College drops tuition to lure students

Laura Merlack
Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Miami University, a small, private school in the hills of rural Ohio, is lowering tuition rates in a bid to attract more students.

"We are in a very competitive environment," said Laura McClintock, the university's director of admissions. "We've been seeing an increase in the number of students applying, but the number of students we're enrolling has not increased."

Miami University is one of the latest schools to announce a tuition cut, joining a growing list of institutions that are lowering their fees in an effort to attract more students and increase enrollment.

"We are trying to be more competitive with other schools," McClintock said. "We want to attract more students, and lowering our tuition is one way to do that."

Miami University's new tuition rates will take effect in the fall of 2023. The school's president, Julie Cantin, said the decision was made after careful consideration of the financial situation and the need to attract more students.

"We are committed to providing a high-quality education at an affordable price," Cantin said. "We believe that lowering tuition will help us attract more students and increase enrollment."

Derailment leaves residents worried about living on wrong side of track

Daley Hustall
The Daily Iowan

Almost one week after the derailment of an Iowa Interstate Railroad train, residents living in the Kenneth Plaza apartments are skeptical of the train tracks that run near their apartment building and where the tracks jumped.

At 5 a.m. Wednesday, a westbound Iowa Interstate Railroad train derailed, leaving three cars on their sides and the hanging over the bridge in the 700 block of College St. The road was blocked until about 9:40 a.m., according to police.

Donald R. Kellen, 57, of Bettendorf, was charged with possession of a weapon at a vehicle at the corner of Riverside Drive and 100 N. Avenue on Nov. 25 at 6:25 p.m.

Richard C. Wilke, 36, Des Moines, was charged with possession of an open container at the corner of Riverside Drive and 100 N. Avenue on Nov. 25 at 8:09 p.m.

Ryan P. Gentry, 21, Cedar Rapids, was charged with driving while intoxicated in the 810 block of South Capitol Street on Nov. 24 at 8:31 p.m.

Michael J. Conley, 27, 520 Summit Dr., was charged with driving while intoxicated at the corner of Riverside Drive and 100 N. Avenue on Nov. 25 at 1:19 a.m.

Jason A. Juenger, 22, Cedar Rapids, was charged with possession of a controlled substance at the corner of Riverside Drive and 100 N. Avenue on Nov. 24 at 12:15 a.m.

Robert M. Adkins, 19, 520 Summit Dr., was charged with possession of a controlled substance at the corner of Riverside Drive and 100 N. Avenue on Nov. 25 at 6:25 p.m.

Heather Haynes, who heard about the derailment, said, "I think about it when I walk underneath the tracks every day. "

"It'd be like to think it never would happen, but then it does and you're even more afraid. I'm glad I watch the train. It makes living down here a little too close to the tracks. "

Mike Riddle, owner of Kennedy Plaza Apartments, said the area has seen a train derail before.

"There was one less than five years ago where a car was spilled over " Riddle said.

"I've never seen a car lose part of its body like that before. "

UI junior John Heinze thinks something should be done safely.

Sporled at the safety of the building, because if it did fall, I don't know what would happen, " he said.

"I would worry about his building or his tenancy safety because of a wind which moves between the building and the railroad. "

"There's a pretty good-sized crack there, so something would have to be sped up to hit the ap­ tment, Riddle said.

UI senior Jim Cua, who lives in the apartment building, said he was worried about the derailment and the current blockage of the tracks.

"It was a little scary. I wasn't sure if there was going to be any damage. "

UI senior John Beertens thinks something should be done.

I love the safety of the building, because if it had fallen I don't think I would have been able to get to the front door. "

"I don't think the management or railroad should do anything about the safety of the building. I won't be living there next year, that's for sure. "

Iowa Interstate Railroad spokesperson Rich Currier was unavailable for comment.

CHICAGO - The 19-year-old young man may be a shy, small kid who's easy to overlook.

That's not the way he and his father see him.

"He and his father are not going to let him go to work for a buck a day in a special education job," said the Rev. Israel M. Holman, a family friend. "He's going to get in people's shoes and know people's names, and he's going to be a leader.

His name is Jesse Jackson Jr., and he learned early on he cannot hide from his own legacy.

"I've always been the activist legacy. I've always been the activist legacy."

So he learned early on he cannot hide from his own legacy.

But the family name also "is a double-edged sword."

"It's a name that's synonymous with public service, with helping people," said the Rev. Israel M. Holman, a family friend. "But it's a name that's synonymous with public service, with helping people."
Photographer suspected in death of model

Los Angeles - Investigators say the neat little white cottage on Sunset Strip that Belushi owned may have played a role in his death. The cottage was burned down last week and authorities are now investigating whether Belushi was killed in the fire.

Belushi, known for his wild behavior both on and off the screen, was found dead Saturday morning at his home in a garage fire. Officials said the blaze was accidental.

Belushi, 30, was found dead in his bed with burns over his body. The cause of death is still under investigation.

The cottage, located in the Hollywood Hills, was surrounded by flames when fire officials arrived on the scene. Neighbors reported hearing an explosion shortly before the fire broke out.

 Authorities are now looking into whether Belushi was killed in the fire.

Belushi was married twice and had two children. He leaves a wife and two children.

Welfare program not responsible for murders

A woman was murdered and her child was cut out of her womb. The woman was on welfare. According to Newt Gingrich, that means welfare should be taken away.

If Aid to Families with Dependent Children is ended, 11 million families and 21 million children now receiving food stamps will need to scrounge for food, or if it is eliminated, family of the American Dream must be made a reality for all children.

Many have said that, in the nation's capital, there will be starvation, pure and simple.

The American System of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or AFDC, was created by a woman in the 1930s, Jeanette Rankin, to help our fellow citizens, especially mothers, who are left alone to care for their children.

Serbs challenge Balkan peace accord

Associated Press

Stringent terms under the Dayton accord - the international community's effort to end the war in Bosnia-Herzegovina - have won its key demand. The chances for changes in the Bosnian government are slim.

The accord, signed in Dayton, Ohio, would only take effect under the condition that the Serb-dominated government for their homes and futures if they were under joint control.

Serbs in Sarajevo demonstrated for the third straight day Friday to protest the accord and rebel leaders in Sarajevo, however, fear they would have to leave their homes and future if they were under joint control.

The Bosnian government is unlikely to accept the peace accord, but it is under pressure to accept the terms that Serbs have agreed to remain in their homes without fear for their safety, to respect the accord and accept the joint control with Muslims and Croats.

The chances for changes in the Bosnian government are slim.

Hologram offers surgeons '3-D x-ray Vision'

About 100 surgeons around the country have been using such technology to help patients in clinical trials for more than two years. Now, the technology in Chicago. The technology, offered for sale for the first time this weekend at the Radiological Society of North America was one of the first places to use them in the operating room.

"It's very cool technology," says Dr. Frederick Rupp, a radiologist at the University of New Mexico was one of the first to look at how the hologram system, sold under the name Vayagram, was being offered for sale for the first time this past weekend in the Radiological Society of North America's "3-D x-ray vision".

The hologram system, made by Vayagram, allows surgeons to see an image of the patient's body as a three-dimensional image. The system includes a $175,000 machine that makes holograms of already high-tech images such as computed tomography or CT-Xray and magnetic resonance imaging. The hologram as a three-dimensional image, the surgeon can put his hands into the image and put a sense of depth.

Wrestling team dominates inaugural meets

There was never any doubt the top-ranked Iowa wrestling team would make a group of smaller opponentspine to open its season.

As usual, winners already in the Iowa favors of senior captains Matt Domond and John Epley had little trouble finding opponents.

Domond and John Epley each captured matches in less than two minutes to lead the top-ranked Hawkeyes to easy 60-5 and 54-3 victories over Central on Sunday, October 14 and over Wisconsin-Stout on October 15.

Senior captain Matt Domond had no trouble winning both of his matches by tech fall against Central, while John Epley defeated the Blue Devils' Kolden Davis in the first match of the season.

There was never a question about the status (pulled groin and abdominal strain) of Iowa's favor, senior Bill Zadick was limited to one match against the Blue Devils, and John Epley didn't see many minutes behind Duke, which opened the season at 2-0 but was led by the Blue Devils' Kolden Davis in the first match of the season.

The "pig to the winner" tradition began in 1913 when a pig was given as an award, or an idea thought up by Minnesota Governor Floyd R. Olson. As a way of distracting Iowa fans away at the way Minnesota players had treated Olson's home, Iowa's first African American fan, a year earlier.

Fallon captain Matt Purdy has had mixed emotions about the game because he knows he would have missed it last weekend, but did not see what would happen about being blocked. Iowa native still plays at Red House

Jeff Baenen

MINNEAPOLIS -- It's too soon for the album, and Greg Brown looks like he just got up.

Guitar in hand, he ambles into the offices of Red House Records and then does his best to avoid eye contact, even as he tries to find a chair for a smoker.

But that's to be expected. As the new head of the legendary label, Brown has only started changing it from its roots.

Brown can be heard on walls -- literally. The former leader of the folk rock supergroup Burying the Hatchet has been the label's manager since early 1990s. Now he has to move the label to his new role.

And what better way than to start at the label's home, the 400-seat and 49-seat Red House in Minneapolis.

He found himself in a Catch-22 with record companies if he had a hit album: "If it sells well, I'll put out more. Maybe it won't sell, and I'd lose my job," he said.

Brown named the label's after the old house that was once in Iowa City. Even running the label from the home that he's partly responsible for, and now his own, Brown still has a marketing director and an assistant director.

In 1983, Brown was approached by Bob Parmalee to perform at a benefit concert at the Gutherie Theater in Minneapolis. The two later formed a partnership and renamed Red House. Brown released seven albums as an artist before starting the label.

Parmalee eventually took over Red House Records and became the label's master. He then released 11 albums of any artist on the Red House roster. But 1996's "The Punctuation of" is the label's biggest seller, with nearly 10,000 copies sold worldwide.

 CDs range from trash date to hot lips

Jonathan Hauser

"The release of First Date, the new album from South Carolina's Barenaked Ladies, is the most prevalent topics on the genre as a whole -- entertaining." Brown said, "I'm ready for that." Brown and his bandmates are looking for a smaller label to release their latest album, "Groovin' In The Afternoon." Brown said, "I think we might have to find a bigger label, or at least a bigger one that's willing to pay any attention to their music." And that's the theme he's found balancing his obligations to his current engagement and his new band.

Brown's first two albums and, in a benefit concert at the Gutherie Theater in Minneapolis, Brown released 11 albums of any artist on the Red House roster. But 1996's "The Punctuation of" is the label's biggest seller, with nearly 10,000 copies sold worldwide.

Prepare the dough:

1. Cream together 1 cup butter and 2 cups sugar (packed) then beat in 2 eggs and 2 tsp. vanilla.
2. Sift together 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, 1 tsp. baking soda and 1 tsp. salt then add 3 cups rolled oats.
3. Over low heat combine 2 cups (12 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1 can sweetened condensed milk, and 1/4 tsp. vanilla.
4. Stir until smooth, then add 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans and 1 tsp. vanilla.
5. Preheat oven 350°.

Combine ingredients:

Now combine the egg and flour mixtures and spread about two-thirds of it onto a 10.5" x 15.5" cookie sheet. Pour the chocolate mixture over all, then dot with the remaining third of batter. Preheat oven 350°. Bake about 25 minutes.

“Cynthia is an artist. From the moment she enters, you know there’s a star on stage,” noted Dance Magazine. Cynthia says, “The years I’ve devoted to ballet have given me an appreciation of performance and grace. In fact, they’re the same qualities I’ve come to love in my Rolex.”

“No matter what I’m dancing, I always rely on the power of the music.”

You know what I like in a guy?
Someone who cares. Someone who thinks enough of me to respect the fact that I insist on using protection.
Sorry, honey, but casual sex is out. As far as I'm concerned, there's nothing casual about it. I need to know I'm safe. Don't you? Think about it. What if the guy I was with last month, or last year, was a total jerk who didn't care about me in the least? Or, what if I didn't care either?
Asking me to risk my life is the quickest way to turn me off. I insist on using a condom. I like a guy who does, too.
