Questions remain in bomb’s wake

Searchers comb the rubble after Saudi blast

Adeem Mudali

DUBAI, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Albertson’s, one of the world’s largest grocery stores, said several of its stores in Saudi Arabia were damaged Thursday by an explosion.

The blast occurred at the popular Corniche shopping mall, which is located in the city of Jeddah. The store chain said it was investigating the cause of the explosion and was offering its condolences to the victims.

The mall is a popular destination for shoppers and tourists alike. It features a variety of stores, including clothing, electronics, and furniture. The blast caused damage to several of the stores, including a clothing store, a furniture store, and an electronics store.

The mall is also home to a number of restaurants and cafes, making it a popular spot for people to eat and socialize. The blast caused a large explosion and sent debris flying in all directions. Several people were reported to be injured, and the mall was closed for the day.

Albertson’s is a popular grocery store chain that has locations in the United States and other countries. The company said it was offering its support to the victims and was working to assist them.

The mall is located in the city of Jeddah, which is the second largest city in Saudi Arabia after Riyadh. It is also home to the Jeddah Corniche, a popular waterfront area that is a popular destination for tourists.

The mall was closed for the day due to the explosion, and it is unclear how long it will remain closed.

The latest development on the situation is that the mall has been closed for the day due to the explosion.

Free yourself ‘from all earthly bonds’

I'd rather be skydiving, reads a bumper sticker on the back of a car at the University of Iowa’s white ’93 Honda Civic.

Donna Jones, owner of Paradise Skydive Inc., located in Vinton, Iowa, has been skydiving for more than 20 years. Having skydived more than 320 times, Donna says skydiving is the adventure of a lifetime.

"If you’re a legal adult, you can do it," she added. "Skydiving is like nothing you’ve ever experienced. It’s free from all earthly bonds.

Paradise Skydive Inc., which has an average of 100 skydivers each month, often awards the experience of a lifetime — the exhilaration of human flight.

For first-adventure skydivers over the age of 18 and tandem skydivers, this package includes round-trip and one hour of instructional preparation. It is an instructor, dives 10,000 feet (at a rate of 300 miles per hour), and after the initial free fall, a free minute arounds under a parachute bag. A cliff jump (a person who has been skydiving since 1985 and is a professional skydiving instructor) at Paradise Skydive, said skydiving is a great sport.

"There is a danger factor to skydiving that many people don’t realize," he said. "But it doesn’t seem that exist. We’re all concerned about our lives being in our hands and everyone to get safety. Instructional skydiving, like static line and accelerometer-free, have adequate safety systems, but when they see the eight seconds, the last reach is a 10,000 feet. For the first-time experience, many people want to jump on any age.

Although the price for skydiving may seem like a lot, UI students and graduate students can get a deal. Skydiving may not be a perfect sport for everyone, and you can’t put a price tag on a perfect rush," he said. "It takes a dreamer to dive."

Kareem Weble
The Daily Iowan

I just remember thinking I never wanted to come down, I wanted to keep on flying.

My instructor was right. Skydiving is the ultimate experience, the first jump just made you wonder what it was.

"I kept thinking of the words, ‘I need me. I want to be free and fly. I need to feel the wind in my hair. I need to chase my dreams and fly. I need to keep on flying. I’m free. I’m free from all earthly bonds."

I just remember thinking I never wanted to come down. I wanted to keep on flying.

The plane door opened, and with a blood-pumping signal, an instructor next asked a quick 10,000 feet of the ground. "Ready? Right to the left? Anyone ever ready to skydive?"

I kept my feet in place, the instructor yelled, "Karmell, turn and face the wind."

"I turn and face the wind, the sun was shining, and the wind was rushing past me. It was the craziest, most satisfying rush. It’s an experience that you can never understand, it’s a feeling that you can never find again. This is like nothing you’ve ever experienced. I’m free from all earthly bonds."
Whitewater defense tries to refuse trial

Former Clinton CIA chief endorses Dole's campaign

The Daily Iowan

"The united efforts of a former US defense attorney and ex-White House counsel to prevent a special counsel from investigating the Whitewater scandal in Arkansas are in jeopardy.

Larry Morris, formerly a prosecutor in the Whitewater case, and Alan Dershowitz, a prominent Harvard law professor, are seeking to bar Kenneth Starr, the independent counsel investigating the Whitewater case, from appointment as special counsel.

Starr, appointed by the Clinton administration, has been investigating the Whitewater case for more than two years.

The Whitewater case involves the sale of a Arkansas real estate development to a foreign government and the alleged kickbacks to President Clinton and former Vice President Al Gore.

Morris and Dershowitz have argued that Starr should be disqualified because he is too close to the case and because of the potential for a conflict of interest.

"We believe that the appointment of Kenneth Starr as special counsel is inappropriate," Morris said. "He is too close to the case and there is a real potential for a conflict of interest.

Starr has been investigating the Whitewater case for more than two years and has been involved in the case from its inception.

"We believe that Starr should not be appointed as special counsel," Dershowitz said. "He is too close to the case and there is a real potential for a conflict of interest.

A federal judge is expected to rule on the matter in the near future.

In the Egelhoff case, the issue was the defendant's capacity to understand the nature and quality of his act. The defendant, while under the influence of alcohol, killed a garage worker in a bar. The court considered whether the defendant was "the product of a pathological mental condition in which the mind and will were so impaired by the effects of alcohol that the defendant was unable to understand the nature and quality of his act.

The court disagreed and upheld the constitutionality of the legislative ban on using drunkenness as a legal defense in a Montana suit. However, I recommend reading Professor Bartlett's column, which can be found on the Daily Iowan's website, for a deeper understanding of the legal and ethical implications of alcoholism as a defense in criminal cases.

Clinton vows to track down terrorists responsible for bombing

By clipping an Associated Press story

WASHINGTON - Vowing to "get the scum of those who murdered Americans in Saudi Arabia and bring them to justice," President Clinton and Secretary of State Warren Christopher said Wednesday that the United States will "not rest" in its fight against terrorism.

"Any one who attacks Americans around the world should know the United States will not rest," Clinton said as he prepared to send the Congress an emergency supplemental appropriation bill aimed at helping the United States and its allies in the fight to contain terrorism.

The attack on the U.S. military facility near Dhahran, Saudi Arabia last week killed 19 Americans, including four military police officers, and injured 550 others.

"My heart is with those who have lost loved ones and it is difficult to think of anything else," said Clinton. "But we had to make it clear that anyone who attacks Americans will face consequences and that we will go out to locate these people and bring them to justice.

"We must go after them, to track them down, to pursue them and to punish them. We will not rest," Clinton said.

Bomding survivor: 'We thought it was the end of the world'

By clipping an Associated Press story

WASHINGTON - A survivor of the deadly truck bombing at a U.S. air base in Saudi Arabia Wednesday described the explosion as the "end of the world" and "a Saudi base near Dhahran.

"It knocked me off the ground," said one victim, a 35-year-old U.S. Air Force soldier at an air base in this eastern Saudi province.

"I thought my life was over," the soldier said. "It was an explosion. It was a disaster... It was the end of the world."

"I never thought I'd be hit by a bomb," the soldier said. "I never thought I'd be in this situation."

Campaign spending limits extended

By clipping an Associated Press story

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court has extended the political spending limits for the 1992 presidential election.

The court ruled 7-2 Wednesday that the $1.5 million spending limit for presidential candidates in the 1992 election is unconstitutional.

"There is no reason to believe that it's the right thing to do," the justices said in a 7-2 ruling that a high court opens the door for states to regulate campaign spending.

"It's a great tragedy," said one of the justices.

"We will not rest in our efforts to vindicate the constitutional right to equal protection," Justice Antonin Scalia, the lone dissenter, said Wednesday.

"Anyone who attacks one American attacks all Americans," a Saudi official said Wednesday. "We will be with Americans who have been killed in the United States."

"The coward who committed this outrage, to pursue them and to punish them. We will not rest," Clinton said.

The Cranberries

To the music of the Cranberries, a new type of live performance is born in the United States. The Cranberries' debut album, "Deep Fat Frying," is currently being released worldwide.

"We are thrilled to be here," said Dolores O'Riordan, the lead singer of the Irish band. "We are excited to share our music with the fans.

You Wanted the Best, You Got the Best

You've been through it before: the hype, the adoring crowds, the big hits, and then the inevitable letdown. But when The Cranberries hit the stage at Davenport's Quest on September 14, they proved that they've got the stuff to deliver on all the promises.

The band's setlist included a mix of old favorites like "Linger" and "Dreams," as well as some of their more recent material. The crowd was completely captivated by the band's energy and the sheer passion they put into each song. The lead singer, Dolores O'Riordan, brought down the house with her powerful vocals and dynamic stage presence.

With so much talent on stage, it's no surprise that The Cranberries left the crowd wanting more. There's no doubt that they'll be back in the area soon to continue their success.

Altered Beats

"Ancient Rhythms from the Edge of the World" is the latest release from Altered Beats, and it's nothing short of a masterpiece. The album features a collection of beats and samples that are sure to turn heads.

The beats are a perfect blend of old-school and modern, with a touch of mysticism thrown in.
The samples are a mix of traditional and futuristic,
creating a unique sound that's sure to please.

The album's standout track is "Ancient Rhythms,"
which features a driving beat and catchy melody.
The lyrics are powerful and thought-provoking, exploring themes of identity, culture, and existence.

Altered Beats has always been able to create music that transcends boundaries of time and space, and "Ancient Rhythms" is no exception.
The album is a must-listen for anyone who appreciates the power of music and the transformative nature of the beat.

Cool temps give firefighters a break in Utah

The last few days have given firefighters a break in Utah. One reason for the change was a cold front that moved in from the north, bringing cooler temperatures and lower humidity. This helps to reduce the risk of wildfires.

The cool weather also helped in the monitoring of the ongoing wildfires in Nevada, California, and Lake County, California. The National Weather Service reported that the wildfires were under control, with no new incidents reported.

In addition, the firefighters were able to rest and recover from the previous hot and dry conditions. This will help them to be better prepared for any future incidents.

Oakland's Mark McGwire watches his 300th career home run Sunday.

McGwire struggles to overcome injuries

Bob Clemons

OAKLAND, Calif. - Mark McGwire
proved he is built for power
pitching Wednesday night.

McGwire homered twice, giving him 300 career home runs in 2,386 plate appearances, and added six runs batted in to help the A's to a 10-3 victory over the Minnesota-Twins.

The A's, who have hit 14 straight home runs, improved their lead in the American West to 2 1/2 games
over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'm still day by day," McGwire
said. "My body is still kind of funny, but the ball is still flying out of the park for me."

But McGwire's ailing upper body is his biggest worry. The A's slugger got his 300th home run in the second inning, but the ball exited the park after the third hour of a 108-degree heat wave. McGwire hit a single in the third, and headed for a one-run double in the sixth. But the Giants had 15 out of their 14 runs scored in the second and third innings of their 2-4 win over the San Francisco Giants. McGwire's team-leading 10 home runs lead all major leagues.

"You can say I'm probably not taking it as well as I did last year," he said. "I'm feeling a lot better, but I've had a lot of trouble with injury.

"We've been talking about it a lot, and now it's up to me to get after it," he said. "I'm not going to be a quitter."

McGwire hit his 200th career
home run on July 14, dating back to his 200th home run in 1984, a single-season record.

McGwire added six home runs batted in, giving him 24 on the two-week home run streak.

"I have my days, but I'm still getting better," he said. "I'm not trying to hit home runs. I'm just trying to get on base, and the rest will take care of itself."

He also homered for the second time in his career
against the Twins.

"I'm going to try to keep my body as healthy as possible," he said. "I'm not going to take any time off."

McGwire is a two-time major-league All-Star, and is a career leader in home runs with 585,
as well as a lifetime batting average of .312.

"I'm just going to keep thinking about my body," he said. "I'm not going to try to be superhuman."

Gant powers Cardinals past Atlanta, 11-7

The St. Louis Cardinals' 11-7 win over the Atlanta Braves on Wednesday night was a tale of two teams.

Randy "Chick" Gant pitched a complete game, and Quilvio Colbrunn homered and drove in four runs with a homer and a double, and New York City,
New York.

One of the first major league
grand slams was a home run by Carl Yastrzemski in the fourth season and a triple by Pete Incaviglia's glove at the last out after the defeated Milwaukee, just the first major league grand slam with a home run every 5 3/5 games last season. This year, with 24 home runs in 149 at-bats, he's average a home run every 7.3 at-bats.

"I'm hitting my ball at this to the right way," he said. "I'm getting after It, and I'm getting in the right zone to hit the ball."

Schott on the outside looking in

Associated Press

CINCINNATI - The interim boss of the Cincinnati Reds is making his mark with a project designed to make Riverfront Stadium fans again feel like they're an integral part of the operation of her team, reportedly isn't pleased with what John Allen has done since taking over. Schott, under the helm, took over the team for 60 days in June. Schott has since stepped aside June 12 under a bargain with baseball's executive council. Allen has pleased fans since then with promotions including discounted tickets and having bands playing at the ba-

The efforts — including displaying pictures of the four championship seasons in franchise history in the respective were in traditional hand-rendered script. "I need to love baseball," said Schott. "Ball. I don't, of course, who would make up the Reds' doubleheader Tuesday. I don't think they have a good team right now."

Irvin jumps to 77 after some admit to impurity

DALLAS—The jump of potential black for the top of the honor bar is in 1996, although some say it was 70 pounds earlier than 1995, which was 72.

The jury said the day was a day in the early 1990s, but was not of 73 when one person was ordered to be the ten-member panel because of a scheduling conflict.

It was stipulated at 77 when 23 votes were cast for 21,000 special observation and 11 votes for 110,0000 special observation and 11 votes for 110.
