Regents mull room, board hike

Although a final vote will not occur until April, a plan to increase room and board rates by $137 is still in the works.

By Kevin Doyle

The Daily Iowan

AMU - The Iowa Board of Regents preliminarily approved a plan Wednesday to raise room and board rates by $137 per student next year and 0.5 percent each year after that unless regents receive the money, revenues from which go to support university operations.

The rate increase was voted on at the regents’ April meeting in Cedar Falls. The proposal, 37 percent higher than the current level, would raise the $4,836 for the year; which is the lowest percent

UI junior wins shopping spree

By Joseph Leavitt

The Daily Iowan

UI junior Mike Weiler spent more money in 80 seconds at the University Book Store Wednesday than he has in any other 80 seconds of his life.

And it wasn’t even his money. Weiler, winner of the “Leap into Spring Break” contest, rushed through the aisles of the ground floor in search of the prize money, staring at his shoes, uncertainty of the bookstore. Weiler was accompanied by the screams and cheers of more than 100 UI students, many of whom were plaing to him as if he were a street vendor. Weiler’s stare was drawn from among 200 people who wanted to win the $2,458.

“Beautiful surprise,” said a woman pulled to Weiler before the scene, “Don’t forget.”

Weiler, who was allowed to walk out of the store with whatever he chose to carry in his arms with the exception of tobacco and electronic equipment.

“I was very surprised,” he said. “I’ve been here, but I never choose to win. I felt lucky for the first 4 or 5 people about what was before mine. They could probably have had their picks."

To win, the person whose name was drawn had to be present in the store as a result of a drawing that was announced Wednesday in the names of all UI students.

The saga of Superman

H.

A newspaper is to define the term "real," the one that comes up first is Superman. Why is this? He is the ultimate American hero. Superman is an icon, a symbol of what America stands for.

The Garden would be an outdoor setting with a large garden that would include flowers, trees, and a pond. There would be a fountain in the center of the garden that would play music and have a statue of a winged figure. The garden would be a place for people to relax and enjoy the beauty of nature.

The University of Iowa has a rich history and is known for its academic excellence. However, like any institution, it also has its share of problems. One of the most pressing issues is the need for more funding. The university relies on state funding, which is often insufficient to meet the needs of the institution.

The most recent budget cuts have forced the university to make difficult decisions about its programs and services. This is a concern for students, faculty, and administrators alike. It is important that the university continue to receive adequate funding to ensure its continued success.

The garden would be an important element of the university's campus. It would serve as a place for students to study, faculty to conduct research, and visitors to enjoy the beauty of nature. The garden would also be a symbol of the university's commitment to providing a welcoming and beautiful environment for its community.

Why binge drinking in college is such a big deal

Gerald Carroll

Drinking alcohol is something that many college students do, and it is a behavior that is encouraged in many ways. In fact, according to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, approximately 37% of college students report drinking at least once a month, and 15% report binge drinking. Binge drinking is defined as consuming five or more drinks in a row for men and four or more drinks in a row for women within a two-hour period.

Binge drinking is a behavior that has been targeted by health professionals for several reasons. Binge drinkers are more likely than non-binge drinkers to experience negative consequences, such as missing class or work, injuring themselves or others, having uninvited sexual experiences, or having unprotected sex. Binge drinkers are also more likely to be hurt by alcohol-related behavior, such as being involved in fights or accidents. Binge drinkers are also more likely to have problems with depression, anxiety, and mood disorders.

In addition to the negative consequences of binge drinking, there are also serious health risks associated with binge drinking. Binge drinking can lead to chronic alcoholism, liver disease, and addiction. Binge drinking can also lead to problems with the immune system, which can increase the risk of infections. Binge drinking can also lead to problems with the cardiovascular system, which can increase the risk of heart disease and stroke.

Binge drinking is a significant problem on college campuses, and it is important for students to be aware of the risks associated with binge drinking. Students should also be encouraged to seek help if they are struggling with alcohol use or if they have concerns about their drinking.

The physical effects of drinking beer

Binge drinking is a method of drinking a can of beer quickly. The term "binge drinking" refers to a pattern of drinking in which a person consumes five or more drinks in a row for men and four or more drinks in a row for women within a two-hour period. Binge drinking is a common behavior on college campuses, and it is often associated with negative consequences, such as injury, violence, and legal problems.

AIDS care falters in Mexico

By Donna Calvin
Associated Press

TAMALPAIS, Mexico — Every Sunday, Fred Schiff fills an old newspaper bag with 200 small bottles. For years, this has been the farmers' equivalent of free health care. Schiff, a Canadian who moved to Mexico 23 years ago, brings the medicine and school supplies the U.S.-Mexico border to a school on one of the more remote islands where his supplies last.

By the end of the day, Schiff often has used up his supply. The border child of the drug war is the only AIDS clinic in Tijuana that offers free medication in the United States, but he says it is not enough.

By mid-March, Schiff is holding only 200 bottles of medication. They are enough for about 100 people, but Schiff estimates that 200 people, including his wife, may be coming to the clinic daily to get their medication.

Schiff, who is 42, traveled to the border in April 1996 to help some of the poor people who work in the border towns.

The children of the drug war are the most vulnerable to the dangers of the disease. Schiff said.

"We are the ones who are bringing the drug war to the children," he said. "We are the ones who are bringing the drug war to the children."

Broncos Qb has arthroscopic surgery on throwing shoulder
DENVER (AP) - John Elway is reported to be ready for the Denver Broncos' training camp after undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his throwing shoulder for the second time in three years.

Elway, 33, underwent similar surgery on his throwing shoulder during the 1992 season, in which he missed four games.

"It was very routine. It certainly will not impact the 1997 season," Broncos spokesman Jim Johnston said Wednesday.

Johnston also expects to have a healthy Elway back in time for the Broncos' training camp, which is scheduled to begin in late July.

Elway's throwing shoulder bothered him during the 1992 season, in which he missed four games.

"It was very routine. It certainly will not impact the 1997 season," Broncos spokesman Jim Johnston said Wednesday.

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys' fullback Daryl Johnston signed a $7.5 million contract Wednesday, fulfilling the team's "offseason priority.

By locking up the two-time Pro Bowler, Cowboys owner Jerry Jones pacified quarterback Troy Aikman and running back Emmitt Smith, both of whom made public pleas for Johnston to re-sign no matter the price.

"I can't think of anyone in the league I'd want to have blocking me other than Daryl Johnston," said Aikman, who has won three Super Bowls and four NFL rushing titles running behind Johnston.

Beebe signs with Packers
GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - Wide receiver Don Beebe, an integral part of Green Bay's championship drive, signed with the Packers on Wednesday. Terms were not disclosed.

Beebe is the third of the Packers' 11 unrestricted free agents to re-sign with the team, joining defensive tackle Glen Beaver and backup quarterback Doug Pederson.
Cyclones hope to slow down pace, Bruins

By Denise H. Freeman

SANTA ANTONIO — UCLA likes an up-tempo pace. Iowa State (23-8) doesn’t.

The Bruins (22-2), who have won four of their last five games, are trying to slow the pace. "UCLA has athleticism beyond ours," said Iowa State center Kelvin Cato. "They are a feedback loop we won’t try to slow down. We just try to control them. We know they can jump. Our guys can jump.

Iowa State forward Chris Lackey has played the team, but the Cyclones said they won't be scared.

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Kansas State and Oklahoma are among the bracket favorites as the March Madness tournament begins.

The Wildcats, who are the No. 1 seed in the West region, are a 12 seed in the East region. They are 13-2 in the regular season and 1-2 in the Big 12 Conference.

And speaking of stars, the Big Ten had a nice one — they have won ten out of 18, with the only loss coming to Michigan State. The Gophers are on a nice one — they are 7-1 in the Big Ten and 1-0 in the Big Ten Tournament.

The Gophers have a potent combination of size, depth and balance. Coach Hubert Hodsell has also played in every game and scored more than 12 points per game. While the Gophers are an average of 14.3 points per game, they are hardly a superpower.

When the Iowa wrestling team first placed at last season's NCAA Championships, all 11 Hawkeyes scored team points. For Iowa to do it all over again, it will first have to return most of its lineup from that championship.

There are about six wrestlers who have reasonable hopes of winning national titles. But any number of the top 15 ranked wrestlers have much of a chance of doing it. Depending on who dominates their weight class, this class is as deep as any in recent memory.

Iowa's 126-pounder, Hawkeye Jessie Whitmer (19-6), is as strong as any in NCAA wrestling history. With last year's winner, Chris Bono of Minnesota, gone, Whitmer is heavily favored to win this year's championship. But any number of the top five can challenge him if he has his usual winning effort.

Hawkeye winner from last year, Iowa's Tony Ersland surprised everyone when he decided to return for his senior year. Now, more than ever, he seems a little illogical considering how many excellent wrestlers are taking another shot at college duals.

But maybe a new era is upon us, one in which Smith will lead his team to a title and a championship run similar to that of Iowa over the last two decades. That scenario underscores the importance of what Gable is trying to do.

Iowa looks to repeat NCAA title, average loss at National Duals

By James Kramer

W

The battle that will take place in Cedar Falls this week may not be suitable for children, the elderly and any wrestling team ranked lower than... just... fifth. It’s gonna get downright nasty.

The national Class of 1997, according to national polls released today, will be a tough one for that- and for the future of the sport. But the Hawkeyes are still ranked third in January. This week, team deals will be made, but Iowa will attempt to get even as they search for individual titles. If all goes well, the 10 Hawkeyes who advanced to the tournament will be the best in the nation, led by Hawkeye coach Tom Brands. The Hawkeyes have had a successful season so far.

The key for us is for our people who are ranked high to win. Winning people now is the trend and it is the difference in championships.

End of year. Nothing but Iowa. That’s why we’re ranked number one in the nation.

End of year. Nothing but Iowa. That’s why we’re ranked number one in the nation.

Iowa looks to repeat NCAA title, but many questions remain.

Common scoring methods:

Takedown: The score comes from when the wrestler is taken to the mat and held there for two or more seconds. The wrestler with the higher total wins.

Escape: Scores one point when the wrestler who is being controlled by another wrestler escapes, or gains control of his body, without the control wrestler regaining control. The wrestler scoring the escape in the higher weight class.

Reversal: Scores when the wrestler in control is taken down by a member of the control-wrestler’s team. The wrestler scoring the reversal in the higher weight class.

Scoring: A pin is scored when the wrestler in control gains control of the other wrestler’s back and holds him there for one second, or the control wrestler’s team is taken down and held there for one second. The wrestler scoring the pin in the higher weight class.

In the national duals, Iowa looks to repeat NCAA title, but many questions remain.

Iowa-Oklahoma State dual will decide future dominance.

It might take four or five years for the Oklahomas to decide this year’s NCAA Championship. The importance is in the near future, who wins, and what the tournament affected the change wrestling wise.

This year’s national tournament is classic all-time in collegiate wrestling. It’s about to take place. The winners will lead the way, and the losers will go home.

Every year, millions of people around the world celebrate the Oscars. Some people like them, some really like them. For a few, the award-winning naked guys bother them.

The odds-on favorite for Best Actor is Geoffrey Rush, director Anthony Minghella's "Shine," co-produced by Geffen's "Martin Scorsese," was one of the easiest choices of the year. The actual quality and diversity of independent films were encouraged, and the sword-wielding man perhaps is disgusting.

Geoffrey Rush already has won the Academy Award for Best Actor, so he's likely in a good position to repeat. Uncovering the story behind ‘Shine’

Katharine Horowitz, a syndicated columnist and author of "Shine: A Novel," has been exploring the story behind the novel. Her book, which has been described as "an honest mistake," has been under the spotlight recently. Horowitz, who is also a physician, said in an interview that the inspiration for "Shine" came from a deeply personal experience. She explained that the story was written as a way to process a traumatic event in her life. In defense of her work, Horowitz said, "I don’t like your company, there’s sweat in the back like you!"

As the school year came to an end, Horowitz found herself in the midst of what was to happen over the summer and the summer that had already passed. Horowitz, who had been born in 1954, was 50 years old. She explained that in some way or another, she had known that she would be unable to attend school next year. The same thing happened to her daughter, who was attending school.

Aerosmith releases strongest work since comeback

It’s hard not to like the Aerosmith. They write catchy tunes, they play hard, they keep coming back. Even if you say it’s not their best, the Rolling Stone magazine’s Harold P. Pillars, who has listened to every Aerosmith album, says, "It’s the best of them all, it fits the band’s new sound."

The singles are standard Aerosmith, but the album was recorded in a studio, with tapes lying on the floor. The legend is that the band was using a new sound.

Bon Jovi trade hard-edged sound for trade

"The American songwriters who made the heartache and the hard times work so well because they have the capacity to write very, very, very well," said the lead singer of Bon Jovi. "I don’t like to hear, ‘What about the hard times?’ It’s not the way it’s written."

In December, 1997, the band released its first album, "In These Arms," which was described as "the band’s first real success." It sold over a million copies in the first week and was on the charts for several months.

CBS to launch cable channel

By David Baer

NEW YORK — Familiar CBS News personalities and old friends will be joining a new national cable network intended to reach the vast and largely untapped market of gays and lesbians.

"The result is a show profiling everyday life," one executive said Wednesday. "With the exception of the gay-themed cable channel," he continued, "I don't think the cable industry has been interested in that sort of programming.
