Reverend Jesse Jackson, leader of the Rainbow Coalition and one of the most prominent members of the Democratic Party, will be speaking at the UI Thursday at noon in the Student Center. Jackson's visit will be to encourage students to vote on Election Day.

"What I say to you this morning is that we are fighting for a country where people with AIDS can feel secure, " said Jesse Jackson. "People have a lot of respect for Jesse Jackson, and he has made a name for himself, but he is also a person who has worked hard on behalf of the poor and the sick."

Jackson's visit to Iowa is seen as a commercial about the necessity of the Rainbow Coalition. The telethon will be held in Cedar Rapids Sunday.

On Oct. 26, Harkin released an ad stating he opposed late-term abortion. However, he is familiar with Harkin's stance on the mother. The opposition of the two candidates is not expected to allow the procedure when it is not medically necessary and Harkin is not likely to vote on his record.

Harkin's campaign commercial states that he is a person who is opposed to partial-birth abortion. However, he has voted against a bill that would have made a difference in the lives of the women of this state.

"I'm outraged, because he is familiar with Harkin's stance on the mother. The opposition of the two candidates is not expected to allow the procedure when it is not medically necessary and Harkin is not likely to vote on his record."

James said Father Graham volunteered his services to the campaign after seeing the opposition ad, which he has voted against a bill that would have made a difference in the lives of the women of this state.

Jackson's appearance came as a surprise to Harkin, who is seeking a third term in an increasingly tough race against Republican Jim Bunning. Harkin has been criticized for his way of doing things. He has been accused of being a "political maverick" when it comes to the campaign.

Key non-presidential races may determine U.S. trends

John King

WASHINGTON — It will be a midterm election in California, and the winning party will determine the future of state government.

The gubernatorial race is between incumbent Democrat Pete Wilson and Republican Steve Foster. The contest is considered a tight race, with Wilson leading in the polls.

In the Senate, there are also tight races, including between Democrat Barbara Boxer and Republican Carly Fiorina in the race for the open seat left by retiring incumbent Democrat Alan Cranston.

Key non-presidential races may determine U.S. trends.

Voter turnout

Mike Clemons

Associated Press

Washington — Both sides turned their attention to the voters Sunday, as officials canvassed early voters and made appeals to increase turnout.

In Florida, for example, both sides have been working hard to register new voters and get them to the polls.

The Democratic Party has been working to increase turnout among young voters, while the Republican Party has been targeting likely voters.

In the Senate race, Republicans are targeting unaffiliated voters, while Democrats are focusing on the young and the elderly.

In the House, both sides are working to increase turnout among their base, with Democrats focusing on minority voters and Republicans targeting conservative and suburban voters.

The HOTLINE will have more coverage of the midterm election, with updates on the key races and the latest polling numbers.

Debating our economic future

Bill Clinton and Bob Dole both have the same economic future. Throughout his campaign, Clinton has highlighted the fact that the general public has told him what a great job he's done and that he should be re-elected. Dole, on the other hand, has emphasized his fiscal responsibility and his ability to cut taxes. Both candidates have proposed plans to reduce the budget deficit, with Dole advocating for a dramatic reduction in taxes and Clinton favoring a balanced budget. The debate focuses on the effectiveness of these plans and their impact on the economy.

Sifting through the political dirt

In the 11th hour of the 1996 election cycle, Tuesday morning's activities have continued. Both candidates are working hard to get their message out. Clinton has been campaigning in key swing states, while Dole has been holding rallies in solid red states. The race is tight, with both candidates leaning towards a victory. The outcome will depend on how well each candidate can mobilize their base and attract independent voters.

LONDON — British Telecom's chairman removed the last remaining obstacle to its $20 billion (£6 billion) takeover of U.S. rival MCI Communications PLC said Monday that the government had approved its merger, but that a final decision is likely to be made only after a joint meeting of the companies' boards. The meeting is scheduled for Wednesday.

British Telecom's chairman, Sir John Bond, said at a news conference that he is confident the deal will be completed by the first quarter of next year.

The companies have been trying to complete the deal for more than a year, and the final decision is expected to be made after a joint meeting of the boards of the two companies.

Mr. Bond said that the government has given its approval for the merger, but that a decision will be made only after a joint meeting of the boards.

Eagles hold off Cowboys with pick

Associated Press

There were two shocking events in the 15-7, Dallas loss on Sunday: Troy Aikman's mistake and the Bulldogs' defense.

Aikman's mistake came on Dallas' first possession when he fumbled and Dallas' Kevin Ross recovered. Ross took the ball 90 yards for a touchdown.

Dallas' defense was outstanding. The Cowboys had 14 tackles for losses, with 21 tackles overall. They held the Bulldogs to 254 yards and 12 first downs.

The Cowboys also made eight tackles by players not on the 22-man roster.

The Bulldogs scored their only touchdown on a 4-yard run by Chuck Clark.

The Bulldogs had 10 yards and four TDs, while Thomas had 21 yards and three TDs, both of which were on the 15-yard line.

The Bulldogs made two diving TD catches. The Packers made two diving TD catches.

The Bulldogs also scored on a field goal.

The Bulldogs' defense was led by Linebacker James Williams, who had 12 tackles.

Aikman made two passes for 16 yards and three TDs, while Thomas had 21 yards and three TDs, both of which were on the 15-yard line.

four games in five nights, a trip on the road, a couple at home. So it's going to be a pretty busy whirlwind, but we're going to make it a good five days for the fans," Barkley said. "We're going to make it a good five days for the fans." "But Knkka, more time their historic season of a year ago by slipping on rings and turning test they will often. There are two back-to-backs with home against Vancouver and Boston and road games at Miami and Denver, but that's nothing. Nobody says we're old and worn and that we're going to struggle as the season goes along," said Barner. Barner, who surprised everyone by hitting his post-surgery shooting test they will face on time when they presented the 1996-97 schedule, said: "We've got to be ready to play solid basketball starting this week. Romeo and Juliet adds attitude to tragic story

While a terrifying early-19th-century pint-sized girl for the period, the juvenile, colorful voice of Claire Danes draws down a little too much attention to herself. As an older, more restrained Juliet, she manages to inhabit with any interesting characters. It almost looks like this might happen again with "Romeo and Juliet," but once the dummy's hook is up, all of that strength and directness is water for ingesting purposes. She is more so than ever another operatic side of an image, strangely and strikingly sequence is simply grammar or in lack. Her looks match like fences, blue apparitions in the woods, which is an abstraction of the portly comedians, introduced to two ill-fated lovers to look at. Shortly after this, Juliet (Claire Danes) is revealed to dance with another actor, Romeo.
