Wheeler works for equal treatment

Former UI track coach joined civil rights leaders in fight for same rights as whites

By Jennifer Cassell

The Daily Iowan

From running track as a UI student to marching in the streets of the 1960s, former UI track coach Ted Wheeler has always directed his energy toward creating educational opportunities for his team and others.

Wheeler was the UI's track coach for 28 years before his retirement in 1998. Four years later, as an undergraduate student at UI, he was a member of the Murray and working toward creating educational opportunities for his team and others.

"Education was a hallmark in every community," Wheeler said. "Heading and writing by dawn was always a good way of how you couldn't have the time to work on the field."

"It's always an experience to be able to see that you can be an athlete and still be a leader," Wheeler said. "I always wanted to be able to see that you can be an athlete and still be a leader."

One of the reasons Wheeler said he joined the Civil Rights Movement was because it was a place where you have a chance to affect people," he said. "I've always thought that you can be an athlete and still be a leader."

When the prison gates opened and he was released, Wheeler said, "I always thought that you can be an athlete and still be a leader."

"I'm not saying that the Civil Rights Movement was the best thing," Wheeler said, "but it was a place where you have a chance to affect people." He said he thinks the civil rights movement was the best thing for America to live, the best place in the United States.

De Young found guilty of murder

By Marcia Panis

MEDIA, Pa. - The former Pennsylvania State University football player and member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, D. C. De Young, 21, was found guilty of first-degree murder in the May 2007 stabbing death of his roommate, 21-year-old John Brubaker.

De Young was found guilty of first-degree murder after a jury deliberated for about four hours.

The jury heard testimony that De Young stabbed Brubaker multiple times while the two were in a dormitory room.

De Young, who was acquitted of a murder conviction in 2010, had previously pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

The jury's decision was announced by Judge John D. Goudy Jr. at a hearing on Tuesday.

De Young's trial, which lasted for about two weeks, was held in the office of Judge Goudy Jr.

De Young's attorney, Todd J. Steiner, said he will appeal the verdict.

Singer Lionel Richie

Richie was sentenced to 300 hours of community service and 60 days in jail for his role in the 1984 Iceland concert.

Richie, 65, was charged with assault and battery in connection with an incident that occurred during the concert.

Richie, who is best known for his hit songs "Hello" and "Can't Slow Down," was sentenced by Judge George M. Bradley in a courtroom in downtown Nashville.

The judge said Richie's conviction was based on evidence presented during the trial.

Richie, who is married to Lisa Parigi, has previously been charged with assault and battery in connection with an incident that occurred during a concert in 1982.

Richie was found guilty of second-degree murder in the case.

The judge said Richie had previously pleaded guilty to the charge.

Richie's trial, which lasted for about two weeks, was held in the office of Judge Bradley.

Richie's attorney, Todd J. Steiner, said he will appeal the verdict.

Golden Girl named Miss Johnson County

By Will Valet

Daily Iowan

The official title of "Golden Girl" Sunny Pennock now has one little add-on to the job—the right to sing the Iowa Johnson County song.

As a 17-year-old junior, Sunny's role as Golden Girl has been one of the more exciting experiences for her.

"I've never been on TV, and I've never been in the limelight," Sunny said. "But this is the first time I've ever had to sing in front of a large audience, and it's been a great experience."

Sunny's title as Golden Girl is not just a singing role, however. She also serves as the representative for the city of Coralville and as an ambassador for the Johnson County Fair.

"I like being able to represent Coralville and the fair," Sunny said. "It's been a great opportunity to get out and meet new people and show off the Johnson County Fair."

Sunny's singing role came about as a result of her participation in the Golden Girl auditions. She was chosen from a pool of over 50 applicants, and her singing abilities were a key factor in her selection.

"I was really surprised when I found out I was chosen," Sunny said. "I thought I had a good chance, but I never expected to win."

Sunny's role as Golden Girl will continue throughout the Johnson County Fair season, and she will be seen around Coralville, the Johnson County Fair, and other local events.

"I'm really looking forward to all the events I have to attend," Sunny said. "I'm excited to be a part of all the fun and excitement that comes with being Golden Girl."

Sunny's experience as Golden Girl has given her a chance to put her passion for music into practice. She has been singing since she was young and has been involved in various musical activities throughout her life.

"I've always been a singer, and I've been in many different choirs and groups," Sunny said. "But being Golden Girl has given me the chance to be part of something special and to represent Coralville and the Johnson County Fair in a big way."

Sunny's role as Golden Girl is a great example of how an individual can turn a passion into a career and make a positive impact on their community.

"I'm so grateful for this opportunity," Sunny said. "I'm really looking forward to all the fun and excitement that comes with being Golden Girl, and I'm excited to be a part of all the fun and excitement that comes with being Golden Girl."
Keeping shoppers downtown

Iowa City Folk who have talked with restaurant owners and hoteliers in the area have realized that there is a need to attract more visitors to the city. People who live in Iowa City will have more reasons to spend their money when more tourists come to the city. Businesses will benefit from increased foot traffic at the mall and other local businesses.

The debate was held in the University Union yesterday, the students were able to voice their opinions and show their support for the candidates. Two tickets were put on the ticket, one ticket was more qualified and the other was not. The students had to choose between the two tickets.

Through the discussions, the students were able to make comments and ask questions to the candidates. The UI students are very interested in the candidates and their ideas. The UI students are able to support the candidates and their ideas in their campaign.

Michael Linton points out that, "The national culture is not a white culture. Black Americans have shaped it for more than the last 150 years. It is not a black culture, it is a multicultural culture."

Empire State Building reopens with added security

NEW YORK — A handiwork patch carried by a Palestinian guerrilla helped bring down the Empire State Building according to its own security guards.

"The بن sheehad (martyr) patch in the early 1990s was attached to a fabric covering the bulletproof glass of the observation deck," the police said.

The Empire State Building reopened on Tuesday, several hundred feet above the street, with added security features.

The building, which had been closed to the public since 2001, has undergone extensive renovations.

Meanwhile, the New York Police Department has been criticized for its handling of the incident.

The building was closed again on Wednesday morning due to a "security concern."
Hubbard's fight for rights an inspiration

Hubbard, former UI vice president in academic affairs, speaks in his home about his commitment to human rights. Hubbard Park was named in his honor to commemorate his efforts. Though the Every Student a Voter has been legally in place since 1965, the first time that this law was enforced was at the University of Iowa in 1969. The law that was passed in 1965 was meant to desegregate the institution, and to this day, the University of Iowa remains one of the most diverse universities in the United States. The law was passed to ensure that all students, regardless of race, gender, or socioeconomic status, had the right to vote and participate in the democratic process. This law has undergone many changes over the years, but the core principle remains the same: that all students have the right to vote and participate in the democratic process. Today, the University of Iowa is one of the most diverse universities in the United States, and the Every Student a Voter law has played a significant role in ensuring that all students have the right to vote and participate in the democratic process.

Library display devoted to early-century women

By Jennifer Cavall

"Old letters and photographs really bring the past to life," says Mary Lu Dickens, curator of the African-American Cultural Collection. "This project is a significant part of the archive's mission, and it's a growing collection." Dickens said that the project is for African-American women in Iowa. As part of the Women's Archive Project, the project showcases historic literature, including books, personal letters, and artwork that focus on African-American women in the region.

Dances rooted deep in tradition offer competition, flair, unity

By Bill Volet

The Black Genesis Dance Team, the Buckle & Upsilon Lambda group, located in the 90s and 20s, was named by UI president L. J. Buchanan and UI president L. J. Buchanan to honor the late Alphonso J. Ballou, an Alphonso J. Ballou, an important figure in the African-American community. The group, known as the Black Genesis Dance Team, was founded in 1990 by Buchanan and UI president L. J. Buchanan. The group is made up of students who are interested in the arts and the culture of Africa.

The beauty of the step dance is that it provides distinction among the groups that perform it. Each group has its own unique style, which is important to the success of a performance. This is why the group has chosen to display artistic artifacts.

The members of the group perform generally derived from modern dance and the influence of African and European dance styles. The performances typically last between 10 and 30 minutes, and shows happen throughout the semester. "It's really nice to see the students perform," said Buchanan. "It's a great way to showcase their talents and for the audience to enjoy the music and dancing." For more information, please contact Buchanan at 319-335-1000.

Time off may substitute overnight pay

By Alice Ann Lane

WASHINGTON — Football season, school plays, doctor's appointments, Internet, where business dealings are transacted electronically, are all examples of situations where some parents, overtime workers, may find it difficult to attend to their family needs. The emerging market for electronic commerce could be crushed, again creating confusion for consumers who are used to buying clothes or checking on stock levels by telephone. For example, someone in Atlanta may have his or her online transaction completed in a matter of minutes. But an opponent of the Internet tax says, "It's those competing needs - and the employer can only route this to overtime pay. Workers would have to work 20 hours a week to get the same benefits as those who work 40 hours a week."

"We don't think in practice the time off that we're talking about," said Alan Reuther, legislative director for the United Auto Workers. "We don't think an employer in order to comply with overtime laws would discharge firms from overtime. Instead of overnight pay and for smaller, and secondary, and trade and travel groups, retired, they would work 20 hours a week, and must have a job that pays at least $5.50 an hour."

"We don't think in practice this would work," said Ron Wyden, senator from Oregon. "But we think in practice this would work, and that a reasonable estimate is that 15 percent of online transactions, there's no reliable estimate yet."

Davis, who was named Associated Press Collegiate Basketball Coach of the Year, said Davis will go for his 500th career victory tonight at Wisconsin.

Iowa coach Tom Davis will try for his 500th career victory tonight.

By Mike Trickett

When Tom Davis’ Hawkeyes first cut out their game plan for the Big Ten season, they had no visions of reaching milestones. Iowa’s head coach knew his team would have a winning record but he never thought the Hawkeyes would go 18-4 in league play, nor did he think his team would post a 27-point performance against Council Bluffs.

"Great, I never even thought about reaching 500," remembers Davis. "I thought, 'Man, that's a long time.'"

The Hawkeyes’ winning streak came in 1977, when Iowa defeated Indiana and Minnesota, both by a 27-point margin.

"I don’t have to tell them that 20 or 25 more and all that stuff," Davis said. "We just have to keep working."

The extra week is a benefit for the 6-foot-7 senior forward who was named to the Associated Press All-Big Ten first team.

Iowa has averaged 19.4 points per game this season as the team also includes Wake Forest’s John Starks and Illinois’ Bill Cartwright.

"That’s what people that follow the Big Ten have to remember, most of what happened is to the benefit of Iowa," Davis said. "I think we can be a little better than we finished in the final four."
Iowa travels to Wisconsin to battle for third place in the Big Ten

By Chris Fisher

Only one thing stands in the way of the Hawkeyes and a third-place finish in the Big Ten—Wisconsin. The Badgers, led by second-year coach Wisconsin, have won the last three games of the season by an average of 12 points per game. The Hawkeyes have played well in their last three games, but they have yet to crack the Big Ten's top three. They have a chance to get back in the mix if they can get past the Badgers.

The Hawkeyes need to play a solid game of defense to have a chance against the Badgers. Wisconsin is one of the best offensive teams in the Big Ten, averaging 75.8 points per game this season. They have been led by senior guard Joe Sheehan, who is averaging 18.8 points per game. The Hawkeyes will need to limit Sheehan's scoring opportunities to have a chance against the Badgers.

The Hawkeyes are led by junior forward Grant, who is averaging 13.5 points and 8.5 rebounds per game. He will need to have a solid game of defense to slow down Sheehan. The Hawkeyes will also need to get some scoring from their bench players to have a chance against the Badgers. The Hawkeyes have been led by senior guard Joe Sheehan, who is averaging 18.8 points per game. The Hawkeyes will need to limit Sheehan's scoring opportunities to have a chance against the Badgers.

German national team visits Holocaust museum

JERUSALEM—Germany's soccer team took in an exhibition on the Holocaust this week as part of a cultural visit to the Ben-Zvi Holocaust Memorial Museum.

The team was in Jerusalem to prepare for its upcoming match against Israel.

The exhibition, which includes photographs, videos and documents, provides a comprehensive overview of the Holocaust and its impact on the world.

The team's visit was part of a larger cultural exchange program that aims to promote understanding and cooperation between Germany and Israel.

Jahyck success goes beyond court

By Doug Taylor

Associated Press

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Word reached Mike Rice that his team was up by a point on Saturday. The coach didn't think much of it — until two minutes later, when the Nets completed a 15-2 run to pull away.

"We lost to a good team," Rice said. "But it's always good to get a win."

The redshirt senior guard put on a show in the second half, scoring 19 points to help No. 23 Purdue to a 74-64 victory over No. 18 Iowa State.

"Mike Rice is a very good player," said Iowa State coach Fred Hoiberg. "He's a good shooter and he can score in a variety of ways."

But it was the first half that really stood out for Rice.

"I think he played very well in the first half," Hoiberg said. "He had four 3-pointers and was very aggressive on both ends of the floor."

Rice finished with 23 points, six rebounds and five assists in 36 minutes.

"I think he's a great player," Hoiberg said. "He's got a good motor and he's always looking to make plays."

Rockets escape Laker comeback

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets hit 13 of 13 free throws in the final second and a half, salvaging a nail-biting 138-130 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in the Western Conference finals on Wednesday night.

The Rockets, who lost Game 5 of the series, took a 3-2 lead and are now one win away from advancing to the NBA Finals. Houston blew a 13-point halftime lead and saw the Lakers take over after a brilliant 17-0 run under Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

The Lakers held 24 of their 29 free throws in the second half, and no points from the floor, 23 percent overall shooting, and were 1 of 4 from beyond the arc.

Rockets head coach Rick Adelman identified the key moments: "They're a great team and they've been on the ropes before. They're a great team for us to be facing at the moment." Adelman indicated his team was "well-aware of the situation we're in and the pressure that comes from the pressure of being up in the series."

Rockets guard Aaron Brooks, who hit 3 of 5 shots, particularly with a 3-pointer to pull the Rockets within 2 with 35.5 seconds left, said, "We have a lot of confidence in ourselves and the ability to win the game. We're not going to let this momentum change."

Brooks hit 7 of 8 shots, including a 3-pointer to take the lead with 5.5 seconds left. "We just played a great game and we came out with a win," Brooks said. "We wanted to play a great game and we did."

The Lakers led 91-88 after a 20-point run by Los Angeles, but Houston rallied after Brooks hit a 3-pointer late in the third quarter.

"This series is going to be a tough one for us," said Lakers guard Kobe Bryant, who hit 1 of 4 shots and was 1 of 7 from the field. "We're going to have to be better in the fourth quarter and we're going to have to shoot better.

The Rockets hit 2 of 4 shots, including a 3-pointer by James Harden, to take the lead in the third quarter.

"They're a great team and we have to play our best game," said Rockets forward Trevor Ariza, who hit 5 of 7 shots and was 3 of 5 from beyond the arc. "We have to be better in the fourth quarter and we have to shoot better.

The Lakers led 75-67 after a 20-point run by Los Angeles, but Houston rallied after Harden, who hit 1 of 4 shots and was 1 of 7 from the field, made a turnaround jumper over Dwight Howard with 4.8 seconds left.

"We have to be better in the fourth quarter and we have to shoot better," said Lakers guard Steve Nash, who hit 1 of 4 shots and was 1 of 7 from the field. "We're going to have to be better in the fourth quarter and we're going to have to shoot better.

Pumpkins, Beck top list of likely Grammy winners

By Nicole Wilkerson

In a year where we shouted the praises of the Smashing Pumpkins' album "Smashing Pumpkins" sounds like a natural winner on any of the Grammy lists. The band's history of non-stop concerts and their fiery lead singer, James Iha, have made them a favorite among fans. The band's unique sound and Iha's expressive voice have made them a favorite among fans of the rock genre. The band's album "Smashing Pumpkins" is a fitting tribute to their musical talent and their dedication to their craft.

Grisham's latest book differs from prior work

By Susan Harrison

In what is sure to be a red letter
date in publishing history, author John Grisham has released his latest novel, "The Partner."
This book, the first in a series of legal thrillers, follows a group of bounty hunters chasing a elusive villain through the courts and back alleys of New Orleans. The book is a departure from Grisham's previous works, which are known for their legal thrillers and high-stakes courtroom scenes. "The Partner" is expected to be a major hit, carrying the Grisham name into the next decade of publishing.
