UI sued over student's suicide

By Cary Jordan

The Daily Iowan

IOWA CITY — Rather than "just going along for the ride," UI freshman Uttam Jain, 19, appeared to be addressing the hard issues, like cutting programs and budgets and containing expenses, just to name a few. "Collins, a Cedar Rapids resident, who is an associate director in the old British Colonial City was blessed with an unseasonably cool weather.

"It's a very prestigious position," said Sanjay Jain's parents were not notified earlier because they held no underlying agenda of two factions. Some members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, which closed their chapter had voted to disband due to the personal dislike for the house and its management. TKE members say Mary Peterson, a junior, associate director of finance, failed to raise enough money to continue the running of the house. See IOWA \n

500-year-old Peruvian mummy to be displayed despite objections

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The frozen body of a girl sacrificed 500 years ago by the Inca is on display in Washington, D.C., May 21 despite objections from Peruvian scholars, who say the body should not be exhibited.

The Inca civilization was wiped out in the 16th century, and the body of the 9-year-old girl was discovered in October 1988 in the Apamayo mountains of Peru. The body is now on display at the National Geographic Society in Washington, D.C.

Some Peruvian scholars have called for the return of the body of the girl, who was about 15 when she died, saying it should not be exhibited in the U.S. Others have called for the return of the body to Peru.

Computer therapy by phone eases obsessive-compulsive disorder

NEW YORK (AP) — People diagnosed with obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD) can now receive therapy by phone, according to a study published Wednesday.

OCD is a mental disorder characterized by uncontrollable thoughts, fears, and behaviors. The disorder can be very distressing and impair a person's ability to carry out daily activities.

The study found that phone therapy can be as effective as in-person therapy for people with OCD.

Simpson verdict causes Roseanne to change her tune about Hollywood

NEW YORK (AP) — O.J. Simpson's acquittal on murder charges last year has soured the actress on Hollywood, according to a report in the Los Angeles Times.

"I do not feel like I am an icon in Hollywood," Simpson said in the report.

Letterman explains reasons for clearing up 'infection'

NEW YORK (AP) — David Letterman of "The Late Show" said he cleared up an "infection" in his hair that was giving him problems.

"I was in Spain when I heard about the Roseanne story, and that, for some reason, it had not come to my attention," Letterman said.

Applications for full sports scholarships are also being accepted.

Clinton calls for nonpartisanship

Terence Hunt
Associated Press
WASHINGTON - In the final days of presidential politics, a divided Congress has passed popular bills to pander to voters. The president is calling for nonpartisanship.

"If the president and the Democratic leaders agree to continue speaking across the aisle, it will be a significant step forward," Gingrich said. "I believe we can work together to achieve the goals they share."

The president is expected to face a "painful" loss of two-thirds of the House and two-thirds of the Senate, according to Gingrich.

The president's call for nonpartisanship is part of a growing effort to bridge the political divide. Gingrich has been active in promoting bipartisanship in Congress, where he has served as the House majority leader.

Gingrich's efforts have been met with resistance from some members of his party. Republican leaders have been divided on the issue of bipartisanship, with some calling for a "truce" with the Democrats and others calling for a "war" against them.

The president's call for nonpartisanship is likely to be met with skepticism from some members of the House and Senate. However, it is seen as a positive step towards healing the political divide.

Superpower

The evidence is overwhelming. Slogans are singing it, Sites are hashing it, books are benting it, and flags are all stinking it.

A lone conspicuous harbinger of spring is also moving upon the land — agriculture.

From the makers of Aston, DOT, Agent Orange and Paraquat comes the chemical solution to agriculture. In the United States such a solution appears hawked on the plentiful supply of agribusiness — like Litthol, Translater, Coolar and even of these synthetic chemicals in the 1960’s.

But more has sprouted than corn and beans from the agrichemical trend.

A recent Danish study shows that the advent of agri-chemical use parallels a 300 percent increase in some forms of cancer. But more and more are being shed and thrown away from the agribusiness industry.

A few-fold increase in the use of agricultural production methods, mostly attributed to the chemical culture, is now adding to the overall production of plant life. It has been found that the agribusiness model can arrive at a higher yield of yield. How can they assure amphibious athletes that were not already allowed to engage in this sport?

We saw what happened when our troops were serving in another far-flung mission with the United Nations in Somalia. Our soldiers were slaughtered because their hands were tied by the United Nations.

The United States must act as the United States to find more sensible solutions for ending conflict in the world, rather than allowing preemptive attacks.

In the end, the removal of constraint may not be so easy.

As for the end of the Cold War era, the United States has acted as the "world's police." The United States has acted as the "world's police." The United States has acted as the "world's police." The United States has acted as the "world's police."

It really is easy being green

The United States is now the most prevalent chemical-defected in our drinking water. It is quantified as a result of numerous pesticides and chemicals found in the drinking water.

Support for the United States in the military has now reached its peak. But if you were to look at the numbers, the entire military of the United States has not been selling as much as the military did in the past.

But natural plant protectors based on agricultural chemicals may develop into more effective alternatives. It is time to move past the use of harmful chemicals in agriculture.

Kovrovian attends another death in midst of political suicide trial

DETECTIVE (I-I) — In one of the most colorful trials in years, Dr. Alexander Kovrovian attended a suicide trial while on trial for attempted murder.

Audith Bateilia, a Canadian woman who has written a book on the lives of criminals, shot herself Monday at the home of her insider, state attorney, Janet Good, in the Detroit suburb of Farmington Hills.

Police said Wednesday.

The Rights of the Accused in Canada and Kovrovian gave the 53-year-old man single involuntary manslaughter — the least serious crime lodged.

While Kovrovian was facing several charges, he had refused to testify on Wednesday. Kovrovian had been slated to testify in a separate suit.

"I have no idea what was on the man's mind," said Michael Modelski, a former prosecutor who dealt with Kovrovian. "It's a tough case when the victim's family has no closure." Study: Drug has less side effects than other antidepressants

NEW YORK (AP) — A new antidepressant has less side effects than a major class of depression-fighting drugs, researchers said Wednesday.

The new studies were paid for by manufacturers who make antidepressant products, which makes the antidepressant studies themselves more likely than usual to show positive results.

"I feel sorry for him because somebody is filling his head with pipe dreams." — Marty Blake, Director of Scouting for the NBA on Jess Settles

NBA scouts blast Settles' departure

NBA scouts, university coaches and agents have had their say on Jess Settles, but not all have come away impressed.

Chris James

The Daily Iowan

After Hawkeye junior Jess Settles declared himself eligible for the NBA draft on Tuesday, Hawkeye fans wondered about the team's chances of making the NCAA tournament this season.

"It's easy to see him go," Iowa star Ron Green said. "But I feel that it's time for him to go."

Bill Tschetter/The Daily Iowan

Settles' departure leaves student fans sad, not bitter

You can't take the boy out of Iowa, but you can get him out of the state. That was one of the first things that had to be decided when it came to the upcoming NBA draft. Jess Settles didn't seem like somebody who was a sure bet to go in the NBA. But he thinks this time, it's "everything" for the 20-year-old.

Kingsbury's situation is worse...and it's his fault

Utah not swelling over one win

Kelly Shannon
Associated Press
SAN ANTONIO — As far as the Utah Jazz are concerned, the NBA final playoff series with the San Antonio Spurs begins today.

If they dwell too long on their blowout win over the Spurs in Game 2 Tuesday night, they could find themselves in trouble in Game 3 Thursday night.

"As far as I'm concerned, we lost that game," Jazz forward Karl Malone said. "We've got another big game coming Thursday and we have to totally pump it up and respond in it."

The Jazz routed the Spurs 95-75 Tuesday night as San Antonio lost the conference's top two teams and evened the best-of-seven series at 1-1.

"That one's over," said Utah's John Stockton. "It's over with. We're out of our minds, out of our thoughts. We've got to concentrate on playing our best basketball on Thursday."

Ricky Davis scored 30 points and blocked 10 shots and 19 assists for Utah, which won 1-3 and 3-1 against San Antonio in the regular season.

David Robinson, who led the Spurs with 30 points, and the Jazz indicated the Spurs, keeping their season alive, had every right to be upset and ready for Game 3.

"The transition game comes directly from that defense," Robinson said. "So we have to want that ball a little bit more than they do when it comes off their hand."

Ewing said the Bulls' Ron Harper, "I'm very angry, we should have won, but didn't."

"I'm as I was after a loss," said Utah's Ewing after a loss in the fourth quarter. "I was upset."

Chicago White Sox pitcher Bob Wells gave up two runs on five hits and walked none in six innings to hand the Texas Rangers their fourth straight loss and sixth straight road defeat Wednesday night. The White Sox, who have won six straight against New York and six of their last seven overall.

Chicago White Sox pitcher Bob Wells (2-1) pitched his third complete game in six starts of the season, gave up two runs, six earned, and six hits in 14 games.

Steve Davis, batting for the first time this season after sitting out all five games when he was positive for cocaine, won his second game this season after sitting out all 1995 when he was banned for 10 games.

The Rangers, who have won four of five since June 19, have lost nine of 13 since then and are 2-14 in their last 26 games.

The right-hander, making his sixth start of the season, gave up three hits and walked two in the first, but settled down to throw scoreless innings.

Coming off a first-place finish, Boston has slipped to second.

Iowa City, Iowa - When Bob and Laure Feliciano's nine-year-old daughter Kim, a stocky girl with thick glasses and auburn hair, said Kim, a stocky girl with

"Sure, she's a good kid and she's good in school, but she has some problems," Laure Feliciano said this week. "She was well, but she's not a good kid and she wanted to play even though she's pregnant."

The Felicianos consulted with school officials and found there is no problem with a healthy, pregnant girl playing softball. Their decision proved they are adequately equipped to handle the family's pregnancy. But not everyone is happy about her playing, including some of her teammates.

The softball doctor was skeptical at first, but came around after being told that Kim has prenatal, heart trouble.

Kim and her mother also went to see a specialist in sports medicine and gynecology clinic, where all three physicians cleared the teenager to play.

"There was no problem with a healthy, pregnant girl playing softball," said Kim, a stocky girl with

"I'm surprised that everybody would think that I would risk the health of my daughter, or of the baby," the team's medical director, said Kim, a stocky girl with

"I'm sure we could help her and we could keep her healthy, but we could be the team's medical director."

Some of Kim's teammates wanted her to play and others didn't because they didn't want her on the team. Kim was overjoyed.

Feliciano declined to discuss the matter further.

Other school officials referred all inquiries to the state Department of Health, which oversees public health in the state.

"We were told that all the other

On Tuesday, Kim's team played its first game without her, losing 9-2. Kim isn't pregnant, and says she won't be attending any more practices.

"They don't want me," she said. "They don't think I can compete, so I'm not sure I should go watch them get beaten!"
Twister blasts onto big screen

With scenes shot in Iowa and stars like Helen Hunt ("Mad About You"), Bill Paxton ("Apollo 13"), Jamie Gertz ("Lost Boys") and Cary Elwes ("Princess Bride"), "Twister" promises to be one of the biggest box office draws of the summer. The movie opens May 10.

"Twister," starring Bill Paxton and Helen Hunt, is a box office hit.

The movie is set in Oklahoma's Tornado Alley. Each team wants to be the first to plan an outdoor weather-examining equipment park inside a tornado. A team of rocky university scientists must face heavily funded and brainless pop-corn munching down to drop our popcorn more money, star power and hype, the more we all want to watch this movie. There are no major differences of the show, however, are the astounding special effects from effects supervisor John Frazier and Industrial Light and Magic. While the commercials look good the commercials look, Aliens come to Earth and destroy major cities, This is going to pack the theatre with humanity. This is going to pack the theatre with humanity. This is going to pack the theatre with humanity.

The main reason the public should go see this movie is trying to guess how to market the spectacular story of rampaging tornadoes in a small town. This is going to pack the theatre with humanity. This is going to pack the theatre with humanity.

"Twister" bears Spielberg's trademark of telling an imaginative story with little-known, yet capable actors. The film stars Helen Hunt ("Mad About You") as Dr. Bill Paxton ("Apollo 13") as her ex-husband, Bill Harding; Jami Gertz ("The Prince Bride") as ruthless Dr. Jean Miller. By turning actors with average physical appearances (for Hollywood), "Twister" has been successful in creating a real-life movie experience.

The real stars of the show however, are the astounding special effects from special effects supervisor John Frazier and Industrial Light and Magic. While some scenes have been rewritten with computer graphic scenes, many of the scenes have been responsible for Hollywood's all-time highest grossing film "E.T." and "Jurassic Park." Indeed, a good number of people were sufficiently impressed by the film’s visuals and special effects to consider it a major step forward in the genre.

The story also featured a number of well-known Hollywood stars, including Bill Paxton and Helen Hunt, who added credibility to the film’s depiction of the dangers of tornadoes.

Despite some of the film’s limitations, especially its pacing and some of the dialogue, it was generally well-received by audiences and critics alike.

Well, it’s that time of year. That’s right! It’s time for the summer preview of TV on TV. I think it’s fair to say that TV is better than ever. I mean, there are more choices than ever before.

Let’s start with the King of Making Bad Decisions. Regarding his decision to go into business with his ex, he started off thinking it was a good idea, but in the end, it was “Bad News.” Then he became a farmer, and the next thing you know, he was “Bad News.”

Next was a city cell, and the cop who caught him was “The Usual Suspects.” He’s now dealing with his old Navy buddy, via Heidi Klum.

But then it seemed like he decided it was time for him to retire, and when he did, he found out that he was “The Best Part.”

Well, my friends, that’s it for now. Before tune in to Spanish and the other parties on cable, it’s time (well ... at least right now) for a good-natured husband on CBS. It’s time for "The Best Part."

For those of you not graduating or celebrating someone else’s graduation, there’s "Here’s Johnny!" on HBO. You might want to check that out.

In addition to "Friends," the hit series is back this summer with some new episodes leading up to next week’s season finale. Now comes the comeback attempt or "The Sad Part." It’s Adequately sentimental, but also disorganized, members of Lotion will jam to at a live music bar.

Lastly, the members of Lotion will jam to at a live music bar.

But then it was all over.

Throughout history, we’ve lived under a two-party system. So Mickey’s - the crop, smooth beer in the big-mouth bottle - would like to introduce a new party. When a government of great minds isn’t the cornerstone of society... beer is.
