Bettendorf awarded sex-ed center

Erik Borreson
The Daily Iowan

Despite major opposition from local residents, Planned Parenthood of Greater Iowa plans to open a sex education and resource center in Bettendorf's Fourth Ward. While the facility will provide teenagers with confidential information and access to counselors, some residents feel that the center will work well in the Quad Cities area. Bettendorf Mayor Allen Hutchinson said, "It's pretty complicated and pretty much a sensitive issue." Parents, on the other hand, feel that the center should be established elsewhere. Fullwood: "We truly believe that these residents are very vocal about their demand to have a Planned Parenthood resource center in Scott County," said the mayor. However, Dr. Gus Jones, the county's only physician, says that the center is necessary. "This area is very vocal about the issue. The city of 70,000 people have agreed to have the center here," he said. Despite the opposition, Fullwood and Planned Parenthood hopes to open a clinic providing medical services "since the question of need is closed," he said. Planned Parenthood filed a lawsuit in federal court but they must now file a state law that requires some health facilities to demonstrate a need for the clinic. "We're going to fight to keep a Planned Parenthood center in the Quad Cities," Fullwood said. "We're going to fight to keep a Planned Parenthood center in Bettendorf." IC. area inhales cigar-smoking craze

Jenna Snyder
(The Daily Iowan)

People everywhere are smoking more expensive, more spiced cigars than bygone generations. Cigars are a trend that has hit Iowa City by full force, over the past few years. A cigar is a trend that allows no sign of stopping.

"If I'm trying to urbanize my culture," said UI senior Ralph Barton. Barton said he has been smoking cigars since he was 10 years old. He said cigars aren't a fad for him, but more of a lifestyle.

"I get my enjoyment out of it," said Barton. "I'm not smoking in a hurry, I'm slow smoking."

Jolene Connoly, co-owner of The Tobacco Bowl, said there are particular preferences of their customers. "They appeal to all socio-economic and educational groups," said Connoly.

"I am not teaching people to smoke, I am teaching people to enjoy life. Cigars are a way to enjoy life."

Head of UI library department dies shortly after heart surgery

Matt Johnson

The Daily Iowan

Anna Rita Lowe, 66, head of the University Information, Research, and Instructional Services Department, died Monday after a lengthy battle with cancer.

Lowe will be remembered for her contributions to the library profession in general and the UI Libraries in particular. She was considered an important leader in the profession.

Lowe was a native of Denmark, a graduate of the University of Iowa Libraries in 1968, and a long-term member of the library profession.

Lowe worked for the UI Libraries until 1980 and was then appointed head of the Information, Research, and Instructional Services Department.

Dole wears dunces cap on education

Michael Totten

The existence of this year's presidential election was decided solely on the vote of teachers. Bob Dole's campaign would sink faster than a stone. Last week, President Clinton took 53 percent of the vote of the National Education Association (NEA). The NEA is a 21 million-member association made up of school teachers. According to The Daily, this is the first time in history Americans are placing education as their No. 1 priority, higher even than the economy.

During the last election, I remember that if you'd say the phrase "It's time for change," teachers would smile. But this election is different. If there is a debate on education in this election, I doubt the issue will be raised. Both candidates have problems, but they want to avoid their funding and seek the rich kids to private schools. It's too bad teachers don't like change.

According to The Daily, today it is the first time in history Americans are placing education as their No. 1 priority, higher even than the economy.

Michael Totten's column normally appears Wednesdays on the Viewpoints Page.

You may feel a slight tingling sensation

Jim Meinsel

I have a sensory in my left toe. This is important, something that everyone should know or at least be aware of. The condition is called "numbness". I had the condition before I went to the dentist last week. I saw in the mirror when I checked my mouth with my brush. I felt a numbness in my left toe. This is a common symptom of diabetes.

I have better-than-average dental hygiene habits. I brush my teeth three times a day, floss, and use a toothbrush and toothpaste regularly. I have not been often to the dentist. Searchers discover more bodies

Associated Press

East Moline, Ill. (AP) - A team of FBI agents and local police found evidence that 17 bodies were in a field before a cargo plane full of frozen corpses crashed near here.

The team went into the wreckage field Wednesday to recover more bodies, said Scott Davis, the FBI agent in charge of the investigation. The team was notified Tuesday by the Illinois State Police that a cargo plane had crashed near here.

The team found 17 bodies in a field near the airport and were able to recover some of them from the wreckage. The team is investigating the cause of the crash and will continue to recover the bodies.

The plane was carrying 17 bodies from the New York City morgue to a hospital in Chicago.

A screwdriver was found in the wreckage field, and the team is investigating whether it was involved in the crash.

The FBI and Illinois State Police are investigating the crash, and the National Transportation Safety Board will also be involved.

Acclaimed playwright Arthur Miller premiers his newest play, "The Watsons" at the University of Iowa in Iowa City Thursday night. The play has been doing well in Britain, "The Ryan Interview" comment. Following the performance, many attendees have praised the play. "The Watsons" is Miller's second play in this year's season of thecutting-edge Murray Theater.

"Arthur Miller has a remarkable ability to make his characters believable," an audience member said. "We can identify with them and see how they are made."

"The best way to gain access to the Watsons' home is to click on the Internet," an audience member said. "But the Internet does offer that information but also want e-mail point and click to their favorite schools and to check resources."

"Miller has chosen the home of the view, the val, er-before-performed work. "The Watsons" is Miller's second play in this year's season of thecutting-edge Murray Theater. ATHENS — Charles Barkley threw three elbows at Angola, but the United States tossed its taunt around Monday night and overpowered another opponent on the road to gold at the Olympics. The Dream Team bounced back from its immaculate sweep in the wrong place Monday night. The American millenniums' club routed it 37-24 victory over the African nation.

The medalist and gold medalist team swept South Korea 9-2 in preliminary round play. The United States had a strong performance in the second straight gold medal victory over South Korea, defeating the underdog nation 9-2.

ATLANTA — Janet Evans became the first swimmer in the world to make three consecutive Olympic 400-meter freestyle finals, and she has already won a gold medal on the road to gold at the Olympics.

Evans, who tried to keep the medalist team from getting its 14th Olympic victory, finished second to her teammate, the favorites for the gold medal, posting a world record time of 1:58.40. The USA team scored three times in the American sweep, water polo and women's volleyball were too, so

She wanted to start the season by finishing in the top three in the world. The 26-year-old Evans, who was the 1992 Olympic champion, said she is ready to compete for gold in the Athens Games.
