If the course they need to graduate is not available, the UI will substitute a different course, waive the requirement or pay tuition for the student to take the class in a later term.

The four-year plan started in the summer of 1995 in response to a request by the Iowa state Board of Regents to fully explain to students and parents what students need to do to graduate on time.

New students to the UI are cramming their rooms full of all the comforts of home.

It took UI sophomore Alissa Roste four trips and over 52 combined sours of traveling from her Rock Rapids, Iowa, home to move into her room in Currier residence hall.

When she finished she had a television, VCR, microwave, stereo, three ower strips, CDs, her collection of Steven King books, a James Dean ster, picture frames, dishes and a fan to keep her air-conditioned room cool and comfortable, she said.

The only thing she forgot was food.
"I wish I had my car so I could run to

The UI is considering an exclusive contract with Coca-Cola, allowing the company to become the lone supplier soft-drink machines in UI residence halls and academic buildings. And according to officials, the contract will be a large financial boost for the UI. "There are significant financial advantages to the university," said Phillip Jones, UI vice president of Student Services. "The contract will make two to three times as much money as we make right now."

Under the agreement, which was arrived at through a competitive-bidding process, Coke will pay the UI a $350,000 annual fee and a 50-percent commission on the amount of products sold, guaranteed to be no less than $750,000 a year. "Revenue right now is in the $150,000 range," said Steve Bowers, director of Food Services for Residence Services. "But that's only for the residence halls.' However, the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), Local 12, is unhappy with the proposed move. "We're categorically opposed to it," said Loren Schutt, chairperson of the AFSCME anti-Downsizing Committee. "It's bad for the workers and bad for the students." Specifically Schutt is concerned

Florida and tobacco reach settlement

With an unprecedented $11.3 billion settlement, Florida continues the fight against the tobacco industry.

> Karen Testa Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. -Florida's war against the tobacco industry ended today with the signing of an $11.3 billion settlement of a lawsuit intended to punish cigarette makers for decades of fraud and racketeering.

"The tobacco industry very much wanted to settle because our trial is getting closer," said April Herrle, a spokesperson for Gov. Lawton Chiles. "The clock has been ticking for tobacco.'

Chiles said the state won on three important battlegrounds: protecting Florida's children, making tobacco pay for the damage it has cost our taxpayers and for cigarette makers to finally tell the

Declining enrollment also would complicate efforts to rewrite the state's school finance formula, which is figured on a per-pupil basis. The formula once had a provision to soften the financial blow for districts with

Dow offers $2.4 billion in implant case

■ Dow Corning Corp. has raised its settlement offer to , $2.4 billion in the breastimplant case.

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) - Dow Corning Corp. today offered about $2.4 billion to settle breast implant claims, acknowledging the implants can cause complications but denying they cause disease.

The settlement, part of a plan to , bring the company out of bankruptcy, would be offered to the about 200,000 women worldwide who say silicone breast-implants injured them or made them ill. The amount , of the settlement could increase if enough women vote to approve it.

The $2.4 billion will go mostly to breast-implant claimants, but it also includes claims made by people with · other medical devices containing silicone, such as joint implants. The amount is part of a total $3.7 billion devise to resolve its Chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

'We hope it's the beginning of the conclusion of the process of resolving this," Dow Corning Chief Executive Officer Richard Hazleton told The Associated Press today.

The amounts offered to the women range from $1,000 for an expedited claim, up to $200,000 to cover medical conditions the women say they have suffered because of the implants.

The offer, which was criticized by an attorney for the plaintiffs, comes less than a week after Dow Chemical Co., one of Dow Corning's owners, lost an implant lawsuit case in Dow Corning said a bankruptcy court must first approve documents related to the settlement plan before it will go to the women for a vote. After that, the women will receive information on how to apply for the settlement.

Jackson said the company devised to hide potential health dangers.

And manufacturers are beginning to advertise to consumers when they adopt a safety program called HAACP - an ungainly acronym that means companies check for contamination repeatedly as ingredients move from harvest to grocery store.

The idea is "how many hurdles can we put in the way of bugs so we reduce the risk? We're not going to be able to go to zero," said Dane Processors Association.

The latest scare comes after 16 Colorado residents got E. coli linked to hamburgers processed by Hudson Foods Inc. The Agriculture Department says an outside slaughterhouse likely was the source, but Hudson recalled a massive 25 million pounds of hamburger after investigators discovered the company used leftover raw meat from one day in the next day's production, potentially causing a chain of contamination.

Although the U.S. food supply is considered the world's safest, about 9,000 Americans still die every year from food poisoning. Social Security to top Clinton's agenda

■ President Clinton's staff has begun to approach the issue of Social Security reform with key groups and lawmakers.

WASHINGTON - President Clinton's top advisers have quietly started laying the groundwork for major repairs to the nation's 62-year-old Social Security program. Early preparations have included informal consultations with seniorcitizens' advocates and key lawmakers. The main topic so far: how to broach the sensitive subject with the American public and Congress.

"The key recommendation that I carried into the White House is that we need to spend some time bringing the American people into this discussion," said John Rother of the American Association of Retired Persons, among those consulted by Clinton's staff.

Such an overture also would be important because Republican congressional leaders say a clear, public show of leadership from Clinton is imperative if they are to consider changing Social Security while congressional elections loom Without Clinton in front, "prein the West Bank.

BETHLEHEM, West Bank Palestinian policemen crouching behind barricades aimed their assault rifles at Israeli troops Monday during a tense stone-throwing protest against Israel's 26-day closure of the West Bank and Gaza

The showdown, which lasted about 30 minutes, was the most serious between Israeli and Palestinian police in nearly a year. It reflected the growing Palestinian frustration over Israeli restrictions imposed last month when two suicide bombers killed 16 people at a Jerusalem market.

"We are living in a big prison," said Khaled Takafkah, an 18-yearold protester. "The Israelis haven't left us with any hope for peace. They force us to fight to lift the closure on our city."

Bethlehem earlier Monday, some 40 Palestinians, including priests Bethlehem and the smaller towns in black robes, tore down part of a barrier of rocks, gravel and cinder blocks that had been set up by Most tourists also are barred from Israeli troops to block cars during the biblical birthplace of Jesus.

A Palestinian man pleads with Israeli soldiers to remove the boulders they're standing on, which block a Palestinian highway leading to the West Bank town of Bethlehem on Monday.

The protesters eventually withdrew but said they would be back Tuesday unless the restrictions were lifted.

Protesters clash in West Bank

The Bethlehem area has been hardest hit by the Israeli travel

Immediately after the bombing, Israel not only barred Palestinians from entering Israel, but it confined them to their towns and villages. In a separate confrontation near The internal closure was lifted gradually, but the residents of of Beit Sahour and Beit Jalla remain restricted to their areas.

Israel reportedly suspects that two masterminds of the Jerusalem bombing, leaders of the Islamic militant group Hamas, are hiding in Bethlehem.

In Monday's clashes over the closure, several dozen Palestinians marched toward Rachel's Tomb, an Israeli enclave in northern Bethlehem. Protesters threw bottles and stones; troops responded with tear gas and rubber bullets, injuring five Palestinians.

Palestinian police did not try to stop the stone-throwers. When Israeli troops moved closer to Palestinian-run areas, Palestinian policemen took up positions behind walls and barricades.

I had shoulder-length hair, wore only Birkenstocks and was an avid environmentalist and anti-nukes activist. But that soon was replaced by a buzz cut that | U.S. News & World Report maga-I still can't lose, starched uniforms and shiny shoes and a hatred for pre-dawn runs and push-ups

I am reminded of this by seeing all these fresh-faced, first-year students wandering around campus, set to begin the most fun and challenging part of their lives.

Some are excited by their sense of wonder. Some are anxious from their feelings of uncertainty. All will undergo challenges to their belief systems.

Some will learn that college is not for them. Some will realize that art history - not the business major their parents envisioned for them - makes them happy. All will change in some way. And that's the way it was for me.

It's been seven years almost to the week when I began college and attended the 10-day orientation period for new ROTC midshipmen. Being 2,000 miles from my home in New Hampshire was difficult enough without the intense immersion into military discipline and culture. My first days of college were spent not at keg parties and fraternity houses but on a military base near Denver where I and the 80 or so other recruits were first taught how to march, polish shoes and follow orders.

I remember how on the first day of ROTC orientation, while standing in line to get my head shaved, I was asked why I wanted to join the Navy. My father had been in the Navy, I answered.

He had wanted me to carry on the tradition and become an officer, I said.

It's something that would have made him proud, I responded.

None of these answers were very good.

But it took me several months before realizing I lacked the commitment needed to make it through four years of ROTC, let alone four years in the Navy paying back my scholarship.

I doubted whether I could handle the responsibility of protecting the hundreds of lives on board a ship and the millions at home. I doubted whether I could fire a weapon and kill another human being, even during a war. I doubted whether I could I could be happy carrying out orders that I didn't believe in. Such doubts get

The Navy may have been what my father needed But military life wasn't for me, I learned.

I likely would be in the Navy now - and miserable - had I not left ROTC at the end of that first year. I was lucky.

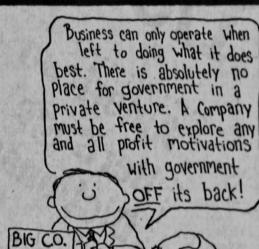

Some people never realize they are living someone else's dream.

The UI: Education at a good price

ven while students sat at Plato's feet, they probably were complaining to each other about how many goats they had to give to sit in on the lesson.

CEO

Students have always whined about how much they had to pay to be educated. At the UI, when it was announced last year that tuition was going to be raised, students protested about it being an unjustified increase.

In-state undergraduate tuition is about $2,700 this year compared to about $9,600 for out-of-state resinitely worth every cent.

But the UI is a good value outside of the Midwest, too.

As the new school year begins, awards begin to roll in for the UI from a variety of sources.

The UI was ranked 15th in the nation for public universities by zine and earned a honorable mention award from Time magazines' "College of the Year" competition. The UI also was ranked in the top 50 public universities by Money

The tattoo on Tavian Banks' right arm says "No Joke," and this season is no joking matter for the senior tailback.

After waiting in the wings for three years behind Iowa's all- banks by the time leading rusher, Sedrick Shaw, it's finally Tavian Banks' chance to shine.

"I'm definitely ready," Banks Career statistics said. "I'm very happy. I learned a lot being behind Sedrick, but Fresh. 35 257 7.3 5 this is my time now." Soph. 66 400 6.1 2

Banks said the three-year wait went quickly, but it was very hard playing the role of the Tot. 245 1286 5.2 16 No. 2 back.

"There was nothing you could lowa's all-time leaders really do. I didn't want to make commotions or anything like that," Banks said. "When I got in the game, I just did what I 2. Tony Stewart could do."

Last season Banks rushed for 4. Ronnie Harmon 629 yards on 144 carries and 5. Eddie Phillips reached the end zone nine 20. Tavian Banks 1,286 times. In his second career start, he handcuffed the Penn State defense as he racked up 116 yards with ence this season.

"Tavian worked so hard with the weights, he looks like he's wearing another pair of shoulder pads," Iowa coach Att. Yds. Avg. TD Hayden Fry said.

Besides the additional weight, Banks has also been studying films and acting as a leader on and off the field, Iowa running back coach Larry Holton said.

"He (Banks) looks good, he's done a real good job work-4,156 ing out this summer and kind of getting himself ready to be the starter," Holton said. But in the mind of Banks, nothing has changed. He said he has been preparing just the same, except there will be one glaring differ-

"I'll just be on the field more this year."

With a high-powered offense led by Matt Sherman and Heisman hopeful Tim Dwight, Banks will be called on frequently to pick up the slack, and it's the exact role he has been waiting for.

Knipper back to normal at tight end

By Chris Snider

The Daily Iowan ing to tackle Chris Knipper doesn't want to be accused during spring

So when the Dyersville, Iowa, native felt himself getting into a rut this summer, he did what any 21-year-old college student would do - he dyed his hair.

First, he chose his natural brown with sort of an orange tint. Then the 6-faut-5, 275-pound Knipper went blond, followed by auburn. But when he appeared at lows football media day August 13, his hair was back to normal

And so was his future with the Iowa football

Knipper, who started all but two games at tight and last season, moved one step gown the line and tested the waters at left guard this spring. After pondering the move for a while, he decided tight end was where he belonged.

So on August 12, he went into Iowa coach Hayden Fry's office and told his coach the

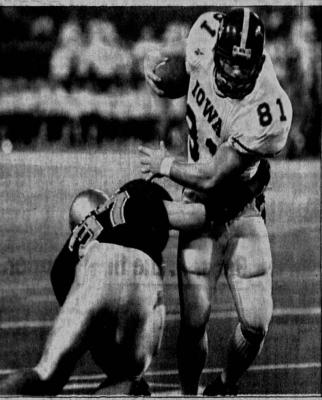

"This is what I want to do," Knipper told a group of reporters a day later. "This is where I'm going to be happy. Confidencewise and for my own sake, I feel better at tight end. I feel like I'll be a better tight

History said the move from tight end to tackle wasn't a bad idea. John Alt did it and went on to a 13-year career with the Kansas City Chiefs. More recently, Ross Verba did it and was the No. 1 pick of the Green Bay Packers last season.

But Knipper decided the tradition would not continue with him.

All along, Fry contented the decision was entirely up to Knipper. Whether Knipper could help the team more at tackle or tight end wasn't the real concern. Fry said he wanted Knipper to be where he wanted to be.

"If a kid's happy, he'll make it work," Fry See KNIPPER, Page 3B

NL ROUNDUP

Pirates 4, Dodgers 3
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mark Smith and Joe Randa homered on consecutive pitches off Todd Worrell in the ninth as the Pittsburgh Pirates stunned the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night for a doubleheader split.

Ramon Martinez (7-3) won his first official start in more than two months and the Dodgers roughed up Jason Schmidt (8-7) for eight runs in 4 1-3 innings to win the opener

Worrell (2-4) walked Eddie Williams and Randa followed with a shot to straightaway center that Otis Nixon couldn't catch despite nearly climbing the wall. Smith hit the next pitch for his second dramatic game-winner of Los Angeles saw its NL West lead over second-place San Francisco cut to one-half game. Pittsburgh, which stopped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak, remained three games by Houston, the NL Central leader. Marc Wilkins (8-3) pitched two scoreless innings for the victory.

Martinez had gone on the disabled list June 15 with a slight tear in his right rotator cuff.

Phillies 6, Padres 4

Phillies 10, Padres 1
PHILADELPHIA — Rico Brogna homered and drove in two runs as Philadelphia completed a doubleheader sweep. Midre Cummings went 6-for-9 in the doubleheader, getting his first four-hit game in the opener and driving in two runs.

Ron Blazier (1-1) got the win with two innings of relief in the second game, and Ricky Bottalico worked a perfect ninth for his 24th save as five pitchers combined on a fivehitter, sending San Diego to its sixth loss in eight games. Andy Ashby (6-10), who allowed five runs and eight hits in six innings, is 0-4 since July 20.

Mark Leiter (9-13) won the first game, scattering 10 hits and striking out nine in his second complete game of the season. Will Cunnane (6-3) gave up four runs and six hits in four-plus innings.

Reds 7, Rockies 6 Reds 6, Rockies 4

DENVER -- Chris Stynes had four hits and two RBIs and Jon Nunnally had three hits as Cincinnati completed a sweep of the day-night doubleheader.

In the opener, Reggie Sanders and Bret Boone hit two-run homers as the Reds jumped out to a 7-0 lead.

Larry Walker went 5-for-9 in the doubleheader, raising his average to .376, seven points behind NL leader Tony Gwynn. The Rockies had their 194th and 195th consecutive sellouts and became the first team this season to draw 3 million fans.

Jeff Shaw got two saves, giving him 27. With the bases loaded in the second game, Walker hit into a game-ending double play.

Gabe White (2-1) allowed three runs in 52-3 innings, while loser Mark Hutton (3-2) was pounded for five runs and 11 hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Giants 7, Mets 1

NEW YORK — Brian Johnson hit a two-run homer and Shawn Estes (17-4) beat New York for the third time this season, allowing the one run and six hits in 62-3 innings and sending the Mets to their 11th loss in 16 games. Johnson, acquired July 16 from Detroit, has hit three of his seven homers this season against New York. The catcher has 21 career homers in four years, seven against the Mets. Bobby Jones (13-8), 1-5 in his last 11 starts, gave up four runs and eight hits in 62-3 innings.

Cubs 3, Marlins 1

CHICAGO — Doug Glanville broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh with a two-run, bases-loaded single as Chicago beat Florida for the first time in eight games this season.

Kevin Tapani (3-3) allowed one run and seven hits in seven innings, and Terry Adams got three outs for his 13th save.

Alex Fernandez (16-9), who had won six straight decisions, gave up all three runs and nine hits in seven innings.

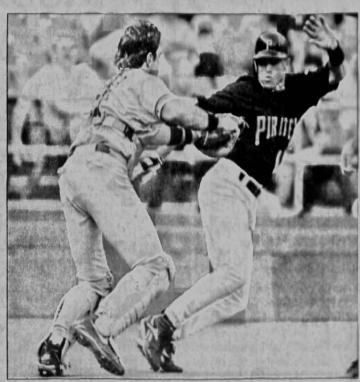

Expos 2, Cardinals 1

Once Popular, Twice

Great White released their first album, Out of the Night, in 1982. Their major label debut, Great White, was enoud on the EMI label in 1983, EMI frogged the hand two years later, when they were picked up by Capital Records for the Shor in the Dark album re-release in 1987. For Let it Rock, they signed with California's Imago label.

Their next two albums with Capitol, Once Bitten, and Twice Shy, went platinum and double platinum respectively before the band once again went searching for a label. Their Ian Hunter-cover, "Once Bitten... Twice Shy," surged to number five on the charts, along with Great White's popularity.

"That's the song that got stuck in everyone's head," said M. Gunner Gruhlke, owner of Gunnerz. "We're hoping we'll get people who heard that one when it came out in junior high, and they'll

Rock of the Ages

As far as current fans go, the band has cultivated an overseas fan base rivaling that of Jerry Lewis' French following. They signed to JVC for the Asian market in 1994, then signed their fifth bassist, Sean McNabb, for the "Let it Rock" tour.

Gruhlke is hoping the band's residual fame will pull in the fans for tonight's show. He said Gunnerz is one of the tour's smallest venues, which include clubs in Detroit and Peoria in the near

There is no suspense to hose scenes, because "Crash" contains a sea scane about every minutes, so it's just expected screen requibes, they are going to got naked. Surjoyaly, the sexual tension for most of "Crash" is shoot equal to that of an Emenualle' morie often feanamed late night on Cineman.

As with the are of any story, some conflict must be thrown in to open the karmonious balance at which we started, and here the rele is filled by an enigmatic endist artist known as Vaugha. Elian Krimus is aqually lifeless as the rest of the cust in this pivotal role which is supposed to serve as a missipat for this group of people farthering their exploration of their forbidden desires. He doesn't need to do much prodding however, and compared to everybody also. Vaughn down't seem all that word. He just has a

Any points Cronenberg wished to make with "Crash," such as "the shaping of the human body by modern technology," or that some people find the intensity of being near death crotic, are made early and then overwhelmed by a 100-minute running time. In other words, if a car was coming at you at the same pace in which "Crash" unfolds its story, it would step once it touched you.

The buzz word around "Crash" the word that critics have oved to administer to it - is brave." Yet after sifting through the wreckage that is hype, one can see that "Crash" is merely slightly left of center, and that it ven pulls some major punches for a film that is meant to be sincularly shocking. For instance, there is no male genitalia shown, in contrast to several sequences of full frontal nudity of the female cast. Also, when Vaughn and Ballard finally do satiate beir mutual desire for each other, the action is cut drastically short and is not convincing to

So, for once, with "Crash," let's get something right. If we're going to call Cronenberg brave, let it be for his ambitious effort and not the mediocre result.
