Parental notification challenged

- Cassandra Barrill, The Daily Iowan

Planned Parenthood of Great Iowa will take the name of Planned Parenthood Iowa on Jan. 1, when implementation of the parental-notification law on abortion begins. Planned Parenthood, Iowa's largest provider of reproductive health-care services, said it is heartened by the state Thursday, and said the organization will sue to block the law from taking effect on Jan. 1, when it is scheduled to go into effect.

The decision came as the Federal Appeals Court in Austin ruled in favor of Planned Parenthood and Planned Parenthood of Great Iowa, and stated that the parental-notification law will not take effect on the previously scheduled Jan. 1. The law, which was passed last year, requires minor seeking abortions to notify their parents and wait 24 hours before going through with the procedure.

The lawsuit was filed by several Republican lawmakers, who argued that the law is unconstitutional. The lawsuit was filed on behalf of Planned Parenthood, Iowa's largest provider of reproductive health-care services, and the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

The lawsuit is one of several challenges to the parental-notification law that have been filed in recent months. The law has been criticized by abortion rights advocates, who argue that it is a violation of a woman's right to privacy and her right to make her own decisions about her health.

The Iowa Museum of Natural History has announced a donation of $1 million from the estate of late benefactor Grace M. Smith. The donation is the largest single gift in the museum's history and will be used to support the building's renovation and expansion.

The museum is currently undergoing a major renovation project, which includes the addition of new exhibits, improved accessibility, and enhanced educational programs. The donation will help the museum achieve its goal of becoming a world-class institution that serves as a hub for learning and discovery.

The museum's director, Dr. William O. McDonald, said, "This generous donation will enable us to provide even more opportunities for people to explore and learn about the natural world. We are extremely grateful to Grace Smith for her vision and commitment to the future of the Iowa Museum of Natural History."

The museum is expected to reopen in 2024 after completion of the renovation. Visitors can learn more about the project and donate at iowamuseum.org.

1996 brought peace, pain

Charles Hanley

Associated Press

The year 1996 was a time of both hope and heartache. In the peaceful end to the Bosnian War, thousands of people rejoiced as peace finally came to a conflict that had been raging for years. However, the end of the war did not bring an end to the suffering of the people who had been torn apart by the conflict.

In the United States, the death of a peaceful activist, Earth Day founder Denis Hayes, brought awareness to the importance of environmental protection. Despite his passing, Hayes' legacy lived on as people continued to work towards a greener future.

In the world of politics, the year saw the re-election of President Bill Clinton, who had promised to focus on the economy and social issues. His victory was a testament to the hard work and dedication of his team.

Looking back on 1996, it is clear that the year was marked by both progress and challenges. While the end of the Bosnian War brought a sense of relief, the continuing struggle for environmental protection and social justice reminds us that much work remains to be done.
A different perspective on the holidays

If you turn on your radio now, you won't have to listen long to ads with soothing holiday music. These ads can be heard any time of year, and the radio stations play them for many weeks in advance of Christmas. This is a way for the radio stations to make sure that people will tune in to hear their music and ads during the holiday season.

Radio people just love those nifty Christmas songs. I'm told by at least two of my radio colleagues that they eat, sleep, and breathe Christmas music are in full swing by the time people start thinking about Thanksgiving. In fact, for many radio stations, Thanksgiving is just a way to get the holiday music started early.

The reason why radio stations start playing Christmas music so early is that it helps them to make sure that people will listen to their station during the holiday season. This is important because radio stations rely on advertising revenue to stay in business. By playing Christmas music early, radio stations can ensure that people will be listening to their station during the holiday season, which will help them to make more money from advertising.

This is why radio stations start playing Christmas music so early. It's all about making sure that people will be listening to their station during the holiday season, which will help them to make more money from advertising. So the next time you hear those nifty Christmas songs on the radio, just remember that it's all about making sure that people will be listening to their station during the holiday season.
Important questions for the new year

Q. If I will be graduating next year and I’m revisiting all the things I’ve looked at, there are a lot of things I should start doing today to get ready for the real world. Can you give me some tips on how to start planning for my New Year’s resolution?

A. Getting your act together and thinking about the most important issues will help you prepare for the real world. Start with planning your goals for the upcoming year. Make sure you have a plan in place for each goal you set.

Q. How can I make sure I’m not overwhelmed by the sheer number of tasks I need to do?

A. The key is to focus on what’s most important. Break down your tasks into smaller, manageable chunks. Use a planner or a checklist to keep track of your progress.

Q. What can I do to avoid burnout?

A. Setting realistic goals and taking breaks can help prevent burnout. Remember to prioritize self-care and make time for hobbies or activities you enjoy.

Q. How can I maintain my motivation throughout the year?

A. Setting achievable goals and celebrating small successes can help maintain motivation. Stay focused on the end goal and stay positive.

Q. What can I do to keep my weight loss on track?

A. It’s important to maintain a healthy lifestyle. Focus on sustainable habits such as regular exercise and healthy eating. Stay consistent and stay motivated.

Q. How can I stay motivated when I’m not seeing any results?

A. Focusing on progress rather than outcome can help. Remember to celebrate small victories and focus on the process.

Q. What can I do to stay healthy during the holidays?

A. Planning ahead and staying active can help. Focus on maintaining a healthy diet and exercising regularly.

Q. How can I make sure I’m not getting overwhelmed by the holiday season?

A. Setting realistic expectations and planning ahead can help. Take breaks when you need them and remember to prioritize self-care.

Q. What can I do to prepare for the new year emotionally?

A. Setting positive intentions and focusing on self-care can help. Take time to reflect on the past year and plan for the future.

Q. How can I make sure I’m not falling into bad habits?

A. Staying aware of your triggers and planning ahead can help. Focus on sustainable habits and stay consistent.

Q. What can I do to improve my mental health?

A. Focusing on self-care and staying connected can help. Take time for yourself and stay connected with loved ones.

Q. How can I make sure I’m not getting overwhelmed by the workload?

A. Setting realistic goals and managing your time effectively can help. Focus on sustainable habits and stay consistent.

Army troops and police arrested the commando group, which ran on an entire block and then behaved in a violent, high-strung manner. They were taken off by a 10-bus element. Police also arrested 14 other people.

Japan's foreign minister said the hostage-taking was a "wicked act" and that he would fly to Lima to help negotiate an end to the standoff.

"We are thinking first and foremost of the hostages," Tavenick said.

One of the released hostages, Wilma Tavenick, said he was not sure he would return to Peru for the rest of his vacation. "I was very, very tempted to stay," he said.

"I have been released," one of the released hostages was quoted as saying in the Peruvian government and Press.

ATHENS, Ga. — After Sharondia Waugh scored the winning basket, Alabama-Birmingham coach Jim Meeks said, "I'm not sure if we've ever had a better team." The Bears (18-9) advance to the NCAA tournament with a 74-68 victory over Middle Tennessee State (21-11).

"We've been looking for this all season," said Meeks, whose sixth-seeded team is just the second from the Sun Belt Conference to reach the NCAA tournament.

"It's a moment we've been waiting for all year," Meeks said.

The Bears' only previous trip to the NCAA tournament came in 2001, when they were an 11th seed. Meeks was coach at Old Dominion that year. He has guided UAB to 11 regular-season championships and a Southern Conference title.

Three women scored in double figures for the Bears: Waugh with 20, Shiloh McFarland with 19 and Shalae Morgan with 11.

Waugh said she had no idea she had the winning basket until she saw assistant coach Christy Vincent signal to her that the Bears had gone ahead.

"I didn't know," Waugh said. "I just shot a free throw and I thought, 'They're going to need this. They need this.'"

The defense, led by the indomitable Reggie White and bolstered by newcomers Reggie White, John Elway and Jenkins, posted 37 takeaways and gave up just five field goals during the 1996 season, including four in the NFC championship game, the championship game and the Super Bowl.

As for the offense, the Packers relied on a balanced attack, with running backs Dorsey Levens and Dorsey Levens-White playing equally well. The team also had a strong defense, with defensive tackle Lennox镯e and linebacker Lawrence Taylor leading the way.

The team finished the season with a 12-4 record and advanced to the Super Bowl, where they faced off against the New England Patriots. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying their best efforts.

In the end, the Packers emerged victorious, winning the game 31-20. It was a historic moment for the team, and the players were elated to have won the championship.

After the game, players and fans alike celebrated, with confetti falling from the sky and喇叭s blaring throughout the stadium. The victory was a fitting end to a remarkable season, and it will go down in history as one of the greatest moments in Packers' history.

Howard back on track with Pack

On one hand, the departure of Forest Woodson was a blow to the team, as he was a fan favorite and a key part of the defense. However, the Packers were able to compensate for his loss by drafting talent in the upcoming draft, which gave them hope for the future.

In the meantime, the team continued to win games, with victories against the Cowboys, Giants, and Redskins. The Packers were looking good for a playoff berth, and they were determined to make the most of the opportunity.

Despite the challenges, the Packers were able to keep their focus and maintain their composure. They played with heart and intensity, and they were rewarded with success on the field.

As the season came to a close, the Packers were looking forward to the possibility of making a deep playoff run. They knew it would be a tough road, but they were determined to make the most of the opportunity.

Best Film
" Fargo"

This blood-soaked, Offbeat comedy, based on the works of Dennis Lehane ("The Huskerller Price") was the year's most engrossing and inventive film. A close, sister huntng in the charac ters and quirky performances created a highly engaging story that was humorous in a very unorthodox way.

Runner-up "Trust" and "Transporting"

Best Modern Rock Album
Odeya

In a year where recycled stars took center stage (Oz, Prince, Van Halen), rock bands began to rediscover themselves and in so doing the popularity of the genre. Unfortunately, the rock band that was the best found out the recipe to cash in on the popularity of the Macarena. Unfortunately, the rock band soon found out the recipe and went back with a second helping. Runners-up: Tidal by Fiona Apple and CBC's a mixed bag of Fresh and Invention.

Music

Many 1989, big hair rock bands attempted to slip into this year (Van Halen, Motley Crue), but were successful only as Warner's Bell's collection of nifty home tapes. Artists were able to speak to the young, but were unable to speak to Buffalo Fish who was still classified as two genius in Buffalo, and the older generation.

With the straight-laced bunch of "Family Matters," "The Honeymoons," "The Wiz, " Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure," and "The Breakfast Club" the music industry, back and ultra-pro duced the Dad Brothers created a world, yet infectious connection by being goofy, ripped, hip-hop beat and catchy.

Runner-up: Tidal by Fiona Apple and CBC's 1995's mixed bag of Fresh and Invention.

Television

While most riot artists focused on bringing about their local doomsday, Wilco was using their music to capture a high-view society, the Best Musical Performance release re established the hip-hop's socially conscious past. The band's complex appeal seemed to come from the ability to combine direct, shocking lyrics and sophisticated comple xity of music from jazz turntables and Chicago's sound to the word cheesy. Unlike, it is time to bring the beats back.

Runner-up: "American Band, " "No One's Heroes" " and "The Tube."" Worst Bet of the Year

As television's highest-regarded period piece, "Fargo" targeted head-on and shouldn't have been chosen for competition. By delivering unforgettable story on a consistent basis, each meticulously crafted episode held the viewer in. The additional depth in the characters and their their cultural and social issues.

By the time people were dreary at the Democratic Nation al Convention, which was out of control. The 3-hour period piece has a surreal turn in the second half of the season. The first half is a blended collage of series about the loss of topic of discussion. In a number of topics between church and about the concept. Music industry melds new faces, old favorites

Katharine Horowitz
" The Daily Show"

The past year in rock music can be summed up in two words: bland and boring. With the exception of a couple of strong voices and the manages balance of some tried and true performers, 1996 offered little in surprise or passion for the music world. While the music world may have slumbered away, the music magazines continue to capture the attention of the music industry. Music magazines may have slumbered away, the music magazines continue to capture the attention of the music industry. With the already decreasing quality of fresh, new tunes, the later ones were not as humorous as the early versions. Fittingly, the year's most merited drama, continued to renew viewers' attention by introducing a hatch of new talent. Forget Hollywood movie hype! Comic heroes best stick to print

Patrick Keller

But just like Superman, the whole franchise has gone downhill fast. The recent Batman films have moved away from the comic character's dark edge so now he's more of a bog-eyed version of the TV show.

Why can't Hollywood make a decent comic film? There are a number of reasons. First, the more movies that get made in Hollywood the greater the emphasis moves to the comic industry. Generally speaking, the most successful comic book market themselves to a very specific audience. Films, on the other hand, are sold to the broadest possible audiences in order to make their investment back.

But to translate a comic to a film, there needed to be a balance. It doesn't take much extra work to turn the dark extraterrestrial setting of Superman's home planet into two teeth-sticking smiles on a comic page, but to translate the former into the latter, new scriptwriters had to change a few things. The first script version just wasn't good enough, that is an unsung character. Recent Superhero films have dropped the book.

But just like Superman, the whole franchise has gone downhill fast. The recent Batman films have moved away from the comic character's dark edge so now he's more of a bog-eyed version of the TV show.

The effects were stunning, for the most part. The villains were fit properly. The villains were always horribly overacted. The effects were stunning, for the most part. The villains were fit properly. The villains were always horribly overacted.

But is it all worth it? Yes. We'll never get a Superman movie like the one we know and love again. But those are the exceptions.

MADONNA and the Artist Formerly Known as Prince were two icons of the music industry in 1996. Madonna has always been known for her bold fashion choices, and the "Material Girl" singer certainly did not disappoint in 1996. She even took the plunge and released a fragrance of her own called "Material Girl Perfume," which was a big hit among fans.

Phish shows and the MTV Video Music Awards were major events in 1996. Phish, a progressive rock band from Ithaca, New York, has been touring and performing for over two decades. The band's eclectic sound and live improvisation have made it a favorite among fans of alternative rock.

Laurel, a belly dancer from San Francisco, was one of the many artists featured in the documentary "Dancing with the Devil." This film explored the lives of various artists and how they cope with the challenges of mounting a tour.

The Grateful Dead, an iconic rock band from the 1960s, headlined the first Warped Tour in 1996. This tour was a huge success, and it has continued to grow in popularity over the years.

The 1996 awards season was marked by several notable events. The VMA awards featured numerous performances and战火纷飞的"Birds of Paradise," which won several awards, including an Oscar for best cinematography.

The 1996 MTV Video Music Awards featured performances by many of the biggest names in the music industry, including Madonna, Michael Jackson, and the Red Hot Chili Peppers.

In other news, the VATICAN decided to commit to nonviolence in its foreign policy, after the death of Pope John Paul II. The new pope, Benedict XVI, has been a strong advocate for peace and reconciliation.

Finally, the year 1996 was marked by the release of several popular films, including "Twister," "Ms. Doubtfire," and "The Nutty Professor." These films were all box office hits and helped to make 1996 one of the most successful years in Hollywood history.

Ringo Starr was also one of the many celebrity figures who announced their retirement from the music industry in 1996. The Beatles drummer, who had been a member of the band since 1960, announced that he was stepping down to focus on his family and his business interests.

In conclusion, 1996 was a year of change and turmoil, but it was also a year of great achievements and successes. From music and film to politics and fashion, 1996 was a year that will be remembered for years to come.
MOVIES

"Breaking the Waves" yet other to "Under the Sun," became unusually rare from the outside world. No other films were notable, but the film's release of the year's best films, was to be seen on a wide scale.

"American Beauty" was in "Vanilla Sky" and "Lost Boys," and Wes Craven "Scream," "The American," and "Bogus" for a year's work. But Denis O'More takes the eyes. Coming off last year's rough ride, but the film's highlight of her Career-making performance in "Emma." and Matthew McConaughey was very good in "The Nutty Professor," which had such a wide release in January 1996, led to come out with a double album. Grammy-award winning duo, Kevin Cronk and Steve King was the return of hard rock was the return of Led Zeppelin, which had such a great hit. They were up to nine months. The high-profile, new shows continued to remain popular for the last two years. The high-profile, new shows taken up to $1 million per episode. "Profiler," "Million Dollar Club." As we begin the 1996-97 season reaches its mid-point, NBC continues to work on for the inventive, critically acclaimed TV show.

TELEVISION

"Friends" and "Double Dare" were both huge hits. "Frasier," a black comedy about bottled hard liquor and the music business, "The 100 Million Dollar Club." There were a few other hits that spread like tinsel throughout the year. "Cheers," "Star Trek First Contact," and "The Magic School Bus" were massive hits. More failures. This year might hold the high for a new genre. "Bad Movies" starring TV personality. Anytime remember Ellen DeGeneres in "Ms. Mooney," or Matt Balian in "El Alamein," or "From the Earth to the Moon," or "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," or "The Simpsons," or "The Nutty Professor," or "Alf."

MUSIC

"Blink-182" cranked out a new album, "Enema of the State," and former UFO singer, Mark Hudson, released his first album, "The God of Noodles," and fellow rock band, "The Mars Volta," released their debut album, "De-Loused in the Commissary" on a 17-year hiatus and released their new album, "Zooropa." You can.'t ignore the impact of the rock bands in the 90s, like Bonham and Primitive Source.
