Billy Clinton to return as Oscar host

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Af­Ter three years away, Bill Clinton is con­firmed to host the oscars for a record fourth time.

In a surprise move, the New York Times reported on Tuesday that the former president is being lined up to host the Academy Awards ceremony for a fourth time.

Clinton was last year's Oscar host, and his return was seen as a welcome addition to the annual event.

The ceremony will take place on April 12, and Clinton is expected to make his return as the emcee.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences announced Clinton's return in a statement.

"We're thrilled to announce that President Bill Clinton will be hosting the 2023 Oscars," said the academy's president, David Rubin.

"His leadership and commitment to film have made him a natural choice for this role, and we look forward to his hosting a night filled with great moments and unforgettable performances."

Thanksgiving, turkeys and all that other stuffing

It sounds like the recent Thanksgiving holiday was not without its controversies. Many people, including President Eisenhower, claimed that the first Thanksgiving was celebrated in 1621 when the Pilgrims and Wampanoag held a Compact, a meeting where they agreed to help each other. This traditional holiday is about giving thanks for the blessings of the harvest and for the year that has passed. However, some people see it as a time to celebrate and have fun, while others see it as a time to be solemn and reflective.

To the Editor:

I am appalled by the article in the Daily Iowan which talks about art and literature. The article is completely irrelevant to the topic at hand. The writer seems to have an agenda, which is not appreciated. The article is a complete waste of time and should not be read by anyone.

This is an expose of David Hegg, a former Daily Iowan reporter. The article is clearly biased and intended to portray Hegg in a negative light. It is a clear example of the kind of journalism that is prevalent in the Daily Iowan.

Barnett a candidate for Irish vacancy

BY STEPHEN GREGORIO

YESTERDAY, Sept. 28 — Gary Barnett, who has taken the next step in his career, led Northwestern to a victory over Georgia. Now, he is being considered as a candidate for Notre Dame's head coaching position.

While Barnett has not commented on the possibility of taking the Notre Dame job, many experts believe he is a strong contender. Barnett has been highly successful at Northwestern, where he has compiled a 67-27-3 record in 13 seasons. He led the Wildcats to the Rose Bowl in 1989 and has won five conference championships.

Barnett's name was recently mentioned in the ongoing search for a new head coach at Notre Dame, following the departure of Lou Holtz. The Irish have struggled in recent years and are looking for a new leader to help turn the program around.

Barnett has expressed interest in coaching at the highest level, and his success at Northwestern makes him a prime candidate for the Notre Dame job. However, Barnett has also been linked to other programs, including Tennessee and Michigan State.

The Irish are expected to announce their new head coach sometime this week, as they prepare to face Michigan in a crucial game.

NOTRE DAME’S Lou Holtz gives instructions to Robert Farmer during the second quarter against Pittsburgh Saturday. Holtz is expected to announce his resignation as head coach today. Northwestern’s Gary Barnett is the leading candidate to replace Holtz.

He said he’s taken Northwestern’s defensive coordinator Rick Taylor’s advice and turned to his “big man with a hell of a right decision.”

“I don’t think you ever say ‘yes’ or ‘always.’ I don’t know what it would mean to my decision,” he said when asked if he would be reaching Northwestern’s contract. “It’s not a right decision.”

Barnett has not previously offered any ovation to the possibility of taking the Notre Dame job.

In talking to the media, he’d be the media into the meeting. So I have an answer whatsoever.”

Holtz’s resignation comes midway through the season, after the team’s struggles against top-five opponents. He said he was “very disappointed” about this season, but that “there’s a lot going on right now.”

Through them were many situations Holtz said made him consider the future, including the loss of quarterback Peyton Manning and contact with possible candidates.

With Holts gone, speculation now is who will replace him. He is not immediately known to who will be named head coach.

Among the top contenders to take over Harber’s place is UVA coach Terry Donahue, who is also a possible candidate to replace Ron Zook at Florida.

Northwestern athletic director Rob Dinse has said the school will “work hard to find the best possible candidate to replace Holtz.”
