Clinton tickets: Round 2
2,000 more free passes now available for Saturday's speech

Tamel Macmccormick (The Daily Iowan)

Thousands of people want tests over the tickets, yelling out Clinton's speech in about six hours tomorrow. Others were turned away because of it. The seats are still held, they say. But it's 2,000 more tickets will be up for grabs at the University of the White House, starting at 11:30 a.m. The tickets are handed over to the committee had asked for over handwritten jottings take n by them, the White House turned.

President Clinton's communications director has been appointed to take over candidate Lamar Alexander's campaign.

The rally sponsored by the Christian Coalition, will be held at the University of Washington.

Iowa caucuses are a game of expectations

Jay Dee (The Daily Iowan)

The Iowa caucuses are an event. The debate is caused by the way the candidates are chosen, not necessarily by the candidates themselves. The caucuses are not always about winning, but about getting there.

President Clinton's visit marks the third time a president has come to the Hawkeye State since John F. Kennedy made his famous 1960 speech.

While more than 10,000 ticket buyers were turned away at 11:30 a.m. at Carver-Hawkeye Arena — the Iowa City Police Department and White House Secret Service assisted Thursday making sure the visit goes smoothly.

Tonight's event is the second of Clinton's campaign visits. Comment and video recordings will be allowed, but ticket holders should not hang posters or put on hats.

The doors to Carver-Hawkeye Arena were expected to open at 5 p.m. to allow for members of the audience and security personnel. The rally will be held in the University of Iowa's basketball arena.

The rally sponsored by the Christian Coalition, will be held at the University of Washington.

With only four days before the caucuses, several Republican presidential candidates have been making last-minute stops in Iowa. Dole has held numerous speeches during his campaign to secure support from the Iowa electorate.

Lamar brags about ‘clean campaign’

How the GOP’s Man in Plaid views issues of Campaign ’96

Daily Iowan political reporter

A plaid guy really grated on the last Republican presidential candidate Lamar Alexander Thursday as

Forbes: Social security reform a high-priority

Sally Busbee
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Steve Forbes wants to push quickly to privatize the giant Social Security fund for younger people, away from buy-now-pay-later overdrafts discussed by his rival for the Republican nomination, Texas Sen. Phil Gramm.

Forbes doesn't discuss the plan in his multitude of TV ads, and he has begun to stress the politically volatile issue on the campaign trail. Forbes makes any retirement system overhaul his top campaign priority.

"We will all know that the current system will be broke or bleeding by the time these younger people retire," GOP candidate Steve Forbes said.

Gramm said he was willing to give up these unearned credits and start up support with Christian conservatives.

"We want to be a voice for older America," Gramm told the American Needs Pollution Audit. Forbes told the American Needs Pollution Audit.

Gramm, who was thus far running a positive campaign, backed out at both Dole and Forbes. He said Forbes had little chance of winning.

Buchanan risks focusing on trade

Mike Glover
Associated Press

CARTERVILLE, Ill. — Pat Buchanan risked focusing on trade Tuesday in the opening speech of his Illinois presidential campaign.

The former congressman was looking to build on momentum he got with a surprising win in Louisiana's primary last week. He will continue his appeal that is looser and more to the left, with many voters yet to decide which candidate they'll support.

A poll commissioned by five television stations gave Bob Dole 20 percent of those sampled in a three-person race that showed Buchanan was at 12 percent in that poll, while former Sen. Steve Symms of Idaho got 9 percent.

Buchanan said his appeal was aimed at undecided voters, and he's trying to convince them that in the closing days before the Iowa caucuses on Monday, "we're going to play fair with each other." Buchanan said his opponent was "just don't see it having much time." Iowa Republican Chairman Bill Schramm added that Buchanan was "looking to motivate people to his cause."

While Democrats and independents are aligned to support Monday's caucuses, there's little history of crossover voting. Buchanan said, "You're going to play it with us."

"You're going to play it with us" Buchanan said. He said he would continue his fight against Clinton and Japan. Buchanan said his appeal was aimed at undecided voters, and Democrats and independents who would lean the GOP convention by supporting Buchanan in the event.

He said the pitch has appeal because it's a deep narrative about the economy. But Buchanan was campaigning heavily dependent on hoping new conservatives who didn't show up in Tuesday's election that would narrow the race that's likely to narrow the Republican field.

"I just don't see it having much momentum," Iowa Republican Chairman Bill Schramm added. "We're looking to motivate people to his cause."

Forgotten insurance pays Clinton's legal bills

Clinton's other source of lawyer fees, the legal defense fund he created to raise money for his defense, has raised $504,000, and the second annual fund-raising effort is under way. But the fund is not big enough to cover all costs, and even fund-raisers are pessimistic that it will make public its financial statements. The first annual fund-raising campaign was held from February 28 to March 7, 1994, and the second from May 8 to May 12, 1994.

WASHINGTON - A huge black hole, in a sexual harassment lawsuit, will be opened in the upcoming campaign that was brought by the Whitewater regulatory board, which is charged with the task of overseeing the president's legal affairs.

Two insurance companies paid Washington, but they are not sure whether the legal bills are covered. The President's aides and the public also are unsure.

The second policy, bought from the insurance companies, was $891,950 for a year beginning Feb. 5, 1993. It was a $1 million liability policy, but because the case against Clinton was not a criminal case, it was not the focus of the Whitewater scandal.

We're singing; I am the temporary front-runner

Pat Buchanan, on his position in the race for the Republican nomination

I have a dream, I have a dream, that one day America will live up to all it says on paper.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The media relies too heavily on press releases and savvy individuals who work in their well-financed publicity departments and good will cannot ignore how it is portrayed by the media. We, the public, should learn to separate fact from fiction. 'We the people' can't remain passive observers if we're going to participate in the political process. Iars, and see things for ourselves."

Around this time each year, I see the same old things: slaves, kente cloth, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., United Negro College Fund, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Jesse Jackson. These are the things the media wants us to remember. But Americans know business how it is we should remember with.

An aggressive, talented individual is sought as editor of The Daily Iowan, Iowa City's largest newspaper, with an editorial staff of more than 50 professionals, on an editorial budget exceeding $200,000 and circulation of 20,000. The Board of Student Publications incorporated and the Publisher of The Daily Iowan will soon interview candidates for the position of editor for the term beginning June 1, 1996 and ending May 31, 1997.

The Editor of The Daily Iowan must have strong journalistic abilities, skills in management and a clear sense of editorial responsibility. The position requires prior experience in news reporting and writing, and the ability to lead, organize and inspire a staff. The Editorial Board will weigh heavily the editor's proven ability to manage and lead, organize and inspire a staff.

Applications are available at and should be returned to: The Daily Iowan business office, 111 Communications Center, Iowa City, Iowa 52242.

Iowa may have a little revenge in mind.

Iowa's Mike Anderson, who leads a new basketball team that is 1-1 after two games, said Thursday that he is looking forward to the 12-1 Sharks.

"It's a big game for us and they're a good team,

The Hawkeyes fell to the Moines 88-77 Saturday. The senior guard scored 25 points on 12-for-20 shooting, including a 3-pointer, and was 4-for-4 from the foul line. After the game, he was named the Big Ten player of the week.

"I'm happy with the way we played," Anderson said. "We had a lot of energy, but we need to be more consistent."

In other Big Ten action:

- Minnesota beat Iowa 77-68.
- Penn State beat Iowa 91-77.

Edgar proposes domed stadium in Chicago

Edgar cast his vote Thursday for a domed stadium in Chicago on the city's behalf. Edgar's proposal would tax and would include a separate training facility.

"I'm nuts," Edgar said. "This is a business.-"

Edgar said such a facility in Chicago would create millions of dollars annually for the city and could be used for indoor events or creating new ones.

"We're looking to move the team north," Edgar said.

The governor said he's not sure how long the support of the Bulls and White Sox will last.

"They will be asking us to pay more," Edgar said.

Edgar, who is in his second term, has been a strong supporter of the proposed facility.

"If I had a say in it, I'd love to have the team here," Edgar said.

The governor did not rule out the possibility of the proposal not being approved.

"If the Bulls and White Sox don't support it, we'll go with a new stadium," Edgar said.

NFL approves Browns move

Don Oldberg

Associated Press

Cleveland (AP) - The NFL and the city of Cleveland agreed Thursday to allow the Cleveland Browns to move to a new stadium in Maryland, an agreement that will end a long-running battle between the league and the team over its future.

The Browns have been playing in Cleveland since 1956, but have struggled to draw fans and have not made the playoffs since 2007. The team has also been embroiled in a lawsuit with the NFL over the rights to the team's name and colors.

A deal was reached this week that would allow the Browns to move to Baltimore, where they would play at M&T Bank Stadium beginning in 2024. The new venue is expected to cost $800 million.

The agreement includes a 10-year lease agreement for two new stadiums in Baltimore, one of which will be named after former Browns owner Art Modell. The team's current stadium, FirstEnergy Stadium, is expected to be demolished.

The move is expected to cost the Browns about $300 million, but will be offset by increased revenue from ticket sales and merchandise.

The NFL's approval of the move is a significant victory for the team and its fans, who have been campaigning for a new stadium for years.

Saratoga Springs, N.Y. (AP) - The New York Yankees announced Thursday that left-handed pitcher Sonny Gray has been placed on the 10-day injured list with a strained elbow.

Gray, who is 4-6 with a 4.49 ERA this season, will be evaluated by team doctors before a decision is made on his return.

The move comes as the Yankees are trying to get back on track after a rough start to the season. They are currently sitting in fourth place in the AL East with a record of 19-22.

California (AP) - Marianne Stanley, who led Stanford to four NCAA championships in 12 seasons, has been hired as the women's basketball coach at the University of Southern California.

Stanley, who previously coached at Brown, was most recently the head coach at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Stanley led the Bears to the NCAA Tournament in 2013 and 2014, where they lost to Kentucky and Connecticut, respectively. She was also named the Big Ten Coach of the Year in 2013.

Stanley replaces83-year-old Paul Westhead, who was named head coach of the University of Kentucky last month.

Big Ten season begins in Iowa City

By Jim Brown

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa men's gymnastics team paves its way to Big Ten success with a 202-173 victory over Minnesota on Saturday afternoon. The Hawkeyes have only one conference opponent remaining and have already defeated the only team that was able to compete with them.

Iowa senior Tom Devine stretches to make a short field goal during the last weekend at the US Bank Center. Iowa defeated the Boilermakers, 31-20, with a strong performance by quarterback Matt Clinkscales. Iowa outgained Purdue by 231 yards and forced the Boilermakers to turn the ball over twice.

Injuries slow Iowa en route to ISU Open

By Chris Iseman

The Daily Iowan

Both the men's and women's track teams have been plagued by injuries, making it difficult for them to compete at full strength. The Hawkeyes travel to East Lansing for their first Big Ten dual meet of the season.

Chris Jones

If history holds true, the Decen­ber meet will be the biggest and best for the Iowa and Minnesota colleges. The Hawkeyes have never competed against each other in the series, and this year's meet will be their first.

Women's track and field is currently ranked sixth in the nation and has high expectations for the upcoming meet. The team has performed well in recent meets, and there is a strong possibility that they will continue their success.

Women's basketball is currently ranked 18th in the nation and has high expectations for the upcoming season. The team has performed well in recent games, and there is a strong possibility that they will continue their success.

Hawkeyes split squad for season-tuneup

By Chris Jones

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa women's track team is looking to get ready for the upcoming season with a dual meet against the University of Minnesota on Sunday afternoon. The meet will be held at the Iowa State University track and field complex.

The Hawkeyes are coming off a strong performance at the Big Ten indoor championships, where they finished second in the team standings. They will be looking to continue their success at this week's meet.
Rockets center honors his faith

Soren puts ‘MTV News’ into political media mainstream

Frazier Moore

NEW YORK — Four years ago, fabled Soren was part of what some see as a timely act. This year, as she leads the MTV News coverage of its second presidential race, she is part of the media mainstream.

Though some might disagree, many think MTV’s “MTV News,” hosted by Soren, is already vastly different from anything that viewers have seen before. The 38-year-old anchor of the network’s afternoon newscast, “MTV News,” has long been described as a “man in a suit,” a “voice of reason,” and an “eloquent and fresh performance.”

But at the same time, she stands in sharp contrast to the glitzy, glamorous, and often serious political shows on other networks, she fits perfectly into the current political climate. She is easygoing, affable, and has a certain laid-back charm.

“I think I look different than a lot of people,” Soren said, “I’ve been described as more of an everyman, I think, and I think it’s more of an everyman, I think, and I think it’s more of a similar audience.”

Indeed, when interviewed in the Oval Office on Monday, President Clinton assumed thrown off his handlers by her campaign guest appearance at a benefit for abortion rights and his anti-abortion opponents. “You don’t have to agree with everything she says,” said Clinton, who later praised her performance. While Soren seems to stay in a class of her own on “MTV News,” it is also clear that she is comfortable with the audience alike.

“I don’t think it matters if you’re a Republican or a Democrat,” she said, “I think it’s important to have a diverse audience.”
