Driving simulator gets green light

$34 million contract to make UI leader in traffic safety research

Chris Gardner
The Daily Iowan

The wheels are in motion, and UI researchers are going to start working to stop the 40,000 deaths and three million accidents per year on America's roadways. A $34 million contract to begin construction on the UI's driving simulator has been awarded to TRW of San Francisco, said the Iowa Department of Transportation Thursday. The National Advance Driving Simulator will be housed at the Oakdale Research Park, a section of the UI campus located in Coralville.

This research will help federal officials design safer roads and help car makers develop safer cars and trucks.

"The cost of crashes on highways is enormous, and if you could make a small dent in that, the consequences would be enormous."

Ed Haug, director of the National Advance Driving Simulator program

"We basically allow the engineers and human scientists to put people through experiments that you could not do in the real world to discover what the limits of the human capability and the instrumentation are," Ed Haug, director of the NADS program, said.

"Only when you know those limits can you design safe systems, and only with a simulator can you do that kind of experimentation," he said.

The simulator will consist of a motion system with a dome that holds a car cab and a driver who will operate a steering wheel, the brakes and accelerator.

"The machine senses what the driver does, passes it to a bank of computers which calculates what the vehicle would do in response to the driver's actions, generates the motion that the driver would feel — the visual cues," Haug said.

The simulator will help decrease the formidable cost of highway accidents — more than $137 billion annually.

"The cost of crashes on highways is enormous, and if you could make a small dent in that, the consequences would be enormous," Haug said.

Derek Willard, UI associate vice president for research, said the new facility revs up current vehicle safety research because it studies driver behavior which contributes to 80 percent of accidents.

"The NADS project is designed to study the interaction of three major factors leading to highway accidents — one factor is the vehicle, the second is the highway environment and the third is human behavior," Willard said. "The facility will enable us to study all three factors at once."

Willard said the NADS project will give research at the UI more horsepower to spread its global influence with respect to research.

"The study will show how driving behavior might impact the design of vehicles and the design of highways," he said. "Therefore, the impact that the new facility will have is the ability to bring our research into a world-class research group. It will be a magnet for researchers from all over the

Two long shots in the race warned the bickering was only helping President Clinton.

While they sparred over the tone and tactics of the campaign, the candidates were in broad agreement over why a Republican president would be better than a second Clinton term: the budget would be balanced, taxes cut and reformed, more power shifted to state and local governments.

ROUNDUP OF THE WEEK IN POLITICS

New obstacles await Dole out east

Jay Dee
Daily Iowan political reporter

The road ahead is rough for Bob Dole.

Even though his two early challengers are either down — Steve Forbes — or out — Texas Sen. Phil Gramm — two new contenders have emerged.

With better than expected showings in Iowa, Pat Buchanan and former Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander are narrowing the gap between themselves and Dole in New Hampshire polls. The state's primary is Tuesday.

Even worse news for Dole is that Buchanan and Alexander will be tougher challenges than Forbes.

In his renege 1992 campaign against President Bush, Buchanan garnered 36 percent of the vote in New Hampshire. His supporters are well-organized in the state, networking through conservative church connections.

In addition, anti-abortion activists who supported Gramm are looking for a new candidate and Buchanan stands to gain some of those voters.

Alexander also has a message that resonates in New Hampshire. New Hampshire voters are even more anti-Washington than Iowa voters — their state motto, after all, is "Live free or die." Alexander, a self-proclaimed Washington outsider, could pick up some of Forbes' support if voters begin to think Forbes, another outsider, cannot win.

COACH DEFENDS MOVE

Fry plugs phone firm; UI winces

Sara Voreis
The Daily Iowan

Hawkeye football coach Hayden Fry's endorsement of a Texas-based telecommunications company has UI officials worried about the university's name being used without permission for promotional purposes.

Fry is endorsing the long-distance telephone service Excel Telecommunications, which allegedly sent letters to members of the Iowa Legislature, soliciting their involvement as long-distance carriers and sales representatives. The letters Fry cited Hayden Fry as a representative.

In addition to sending letters to Iowa legislators soliciting long-distance service, The Daily Iowan has learned letters endorsing Excel have also been sent to the parents of several former Iowa football players. Fry could not be reached for comment on how the company specifically would have identified the names of players' parents.

"I'd like that the UI's name not be used in that way. I'd like it clear that it's him as an individual involved with Excel, not the university."

Ann Rhodes, vice president for University Relations

Fry said he was not aware materials highlighting his coaching position with the UI were sent to legislators.

"I wasn't even aware that the letters were sent," Fry said. "Excel probably just assumed that it would be all right to send the letter out."

Ann Rhodes, vice president for University Relations, said the UI is concerned about the situation.

"I'd like that the UI's name not be used in that way," Rhodes said. "I'd like it clear that it's him as an individual involved with Excel, not the university."

Rhodes said Fry is sensitive to the UI's concern, but that he has a right to be involved with an outside business as long as he adheres to UI policy.

Fry said he is involved with Excel because he wants to make a money-making opportunity known to lower-level coaches. Representatives of Excel can make money through a network marketing system.

"My internal motivation was to help coaches across America sup-

WEBER A PAST OLYMPIC HOPEFUL

95-year-old I.C. resident, wrestling legend to carry torch

Chad Graham
The Daily Iowan

Ninety-five-year-old Iowa City resident Irving Weber tried out for the 1924 U.S. Olympic swim team — but didn't make it.

On May 30, he'll have his shining Olympic moment when he carries the torch on its pit stop in Iowa City.

"It's wonderful," Weber said. "I can't tell you how much I appreciate it. I never dreamed I would be carrying the torch. I read where they asked people to apply, but I didn't apply. Someone put my name in, but I don't know who it is."

Margaret Silber, United Way of

Weber

Iowa City board member, said Weber was chosen because of his important role as historian in the Iowa City community.

"He's been an important advocate to document the history of Iowa City and Coralville," she said.

"He's a community treasure."

Silber said even though plans are in the preliminary stages, she knows the torch will go through the downtown area. UI wrestling coach Dan Gable, along with about 10 other Iowa City area residents, was chosen to carry the torch.

"The torch will be coming from the south side," Silber said. "It will go through downtown to Hancher where it will be stopping for 5 minutes, then west to Park Road to Highway 6 and then to Route 965. A group will be following it and we are hopeful the downtown association will be having activities."

Weber, who will be pushed in a wheelchair on the route, said he's attended a few Olympic games, but won't be in Atlanta.

"I've been to the 1932 games in Los Angeles, 1964 games in Tokyo and the 1968 games in Mexico City," he said. "I've been interested in the Olympics since 1912."

Sherri Zastrow, assistant director of United Way in Iowa City, said about 400 people will carry the torch statewide. Torch carriers are nominated locally. The nominations are sent to the national Olympic committee and then chosen by a committee in Cedar Rapids.

"People are not necessarily chosen because they are athletes, but because they are a community

With butt-ies, you'll always have a friend

Chad Graham
The Daily Iowan

I'm bound to live like a hermit. I recently moved into a single residence hall room and I have to admit, it's great. I can listen to my collection of bad '80s recordings, watch Tibetan monkeys on the Discovery Channel as much as I want, and sleep a couple of days at a time without being disturbed.

If you find yourself in this type of situation involuntarily and are looking for a friend, don't worry. There is now a friend substitute on the market.

"There are so many lonely people. I laughed when the picture of a butt came into my head, but now people can have a buddy."

Julie Leighton, creator of a new product called "butt-ies"

Julie Leighton, a Phoenix, Ariz., woman, is putting her behind to the wind and manufacturing a new product called "butt-ies," which will soon hit the nation.

The assortment of butt-shaped paraphernalia consists of butt-ie key chains ($3), 'Hangin' With Your Butt-ie' necklaces ($3), 'Stick With Your Butt-ie' refrigerator magnets ($3), butt-about it until you copyright it because you never know when something is going to be a big hit."

New for this Easter is the chocolate Easter Butt-ie; I hope they aren't filled like those Cadbury cream eggs.

Excluding the candles, Butt-ies are cast plastic, which is a kind of plastic wood. Leighton manufactures them from her kitchen and each one takes about 15 minutes to make. When Leighton goes national, she said she has a plastics manufacturer in Phoenix ready to handle the job.

Elly Folkers, manager of Lundy's Hallmark in Old Capitol Mall, said she thought they would be popular with a younger crowd, but she wouldn't buy any.

"They'll be hotter than a mackerel," she said. "But, they're something for the boutiques in the Ped Mall. I wouldn't buy them, but they should be hot with the kids."

Julie Corkery, a staff psychologist at University Counseling Services, 330 South Westlawn, said she recommends support groups for lonely people.

"Most people find a commonality there," she said. "They can learn how to experiment with behavior in relationships and get feedback about what they contribute to other people's lives and what kinds of things they may be doing to make others uncomfortable."

Maybe she can hand out Butt-ies at the meetings.

soap ($5), butt-ie candle ($5), butt-ie paper weight ($4) and butt-ie bookends ($7).

Leighton, who is the manufacturer, owner and sole heir to the Butt-ie dynasty, said the idea came to her because people need companionship.

"There are so many lonely people," she said. "I laughed when the picture of a butt came into my head, but now people can have a buddy."

UI freshman Ron Mahlberg said he'd buy a Butt-ie, but he doesn't think they can replace any of his friends.

"I'd get the key chain," he said. "I'd buy the rest out and sell them to people for $10. I wouldn't like talking to only an asshole for a friend."

Leighton said it was hard to get the products on the market. The key was getting her butt in gear without giving away her product secrets.

"I had to start from scratch," she said. "Even my husband didn't get it until I got a real rough model made out of clay. Keep your mouth shut

Charlton Heston can part the Red Sea, but can't speak at Bible school

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP) — They love him, ma-a-a-n! (Sob) Uh, unless he's going to sell beer.

Charlton Heston's appearance in a Bud Light commercial led an Alabama Christian school to cancel his speech at its annual fund-raiser March 22.

The commercial — which uses the catch phrase "I love you, ma-a-a-n!" and a fake sob — was first shown during the Super Bowl Jan. 28.

"We had some complaints and concerns," David Vester, president of the Mars Hill Bible School, said. "We're a Christian school, and part of our purpose for being is to teach against the evils of drinking."

Heston's screen roles have included Moses and Ben-Hur.

Zoning board denies Martha Stewart her greenhouse

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — It's a good thing. Maybe too much of a good thing.

The town's Zoning Board of Appeals voted 5-0 Tuesday to deny Martha Stewart's application to put an 800-square-foot greenhouse on her property. Zoning laws limit all accessory buildings except garages to 300 square feet.

The first lady of gracious living was out of town for the hearing and was represented by her brother, contractor George Christiansen.

One possible option for Stewart: Put in two or more 300-square-foot greenhouses connected by breezeways, Christiansen said.

'60s activist hospitalized for severe leg pains

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1960s black activist formerly known as Stokely Carmichael underwent tests Thursday after experiencing severe pain in his leg.

Carmichael, 54, who now goes by the name Kwame Toure and lives in the West African nation of Guinea, was in New York to recruit members for his All-African People's Revolutionary Party.

He was taken to Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, where he underwent a complete checkup to determine what caused the pain, the party's spokesperson Mawina Kouyate said.

"He'll be in the hospital a week or so, and after the tests are complete we should have a more definitive answer," she said.

Toure, former chairperson of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and an organizer of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, wrote "Stokely Speaks" and "Black Power."

Mr. Spock boldly embarks on new enterprises

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For Leonard Nimoy, there are many enterprises.

Leonard Nimoy, Mr. Spock on "Star Trek," is directing a Broadway-bound play, serving as host of a cable TV show and enjoying his five grandchildren.

"I have a great sense of fulfillment from the work. I have a wonderful personal life. I relish each day," he said in an interview this month.

Nimoy, 64, recently became host of the Arts & Entertainment's documentary series "Ancient Mysteries." And he is directing "The Apple Doesn't Fall..." a stage comedy written by Trish Vradenburg.

The play is about a woman with Alzheimer's and the effect the disease has on her relationship with her family. An experimental drug helps her regain her faculties.

'Gilligan's Island' star recalls navel maneuvers during series

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Times have surely changed: CBS censors used to get worked up about a navel or a little cleavage on "Gilligan's Island."

"My navel and Tina's cleavage were always the subject of debate," Wells said.

Wells was in Columbus on Wednesday to help kick off a senior citizens program sponsored by two hospitals. She addressed about 100 senior citizens and autographed her "Gilligan's Island Cookbook."

Audit critical of UI's provost system

Cary Jordan
The Daily Iowan

While the UI has done an excellent job in managing its resources and structuring its various organizations and departments overall, UI enrollment management and student services still have room for improvement, according to a report to the Iowa state Board of Regents.

The report, submitted by the Pappas Consulting Group Inc. to the regents, suggested possible changes for areas within the UI.

Regent John Tyrrell said the areas cited for change in the report were outweighed by the number of positive aspects at the UI.

"All three of the major state institutions did very well," Tyrrell said. "The University of Iowa is way ahead of the curve. It's also the most diverse among the three." Even though the report made recommendations, that is all they are — recommendations.

"This doesn't necessarily mean that it will be immediately and automatically put into action," regents President Marvin Pomerantz said. "Basically, they're food for thought. They're the basis by which we make policy — they don't commit a standing action."

Under current policy, two associate provosts report to the provost regarding their areas of responsibilities. One of these, the associate provost for Academic Review and Academic Support Services, supervises the Office of Admissions, Evaluation and Examination Services, Office of the Registrar and the Academic Advising Center.

The other, the associate provost for Student Support Services and Dean of Students, is responsible for nearly three times as many areas.

Two associate provosts work with one operational budget, which is vested in the hands of the associate provost for Student Support Services and the Dean of Students.

According to the report, the UI may need to re-evaluate its areas.

"If there are to continue to be two associate provosts, each with his own areas of responsibility, then each associate provost should be responsible for managing his own budget," the report states.

Another concern, the report says, is that certain areas, including financial aid, admissions, the registrar's office, and academic advising are overseen by different associate provosts.

House approves legislation for reporting abortions

DES MOINES (AP) — State health officials would gather statistics on the number of abortions performed and the groups of women using the procedure, under legislation the House approved Thursday.

Supporters of the legislation said officials need the data to plan pregnancy prevention and other programs and said names of women getting abortions and of clinics offering abortions would be protected.

Those arguing against gathering such records said the political climate surrounding the abortion left little doubt that anti-abortion activists would soon get their

They said that would put the women and the clinics at risk.

The House approved the bill 76 to 20, sending it to the Senate.

Rep. Minnette Doderer, D-Iowa City, waved a pamphlet published by religious conservatives that included instructions on making bombs.

Campaign '96

Associated Press

Volunteer Dan Gabriel of the Pat Buchanan campaign displays Buchanan signs in the snow in preparation for Thursday night's Republican Presidential debates in Manchester, N.H. Buchanan has enjoyed early campaign success and finished second in the Iowa caucuses.

Accused of militia, racist ties, Buchanan co-chairman quits

Gary Sousa
The Daily Iowan

Pat Buchanan's campaign co-chairman, Larry Pratt, stepped aside Thursday after reports linked him to white supremacists and right-wing militia leaders, but Buchanan said he was certain the charges, which Pratt denied, are untrue.

Critics immediately used Buchanan's close ties to Pratt, director of Gun Owners of America, to revive questions about the candidate's own views on race and equality.

"If there's a group promoting white supremacy in America, my country, I don't want anything to do with this," Buchanan said, campaigning in New Hampshire where he already faces ads aired by Kansas Sen. Bob Dole that call his views extreme.

Dole said Pratt "ought to be fired" rather than take a temporary leave of absence.

Ryan Wood, a UI junior and Buchanan supporter, was surprised to hear of the incident.

"I had no idea about any of the people working on the Buchanan campaign being associated with militia groups," he said. "I think that anyone that is associated with any of those white supremacist groups should not only step down from the campaign but also leave America, because we don't have room for that here."

Gerry Carroll, UI professor of journalism and a militia expert, said Pratt's connection to right-wing militias is probably being "blown out of proportion" by the other Republican candidates.

"He's really a second amendment freak," Carroll said. "The guy's a red hot. People of that extreme are usually unwelcome at most of the militia groups that I know of."

Carroll said Pratt's removal from the campaign would be supported by the majority of militia members and their sympathizers.

"The militias will back Buchanan no matter what," Carroll said. "They might even back Buchanan more now. This greatly enhances Buchanan's chances in the election."

Gun owners are a key constituency for Buchanan in the crucial New Hampshire primary next week, where he hopes to do well after his strong showing in the Iowa caucuses on Monday.

Pratt said he suggested the leave of absence, telling Buchanan's sister and campaign manager, Bay Buchanan, he did not want to distract from Buchanan's campaign. He said he hopes to return eventually.

At a news conference, Pratt denied he holds any racist or anti-Semitic views, and called the reports linking him to hate groups a move to smear Buchanan, just as the conservative commentator is gaining momentum.

"I see this as a political effort, a tool to try to discredit the Pat Buchanan campaign," Pratt said.

He said he took part in at least one anti-government meeting in 1992 while looking into the incident at Ruby Ridge, Idaho, where federal agents killed the wife and son of white supremacist Randy Weaver, but didn't know racist groups were going to be there. He spoke only about gun rights, and made clear his opposition to other participants' racist views, he said.

"I loathe the Aryan Nations and other racist groups with every fiber of my being," Pratt said.

The allegations against Pratt, in a report from the government-ethics group Center for Public Integrity, first surfaced last October in Roll Call, a Capitol Hill newspaper. None of the reports accuse Pratt of espousing racist views himself.

Pratt has long been a vocal advocate of a citizen's right to own firearms. His group, based in Falls Church, Va., reportedly has between 150,000 and 200,000 members, and has criticized the National Rifle Association for being too moderate.

The outspoken Buchanan has himself been accused in the past of anti-Semitic, racist and sexist views. He has denied those accusations, but critics and rivals clearly hope to raise voters' concerns.

Congress finds facts — in warm places

Jim Drinkard
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Dozens in Congress have found respite from the capital's cold, snowy winter in Las Vegas, Honolulu, Israel and the Bahamas — compliments of special interests.

Despite a new law limiting gifts to lawmakers, fact-finding travel is still allowed, although it must be reported more quickly. In most cases, the travel is paid for by organizations seeking a sympathetic hearing in Capitol Hill.

For freshman Rep. Jon Christensen, R-Neb., the destinations were speaking engagements in Las Vegas, Houston and Orlando, Fla. Total estimated value of the travel: $2,580.

In Houston, Christensen was joined by Reps. Steny Hoyer, D-Md., and Calvin Dooley, D-Calif., to address the National Association of Home Builders. At least two congressional aides also attended the convention in late January.

"From a special interest point of view, it is very helpful to have a lawmaker come and speak before your group," Ellen Miller, director of the nonpartisan Center for Responsive Politics, said. "It's another way of gaining access, and therefore influence, over a lawmaker."

A spokesperson for Christensen, Chris Hull, said the congressman's trips were for legislative business related to his work on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee. In Orlando, "he was on the ground for about two hours," Hull said. In Houston, Christensen was on a tax panel, and in Las Vegas he met with electronics industry officials about their tax problems, the aide said.

Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Calif., spoke at conferences of the National Newspaper Publishers Association in the Bahamas and at the African-American Association of Hawaii in Honolulu. The two trips cost an estimated $2,760.

Dentists in three Southern states invited freshman Rep. Charles Norwood, R-Ga., who is himself a dentist, to speak at their meetings. Norwood traveled to Orlando Jan. 12-14, to Nashville Jan. 19, and to Dallas Jan. 26-28, at a total cost of just more than $2,000.

Rep. George Miller, senior Democrat on the House Resources Committee, went to Phoenix Jan. 14 to speak to the National Indian Gaming Association and to tour two tribal casinos. Expenses for Miller and an aide totaled $1,411. Miller's panel has jurisdiction over regulation of Indian gambling.

And Rep. Joe Barton, R-Texas, took his wife Janet along on a Feb. 2-4 trip to Scottsdale, Ariz., to address the National Association of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers. Reimbursement for the trip ran $2,100.

The Senate's No. 2 GOP leader, Trent Lott of Mississippi, headed for colder climates. He and his wife spent Feb. 2-6 in Aspen, Colo., where he spoke to a meeting sponsored by Domino's Pizza. The cost was $3,257, but, heeding the new gift restrictions, they picked up their own tab for skiing.

By far the most popular destination was Israel, where 28 House and Senate staff members traveled last month — including aides to a large chunk of the New York delegation. The trips, sponsored by the Jewish Community Relations Council of New York, the American Israel Education Foundation, Project Interchange and the Arab American Institute, cost from $2,200 to $2,900 per person.

Pro-Israel groups routinely pay to send lawmakers and their aides for tours and briefings in the country. U.S. aid to Israel has remained unscathed at a time of shrinking foreign aid budgets.

The most expensive outing, according to reports filed with the Clerk of the House, was a Jan. 19-28 trip by Karen Nelson, an aide to Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif. The Kaiser Family Foundation picked up a $7,600 bill for Nelson to serve as an expert adviser at a South African health conference.

Other international destinations for staff members included Cuba, Singapore, Taiwan, and Indonesia.

Rep. Jim Ross Lightfoot, R-Iowa, flew his own plane from Kansas City, Mo., to Denver on Jan. 19 to speak to the Airports Council International. He was reimbursed $968 for the 1,094 miles. A congressional staff member also attended, with expenses running $1,500.

MALE, MIDDLE-CLASS DOMAIN

Survey estimates Web use at 17 million adults

Howard Goldberg
Associated Press

NEW YORK — A new survey estimates 17 million U.S. adults, or one in 11, have used the World Wide Web — double the most widely accepted previous estimate of Internet use. Some experts are skeptical.

Counting heads on the Internet isn't an exact science. But since it is expensive for companies to maintain attractive and up-to-date Web sites, they are eager to know how many people are seeing their messages or advertisements.

The figure released Thursday came from a collaboration of researchers at the Baruch College School of Public Affairs and the polling company Louis Harris and Associates.

Four Harris polls of a total of 4,022 adults taken from September through January found 9 percent reporting they had accessed the Web. A third of those said they had used it to get information about politics or political candidates.

"The implications are tremendous," said Douglas Muzzio, a professor of public affairs at Baruch who helped design the survey.

Muzzio maintains that the Internet is "revolutionizing American representative democracy" by changing the way people communicate with each other and the government.

But an Internet marketing expert, Donna Hoffman of Vanderbilt University in Tennessee, said the 17 million figure results from "a very liberal definition" of what it means to use the Internet.

"If you're not precise in what you mean by access or usage ... then who knows what they interpret that to mean," she said. A better measure would require asking how often people use the Internet, whether they used it yesterday or last week and what they did on the Internet, Hoffman, an associate professor of management said.

Muzzio acknowledged that 17 million "may be the upper bounds" but defended it as an accurate way to measure Web use.

"This isn't gospel. These are indicative numbers," he said.

A widely publicized survey released a month ago by the Emerging Technologies Research Group estimated use of the Internet at 9.5 million Americans, including 1.1 million children. In order to qualify, respondents had to use at least one Internet application besides e-mail and be able to give its name.

One thing all the surveys agree on is that Web users are different from the general population: younger, wealthier, more predominantly white.

"So far it looks like a male, middle- and upper-middle class domain, but the technology is filtering out," Muzzio said.

The Web is a portion of the Internet that allows anyone with a computer modem to tap into information, including pictures and sound, from businesses, organizations and other individuals.

Police disarm bomb in London, IRA suspected

Ron Kampeas
Associated Press

LONDON — Police deactivated a bomb in London's theater district Thursday hours after the Irish Republican Army appeared to reject demands for a new cease-fire.

No one claimed responsibility for the small bomb found near Shaftesbury Avenue, famous for its theaters and restaurants, but Scotland Yard said two coded telephone warnings "bore all the hallmarks" of the IRA.

Police were evacuating buildings in a London business district Feb. 9 after similar warnings when a truck bomb exploded, killing two people, wounding more than 100 and causing an estimated $125 million in damage.

The bombing broke a 17-month cease-fire in the IRA's campaign to end Britain's eight-century rule of Northern Ireland.

Just after 12:30 p.m. Thursday, barricades went up after police received seven coded warnings. Some people were evacuated, others told to stay inside.

Police sealed off Piccadilly Circus, Trafalgar Square, the bustling shopping district along Oxford Street and half a dozen subway stations, but reopened them about three hours after the warnings.

The bomb was found in a sports bag in a phone booth on Charing Cross Road after two "imprecise" warnings, a Scotland Yard statement said. Police described it as small, but such devices have killed passersby in the past.

In the IRA's first pronouncement since claiming responsibility for last week's bombing, it made what appeared to be a threat of further attacks, saying it "will continue to assert Irish national rights in the face of British denial for as long as is necessary."

The statement blamed British Prime Minister John Major for the breakdown of the truce and repeated its demand for all-party talks on the future of Northern Ireland.

The IRA wants its political ally, Sinn Fein, included in the talks. The British and Irish governments have barred elected cabinet members from contact with Sinn Fein. Irish civil servants plan to meet Sinn Fein leader Gerry Adams today in Dublin.

The British and Irish governments have demanded a new cease-fire.

Protestants, the majority in Northern Ireland, largely favor British rule. The IRA draws its support from a minority within the Roman Catholic community, about 40 percent of the population.

From 1970 to 1994, the IRA killed more than 1,700 people. Pro-British paramilitaries killed about 900 people, mostly Catholics. British soldiers and police killed about 350.

Britain announced Wednesday that it would send an extra 500 soldiers to Northern Ireland, bolstering security along the border that divides the British-ruled province from the rest of Ireland.

Most of the more than 16,000 British soldiers deployed in Northern Ireland were withdrawn from street patrols six months after the September 1994 IRA truce.

The IRA statement Thursday urged pro-British militants to hold their fire.

"The IRA leadership delivered a complete cessation of military operations on a clear, unambiguous and shared understanding that inclusive negotiations would rapidly commence to bring about political agreement and a peace settlement," the IRA statement said.

"John Major reneged on these commitments," it added. "He has acted in bad faith throughout the period of the IRA cessation, introducing one new precondition after another."

Irish Prime Minister John Bruton said Protestant militant leaders shared a responsibility to salvage the peace, and that they could not use last week's bombing as justification to halt the process.

Study: Number of teens purchasing cigarettes increases

ATLANTA (AP) — More teen smokers are illegally buying their own cigarettes, usually from small stores whose clerks don't bother to ask for proof of age, the government reported Thursday.

The number who said they bought their own cigarettes — instead of getting them from others — rose from 58 percent in 1989 to 62 percent in 1993, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said. More than four-fifths of the teens who smoke said they bought cigarettes at a small store.

Selling tobacco to minors is illegal in all states. Michael Eriksen, director of the CDC's Office on Smoking and Health, said the survey shows the need to enforce the law.

"The single most effective thing that can be done is to ask for proof of age," Eriksen said. He also endorsed an outright ban on cigarette vending machines, which are restricted in 35 states and banned in some cities.

The Food and Drug Administration proposed regulations last August to eliminate vending machines and require retailers to ask for proof of age.

In a statement, President Clinton said the CDC report supports his effort to tighten tobacco regulations.

"This report is further evidence that parents need all the help they can get in their daily struggle to keep our kids tobacco-free," he said.

About 3 million teens smoke; 70 percent of them become regular smokers by age 18.

Man charged in abortion clinic killings spoke 'like a preacher'

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — Accused killer John Salvi III shouted, "This is what you get! You should pray the rosary!" as he shot a receptionist to death at an abortion clinic, witnesses testified Thursday.

Salvi, 23, of Hampton, N.H., is charged with murdering two receptionists and wounding five others in attacks on two abortion clinics on Dec. 30, 1994. He has pleaded insanity.

Witnesses said he walked into an anteroom and waited to be acknowledged by receptionist Lee Ann Nichols, then reached into a duffel bag and pulled out a gun.

"Then he took a step to his left, lifted his gun and shot me," said Jane Sauer, a patient administrator who was the first to be hit.

Sauer said she rolled herself into a ball behind a column, and heard Salvi yelling "This is what you get! You should pray the rosary!" as he pumped 10 bullets into Nichols.

Clinic security guard Richard Seron described Salvi's voice as high-pitched and loud, yet "eloquent" and "like a preacher." Seron, who exchanged gunfire with Salvi, said the gunman's eyebrows were arched, his brow furrowed, and his eyes unblinking.

Judge questions potential jurors in 'Dr. Death' trial

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The assisted-suicide trial of Dr. Jack Kevorkian opened Thursday with a judge questioning the 60 prospective jurors herself to keep the lawyers from delving into such matters as religion.

Kevorkian, 67, is accused of aiding in the 1993 deaths of two people who inhaled carbon monoxide in apartments he rented. He was charged under Michigan's now-expired ban on assisted suicide, which carries up to four years in prison.

Circuit Judge Jessica Cooper questioned the jury panel after a few days of wrangling over defense attorney Geoffrey Fieger's bid to ask prospective jurors such questions as "Does your religion forbid suicide?"

Cooper said last week she would allow such questions but reversed herself on Monday after an appeals court ordered her to explain herself.

This position entails on-the-job training in the area of soybean crushing or corn wet milling, so there's no question it can be a hot, dirty job. It's similar to the position of a foreman or front line supervisor, and it generally leads to a career in plant management.

Training lasts 8-9 months, and in that time, you will schedule work for employees, set production schedules, develop cost-saving measures, and much more. You'll frequently be called on to use your technical background to solve problems. This position is a good blend of supervision, management, and engineering.

Silber said after the hour-and-20-minute Iowa City visit, the torch will be bicycled to North Liberty, spend the night in Cedar Rapids and then tour Minneapolis.

As Weber got ready for his own Olympic experience, he offered advice for those competing in the 1996 Olympic games in Atlanta.

"You've got to work, practice and train religiously," he said. "It's got to be so highly competitive. Just practice, practice, practice."

country for their studies on driving behavior."

Wheaton said the building dimensions of the facility which will house the simulator are still being worked on.

"This is not the kind of facility that every auto manufacturer or government agency can afford to build; that's why it is a shared-use facility," he said.

The announcement makes the UI's National Advance Driving Simulator the most advanced driving simulator, beating out Germany, which had the most advanced system.

plemen their salary," Fry said. "I wouldn't be involved if I didn't think it would help other people. All this talk about me doing something wrong is the exact opposite from what I'm trying to do. There's nothing from a legal standpoint that I've done that's incorrect."

Fry said the job is an opportunity to sell subscriptions for Excel and receive a commission for each subscription, while saving money on long distance. Fry does not sell subscriptions and said he isn't making any money from his endorsement.

"I don't receive anything," Fry said. "I want to share this with people less fortunate than myself."

Terry Lewis, who recruited Fry to the company, also said Excel is an opportunity to make money and help others.

"This is a vehicle he saw that could help coaches make some more money," Lewis said. "In my opinion, he has an abiding love for coaches and high-school coaches. It is a motivation to help other people."

Shelia Durante, public relations manager for Excel, said the company is attractive to people interested in an independent business opportunity which allows for all different levels of participation. Representatives are not employees, but "independent contractors" through a network marketing system.

"Our products and services are taken to market through a network of independent representatives," Durante said. "The company encourages people to look for associates and family members."

According to Durante, representatives are given guidelines which suggest appropriate sales techniques and are asked to follow a prescribed script and adhere to company policies.

"This must be followed to maintain status as a representative," Durante said. "We enforce policies and procedures if we see anything that is not as it should be."

Durante said Excel will investigate any complaints concerning Fry's solicitations of the company's products and services.

"To this point we have had no record of any complaints," Durante said.

Neither Buchanan nor Alexander have perfect campaigns. The co-chairperson of Buchanan's campaign resigned Thursday over allegations of connections with white supremacist groups, and Alexander's campaign lost momentum when it was revealed that as president of the University of Tennessee he steered state money to a political associate and to a company owned by Alexander's wife.

But Buchanan turned out to be a stronger anti-abortion candidate than Gramm, and Alexander became a stronger anti-Washington candidate than Forbes.

Dole may start to wish he were back in Iowa.

Dole: Forget '88

In 1988, Dole's temper exploded when he told Bush to "quit lying" about his voting record. After blasting Bush in Iowa, Dole was humbled by a poor finish in New Hampshire.

While Dole would rather forget '88, Alexander would like to see a repeat. Bush finished third in Iowa in '88. Alexander finished third in '96. Bush knocked off Dole in New Hampshire and won the GOP nomination on his way to the White House.

If Dole stumbles again in New Hampshire, Alexander's band could be singing the ABCs — Alexander Beats Clinton — all the way to the Republican convention.

Credit Forbes with the assist

Forbes spent millions of dollars in Iowa on television ads that actually hurt his campaign. The negative ads probably upset voters, some of whom decided not to vote. This allowed conservative Christians, who never skip a caucus, to become a larger percentage of the Iowa vote.

Since conservative Christians are Buchanan's political base, his percentage also increased.

Alexander also owes Forbes a "thank you." Forbes' ads attacking Dole raised the number of voters who disliked Dole. As doubts about Dole increased, Alexander's argument that he has the best chance to beat Clinton gained strength.

The lesson in all this is not that negative ads do not work. They work in two-person races in which the candidates can trash each other to no end.

But in multi-candidate races, some candidates can remain above the fray and reap the rewards, just as Alexander and Buchanan were able to do.

Even though Forbes does not need the money, Alexander and Buchanan should probably cut him a check.

Publisher Steve Forbes said President Clinton was ill-equipped to revive the economy, which he said was burdened by a corrupt tax code. "This recovery is the slowest in the last 50 years," Forbes said. "It's sluggish. It's nothing to brag about. We're like a patient with walking pneumonia. We're out of bed but we're not well."

Anti-abortion candidate Alan Keyes, however, said Republicans were short-sighted to focus on economic statistics, blaming America's angst on the decline of the two-parent family. Republicans, he said, need to promote "the beating heart of our moral discipline and our moral responsibility, two things Bill Clinton seems to know nothing about."

Buchanan said his rivals were blind to the real cause of economic anxiety. "When you cut trade deals that force Americans to compete with people making $1 an hour ... wages are going to go down," Buchanan said.

But Dole said Buchanan's protectionist trade views would kill more jobs than they would save. As Buchanan rolled his eyes and shook his head, Dole said of Buchanan's trade views, "he'd build a wall around the United States."

Just hours after Dole launched a TV ad labeling Alexander a liberal on taxes, spending and crime, the former Tennessee governor opened the 90-minute, nationally televised debate by confronting the wobbly front-runner.

"Senator Dole, you are better than your negative ads," Alexander said. "Why don't you pull them?"

Funding from Legislature

To the Editor:
Members of UE Local 896/Campaign to Organize Graduate Students will be in Des Moines Monday to talk with Iowa's legislators about the need for better funding of education. Iowa has been fortunate to realize a budget surplus of $435 million. Though some of this money has been earmarked for higher education, little is being directed toward uses that would most improve the accessibility and quality of higher education in our state.

We are requesting that the Legislature appropriate money to:

- give graduate employees the support and security they need—including adequate health insurance—to provide the excellent teaching and research services they now do
- keep education affordable by ending tuition increases and giving tuition waivers to all university employees
- hire more teachers at all levels to ensure that students can enroll in courses they need and have meaningful contact with all their teachers
- invest in our future by improving lab facilities, supporting research and expanding libraries.

If you have questions, please call 337-5074

Militia to recruit

To the Editor:

This is a letter to encourage all readers of your paper to join members of our community in Iowa City and Cedar Rapids who want to oppose racism and its representatives, who will be looking for recruits at a seminar being sponsored by militia activists, taking place Saturday in Cedar Rapids. The threat represented by hate-groups connected to and involved in the militia movement is real, organized and looking to recruit Saturday.

It is important to distinguish the existence of a range of ideology and groups under the categorization-label militia movement. While the moderate ideology of the movement focuses on federal gun control, taxes, regulations and perceived federal attacks on constitutional liberties, there is also the existence of organized and militant far-right groups such as the Aryan Nations, the Christian Patriots and the Posse Comitatus, which seek to steer the movement in the direction of their avowed white-supremacist and anti-Semitic, racist ideology and activity.

The threat to all of us by the growth of far-right activist groups is evident in the increase of attacks on abortion clinics and synagogues, and in the violence against individuals scapegoated and labeled as "undesirables" or enemies, justifying their execution. Members of groups frequently scapegoated by these far-right organizations include abortion providers and supporters, blacks, gays and lesbians, Jews, immigrants and welfare recipients—to mention just a few.

The presence of people at the conference, who oppose the threat and danger hate-groups pose to the rights of many of us, is essential. Operating within the larger militia movement gives groups like Aryan Nations the opportunity of different forums, such as the seminar this Saturday, to recruit and pose their violent ideology as an alternative. They must be opposed and can be by the presence of open fighters against racism; fighters against scapegoating of immigrants, gays and lesbians. If you want to offer a real alternative and oppose racism, join us Saturday in uniting to defend all our interests and liberties against such dangerous and violent hate-groups.

Kingsbury in football?

To the Editor:

No one knows exactly why Kingsbury tackled that Penn State player, but it was not useless for the UI men's athletic department.

Had the Iowa football team observed Kingsbury's tackle, it might improve its tackling skills. Improved tackling could lead to more wins and a shot at the Rose Bowl—a more prestigious bowl than the throw-the-dogs-a-bone bowls they have appeared in during previous years. I recommend Kingsbury be hired as defensive line coach for the football team. Missed tackles will be a thing of the past for Iowa football.

Too young to remember

To the Editor:

Regarding Matthew Strawn's column in Tuesday's DI, his youth and ignorance are showing through. For him to equate our president's I.C. visit (which was a Democratic rally) with the movie "Leap of Faith" is ludicrous when compared to Ronald Reagan. Or should we refer to him as "Bedtime with Bozo" Reagan?

Strawn was probably too young when this actor dazzled the American public with his wit, charm, charisma and rhetoric. Strawn's mother was probably still wiping his nose for him when Reagan created the Cold War for political propaganda to ensure his eminence and to sap the American public of money we didn't have.

Given the choice of Whitewater (in 3 years of investigation no illegalities on the parts of the president or the first lady have yet been found), or Watergate (thank goodness Nixon was ousted by that), or the Iran Contra Scandal ("I have no recollection"—Reagan), I think the American public far prefers the rumblings of possible conflict of interest to selling arms to the enemy that are then used to kill American soldiers. If Strawn is looking for a career in journalism, perhaps he'd be better off getting married to a woman that can support him financially.

Monkeys needed help

To the Editor:

We would like to thank Ann Haggerty of The Daily Iowan for her coverage of the 50 monkeys taken from a Swisher home in December and the "monkey trial" in January.

In his court ruling of Feb. 2, Judge Larry Conroy ruled there was sufficient evidence the monkeys were found malnourished and living in unsanitary conditions and, hence, neglected by former owner Sue Kriz. He also ruled the monkeys could not be returned to Kriz but would remain in the care of the UI until they are sent to accredited sanctuaries and/or zoos.

During the hearing, it became evident that monkeys as well as other "exotic" animals do not make good "pets" and should remain in their natural environment.

Wildlife Rescue and Rehabilitation sanctuary was contacted by the UI Animal Coalition in January and has agreed to take most of the monkeys. After making the contact with the sanctuary, Assistant County Attorney Anne Lahey and university veterinarians have also agreed this would provide a suitable home for them. The six monkeys who are endangered species will be sent to caretakers of the Species Survival Plan.

Islam universal

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Muslim students, faculty and staff of the UI and the Muslim community of greater Iowa City, we would like to express our grave concern on the article by Wole Mongo life titled "Islam no alternative to Christianity," dated Feb. 7. The author uses allegations of "Arab" participation in the slave trade to defame all Muslims. He uses it as a red herring and extends baseless accusations wholesale to Islam and Muslims.

Although Islam originated in the Middle East, many of the very first Muslims were from Ethiopia, Persia and Rome, i.e. non-Arabs. There are approximately 1.6 billion Muslims in the world today, and the Arabs constitute less than 20 percent of all Muslims. Islam is not the property of any race, gender or nation. Just as the fact that the majority of Christians are from the Western world does not make Christianity the "white man's religion," similarly, the fact that Islam originated in the Arabian peninsula does not make Islam the "Arab man's religion." When African-Americans adopt Christianity or Islam, it is because they are attracted to one's teaching and not merely to be distinguished from a particular race.

Islam's message is universal and for all humanity. Islam promulgates and upholds most ardently and without reserve the ideals of human equality, liberty and fraternity, and bestows a most comprehensive system of rights and duties based not only on absolute justice but, beyond that, on liberality, graciousness and compassion.

It is essential for every student of Islamic teachings to remember that Islam came into a world wherein slavery was practiced by such civilized communities as the Greeks, the Romans and the Egyptians. Consequently, Islam had to tackle not only a time-honored evil custom but also a deep-rooted socioeconomic institution. As such, it adopted a gradual program for its total abolition, and in the meantime laid down moral principles whereby the evils connected with slavery were totally eliminated from the Muslim society during the period of Quranic revelation itself.

We honestly encourage life to take a closer and fairer look at the history and teachings of Islam. We invite him to check out a copy of the Holy Quran from a library or talk to a local Muslim to learn firsthand about Islam's and its follower's views on racial harmony.

Who's mudslinging?

Until Monday evening's visit to Longfellow School I had never before attended a caucus. I found the experience educational and similar to what Professor Steve Bloom wrote in the DI Wednesday, I left feeling quite impressed with "Iowa's grassroots power." So, this is where a people's government begins. Caucuses were created for this reason: an individual can stand up and say, "I think..." At such a personal level, there is no room for mudslinging, narrow-mindedness and insulting generalizations. I wish Bloom would have remained a little longer in the Longfellow library (the Democratic caucus). I find it surprising that a teacher of mass communication could mistake constructive discussion and development of a rough idea into a well-stated, concise resolution for "a couple of put-downs coming from several smug know-it-alls." I find it unfortunate that Bloom chose that moment to "duck out into the nippy night," since we were discussing the preservation of an environment in which both Democrats and Republicans (and everyone else) live.

Hm. I would think a well-educated person such as Bloom would be well-informed, somewhat open-minded and not one to bow down to the mudslinging for which so many of today's political candidates are notorious.

OLYMPICS
Jimmy Carter, Garth Brooks top torch list
ATLANTA (AP) — Former President Jimmy Carter, country music superstar Garth Brooks and NBA center Shaquille O'Neal will join a cast of thousands of ordinary folks to bring the Olympic flame to Atlanta.
Olympic organizers Thursday named 5,500 "community heroes" and 800 Olympians to participate in the torch relay, which begins April 27 in Los Angeles and will pass through 42 states.
The community heroes were chosen in a nationwide search. Though the list includes a smattering of celebrities, it is dominated by ordinary people who have made contributions to their communities.
The group was hailed by Billy Payne, president of the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games, as "a composite of great Americans."
The Olympians chosen as torch carriers include gymnast Shannon Miller, skater Nancy Kerrigan, hurdler Edwin Moses and boxer Sugar Ray Leonard.
A contest sponsored by The Coca-Cola Co. will pick another 2,500 torch carriers, and Games organizers will select 1,200 VIP members of the "Olympic family," for a total of 10,000.

Top seeds advance in Paris Open with ease
PARIS (AP) — Top-seeded Iva Majoli and third-seeded Magdalena Maleeva each made it into the quarterfinals of the Paris Open Thursday with ease, Majoli still without playing a match.
Majoli of Croatia had a first-round bye in the 28-player field. Then her opponent in the second round, Sandrine Testud of France, had to withdraw from the tournament with a strained groin muscle, putting Majoli in the final eight against Nathalie Dechy of France.
The 16-year-old Dechy, an Austrian Open junior finalist, beat seventh-seeded Nathalie Tauziat of France, 7-5, 1-6, 7-5. It was Dechy's fifth match since last Saturday. She came to Paris ranked 215th in the world, and continued to flourish, beating Tauziat, 20th in the WTA rankings.
In another second-round match, Silvia Farina of Italy upset 15-year-old Swiss star Martina Hingis, 6-3, 6-1. Hingis was seeded sixth. Also, Julie Halard of France downed Sabine Appelmans of Belgium, 3-6, 6-2, 7-6 (8-6).
In contrast to Majoli, Maleeva had to play 62 minutes to reach the quarterfinals. After a first-round bye, she beat Russian Yelena Likhovtseva 6-0, 6-3.
She was practicing with Jennifer Capriati on Tuesday morning when Capriati pulled the muscle that forced her to withdraw from the tournament before her first match since November, 1994.

No. 7 Iowa hosts No. 9 Penn State

Wayne Drehs
The Daily Iowan
After nearly two months of intraleague play, the outcome of Iowa's run at the Big Ten Conference women's basketball championship comes down to this weekend.

Tonight, No. 7 Iowa (20-2 overall, 11-1 in Big Ten) hosts No. 9 Penn State (19-5, 10-2), and Sunday the Hawks take on No. 11 Wisconsin (18-4, 10-2) in what is the biggest weekend of the young Iowa squad's college basketball lives.
"All of the sudden, the whole season rides on this weekend," Iowa head coach Angie Lee said. "These are both must wins, so it's very easy to see what this weekend means to the Iowa Hawkeyes." Penn State head coach Rene Portland doesn't quite see the importance placed on just this weekend alone.

"The next two weekends are very important," Portland said. "So I don't think this race will be decided until it's over."

Driscoll tries to be like Bo, Deion

Mike Triplett
The Daily Iowan
Iowa junior Ryan Driscoll is trying to turn back the clock.
The Hawkeye quarterback has decided, after a three-year layoff, to return to the baseball diamond, a place where he found quite a bit of success in high school.
The former Marion Linn-Mar prep was a two-time all-state utility player and a four-year all-conference starter. He put in most of his time at first base and pitcher, but played all around the infield.
Several schools recruited Driscoll for baseball, but he decided to focus on becoming the starting quarterback at the University of Iowa instead.
"I wanted to play (baseball) right away, but I kept putting it off because I wanted to become a starting quarterback. That's what I got my scholarship for," Driscoll said. "But I'm free to do it now that they've designated Matt (Sherman) as the starter."
Sherman, a sophomore, has firmly entrenched himself in Iowa's starting quarterback role.

Baseball returns from the cemetery

Where are all the skeptics now? Last year at this time, hoards of people all but started riots declaring baseball was dead.
They said the sport known as America's Pastime had been replaced by faster-paced sports like basketball or by sports exhibiting more loyalty, such as football.
And with good cause.
Major League Baseball was in the tail-end of its nastiest labor dispute in more than a century of existence. Still, there was no need for the reaction it provoked from the public.
Suddenly, people were ready to trade in the teams they had supported for so long because of a single disagreement. Of course, it was the focus of the dispute — money

Gable's squad aims to dominate ISU

Shannon Stevens
The Daily Iowan
The Iowa Hawkeyes are firmly planted in the driver's seat of collegiate wrestling, but that doesn't mean they're ready to hit the cruise control button.
Iowa (16-0) will look to continue its 32-match winning streak when it concludes the regular season versus fifth-ranked Iowa State Cyclones (12-4-1) in Carver-Hawkeye Arena on Sunday.
The Hawkeyes enter the match fresh off two road victories against ranked opponents. Iowa blitzed second ranked Oklahoma State 26-9 last Friday in Stillwater, Okla. and held off 13th-ranked Arizona State 22-12 last Sunday in Tempe, Ariz.
Iowa State will try to counter Iowa's explosive attack with five wrestlers who are nationally-ranked at their respective weights.

Jason Nurre (118 pounds), Dwight Hinson (126), Derek Mountsier (142), Chris Bono (150) and Barry Weldon (167) have a combined record of 144-18 for the Cyclones this season.
The Hawkeyes beat Iowa State 22-12 earlier this season and currently own a 17-match winning streak against the Cyclones.
However, Iowa coach Dan Gable said he wants to widen the gap between the two schools even more.
"It's not my No. 1 concern, but it's definitely a high priority," Gable said.
Senior Bill Zadick said it was important for the Hawkeyes to record a convincing win over its intrastate rival despite Iowa's

Men's track to host Iowa Open

Chris Snider
The Daily Iowan
For the Iowa men's track and field team, there is no place like home.
In a season filled with trips to places the likes of California and Arizona, the Hawkeyes will host a rare home meet this weekend, when Augustana and Northeast Missouri venture to the University Recreation Building.
Competition will begin Saturday, with field events at 11:30 a.m. and running events at noon.
"Traveling is fatiguing," Iowa head coach Ted Wheeler said. "We'll be doing a lot of that later on. We're glad to be home."
This will be Iowa's final home indoor meet of the season. The Hawkeyes will host one outdoor meet on April 20.
Two Hawkeyes, hurdler Dion Trowers and sprinter Monte Raymond, have provisionally qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships. Iowa has also provisionally qualified its 4x400 relay team.
With the Big Ten Indoor Championships coming up next weekend, the Hawkeyes will look to fine-tune their running in this meet.
"This is a low key meet," Wheeler said. "We'll try to get each person to run one event as a sharpener for the Big Ten meet."
The Hawkeyes are still not at full strength, but Wheeler has

Fighting Illini look to play unkind guests

The Daily Iowan
The Iowa women's gymnastics team is home this weekend to face off against Big Ten rival Illinois in a co-ed meet. The competition begins at 7 p.m. at the Fieldhouse North Gym.
The Hawkeyes are coming off a fourth-place finish at a meet at Michigan State last weekend. Iowa finished with a team-score of 190.725. The Spartans won the meet with a 193.50.
Freshman standout Beth Brown did not compete in the meet due to a stomach virus. She is questionable for Saturday's competition.

"The team did a great job without her, but we are crossing our fingers that she'll be ready," Coach Diane DeMarco said.
DeMarco said her team has been focusing on more difficult routines in practice to upgrade scores.
"We're stressing consistency and upgrading the difficulty," DeMarco said. "We're trying to work on the clean execution of our routines."
Iowa will be facing off against a strong Illini team and DeMarco said the Hawkeyes are expecting a battle.
"I think it's going to be a real close competition," DeMarco said.

Iowa gymnastics fans get the best of both worlds this Saturday when the Hawkeyes host Illinois in a co-ed dual meet in the North Gym of the Fieldhouse.
This will be the first and only time both gymnastic squads will participate in a co-ed meet at home. Iowa coach Tom Dunn said it should be interesting for the fans and the athletes.

"This type of meet is especially good for the fans because there is always something going on," Dunn said. "Plus, we have the advantage of having more fans at these types of meets. It will give both squads more of a home-field advantage feeling."
The Hawkeyes are coming off a big road win at Minnesota last week and hope to keep the momentum rolling. Last year, Iowa handled the Fighting Illini easily in Champaign 227.30-223.40. The Hawkeyes already competed against Illinois this season at the

"Our divers had an absolutely fantastic day," Iowa head coach Glenn Patton said. The Hawkeyes also received a fifth-place finish from Jory Blauer in the 200 individual medley and a seventh-place finish from Marc River in the 50 freestyle.

Patton said the swimmers had to deal with a "murky, green" colored pool, which affected their performances. "We had some mixed performances," Patton said. "Michigan is having some troubles with their pool. It affected a lot of the swimmers mentally."

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Iowa looks for redemption after slow start

Shannon Stevens
The Daily Iowan
The Iowa women's tennis team hopes to improve on its subpar spring record when it travels to Normal, Ill., this weekend to battle Illinois State and Ball State. After waltzing through three dual matches during the fall season, the Hawkeyes (4-3) have fallen on hard times this spring, losing three of their first four matches. Iowa coach Jenny Mainz said the Hawkeyes have been plagued by poor returns of serve and a low first-serve percentage.

"Those are the two ways you start the point, so those are the things we just need to get more mentally disciplined with," she said. "If we do the fundamental things correctly, we'll win."

WOMEN'S TRACK

Hawks head up north to Northern Iowa

Chris James
The Daily Iowan
The road to the Big Ten Championships goes through Cedar Falls today when the Iowa women's track team competes at the UNI Invitational. The Hawkeyes hope to tune up for the Big Ten's with a strong showing at the UNI-Dome. The field events start today at 3 p.m. while the tracksters get going at 4 p.m. This is Iowa's third intrastate meet of the season but according to assistant coach Allan Wirth this is by far the most critical.

have a strong showing at UNI this weekend," Wirth said. "We've been improving every time out, so hopefully we can use this one last tune-up to bring everything together." Wirth added that the field events will be especially tough with schools like Iowa State and Drake participating.

"I like competing against schools like Iowa State and Drake. They are not in our conference but if we can perform well against them then that should give us a boost heading into next week," Wirth said.

Anderson needs just two more steals in conference action to eclipse the record of 68 set by Ohio State's Yvette Angle in 1985.

These two games will be the first in a high-pressure situation for the young Hawkeyes and their first year coach. Come crunch time though, Lee knows who's going to have the ball in their hands.

leaving the door open for Driscoll to pursue his dream of playing baseball. But Driscoll says he'll only give up the spring football season if he's confident he can make a contribution on the baseball team. "We have a game in two weeks and (Coach Duane Banks is) going to let me know before that game if he thinks I can contribute," Driscoll said. "I don't need to be a starter; I just want to know that I'm making a contribution, whether it be at DH or in the starting lineup or whatever." At this point, Banks says Driscoll's rustiness is showing, but he isn't going to give up on such a hard worker. "I think the time away has hurt him. But he's getting better and better, day by day," Banks said. "It's unfortunate; he's such a good athlete. Baseball is a hard game, and to be away so long and try to come back so quickly ... "Whether he gets better in a short period of time, we'll just have to wait and see."

— that fueled America's temper. I tried with all my will to pacify anger and mend relationships between fans and players; fans and owners; players and owners. It wasn't easy. "If they don't care about us, why should we care about them," an angered fan wrote in response to a past column. "Baseball is dead." And I laughed. Anyone who says a single labor dispute is enough to kill something as deeply embedded in America's culture as baseball obviously doesn't know their history. Baseball gave us so much in the 1980s. Who could ever forget Montreal's Tim Lincecum stealing second base head-first so that he wouldn't break the cocaine vile in his back pocket?

Twins pitcher Joe Niekro? And instead of just grabbing the concealed emery board in his hand, he threw it across the infield hoping nobody would see it?

has survived a lot more than a labor dispute. Baseball has always had its problems, whether it's been widespread drug use or money-hungry owners. But let's face it, that's part of the beauty of baseball.

Windy City Invitational. Iowa placed second while Illinois took fifth. Dunn said the Hawkeyes should be able to win the meet fairly easily, especially being at home. "Illinois has improved since the last time we saw them, but we shouldn't lose on our own turf. With the depth we have, we should be able to place high in every single event," Dunn said. Hawkeye all-American Jay Thornton will be absent, in that he is giving an exhibition in preparation for the Olympic trials on Saturday. Without Thornton, who was a triple winner at Minnesota last week, Iowa will be missing a big punch from its lineup, but Dunn said there are plenty of Hawkeyes who can step up. "We have 16 guys who could step up and lead us," Dunn said. "That's what's so great about this team, that we are capable of putting anyone in the lineup and feeling confident they will get the job done." Illinois leads the overall series 29-28-0. A victory would pull the Hawkeyes even, but that's not what's important to Dunn. "It's a Big Ten meet. We have to and should win the meet, pretty simple," Dunn said.

been pleased with what he has seen from those competing. "We still have some pretty prominent injuries in George Page and Stetson Steele. People are still coming back," Wheeler said.

"Everyone is moving well. The people we have are all improving." Wheeler has been particularly pleased with the strides made by his half-milers and milers. Dave Novotny leads the team with a season-best time of 1:54.14 in the 800-meters. Chad Feely leads with a time of 4:12.30 in the mile. The sprinters have been led by sophomore Monte Raymond. Raymond has the team's best time in the 200, 400 and 600-meters. Olympic hopeful Andre Morris, who is not eligible for this indoor season will be running the 55-meter dash and 200-meter dash, unattached. Hawkeye fans will also be able to see the home Hawkeye debuts of sprinter Tim Dwight and shot put-ter Steve English.

recent dominance in the series. "We don't take anybody lightly, ever," Zadick said. "It doesn't matter if you've beat them 100 times in a row, the 101st time we're going to go out there and try to beat them as hard as we did the first time." The match will feature battles between nationally-ranked wrestlers at several weights including a rematch between Iowa's Jeff McGinness (No. 2) and Iowa State's Dwight Hinson (No. 3) at 126 pounds. The two wrestlers last collided at the N.W.C.A. All-Start meet with McGinness prevailing 3-1.

Neither wrestler was able to produce a takedown in the previous clash and McGinness said he hopes to create more offense this time around. "From an offensive scoring position, I didn't control him the way I wanted to," McGinness said. "I like to go out and take a guy down at least once a match or more than that. I've got to go out and really get after him and try to initiate a lot of holds in the match, wear him down, and then take him down." While he wants another win, Gable said his primary concern is getting his team to develop more consistency. "We were good for Oklahoma State and not so good for Arizona State," Gable said. "Now we'll see how we come out and compare three pretty good tough duals against three of the best teams in the country." Gable also hopes this weekend will help him to determine who will start at heavyweight for the remainder of the season. Erik Stroener, John Degl and Mike Christensen are all competing for the spot. "I'm going to wait and see what happens on Sunday," he said. "Right now, I'm going to list all three of them." Iowa assistant coach Jim Zalesky said several Hawkeyes need to rebound after a subpar showing the last time out. "It's very important, this match usually tells you where you're at," he said. "Especially after Arizona State, a couple of our No. 1 guys got beat and in the last five plus matches we only won two of them. It's real important to get some momentum going." The Iowa State contest will also be the last home match for seniors Daryl Weber, Zadick, Degl, Curt Heideman, Yoshi Rose, Stroener, Mike Hatcher and Fred Lima. The match is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Rangers rally to tie the Canadiens, 2-2

Associated Press

Tampa Bay Lightning leftwinger Jason Wiemer (24) takes a shot on Colorado Avalanche goaltender Patrick Roy (33) during the first period of their game Thursday in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Luc Robitaille, recently linked to trade rumors involving Wayne Gretzky, led a stirring rally in the last six minutes as the New York Rangers tied the Montreal Canadiens 2-2 Thursday night and matched a team-record home unbeaten streak of 24 games.

Until Robitaille's two dramatic goals at the end, the Rangers seemed all but assured of their first loss at the Garden since a 4-2 defeat by the Ottawa Senators on Oct. 22.

Flames 6, Islanders 3
UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Theoren Fleury scored twice and the Calgary Flames beat the New York Islanders 6-3 Thursday night.

Mike Sullivan and Sheldon Kennedy also scored for the Flames, who won for the first time in five tries at Nassau Coliseum since March 27, 1990.

Lightning 4, Avalanche 2
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Chris Gratton scored a goal and had two assists Thursday night as Tampa Bay beat Colorado 4-2 to deny Avalanche goaltender Patrick Roy his 300th career victory.

Alexander Selivanov broke a 2-2 tie with his 24th goal less than two minutes into the final period. Gratton, assisted by Roman Hamrlik and Bill Houlder, scored on a power play to clinch the outcome with 1:46 remaining.

Lightning goaltender Jeff Reese, who gave up six goals in his last start against the New York Rangers, stopped 22 shots and shut out the NHL's second-highest scoring team over the last two periods as Tampa Bay ended a three-game losing streak.

Red Wings 4, Capitals 3
DETROIT — Keith Primeau had a goal and an assist as the Detroit Red Wings beat the Washington Capitals 4-3 in a battle of two of the NHL's hottest teams.

The win was Detroit's eighth straight at Joe Louis Arena, and moved the Wings to 9-1-1 in their last 11 games overall. Washington lost for the first time since Jan. 31, ending its unbeaten streak at six games.

Primeau has three goals and an assist in Detroit's last two games, while Igor Larionov had two assists to give him six in that span. Chris Osgood made 16 saves to extend his unbeaten streak to 11 games (10-1-0).

Blackhawks 3, Bruins 0
CHICAGO — Jeff Hackett made 36 saves for his fourth shutout and Bernie Nicholls scored two of Chicago's three first-period goals Thursday night, leading the Blackhawks to a 3-0 victory over the Boston Bruins.

Jeremy Roenick, whose jaw was broken in St. Louis last week, returned to Chicago's lineup after missing a game and assisted on both goals by Nicholls.

Eric Daze also scored for the Blackhawks, who since Dec. 17 are 19-4-4 overall and 9-2-2 at home.

Hackett and Nicholls have been major factors in the Blackhawks' hot streak.

NBA ROUNDUP

Bimbo's 24 leads Miami past Denver

Associated Press

MIAMI — Bimbo Coles scored six of his 24 points in the final 17 seconds Thursday night, lifting the Miami Heat to a 97-91 victory over Denver.

Coles' layup gave the Heat a 94-91 lead with 17 seconds left, and he added another layup and free throw in the final seconds after Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf missed a 3-pointer for the Nuggets, who lost center Dikembe Mutombo to an injured left ankle in the third quarter.

Mutombo, who finished with 12 points and seven rebounds, turned the ankle while attempting to block a shot by Rex Chapman.

Cavaliers 95, Raptors 76
HAMILTON, Ontario — Terrell Brandon scored 20 points and the Cleveland Cavaliers held Toronto to 14 first-quarter points on the way to their sixth straight win, 95-76 over the Raptors on Thursday night.

The Cavaliers led by as many as 25 points in the first half en route to a 53-30 lead at halftime. Included in the onslaught was a 14-2 run.

Bulls 112, Pistons 109, OT
AUBURN HILLS, Mich. — Michael Jordan scored eight of his 32 points in overtime Thursday night, lifting the Chicago Bulls to a 112-109 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

It was just the second overtime game for Chicago this season. The other one was in Dallas, also won by the Bulls, 108-102 on Nov. 21.

The Bulls and Pistons were tied 101-101 at the end of regulation on a rebound basket by Dennis Rodman with 0.9 seconds left. The Bulls (44-5) trailed by five points with 37 seconds left.

A short jumper by Jordan and a 3-pointer by Toni Kukoc gave Chicago a 106-101 lead with 2:30 left in overtime. The Pistons came back to tie it at 106 on a 3-pointer by Allan Houston and Theo Ratliff's layup with 1:34 left.

Bucks 109, Bullets 98

MILWAUKEE — Vin Baker scored 25 points and Glenn Robinson had 11 of his 23 in the third quarter, lifting the Milwaukee Bucks to a 109-98 victory over the Washington Bullets on Thursday night.

The Bullets finished their four-game road trip without a win and suffered a season-high fifth straight loss.

Gheorghe Muresan paced the Bullets with 29 points, while Juwan Howard had 27.

Sherman Douglas scored 18 for the Bucks.

Rockets 112, Spurs 108

HOUSTON — Hakeem Olajuwon led six Houston players in double figures and Robert Horry hit a clutch shot with 42 seconds left in the Rockets' 112-108 victory over San Antonio on Thursday night.

The Rockets beat the Spurs for the first time in three games this season, although San Antonio rallied from a slow start and almost surpassed Houston, which lost five of six regular-season games to the Spurs last season.

TOP 25 ROUNDUP

La Salle no match for mighty UMass

Associated Press

AMHERST, Mass. — Marcus Camby had 26 points and a career-high 15 rebounds on Thursday night to help top-ranked Massachusetts rally from a 10-point, second-half deficit and beat La Salle 70-53.

Donta Bright scored 19 and Dana Dingle had 10 rebounds for the Minutemen (24-0, 12-0 Atlantic 10). Romaine Haywood scored 13 to lead La Salle (5-19, 2-9).

The victory preserves Saturday's showdown with No. 10 Virginia Tech at Blacksburg, Va., and clinched the Eastern Division title in the Atlantic 10, earning a No. 1 seed in the league's postseason tournament.

No. 11 Purdue 63, Ohio St. 55

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Porter Roberts had 14 points, including five of the last seven for No. 11 Purdue, and the Boilermakers held off Ohio State 63-55 Thursday night.

Purdue (20-4) won its sixth in a row.

It moved to 10-2 in Big Ten play to maintain a one-game lead over Penn State heading into their meeting Saturday in West Lafayette.

Brad Miller led Purdue with 16 points, while Todd Foster had 12 — on 4-of-7 3-pointers — and Chad Austin added 11 points.

Neshaun Coleman had 12 points and Damon Stringer 11 for Ohio State (9-12, 2-10), which lost its fourth in a row and 11th in 13 games.

The Buckeyes, beaten by an average of 16 points in their Big Ten losses, pulled even at 48 on Rick Yut's jumper with 8:20 left, but baskets by Brandon Brantley and Miller gave Purdue the lead for good.

NFL NEW BALTIMORE COACH Marchbroda returns home

David Ginsburg
Associated Press

BALTIMORE — Art Modell got the coach he wanted, and Ted Marchbroda got the job he coveted.

Marchbroda signed a three-year contract Thursday to become coach of Modell's NFL franchise in Baltimore. The new coach is something of an old friend to the city — Marchbroda was coach of the Baltimore Colts from 1975 to 1979, the final glory days of a franchise that left town in 1984.

"I couldn't think of any better scenario," Marchbroda said.

"It was a great feeling when we made the turn onto 33rd Street and I saw the lights and the front of Memorial Stadium."

Marchbroda spent many a memorable Sunday afternoon in the stadium that will house the team formerly known as the Cleveland Browns for the next two years. Marchbroda won three AFC East titles with Baltimore, at one point winning 29-of-33 regular-season games.

"I'm glad to be back in Baltimore."

"It's a new tradition starting, but we certainly want to continue the tradition of winning football teams here," he said.

Modell is confident that Marchbroda is the man who can bring the franchise back from the 5-11 season that led the owner to fire coach Bill Belichick on Wednesday.

INSIDE MAN Infante fills Colts opening

Steve Herman
Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Colts didn't have to look far for a new coach.

On the same day Ted Marchbroda was hired by the relocated NFL team in Baltimore, Lindy Infante, his former offensive coordinator, was hired as coach of the Colts.

It's the second NFL coaching job for Infante, who was at Green Bay for four years and was the league's coach of the year in 1989.

"I got back into this business about a year ago with the idea I had something to give to the game," Infante said at a news conference Thursday afternoon. "I got back in with the idea that if I could come in here and do something that might contribute to this organization's success, somebody might take notice and then maybe somewhere down the road I might get another opportunity."

"In my wildest dreams, I did not expect it to be here, or this quick," he said. "Again, I'm flattered, I'm honored, I'm ready to roll my sleeves up and get as busy as I possibly can to help this organization in any way I can to have the success we experienced this year continue."

Infante's appointment after one year as offensive coordinator had been expected since last week, when Marchbroda was fired after refusing a one-year contract extension.

Bill Tobin, the team's director of football operations, said he never planned to interview anyone else.

"When this head coaching vacancy opened up, he was the only one that came to mind and the only person I talked to about the opening," Tobin said.

He wouldn't elaborate on the contract negotiations.

Dance moves to shake soul to the beat of jazz

Amy Mackin
The Daily Iowan

It's powerful. It's passionate. It's provocative. It's the premiere of "Now You Know, a Concert in Jazz," at the Space/Place Theater this weekend.

"Now You Know" features 45 members of the UI Jazz Dancers in an all-jazz dance concert choreographed by UI senior Sabetha Clark. She has been the driving force behind the presentation of the concert.

"I wanted to provide an opportunity at the UI to perform in jazz," Clark said. "For me, this concert is an opportunity to explore my realm as a choreographer and as many different styles of jazz as possible."

Clark enrolled at the UI in the fall of 1991 when Debbie Belue, a UI dance department alumna was pursuing her graduate degree in dance.

Clark came from a strong jazz dance background and continued to study under Belue. After Belue left the UI in the spring of 1994, opportunities for students to perform in jazz were limited.

In March 1995, Clark submitted a proposal for her concert and her proposal was approved that spring. Clark wasted no time beginning preparations for the concert and began to work with choreographic ideas and costumes last summer.

Clark held auditions in August and selected 45 of 60 dancers who auditioned.

"I wanted to give as many people as possible the opportunity to perform," Clark said. "It really is a great company."

The performance features a wide variety of styles, true to Clark's goal for the project. Some pieces feature the dancers' technical ability through choreography of difficult turns and large jumps and kicks. Some pieces feature a more lyrical style of movement while still others are a combination of modern dance and jazz.

"I think the different styles of dance overlap so much it makes it very hard to classify," Clark said. "Each piece in the concert has an overall feeling. If the audience feels the emotions, then I'll be doing all right."

"Now You Know" also will present an acappella tap number called "Rhythm Delivery," in which dancers create the rhythm base for the work with tapping.

A hip hop dance number will round out the program. Clark said she felt including hip hop dance in her concert was very important because jazz dance style stems from social dances.

Realizing the entertainment value of dance, Clark said the performance is very audience oriented.

"You have to keep the audience's mind and interests going and always changing," Clark said.

When asked about the challenges of balancing her intense 22-hour course load, her Resident Assistant position and the demands of coordinating rehearsals, sewing costumes and selling tickets, Clark said she just keeps her self organized and everything has gone very smoothly.

"I never thought it couldn't happen," Clark said. "I've always known if there is something I want I can make it happen."

And make it happen she did.

Tickets for "Now You Know," running today and Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m., will be available at Space/Place Theater in North Hall prior to the performances.

Motion Poets add flavor to pub's live music scene

Kim Johnson
The Daily Iowan

There's a song on Motion Poets' recent album Truth and Consequence called "Cilantro Soup," and after listening to even a few moments of the album, you might realize "Cilantro Soup" is a great metaphor for Motion Poets' music.

It's a little hot, but it's got this cool, fresh flavor. It takes an old, familiar form and adds a spicy little kick to everything. It gets your attention.

Formerly known as the Little Big Band, Motion Poets hail from Minneapolis. Unlike other Minneapolis natives the Replacements and Soul Asylum, the well these guys draw from isn't Led Zeppelin, but John Coltrane; not the Sex Pistols, but Dizzy Gillespie.

Ingredients for Motion Poets' soup: take one trombonist (Mark Miller) and stir in a pianist (Nate Shaw). Mix well.

Combine a solid bass player (Chris Bates) with a drummer who can both syncopate and provide the ground for extended swinging (J.T. Bates). Finally, stir in Mark Sutton on trumpet and flugelhorn, and Doug Little on alto saxophone and flute.

Steep in traditional jazz overnight and flavor with world beats imported from Africa and South America. Now, shake, shake, shake.

Or, at least, that's the idea: taking the social and organic arrangements of traditional jazz and layering them on top of some irresistible rhythms like the rumba and merenge.

Motion Poets will be appearing in Iowa City tonight and Saturday at the Sanctuary, 405 S. Gilbert. Music begins at 9:30

Courtesy of Jazz Day Productions
Motion Poets, formerly known as Little Big Band, will play their Minneapolis-style jazz with Spanish rhythms at the Sanctuary tonight and Saturday.

p.m. Jim Meyer, of Minneapolis' City Pages, wrote that these six musicians achieve a sound that can "enthral... audiences regardless of the venue."

At a St. Paul concert, Motion Poets managed to have "even young grungers getting off their comfy couches and swinging out in couples."

Couples swinging? Hey, it is still the week of the Valentine, and you all know where dancing can lead.
