Early morning blaze leaves 2 homeless

Two Iowa City residents are homeless after their apartment was engulfed by flames early Monday morning.

The fire was caused by a cordless drill used by a resident as getting ready for work, according to fire officials.

The apartment was located at 1531 University Ave.

The fire was contained by firefighters within 30 minutes, according to the city fire department.

The blaze caused an estimated $100,000 in damage.

UI professor named chief justice of the Winnebago Tribe

UI Joe Professor Robert Clines was named chief justice of the District Court of the Winnebago Supreme Court of the Winnebago Tribe.

As the second chief justice, Cline will assume responsibility for overseeing the court's activities in Greenwater, Minn.

The appointment was made by Governor Paul Quandt, a tribal council official.

In a memo, Quandt said in the March 20 issue of the Des Moines Register:

"I know you, it's 80 Minnesotans and all environments and generally all that, but Teddy has been an outstanding employee, and so I'm happy said Ted." Vogel said in the Feb 24 issue of the Des Moines Register.

"They have a lot more going on. But Teddy has given us the sense of duty and the responsibility that Teddy has given us. He has given us the sense of duty and responsibility of the court." Vogel said in an interview with the Register.

"I was like a pretty top on the top of the court and I have a lot of respect for and I think it is a pretty good thing for the court. I think it is a pretty good thing for me.

60 Minutes' report reveals lighter side

New York (AP) — "60 Minutes" correspondent Ed Bradley has a wild side. Sometimes, he just needs a little kick in the ass.

"It was the time I told the police that I was going to get away with it," Bradley said.

during the 1986 interview. Bradley also told Mutual about his nickname "Teddy," which is how friends refer to him.

"You have to be a dummy to think it's not worth your while, " he said.

"There is no such thing as a well-made story, " said.

It wasn't known whether Tyson had ever been married before, but the couple said they were looking to have his conviction in the 1991 rape of a beauty contestant.

The couple, who have three daughters from previous marriages, said they were grateful for Michael's birth but that they don't plan on having any more children.

"I was so happy , " screamed the 11-year-old Gilbert said.

"It wasn't like I was on the bus and the next thing I knew I was in the hospital," said. "I used to love my baby for the first two days of my life. And, it wasn't that easy seven weeks after his birth."

 Explosion destroys London bus

With the help of a car driver they managed to get the body of the bus and dumped it on the road, the man said. The bus driver said the only problem was that the front wheel of the bus was damaged in the accident.

Emergency services were on the scene within minutes, he said. "There were no other passengers on the bus and we heard the explosion and the bus started to shake." He said there were people who were injured, and one woman who was knocked unconscious.

A spokesperson for the emergency services said they were called to the scene and found the bus had been damaged by the explosion. He said there were no other reports of injuries and the scene was cordoned off for safety reasons.

The police said they were not aware of any suspicious activity before the explosion and were not aware of any other similar incidents in the area.

The explosion occurred at around 10am on Sunday, and is believed to have been caused by a gas leak. The police are currently investigating the incident.

The London Fire Brigade said they were called to the scene and found a large fire had broken out in the building.

They said the fire had caused significant damage to the building, and that there were no reports of any injuries.

Dole garners support of former rival Gramm

By John King

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — John Gramm, a former rival of then-Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole, officially announced his support for Dole on Sunday at Dole headquarters in Manchester, N.H.

Gramm, who announced his withdrawal from the campaign last week, said he switched his allegiance to Dole in order to beat Bill Clinton.

"The fact is my country, my party, my values are in jeopardy," Gramm said, referring to Buchanan's association with the Ku Klux Klan and other white supremacist groups. "This is a pinch-hitter for the American party, the American party to beat the democratic party."

Gramm added that he was excited to work with Dole because of his "solid record of backing the American party, the American party that works for the American people, the American people."

GOP candidates answer questions about their pasts

Campaign '96

Republican presidential hopeful Bob Dole gives a thumbs up to supporters as he climbs back into his campaign bus after an afternoon of appearances in New Hampshire. Dole ended his Tuesday campaign swing in Concord, the state capital, with a_x_precautionary pause to answer questions about his past as a Senate majority leader in the 1980s and 1990s. Dole was once hailed as a political reformer but his past comments about women, race and religious groups have come back to haunt him.

Dole faced questions about remarks he made as majority leader in the Senate, including a 1985 speech in which he said women who choose to ignore the facts and their consequences would be "scolded." He also answered questions about a 1993 speech in which he described religious leaders as "puppets with placards." Dole is running a negative campaign and is implacably opposed to his opponent, former Vice President Walter Mondale.

The former Kansas senator, who is second in the race for the White House, is counting on a late surge in the polls to help him win. Dole has been in a virtual dead heat with Democrat Bill Clinton for the past two weeks. Some polls released last weekend indicated Alexander is in a three-way tie with Bob Dole and Pat Buchanan. If not one of the three ends up with a clear lead, then a fourth candidate could be in the mix.

For an overnight win, Buchanan needed to outflank his opponent in New Hampshire, where the results of his earlier campaign ads against Dole failed to make a dent.

"I probably should have said it in 1991," Buchanan said. "But Dole would be the number one issue." Buchanan said he now wants to focus on the economy and his plan to lower the cost of health care. Buchanan also expressed his desire to keep the economy at a high level and keep the nation moving forward.

Dole's campaign is facing a difficult time. His campaign manager, Bob Teeter, left last week and his campaign has been struggling to gain momentum. Dole has also been hit by a series of negative ads that have highlighted his past comments and criticisms he has made about his opponents.

"There are a lot of issues where we need to work," Dole said. "There are a lot of issues where we need to address." Dole is hoping to gain momentum in the next few days and is planning to campaign in Iowa and South Carolina. Dole is counting on a strong showing in those states to help him win the nomination.

"Bob Dole is running a negative campaign and is implacably opposed to his opponent, former Vice President Walter Mondale," said a Dole campaign aide. "Dole is running a negative campaign and is implacably opposed to his opponent, former Vice President Walter Mondale."

Hawkeyes stake their claim on Big Ten

Jim Bernard

The Daily Iowan

As far as Angie Lee and her Iowa team in concerned, it is too safe to forever close the book on last year. The future is now.

The Hawkeyes came away with a 44-30 win over Michigan on Sunday at Kinnick Stadium, extending their winning streak to five games.

Lee said she can hit from anywhere.

The second-half was a battle of eight versus eight, with Iowa outscoring its opponent 15-8 in the final 20 minutes of the game.

"That was the game plan the whole week, to keep things simple," she said.

Like many coaches, Lee emphasized the importance of execution in the game.

"I thought they executed the game plan to a T," she said.

Angie Lee said it's not that difficult to get her shots up. She just feels it.

"I've felt like this before. I just told myself that I have to keep going and I think I have to keep going for the team," she said.

Lee said alcohol was not a factor.

"I don't think it's a concern," she said.

"I've never had a beer and I don't drink," she said.

"It's not like I was drinking and driving," she said.

"It's never been an issue for me," she said.

"I think it's a big issue for a lot of people," she said.

Lee said it could have been much worse.

"It's not like I was drinking and driving," she said.

In the second half, the Hawkeyes were also boosted by a fantastic performance from Shannon Perry. Perry started in place of the injured Smith and didn’t miss a shot. She scored 24 points, making her the first Iowa player to score 20 or more in the first half since 1985.

According to the report, "The score doesn't really indicate the type of game that was being played. The Hawkeyes dominated the entire event, and it was obvious they were ready to wrestle the title away from the competitors." Perry, who finished with 28 points, said, "I'm just happy with our performance, and we're looking forward to the next match."

Sprinters impress despite Big Ten's slip

Chris Snyder

The Daily Iowan

Local track and field fans saw a familiar sight last Friday as athletes from around the Big Ten gathered in Evanston, Ill., to compete in the Big Ten Track and Field Meet. The meet, which was held at 4 p.m. Friday, was another in a long line of exciting competitions that have taken place in recent years.

The Hawkeyes were led by their star performers, including Mike Davidson, who finished second in the 60-meter hurdles, and Brad Nash, who finished fourth in the 400-meter hurdles.

Iowa's Andre Morris, running in the 400-meter dash, was third in the event, while teammate Ben Hawk finished fifth.

"It was a great day for the Hawkeyes," said Coach Jerry Hassard. "We've been working hard in preparation for this meet, and it paid off today."

INDIANAPOLIS — Michael Jordan scored all 27 of his points in 15 minutes 41 seconds during the second half, shooting 11-of-14 from the field, and the Chicago Bulls defeated the Indiana Pacers 118-109. Jordan, who had been limited to 13 minutes of playing time in the first half due to foul trouble, watched the game from the bench before returning in the third quarter.

The win extended the Bulls’ winning streak to six games as they prepare for the playoffs.

Tupac Shakur's recent release, All Eyez on Me, lacks the musical diversity of the Fugees' The Score. Shakur's debut album, Puffy Don't Play, All Eyez On Me will make a huge commercial splash. However, the overall product is not engaging enough to make it the instant winner it was expected to be.

On the other side of the country and the other end of the rap scene from the Fugees, The Score, is the rapidly emerging Tupac Shakur. His debut album, The Don't Play, is a demonstrates an uncanny ability to combine simple, concise lyrics goes a long way.

The group's stylistic diversity and musical range, with the intent of raising rap to new artistic levels, is perfect for Tupac's ongoing evolution.

On his new album, Tupac breaks down the limits of rap music with the group's new single, "Puffy Don't Play." The song, produced by the distinguished producer, Soil, is a message to rap fans everywhere.

Tupac's music is a mix of old school and new school elements. His lyrics are simple, concise, and his flows are quick and hard. The album's first single, "Gotta' Flow," is a strong contender for a No. 1 hit.
