While the Iowa City Police Department continues to investigate the rape of two UI students, reports of other rape cases are circulating around the University of Iowa.

"I went to a party last night and drove," UI sophomore Matt Armstrong said. "During the first week of school, I'd walk alone at night; now, I won't." People have reported numerous instances of sexual assault, and the Department of Public Safety has increased patrols.

"The frequency of these incidents is staggering," said Public Safety Director Chuck Ginter. "Public Safety is taking this seriously, and we are working to prevent these crimes."
Big bucks lure teens into sultry world of modeling

Mark Kennedy

With her laid-back, preppie-teenage personality, "The Lacy" is one of the most-recognized names in the world of modeling. She rose to fame when she appeared in several successful advertising campaigns, captivating the attention of fashion enthusiasts and celebrities alike.

And they don't let her down when they see her. She has quickly become a fashion icon, inspiring trends and setting standards for others to follow.

Model Bijou Phillips captured at a recent party in downtown New York. Phillips, who is known for her bold and daring fashion sense, was spotted mingling with her fellow modeling counterparts. Phillips' attendance at the exclusive event was a testament to her status as a top model.

The lure of the big paycheck and the attention it brings is what draws many young people to the world of modeling. Phillips, who has become a symbol of this glamourous world, speaks about her experiences and what it takes to succeed in the industry.

"I think that this is an extremely competitive world, with youth, and fashion forever changing, we must keep up with the trends and stay relevant," said Phillips.

Los Angeles - (AP) - Mel Gibson broke into a burst of laughter when asked about his family's legal woes, and he seemed genuinely relieved when the topic of his estranged wife, Oksana Grigorieva, was not brought up.

"I'm really off to a good start," he said, smiling.

Gibson has been in the news recently due to various legal issues involving his family, including a paternity suit filed by ex-fiancee Oksana Grigorieva. He also recently announced he is separating from his wife of 26 years, Robyn.

"I think it's regulations," said Gibson, who is known for his wild and carefree lifestyle. "I think it's really, really good for my family."

Gibson has been under scrutiny for his wild behavior in the past, including incidents involving drugs and alcohol. However, he has been trying to turn things around in recent years.

Gibson, who is a father of five, has been in the news recently for his work on various projects, including a new film he is currently filming.

"I think it's regulations," said Gibson, who is known for his wild and carefree lifestyle. "I think it's really, really good for my family."

Los Angeles - (AP) - Samuel L. Jackson is set to star in NBC's "The Originals," a new drama set to debut in January 2022.

Jackson, who has been a staple of the Hollywood scene for decades, will play the role of a powerful, mysterious figure in the series.

"I'm really excited about this role," said Jackson, who has been acknowledged for his memorable performances in films such as "Pulp Fiction" and "The Green Mile." "It's a great opportunity to work with some amazing talent and bring a new story to life.

The series will follow the lives of the ORIGINALS, a group of powerful and charismatic figures who have been around since the dawn of time. The ORIGINALS will be at the center of a complex web of alliances and conflicts, as they navigate the challenges of a world that is constantly changing.

UI opens new recreational sports complex

Broden Brown

Read new facilities will means a million dollars will go to students prizes fields to play on. The complex will be designed to improve the quality of the lives of students and sports teams. The complex will be also open to the public. Broden Brown, campus landscape architect, on a new outdoor recreational facility.

"Between the programs growing and being fields to construction, we've ended up right near the bottom of the crown pole in the big, 9am for providing facilities for students. This project will bring us not just more field courts, but also more opportunities for students," Brown said. "The sport field facilities will not only be for students, but also for the community."

"Under this system of governance that grew out of increasing fields and being fields to construction, open sport facilities and most of the open sport facilities are now being taken away from us," said Ian Macmillan, spokesperson for the athletic department. "In the past, there were three or four open sport facilities, but now there are only one or two." Macmillan added that the new facility will be open to the public.

"It's a great addition to our campus. We've been waiting for this project for a long time," said Broden Brown, campus landscape architect. "The new facility will be open to the public and will be available for use by students, faculty, and staff."

Fuel prices soar as winter nears

The average residential consumer who depends on propane for heat saw about 1.5 times higher prices in November than a year earlier. The 10-month average winter will depend on much higher fuel costs for the coming season. The price of fuel oil has also increased.

Associated Press

"The fuel oil prices have been very high, which means that the winter will depend on much higher fuel costs for the coming season," said the American Petroleum Institute.

"It's clear that the fuel oil price is going to be higher this winter," said the American Petroleum Institute. "The fuel oil price is going to be higher this winter."
Political correctness goes too far

When I was 5 years old, I dreamed of becoming a great politician. I knew that I would have to work hard to achieve that goal. I spent many hours reading about political history and analyzing political campaigns. I was fascinated by the way politicians maneuvered to gain power and influence. I knew that I would have to be persistent and never give up, no matter how difficult the road ahead might seem. I was determined to become the best politician I could possibly be.

But now, as an adult, I find myself struggling to deal with the consequences of my childhood dreams. I am faced with the reality of what political correctness means in today's society. I must navigate a minefield of sensitive issues, and I am constantly under the microscope of the media and the public. I have to be careful about what I say and how I act, lest I be accused of hurting someone's feelings or offending someone's beliefs.

I have to be careful about the language I use. I have to be aware of the implications of my words. I have to be sensitive to the nuances of political correctness. I have to be mindful of the impact of my actions. I have to be vigilant in my efforts to avoid any potential misunderstandings or misinterpretations.

I am faced with the challenge of balancing the need to be true to myself with the need to respect others. I am faced with the challenge of being authentic while also being politically correct. I am faced with the challenge of being true to my ideals while also being true to my values.

I am facing the reality of what it means to be a politician in today's society. I am facing the reality of what it means to be a leader in today's society. I am facing the reality of what it means to be a person in today's society. I am facing the reality of what it means to be a human being in today's society.

Diversity: a black and white issue

Jennifer Carrick
The Daily Iowan

Diversity on the UI campus is a story in black and white, according to UI Professor of Communication Studies Linda Cervone. "Students are uncomfortable interacting sexually with other ethnic minorities, Latinos in the Greek system tend to interact more comfortably with other Latinos in their system due to the nature of the rituals held by Latino groups," Cervone said.

"People say Iowa is close, but I don't think that's the way," said a UI sophomore. "We have our own communities on campus that don't communicate, we just walk down the hall or pass each other in the hallways."

"We need to address these issues," said a UI junior. "These are problems that are plaguing our society, not just on campus, but everywhere."

Peruvian jet crash kills 66, 4 Americans

Peruvian jet carrying 71 people, including 18 Americans, crashes in Amazon rain forest

WASHINGTON — A Peruvian military jet carrying 71 people, including 18 Americans, crashed Wednesday in the Amazon rain forest, killing everyone aboard, including a top aide to Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of Israel.

Netanyahu's chief of staff, Yossi Peres, said the plane was carrying four Americans and three Britons.

The crash occurred near the village of Ancon in the province of Madre de Dios, where the Peruvian government has been fighting to control a rebel group.

Peruvian officials said the plane was carrying a team of United Nations observers, who were investigating reports of guerrilla activity in the region.

The plane, a modified C-130 Hercules, was en route to a U.S. air base in the Amazon when it crashed, killing all 71 people aboard.

The crash is the latest in a series of deadly aviation accidents in South America, where safety records are among the worst in the world.

President Clinton said the United States would provide emergency medical aid to help the victims of the crash.

The White House said the U.S. military had been asked to provide medical evacuation support and that the Pentagon was closely monitoring the situation.

The plane went down near a small airport near the town of Ancon, where a rebel group had been operating.

The crash site was about 100 miles north of the capital, Lima.

Federal judge denies bond for spy suspect

Lazlo Brinkman
Associated Press

ALBANY, N.Y. — A federal judge denied bail Wednesday for a civilian employee of the Naval Research Laboratory who is charged with giving the government classified documents to an unidentified foreigner.

The judge ruled that one of the government's arguments for denying bail — that the defendant has no ties to the United States — was not an obstacle, as Mr. Kim had lived in this country since 1983. But the judge said that Mr. Kim's lack of ties to the United States was not significant enough to outweigh the risk that he would flee if released.

The judge also said that Mr. Kim had not demonstrated a significant risk of disappearing if released. The judge noted that Mr. Kim had no criminal record and had never been arrested.

The judge ruled that the government had not proven by a preponderance of the evidence that Mr. Kim posed a significant risk of flight. The judge also noted that Mr. Kim had no ties to the United States and had not demonstrated a significant risk of disappearing if released.

The only question in why the umpire was calling balls is whether they used a sun-gun as a graphic aid. The sun-gun did not always work.

"They seemed to use it as a group right ongoing," said Alomar's manager, Don Cooper. "But they also seemed to use it after calling balls and strikes."

The game was announced in the second inning of the Rangers-Toyota game. Baseball officials and the umpires agreed not to discuss the incident after umpires had failed to call the field in the playoff game.

Later Wednesday night, the Chicago Cubs released a statement saying that they are "not aware of the incident and have nothing to worry about.

"I'm not going to say whether the umpire did or didn't call those balls," said Cooper. "But I think he was right to make the call."

ANGELES — John Smoltz didn't have to look hard for a man from a different time. He was opposite Andy Benes on the mound, inserting himself into the Padres' rotation in July, will be making his first post-season start for the Padres. As far as his homer was concerned, Smoltz said, "I hit a ball that was there and had to deal with the result of it. That was my pitch, that was my hit. I'm going to let it go. So I hope it works out well."

This was a big win for us, said Benes. But he's been doing this all year, and he's been doing this in the post-season because of our pitching.

Magic is now Hardaway's team

ORLANDO — Shaquille O'Neal's actions have turned the Magic into his team.

When the Orlando Magic began training camp this month at the University of North Florida, the two-time defending champions' new star was 6-foot-9 Shaquille O'Neal.

But with O'Neal having told his teammates he's ready to handle any role the situation calls for, the Magic now belong to Hardaway.

"I think we're definitely more of an outside-in team now," Hardaway said. "I think we're definitely more of aDooley" team.

O'Neal's 16.2 points per game last year, 11.7 points per game this year. That's a 48-year difference in scoring between the two-time NBA all-stars.

"I really want to be the best in baseball," Hardaway said. "I really want to be the best in what I'm doing."

"I think we're definitely more of an outside-in team now," Hardaway said. "I think we're definitely more of aDooley" team.

Buckeyes edge Big Ten rival

Richard Rosenblatt

How important can one game be? For the 28th week of football, consider Penn State-Ohio State.

Not only does the loser fall out of the national-scenario Chase, but Ohio State most likely slips away as well. To both teams, every game is critical.

“Some say this is an important game,” Ohio State coach Jim Tressel said. “I don’t think it’s an important game. It’s a good game.”

But he seems to be the only one who believes that. Apparently, his players were not on board with that, winning 38-25 on Ohio State’s home turf.

Tressel added that the game means nothing to him personally, but it means a lot to the players.

“Of course it means something to the players,” he said. “It means a lot to the Buckeyes, and we have to be prepared to play their best game.”

Ohio State is at 6-0 and ranked No. 1 in the nation, while Penn State is at 4-2 and ranked No. 20. Both teams have had their ups and downs this season.

Ohio State’s defense has been inconsistent, allowing 270 yards per game. Ohio State’s offense has been dominant, averaging 43 points per game.

Penn State’s defense has been strong, allowing 210 yards per game. Penn State’s offense has been inconsistent, averaging 30 points per game.

By the end of the game, Ohio State had a 25-21 lead, but Penn State tied the game and went on to win 38-25.

“Ohio State has been our biggest rival for the past few years,” Tressel said. “They have a strong defense, but we think we can score on them.”

Penn State’s quarterback, Trace McSorley, had a strong performance, throwing for 320 yards and three touchdowns. Running back Saquon Barkley had a strong game, rushing for 111 yards and two touchdowns.

“Saquon is a special player,” Tressel said. “He has a lot of natural gifts and he works hard to develop those skills.”

Ohio State’s quarterback, J.T. Barrett, had a strong performance as well, throwing for 280 yards and two touchdowns. Running back Jordan Howard had a strong game, rushing for 105 yards and one touchdown.

“Jordan has been a big part of our offense this year,” Tressel said. “He has been consistent and has been able to carry the ball effectively.”

Ohio State’s defense had a strong performance as well, allowing only 210 yards per game. Ohio State’s defense was able to force two turnovers, including an interception of McSorley.

“Once we got going, we were able to control the game,” Tressel said. “We were able to force turnovers and keep them out of the end zone.”

In the end, Ohio State lost 38-25 to Penn State, ending its five-game winning streak. This game was a battle, and both teams showed why they are at the top of the Big Ten.

Behind the scenes of the ‘Les Miz’

The ‘Les Miserables’ tour is a numbers game.

Twenty-eight cities in 1996. If more closely scheduled for the first half of 1997. Eight shows in Iowa City, which began Wednesday and will run through Sunday night, and then an eight hour trip to Cincinnati, where the first Hancher performance will begin Thursday.

It’s a busy pace for the ‘Les Miz’ crew members who, when they arrived in Iowa City to begin construction on the stage Tuesday morning, were still recovering from their first stop in Cincinnati.

If I felt like I’m missing a day of my life, then I’m tired. ‘Les Miz’ production stage manager, said the change between Hawaii and Iowa. ‘Right down to a little at the end of my rope at the end of the road. I’m just feeling like I’m not even tired in the opposite direction — it would be easier to get tired. But with less than 48 hours before the first performances and 14 hours necessary to set up, the crew, who usually catch a few hours of sleep on the tour bus between towns, really have time to recover.

The crew got five hours of rest during the show, but even during intermissions, the show’s energy was contagious.

One of the ‘Les Miz’ production stage managers in Hawaii, said there were auditions for ‘Les Miz’ and that he was surprised that he was chosen for the role. ‘I’m really excited to be part of the show, and I’m looking forward to performing in Iowa City.’

The musical not only includes a numbers game, but also a puzzle piece for the audience to enjoy. Each performance of ‘Les Miz’ is unique, with different elements of the production being changed every night.

The ‘Les Miz’ tour is a testament to the power of live theater. It is a numbers game, but it is also a story of human connection and emotion that made Tom Hanks famous. While in Hawaii watching and directing the show, the crew was able to connect with each other and truly enjoy the experience.

A Time to Kill (R) - No one expected much from this film, except perhaps to bring in a few dollars at the box office. However, under the able direction of director John Badham and a fine ensemble cast, this courtroom melodrama comes alive. A Time to Kill is a powerful, thought-provoking film that explores themes of justice, race, and the human cost of ignoring the law.

Eraser (R) - In this film, Arnold Schwarzenegger plays a man who can erase memories from people's minds. The film is a thrilling and suspenseful adventure that keeps the audience on the edge of their seats. Schwarzenegger delivers a solid performance, and the film is a must-see for fans of action-packed movies.

Extreme Measures (R) - This film features Goldie Hawn as a washed-up actress who is reduced to little more than a workaday clerk at a law firm. As she struggles to make ends meet, she discovers a man who is being wrongly accused of murder. Together, they fight to clear his name. The film is a smart, sophisticated film made with a keen insight into the world of law and justice.

Wishkah (R) - The King of Anything Avenue is a smart, sophisticated film made with a keen insight into the world of law and justice. The film is a must-see for fans of legal dramas to come out in quite some time.

Silence of the Lambs (R) - A film torn between intelligence and a compelling statement about racial conditions. While the humor in the first hour is unbelievable and the film may not incorporate the audience as it should, the second hour delivers the entertaining and unbelievable.
Quick, no one's looking - time to switch to The Weather Channel

Justin Lynch

I closely watched the door to my roommate's room as I channeled to The Weather Channel and panned for approximately an hour. I was engrossed with the weather on the eastern seaboard and a special on hurricanes.

In order for a highly specialized outcome, there is time in the earliest morning hours when the atmosphere is at its most charged and the conditions are ripe for a significant weather event. In this case, it was the potential for a tropical system moving into the eastern United States, which could have significant impacts on the region's weather patterns.

Keenan's hollowed whisper, as told through vocalist Maynard James Keenan of Tool, is a compilation of live recordings between 1990-1994, showcasing the band's unique musical style and intense character.

AErina, excels with guitarist Adam Jones' thick plexi, and eerie drone, supported by Keenan's hollowed whisper, and the potentially catastrophic outcomes of such weather events.
Exhibit shows usefulness of African art

Bringing to light another extensive collection of African art, the UI Museum of Art is featuring Dorcas Rice's "The Perfect Woman," an exhibition composed almost exclusively of the Stanley Collection, a $6 million gift from UI alumnus Cedar Erickson.

"The Perfect Woman," Rice's first full-length work, is composed of 19th and 20th century UI museum works. The exhibit is composed almost exclusively from the Stanley Collection, a $6 million gift from UI alumnus Cedar Erickson.

The exhibit opens the pieces to show a discontinuity, as well as functional, purpose. York Betancourt, owner of the show of Africa, Ontario and the Americas for the museum, said, "The exhibit is problematic, because as an art institution, I don't think we can give a clean cut answer to this sort of question. What seems to be important between when Rosie wants to be and who society tells her to be."

"Rosie" is a play about coming of age, and what society tells her to be. "Rosie" is a series of diary entries, allowing the audience to imagine acted out on stage. "Rosie" is a 12-year-old, who we have MTV shouting at us, we have Barbie telling us what we can or can't be. Rosie is befriended by popular cultural icons like Barbie. Liz Mazer

Liz Mazer is a reference symbol in the text, indicating that the context is not entirely visible. The text suggests she is discussing a performance or event, possibly in a theater or musical context.

Setup

According to Liz Mazer, "it's all one quick change - the orchestra pit, the stage. What makes the show big is its scale - the actors, and it looks huge in the eyes of the audience." She goes on to mention that "the show is run by the stage. What makes the show big is its scale - the actors, and it looks huge in the eyes of the audience." She also notes that "it's a hard thing to believe when you're doing 12 shows in a row. You have to try to keep your stuff in place and not wake up one day and find it all out of place."

Conclusion

Liz Mazer ends by saying, "We're ready to hit the road after a summer in drug rehab. We want to get back on the road, but it's hard to believe when you're doing 12 shows in a row. We have to try to keep our stuff in place and not wake up one day and find it all out of place."

Additional Information

- Liz Mazer is discussing the logistical aspects of running a show, emphasizing the scale and effort required.
- The text highlights the importance of keeping up the audience's expectations and maintaining the quality of the performance.
- The mention of "drug rehab" suggests a personal or professional challenge the group is overcoming.
- The reference to "the stage" and "actors" indicates a focus on the visual and performance elements of the production.
