - we've had to work hard to get this far." McGuire added, "We have faced problems - we've had to work hard to get this far."

WELLMAN, Iowa — Mid-Prairie High School likely will drug-test athletes.

Associated Press - WELLMAN, Iowa — Mid-Prairie High School could begin random drug testing of students in November, officials said.

"We're really close to doing this," Wellman High School principal Scott Ralston said Thursday. "We're just waiting to see what the Fourth Amendment questions are. But we don't think privacy rights will prohibit us from doing it," said Ralston, who serves as an administration director at the school.

Ralston said student athletes participating in sports would be required to sign a paper allowing them to be tested.

The Wellman school suspended 24 football players Oct. 9, for drug-related and alcohol-related violation of team rules.

Mid-Prairie, which has students from Wellman, Wellman and West Chester, likely would be the first Iowa high school to set on a June 4 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that public schools can administer marketed tests even if an athlete isn't suspected of drug use, officials said.

U.S. District Judge Michael K.аттon, whose primary role was to handle the trial of Chicago and North Western Railway, ordered the final prostitution conviction for 38-year-old Albert City, Iowa, Oct. 9, as a public service of its kind in Iowa City.

Family values – whither hast thou gone?

In the current Republican-dominated political climate of the United States being called a liberal is an oxymoron.

Why is liberal now such a provocative epithet? Or, who is conserving the real good? Conservation is good because they represent the good of an environment that is not man-made, and it is the stuff that is used up through the Wall of Capital Hill, purging America of the liberal debris that has encumbered over the past 60 years.

Liberalism today are the antithesis to the views of normal Americans. They are a part of an elitist, over-privileged class that has no real interest in the traditional values that had made America great. Liberals want everyone to be equal and do not believe that there are any differences.

In the sense of the conservatives, America placed her faith on the noble and traditional values that had made America great. Liberals want everyone to be equal and do not believe that there are any differences.

In the case of a politician who realizes that he is in a minority and is not going to be able to get his way, he will be the first to say that he is a minority. He does not care about the people, he only cares about his own views. He is not interested in the people, he only cares about his own views.

In fact, the only thing liberal in the "Contract with America" is the tax cut for the wealthy.

The great age of everything was cast into our eclipse the day that we were "Finally, apparently, blank.

More pieces for those Christian conservatives. And I wonder if God does care?

Conservatives know tough times call for defensive, ethnic and national survival. The kind that fits snuggly into their policy statements. Crime control? That means punishment. Cold War? Don't be a sissy, stand your ground. Terrorism? The real enemy is the liberal brain.

Conservatives have violated the liberal and religious liberty by their attempt to control the behavior of those who are different. By trying to rob them of their freedom, they are trying to rob society of the creative potential that they possess. Liberalism is a way of life that respects the individual and his right to be himself.

Beer tents and having fun in the heartland of America

It was Saturday night in the beer tent, and it was where everything good about the day’s festivities at the annual Corn Feed in Arcola, Ill., was going on in full swing. It was all about standing around, sharing stories of the day, and catching up with friends.

On the beer tent was a group of women who were sipping beer, chatting, and having a good time. They were all smiling, laughing, and enjoying each other's company.

The beer tents were full of people, and the atmosphere was lively. It was a great way to end the day.

First Lady Rodham Clinton plays politics with a small 'p'

First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton puts on her eyeglasses as she and the other wives of Western Hemisphere leaders set to work during their conference in Santiago, Paraguay. The first lady has been accused of using her influence to ensure the safety of her husband, President Bill Clinton, and to gain political advantage for herself. In response, the first lady has been defended by many, including former Secretary of State Madeleine Albright. Albright has called the first lady's actions a "natural consequence of her position." The controversy has sparked a national debate about the role of the first lady in American politics. For more information, please visit our website or call the newsroom. Tickets are available now. The ball was in play and we were both in the right positions to catch it, Holder said.

For the Hawkeyes last year, Holder was a second-string quarterback who played in four games and had one start. This year, he is the backup quarterback.

Holder said the team is working on improving its special teams.

The Daily Iowan

Gooden said that he feels comfortable working with the younger players on the team.

"I know that I can rely on these guys to do their job," Gooden said. "I'm not going to try to be too big of a leader, but I'm going to make sure that they know what they're doing and that they're going to do the best they can."
INDIANS

Johnson left in a standing ovation that included the applauding of both Penn State and Michigan fans.

"He's got as strong an arm as (Matt) Scharp," Gooden said. "He's probably as valuable a passer, a leader as four years ago, in fact, they don't have him, I don't think they'd be in this situation."

"They've got the kind of player other coaches would love to have," Gooden said. "She's a leader, she's been under a new head coach, but there will be much different playing conference competition, NCAA's, the postseason and becoming the leader this year. Last year she led by example, but this year she plans on being more of a leadership role this year."

Levy recovering well from surgery

Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. — Rocked on its heels by an injury crisis, the Chicago Bears have a chance to recover Monday night, when offensive tackle Tom Waddle returns after missing the past five games with a knee injury.

"It's good to have him back," said offensive coordinator Steve Linneman, who had some personnel decisions to make with Waddle's return.

"It's a big boost for us," said quarterback Jim McMahon, who passed for 136 yards and two touchdowns in the team's 22-7 win over Cleveland last week.

Grbac shone in 49ers spotlight

Dennis Geogorgan

SAN FRANCISCO - Jeff Grbac was ready to play quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, but he didn't want to play if Matt Bryant didn't, too.

"I don't want to play if he's in the game," Grbac said. "I don't want to play if he's in the game, either."

Colts accustomed to comebacks

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Through two weeks of the NFL season, the Indianapolis Colts have been known as the league's least respected owner, nowhere near the Super Bowl-winning Bears, runs never the same.

"It's a big boost for us," Grbac said. "It's a big boost for us, too."

Leyland agrees to extension

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — Jim Leyland, a three-time manager of the year who guided the Pittsburgh Pirates to two division titles, has agreed to a multi-year contract extension to remain with the team.

Leyland, who has been the Pirates' manager since 1986, has led the team to two NL East titles in 1988 and 1989. Under his guidance, the Pirates also won the National League pennant in 1991.

"We're very pleased to continue working with Jim Leyland," Pirates general manager Ryan Minor said.

"He's been a tremendous asset to the organization and we look forward to continuing our success under his leadership."".

The contract, which was announced at a 3 p.m. EDT news conference, is reportedly worth $10 million over the next five years.

"I'm really excited to continue my tenure with this great organization," Leyland said.

"Over the years, I've had the opportunity to work with so many talented players and staff members, and I look forward to continuing that tradition in the future."

The city of Cleveland has experienced a renaissance in industrial rock. For example, Rage Against the Machine released "Rage Against the Machine" in 1992, which was almost good but completely changed the game. The use of technology in music has brought a new level of creativity. For instance, the band Nine Inch Nails used technology to create their unique sound reminiscent of (dare I say?) NIN or U2's last two albums. The city of Cleveland is the hotbed for the splashing of industrial rock.

For some reason, however, the plot became too stupid even for me. I mean, someone possesses a little fire for a chopper and a scene. And you think this is the end? No, a writer should have enough, always states in their liner notes, beautiful things will happen next? Maybe the alternative is the daytime way of saying, "you know what?" No, not the idea. When it comes to the big ones, you have to peel the onion back to the bare essentials. The bumper sticker above the bar and the partner below the stage, in essence, is the same thing. The bumper sticker says, "Who knows what could happen next? Maybe the alternative is the daytime way of saying, "you know what?" No, not the idea."

However, Filter believes technology is the given ballad, the truth. They say, "The use of technology in music is the best thing that ever happened to the music industry."

EASY-PARISIENNE HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Makes 1/8 cup sauce

Combine 1/4 cup dry white wine, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, whisking, just until bubbles form. Pour over cooked salmon or pork. (Can be made ahead of time and kept refrigerated up to 2 days.)

FRENCH FRIE FACT

French fries vary in size and flavor. When planning a menu with any fries, be sure to consider the size and flavor. Fry frozen and fresh fries at the same time for the same flavor and texture. To make fries with extra crispiness, add 1/2 cup of olive oil to the fryer.

We're willing to stack our smokehouse meats up against any in the business. That's why we enter the American Cured Meat championships, held as part of the American Convention of Meat Processors. This competition draws hundreds of entries from all over the United States and Canada.

This year with Henry Venegas of the Naperville, Illinois Cub Foods representing us, our Smoked Maple Country Sausage won Grand Champion honors...for the third year in a row! We did pretty well in other categories too...our beef stick won Reserve Grand Champion, and our old fashioned wieners with cheese won the Champion honors. So you can see why we take special pride in our smokehouse. These delicious meats are rich in taste and quality, using Cub's own award-winning recipes, and are made fresh in the store. So when you go to look for the best sausage in the country, you'll find that it's made just down the street.
