Dry UI Greeks deter pledges

■ The continuous decline in the number of students pledging houses could be due to a substance free Greek system in 1999.

By Kelley Chorley
The Daily Iowan

The cliché "it's all Greek to me" may no longer apply to the UI's Greek community if retention numbers keep falling. Since 1993, the number of students joining the UI Greek system has been slowly but consistently declining, leaving members puzzled as to why they aren't bringing in a crowd. Chris Schmidt, junior and member of the Delta Chi fraternity, said the lower numbers could be due to new students being overwhelmed by their first week of college, as well as the new UI drinking ban that is scheduled to go into effect in 1999.

"I think after the first couple of years that the campus goes dry, the Greek system will stay," he said. "After that, only a select few houses will be able to stay on campus."

On May 17, Vice President for Student Services Philip Jones announced that fraternities would be required to go completely dry by fall semester 1999 if they wanted to be recognized by the UI. UI senior Steve Zandpour, Phi Alpha Kappa rush chairperson, said the substance-free Greek system won't deter people from joining.

Eliminating alcohol completely from the Greek system will be next to impossible, because so many of the functions are held in other places besides the fraternity houses, Zandpour said.

"A lot of parties are held at the bars," Zandpour said. "If there's a six-way party at a bar, you can't control the alcohol that members might drink."

Strike slows students' studies

■ Though the UPS strike ended last month, UI students and professors are still having a tough time getting books.

By Jason Klabacha
The Daily Iowan

UPS workers may be back to work, but some UI students are having a hard time hitting the books.

Last month's UPS strike is still causing a delay for UI students who are finding difficulty getting required books for their classes. The strike has affected getting books to almost all UI departments.

UI senior Jill Hetland said her syllabus for one of her classes has remained the same, though some of her books aren't in. The readings and assignments that have been assigned must be made up as absent work, she said.

"I feel that it is ludicrous that students pay an incredible amount of money for books that do not arrive on time," she said. "Yet we are still responsible for the assignments given."

Johnathan Meester/
The Daily Iowan

However, many UI professors say they are trying to get around the lack of having a text, and in some cases syllabi have been turned up or changed within the first week of school.

However, George Herbert, University Bookstore manager, said the store has received the last big shipment of books, and that employees have worked to assure customers that a majority of books will be available by Friday.

Once books are received, it takes about one day for them to be available for purchase, Herbert said.

"We had people in over the holiday weekend working to have the books out and available to the public," he said. "Once this week is through, everything should be back to normal."

During the strike, the bookstore had most of its book supply coming through a smaller packing company, RPS. It was not able to handle the volume of books UPS was, causing the delay in the arrival of the textbooks.

The strike is not the only reason for the delay in books coming. Some teachers said they ordered their books late for various reasons.

Prairie Lights the 'alternative' bookstore in I.C.

■ UI students continue to use the Prairie Lights bookstore even though they can't charge with student IDs.

By Greg Kirschling
The Daily Iowan

UI senior Nicole Reinertson's parents don't always understand when she tells them she can't put her English class books on her U-bill at Prairie Lights Books.

Still, she said, she'd rather buy her books there than anywhere else.

"The employees there are much more helpful and spend more time with you," she said. "They're really nice about ordering books if they're out. If you could get a charge card for your U-bill, (buying books at Prairie Lights) would be awesome."

Prairie Lights, 15 S. Dubuque St.,

only orders books for about 70 instructors or about one percent of all classes at university, owner Jim Harris said. Still, Harris understands students' U-bill plight.

He argues that students don't always charge their meals on their U-bills; they go to other places to eat, and that's how they should look at textbook shopping at Prairie Lights.

He also said Prairie Lights can't charge books to U-bills because the UI doesn't let them. If it turns out that students could one day charge to their U-bills at Prairie Lights, Harris would be just as pleased as the students.

"I would love to see the University allow us to (charge books on U-bills). They could charge us a processing fee, and I would love it," Harris said. "Actually, I think that (the University Bookstore) has an unfair advantage

Football fever sweeping campus

■ Although student demand is huge, tickets are still available for Saturday's game.

By Cori Zarek
The Daily Iowan

One phone call and an open wallet equals a student section ticket to a rowdy UI home football game.

Tickets still remain for all home games and are available at the gate or in advance at Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

get your TICKETS

- No games sold out
- $26 for public
- $138 for public season
- $60 for student season
- 8,000 student tickets
- Northwestern only away game not sold out
- 4000 seats for away games
- Tickets available at Carver-Hawkeye Arena

According to Finke, tickets can also be charged by phone at 335-9323 with one drawback: long lines at the pick-up window

However, there are still many tickets for the home games in the 70,000 seat Kinnick Stadium, she said.

"No games are sold out, but it's limited for the Illinois game," she said.

Four thousand tickets are reserved for each visiting school. The only away game with tickets remaining is against Northwestern.

"The other away games sold out the first of June," Finke said. "You can get tickets through Northwestern."

UI students are anticipating their first Iowa football game and many said they are looking forward to sitting in the student section, and agree the festivities should be an uninhibited good time.

Mammoth crowds expected at Princess Diana's funeral

■ Buckingham palace extends funeral route to accommodate huge crowds of mourners.

By Sue Leeman
Associated Press

LONDON — Fearing that mourners could be crushed in the throng, Buckingham Palace decided Wednesday to more than triple the length of the route for Princess Diana's funeral procession through London.

The royal family said it was "deeply touched" by the public outpouring of grief over the princess's death in a high-speed car crash in Paris early Sunday.

The coffin, borne aboard a gun carriage, will leave Saturday from Diana's Kensington Palace home instead of St. James's Palace as first planned, adding 2½ miles to the original one-mile route to Westminster Abbey, palace officials said.

"It is important there is a longer route so we can have as many people able to participate," said Prime Minister Tony Blair, who spoke by telephone Wednesday to Diana's ex-husband, Prince Charles.

"We want it to be something of which Princess Diana would have been proud."

The funeral proceedings at Westminster Abbey will be shown live on two giant TV screens — about 16 feet high and 22 feet wide — in Hyde Park. Diana's coffin then will travel a 77-mile route to the princess's home village for burial.

All week, relatives, close friends and staff quietly have been visiting Diana's coffin, which lies before the altar in the Chapel Royal at St. James's Palace. Diana's brother Charles, the ninth Earl Spencer, looked distressed and covered his face as he was driven into the palace grounds Wednesday afternoon.

"There is a constant, loving, prayerful presence in the chapel," one Queen Elizabeth II's chaplains said, speaking

help me
HARLAN

Dear Readers,
Friday night, I was mugged at gun point. I was walking to a neighborhood bar with a friend. We took the same route we had taken countless times before. It's a nice neighborhood, a friendly block, it wasn't even late, but for some reason, I was in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Pretending to enter an apartment building, a suspicious looking man doubled back behind us and shadowed us from behind. As we crossed the street, he followed. Quickening our pace, he walked faster, rapidly closing the 10 or 15 yards separating us.

As we turned the corner, he grabbed my arm and said, "Guys, this is a stick-up."

In his right hand was a gun pointed at my side. My friend, now about five yards in front of me, continued walking as the assailant focused his attention on me and my money. Out of harms way, my friend hid behind a van, later running for help.

The mugger told me, "Get down on the ground. Where's your money? How much do you have?"

I answered, "About $35.00"

He shouted, "Where's the rest?"

I replied, "That's it, I promise. Please, don't hurt me." He screamed, "Shut the **** up!"

With that he told me to turn over and went through my front pockets. I closed my eyes, protecting his identity for fear of making eye contact. After a thorough search, he told me to turn over again, this time he ripped the chain from around my neck.

He shouted, "Don't look back, don't even move." With my chin resting on the cement, I heard footsteps, a car door slam and tires screech.

Confused, I got to my feet and ran for help. Suddenly, a police car rounded the corner. My friend was in the back of the car motioning me inside. We didn't have much to go by. It all happened so quickly, it was dark, it could have been any one.

As we circled the block, the police scanner told of another mugging, this one, only a block away.

We never found the guy or my wallet, but I'm all right and unharmed. As I sit here writing, I think how lucky I am to be here today, lucky, the gun didn't go off, lucky, I wasn't physically assaulted, lucky, I wasn't kidnapped or possibly murdered.

On a lighter note, I had a frequent coffee diners card in my wallet. I had slowly been working my way toward a free mug and was actually only one coffee away.

Unfortunately, I'll probably never see my coffee card again, but I did get my free mug. No, not the one filled with hot, steamy, tasty brew. Rather, this is the one filled with fear, the one I now have no choice but to carry with me forever.

No refills - please.

Dear Readers,
Honestly, this whole episode has left me a little rattled. I too, have a great deal of common sense when it comes to personal safety. I made one mistake, I thought living in a nice and comfortable neighborhood meant living in a safe and secure neighborhood.

Unfortunately, no such neighborhood exists. It could have just as easily been you, but instead, it was me. So, please, be smart, be safe and always be aware. I hope you will NEVER have to say it, but listen closely, "I never thought it would happen to me."

UI Guide to Tailgating

Pete Thompson/The Daily Iowan

Iowa Hawkeye fans tailgate before the Arizona game last September in a UIHC parking lot in hopes for a Hawkeye victory. Iowa beat Arizona 21 to 20.

Brews, Booze, Brats and Football

Tailgating, one of Hawkeye fans' favorite activities, is an art meant to be perfected.

By Jennifer Goodman
The Daily Iowan

Tailgating is the favorite activity for Hawks fans to kick off a football game. The only problem for the inexperienced is how to do it.

This quick and easy guide to tailgating will give the basics of what to take, where to go, some things to do, and, in some cases, what not to do.

The rest can be left up to your imagination. Or, just hook up with some tailgating veterans, who can guide you.

UI junior Jennifer Hunt has been tailgating since high school.

"I'd come up a couple of times a year with my aunt and uncle and we'd drink, grill out, just hang out," she said.

Since she became a student at the UI, she and her friends have continued to join her relatives. She said her aunt and uncle decorate their car and themselves entirely in black and gold.

UI senior Jackie Jones, who tailgates with Hunt, said that they usually get up at the crack of dawn to tailgate and party until game time.

Jones and Hunt's approach to tailgating is fairly low-key. If getting publicity is more your style, you'll want to take lessons from Mike Elby, a UI alumnus.

In past years he and his tailgating friends have participated in several stunts that have gotten them in the news. Once, a member of his group dressed up like Santa Claus for a Wisconsin game.

"Santa" was a complete Hawkeye fan, wearing black-and-gold overalls and sitting in the front seat. The UI cheerleaders pulled him down in front of the student section, catching the attention of an ESPN camera. The footage was seen that night on ESPN.

At a different game, he and his friends from tailgating painted "GO HAWKS" on their chests and sat in the front row. They had their picture in the Quad-City Times for that effort.

The top tailgating spots aren't hard to find; just follow the hordes of Hawkeye fans. On game day, Melrose Avenue is so thronged with tailgating fans that driving down it is impossible.

Usually there are enough cars there that you won't need yours, just walk down and join your friends. Whether you plan to drive or not, get there early because the good spots fill up fast.

Classic renovation for Schaeffer

■ UI students and professors are lauding the beauty of the new Schaeffer Hall.

By Erin Jordan

Students and faculty are excited about the newly renovated Schaeffer Hall which just reopened this fall.

UI graduate student Jason Duncan said since its two-year renovation, Schaeffer Hall has become majestic in its appearance.

"I was here many years before and I feel it's much more comfortable and distinguished looking," he said.

UI junior Beth Walloch said although the building has a classical design, it is also furnished with contemporary luxuries like computers and air conditioning.

"I think it looks a lot more modern," she said. "It's a lot better looking."

The renovation technically modernized Schaeffer, yet kept the classical style and tradition of the 95-year-old building, said Jeffrey Cox, history professor and member of the committee that advised Schaeffer's renovation. Schaeffer Hall still blends in with the rest of the Pentacrest's late-19th century style.

Walking into Schaeffer Hall, one sees light woodwork trimming the walls, floorboards and doors. The walls are repainted white and beige, giving the building a bright appearance.

Schaeffer Hall is also sporting new stair lifts to match the marble floors, new technological equipment in the classrooms and air conditioning.

Pat Boutelle, manager of the UI

Jason Duncan,
UI graduate student

Facilities Planning Department, said much of the original quarter-sawn oak trim was salvaged and redone. Some new woodwork was added but the differences between it and the original are minimal.

Some of the large columns that adorn the stairwells were repaired and others were replaced, Boutelle said. All of the columns were expertly hand-painted to duplicate marble. Also, the old marble floors were surrounded by new lighter marble flooring.

Construction of Schaeffer started in the summer of 1995 and was completed this fall. Boutelle estimated the cost of the renovation at $8.6 million, and the renovation was completed on time. Renovations included inside and outside work.

"Schaeffer Hall was redone from top to bottom," Boutelle said. Faculty members were very pleased with the outcome of the renovation.

Professor Linda Kerber of the UI History Department said that the architects "sustained the integrity of a great building. I think if they would have just put in air conditioning and new technology and not kept the integrity of the building, I would have been disappointed."

Cox said that Schaeffer was a "turn of the century" building, which was built about 1902, and the architects kept the original design in mind during the renovation.

"The offices are very nicely done as well as the hallways and classrooms. This is a success for the UI," he said.

Boutelle added that the UI plans to renovate Macbride auditorium next summer.

Iowa City resident charged with forgery

An Iowa City man has been charged with more than 50 counts of check forgery in connection with a check-writing spree in July.

Scott Jackson, 32, of 921 Summit St., allegedly stole a total of 55 checks from his former roommate, Iowa City resident Ben Elrod, and a person he didn't know, court documents show.

The checks were then written between July 10-23 at several local businesses for more than $3,200, $700 from Elrod and $2,500 from the other person.

Iowa City Police Officer Brian Krei said Jackson and Elrod were no longer living together when the checks were stolen.

"They had split, but they still had some things together," he said.

Krei interviewed Jackson about the forgeries, and Jackson then admitted to having stolen the checks, court records show.

Elrod said he asked the bank to check the signatures on the checks following their notification that the account was overdrawn, and he said that they found them to be different from his own signature.

Jackson and Elrod had lived together for three years, Elrod said, and they had had problems throughout that time. Following a quarrel between the two in late June, during which Elrod said Jackson assaulted him, Jackson left to move in with another person. Elrod said he has filed assault charges against Jackson for the alleged assault, and that Jackson goes to trial Sept. 5.

Elrod said that the alleged check forgeries were part of ongoing problems with Jackson. He said Jackson moved back in mid-July, and that shortly after, his checks were stolen.

No court date has been set for Jackson on the forgery charges.

Forgery is a Class D Felony.

Department of Mathematics TAs teaching minus office space

■ Teaching Assistants in the UI Department of Mathematics are frustrated at the lack of office space.

By Kelli Otting
The Daily Iowan

Many UI students taking classes with the UI Mathematics Department have had great difficulty finding their teaching assistants' (TAs') offices.

So have the teaching assistants. UI teaching assistants in the mathematics department say their new office space in MacLean Hall is too crowded, and many are still without phones.

Larry Peterson, a teaching assistant for the mathematics department, said his students wondered how they could contact him without a phone number on the syllabus.

"When we were moved, our phones did not come with us, and they are still hooked up yet," he said. "Right now there is no way for students to contact me by phone."

In MacLean Hall, the TAs are placed into offices with two or three other assistants, depending on the size of the room. There is a lack of space because the UI Department of Computer Science currently competes for office space.

UI graduate student Daylene Zielinski, a mathematics TA, said she was upset with the UI for the way she and her colleagues have been treated.

During the past two years, the TAs have played a type of musical chairs in various offices during the renovation of Schaeffer Hall. UI Mathematics Department TA offices were moved to an East Washington Street building but have now been moved to MacLean Hall.

The UI Departments of Statistics moved to Schaeffer Hall when the renovations were complete and computer science remains in MacLean Hall.

UI teaching assistants in the mathematics department were given the keys to their new offices, but they were not allowed to move in until the first day of classes because the statistic department had not transferred to Schaeffer.

At the same time, the lease on their Washington Street building ended May 1, leaving many TAs without office space. The UI had an extension on the lease August 1 after teaching assistants and faculty requested more time to finalize the preparations.

Associate Professor David Manderscheid said most TAs were pleased with the office space in comparison to the Washington Street building.

"They've expressed to me that having an office within the department's building was more profitable than sharing a room with 25 other TAs and being so far away," Manderscheid said. "This move is definitely a plus for the department. It's nice to have all the TAs back with the department."

Zielinski said most of the office problems were caused by the renovations of Schaeffer Hall, but he added the matter could have been treated in a more professional manner.

Before any transitions were made, the three departments had to reach an agreement on the shared space. They also needed approval from the UI before any offices were open to the new occupants.

The math and computer science departments were not able to finalize the TAs and other faculty members office arrangements until renovations were complete and the statistics department was able to make the transition.

On the first day of class 40 percent of the TAs were moved into MacLean Hall, and the other 60 percent were placed in Macbride Hall. The department's ultimate goal is to have 100 percent of the TAs in the MacLean Hall.

New visiting professor straight outta England

■ A former BBC correspondent and world traveler is adjusting to the world of teaching at the UI.

By Jennifer Goodman
The Daily Iowan

In his 24 years with the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC), Philip Short has covered Hong Kong during the handover, Beijing during the death of President Mao, and South Africa during apartheid.

Naturally, many of his peers are asking him what could be so glamorous about moving to Iowa City.

"I probably shouldn't say this, but when I told a friend of mine in Paris that I was coming to Iowa, he asked me what I did wrong," Short said.

A tall, thin man with grayish hair who grew up in Bristol, England, Short said he is looking forward to teaching at the UI. Short, a 30-year veteran of foreign correspondence is visiting the UI as a Distinguished Visiting Professional.

He quit the BBC this year because of his age, and because he wanted to pursue a career in writing, he said. Short is teaching a class in political development of third world countries at the International Center.

Ironically, he said he hasn't touched a newspaper or turned on a TV lately because he needs a break from the news media he's been a part of for 30 years.

But, he said he managed to see news covering the recent death of Princess Diana and said the incident could lead to a major change in the British monarchy.

"We may well see in the next five to ten years a very strong movement to see Prince William as king," he said. "(Diana) will become more and more popular and, while it's too early to say anything, Charles may get passed over."

Short will be giving two speeches in Iowa City, the first of which will take place tonight at 6 p.m. at the University Athletic Club, on the recent handover of Hong Kong to China. The speech is invitation-only.

Short came to the UI after being awarded a National Resource Center grant through International Programs and the College of Liberal Arts.

He will teach two courses at the UI. This fall he is teaching a course on the Political Development of Third World Countries. In the spring he will teach a class on foreign correspondence.

He finds it totally opposite of anything he has ever done, he said.

"I'm used to having a minute or less to get across a complex thought without distorting it," he said. "Now I have two-and-a-half hours to say it and keep my students interested. It's great fun."

He decided to teach and do research for his forthcoming book at the UI because of its libraries' reputations.

"I needed a place to do my research, so a university was the natural place," said Short.

Short's next speech will be held on Friday, September 5 from noon to 1:15 p.m. at the Pappajohn Business Administration Building, Room W401.

The presentation is called "Hong Kong and China: Smoke and Mirrors." This will be the first of three lectures co-sponsored by the UI College of Business, the Project on Rhetoric of Inquiry, and the UI.

Borushaski charged with first-degree murder

■ The murders at last year's state fair have been linked to the daughter, whose husband was already charged with the deaths.

By Roger Munns
Associated Press

DES MOINES — The Missouri daughter of two funnel cake stand operators killed during the 1996 Iowa State Fair agreed Wednesday to return to Iowa to face charges she helped plan her parents' deaths.

Jamie Borushaski was being held on $500,000 in the Jasper County Jail in Carthage, Mo., after she was charged Tuesday with two counts of first-degree murder in the Aug. 12 deaths of Bobie and Marilyn Blewer of Pierce City, Mo.

Borushaski, 24, of Joplin, Mo., waived extradition Wednesday at a hearing in Jasper County. It was not immediately known when she would return to Polk County where the charges were filed.

Her arrest came nine months after her husband, Rodney Borushaski, was convicted in Polk County of two counts of first-degree murder in the Blewers' deaths.

"She participated in the planning of the murder of her parents," said Sgt. Miles Parks of the Missouri State Patrol. The Blewers were found gagged, bound and shot to death in their trailer, which was parked on the fairgrounds. Prosecutors said Rodney Borushaski, a pit bull breeder from Granby, Mo., wanted his in-laws dead so he could inherit their money.

Authorities said Borushaski hired an acquaintance, Jerimy Sneed, as the triggerman. Sneed pleaded guilty and both he and Rodney Borushaski are serving life terms without a chance for parole.

"I'd say her husband made the contact with Jerimy, but she participated in some conversations about when and where the murder was carried out," Parks said.

Jamie Borushaski testified on behalf of her husband during his January trial and said neither one of them had anything to do with the slayings.

But Polk County Attorney John Sarcone said Wednesday that after a year of investigation, he was convinced that she plotted to kill her parents.

"There were certain things that came out in the trial and certain things we learned in the investigation. At this point, we feel comfortable in filing a charge," Sarcone said. He refused to elaborate.

Borushaski was arrested about 5 p.m. Tuesday by the Missouri State Patrol.

"It was just a routine arrest," Parks said. "We got her outside and away from her children. She offered no resistance and wasn't shocked by the arrest." He said juvenile authorities met the officers at Borushaski's apartment and took her two children into protective custody. Parks described her as sullen when she was taken to jail.

The Blewers' other children, Beau, 19, and Jada, 17, carried on the family tradition by operating their parents' stand at several fairs this summer, including the Iowa State Fair last month.

Ms. Blewer is now a senior at East Newton High School in Granby, Mo., and her brother is a freshman at North East Oklahoma A&M at Miami, Okla., a junior college where he is studying horse management.

Neither could be reached for comment Wednesday, but Ms. Blewer told The Associated Press last month that she and her sister had little contact in recent months.

"I just don't have anything to say," she said. "I didn't know what to say to her or anything, so I thought it would be best if I didn't talk to her right now."

Akins refuses place on Police Citizens Review Board

■ The second appointee to the Police Citizens' Review Board has refused the position, citing time constraints.

By Steven Cook
The Daily Iowan

Maybe the third time will be the charm.

Two consecutive appointees to the Police Citizens' Review Board (PCRB) haven't worked out, following one's dismissal and another's refusal of the position.

Floyd Akins Jr. was appointed to the board following the disqualification of David Coleman, who was found to live outside the Iowa City city limits.

Akins said he doesn't believe he resigned from the board, but rather never accepted the position in the first place. He said he wasn't notified by the Iowa City Council prior to his name being announced.

Iowa City Mayor Naomi Novick said Akins' letter of notification was in the mail, the official way of council notification, but it hadn't reached him yet.

"We don't phone people to ask them if they want to accept the position," she said. "We assume they wanted it if they turned in an application."

After he realized he had been appointed, Akins declined the position, citing time constraints as the main reason.

"I would have liked to have the opportunity to see the time commitment involved with the position before having my name announced," he said.

When he applied, Akins said, he had concerns about the time factor but said a friend told him to "cross that bridge" when he came to it.

"Well I've crossed that bridge, and I decided I won't have time to do it," he said.

A capital campaign director for Grinnell College, Akins said his job and his new child would take up the time he would have to devote to the board.

Akins, who is African-American, expressed concern that this appointment was partially due to his race, due to the fact that Coleman was also African-American.

City Councilor Dee Norton said the PCRB selection process involved each member selecting a list of ten people and alternates in pairs and that on his list Akins was with Coleman and that Coleman was first.

Norton did say diversity was a factor in the decision, but he said qualifications came first.

"We just have to go back and see where we stand," Norton said.

While the Council was looking for diversity on the board, said Novick, they were looking several different types of diversity, including age and neighborhood, and not only race diversity.

Norton said the Council should have another appointee to fill the position at Monday's Council work session.

The PCRB was formed in response to the Aug. 1996 police shooting of Eric Shaw.

Senate approves plan for war on tobacco

■ The Senate takes a much larger than anticipated move against the tobacco industry by approving Clinton's request.

Democratic Senator Tom Harkin

By Curt Anderson
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Reversing course by an unexpectedly large margin, the Senate dealt the tobacco industry a blow Wednesday by approving the Clinton administration's $34 million request for a crackdown on cigarette sales to teenagers.

“Big tobacco fought it because they want to keep on getting these kids hooked,” said Democratic Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa, the main sponsor of legislation backing the administration's funding request. “This is one step in a big battle, but it's a great step.”

In July, the Senate rejected an attempt to fully fund the Food and Drug Administration program that would provide money for all 50 states to ensure stores are checking identification to prevent minors from buying tobacco products. Instead, the Senate had approved just $4.9 million, enough for perhaps 10 states.

During the August congressional recess, tobacco foes lobbied furiously to boost the amount, focusing on a provision of the just-completed balanced budget deal that permits tobacco companies to use $50 billion from a future cigarette tax increase to help pay for the proposed national settlement of health-related smoking lawsuits.

Harkin also changed the source of the $34 million for FDA from an assessment on tobacco companies to a reduction in computer money for the Agriculture Department.

“I think in many cases people have had a closer look and that they feel very comfortable with the vote,” said Senate Minority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., who switched his vote. When the issue came to a vote Wednesday, senators joined Daschle in rejecting an attempt to kill Harkin's amendment by a surprisingly decisive 70-28 vote. Harkin's previous effort failed 52-48.

The amendment was added to the Agriculture Department spending bill for fiscal 1998. It now goes to a conference committee to be reconciled with the House version. The House has approved $24 million for the FDA youth anti-smoking initiation. Meanwhile, a Senate committee continued hearings Wednesday on the proposed $368 billion settlement of state health-related smoking lawsuits despite growing sentiment that Congress will put the issue off until next year because of its complexity and controversial nature.

“At this point, it doesn't appear as if we're prepared ... to come to any conclusion about the tobacco agreement,” Daschle said. “We want to make sure we've covered the bases.”

On Tuesday, the wholesale price of cigarettes rose by 7 cents a pack, about 7.5 percent, which should translate into a 4 percent retail boost for smokers. The rise, which follows an increase of about 5 cents a pack in March, will be used by companies to pay for smoking lawsuit settlements.

Under the FDA's crackdown on teen smoking, government money will be distributed to states that request it to help them check retail stores to determine if they are selling tobacco products illegally to youngsters under 18. The Clinton administration estimates that such sales could reach $1.2 billion annually.

Opponents complained that Harkin's use of Senate rules to block the agriculture spending bill to force a vote on his amendment was a violation of an agreement aimed at speeding appropriations measures through Congress. Nobody spoke against the funding the FDA program itself.

“We're all for doing everything possible to persuade young people, minors, not to smoke. That's not the issue here,” said Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., chairman of the Senate Appropriations panel on agriculture.

The tobacco industry is a prime source of campaign contributions. A watchdog group reported Tuesday that senators who had previously opposed full FDA funding received 15 times more tobacco money during the last election year than did supporters.

Until recently, the industry rarely lost a vote in Congress. But tobacco foes said they were emboldened by the Senate action, vowing that the next target would be the provision allowing the industry to use the $50 billion in cigarette tax proceeds to offset the settlement costs.

“I think we have a good chance of perhaps doing something on that one, too,” Harkin said. “The tide is changing on this issue.”

Arizona defense attorney John Dowd for Arizona Governor Fife Symington gestures as he talks to reporters on Wednesday. Symington was convicted Wednesday of defrauding lenders when he was a real estate developer, a verdict that forces the two-term Republican to leave office.

Arizona governor convicted of fraud

■ Arizona Gov. Symington is convicted of fraud and forced from office.

By Jerry Nachtigal

PHOENIX — Gov. Fife Symington was convicted Wednesday of lying to get millions in loans to shore up his collapsing real estate empire, becoming the second Arizona governor in a decade to be forced from office by scandal.

“I have never been one to linger and I don't intend to start now,” a tearful Symington said in a resignation speech after the verdict. His lawyer, John Dowd, said the two-term Republican would leave office Friday.

Symington, 52, would have been forced under the state constitution to leave office anyway when his felony conviction became official at his Nov. 10 sentencing, where he faces a lengthy prison term and $6.25 million in fines.

His resignation sets the stage for him to be replaced by the secretary of state, Republican Jane Hull.

“The future lies ahead of us, not behind us,” said Symington, “and others will now be entrusted to lead us there.”

Symington, who was elected on a promise to run the state with the same business acumen he brought to real estate, stared blankly at the table in front of him as the bank fraud verdicts were read. Muffled sobs were audible in the courtroom from spectators, and one juror wiped a tear.

“What is truly unfortunate is that Fife Symington will never be tried for his most serious offense — deceiving and lying to the voters of Arizona,” said state Democratic Party Chairman Mark Fleisher.

The jury found Symington guilty on seven counts alleging he filed false financial statements to banks. He was acquitted of three counts, including a charge that he tried to use his political muscle as governor against a pension fund he owed $10 million.

U.S. District Judge Roger Strand declared a mistrial on the remainder of the 21 counts because the jury was unable to reach a verdict. Prosecutor David Schindler said he would consider whether to try Symington again on those charges.

In 1987, Republican Gov. Evan Mecham was impeached and removed by the state Senate. He was later acquitted of charges related to a questionable campaign loan.

“What we need is an honest governor in this state. Enough is enough,” said Tucson resident Fred Ortiz, who watched live TV coverage of Wednesday's verdict in an electronics store. “There's too much corruption. First it was Ev Mecham, now it's Symington.”

Symington, a Harvard-educated great-grandson of U.S. Steel co-founder Henry Clay Frick, was indicted last year on federal charges alleging that he repeatedly lied about the health of his troubled real estate businesses when applying for loans in the late 1980s.

Several jurors said a key to their convictions were financial statements that showed Symington overstated or understated his net worth, depending on what was necessary to get a loan.

But juror Robert Bamond said he would still vote for Symington.

“I think he's doing a good job as governor,” Bamond said. “As a businessman, he didn't do as well. I think he got caught up in desperation.”

New questions surround democratic fund raising

■ Today marks the beginning of the Senate investigation of Al Gore's fund raising methods.

By James Rowley
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — On the eve of Senate hearings about his appearance at a controversial Buddhist temple fund-raiser, Vice President Al Gore is helping Virginia Democrats raise $500,000 for their gubernatorial candidate.

The vice president was scheduled to attend the $10,000-a-ticket dinner at the home of Sen. Charles Robb, D-Va., as the Senate prepared to examine the 1996 temple fund-raiser and new questions arose about calls Gore made to donors from the White House.

The Democratic National Committee acknowledged that $120,000 of the money Gore raised in six of the 46 calls from his office was assigned to the party's “hard-money” account.

Neither the donors nor Gore was told that part of the “soft-money” donations was placed in that separate account, which the party can use to help candidates directly, said Steve Langdon, a DNC spokesperson.

Accordingly, Langdon said Wednesday the DNC would transfer $120,000 to its “soft-money” fund, which is supposed to be used for party-building activities and not to benefit specific candidates.

The distinction between the two types of donations is important because Attorney General Janet Reno has argued that Gore's fundraising calls from the White House did not violate any laws. Reno has argued that “soft-money” contributions are not covered by existing statutes barring political fund raising in government offices.

Reno's legal interpretation, cited to support her decision not to appoint an independent counsel, is disputed by Republican senators.

The fund-raiser Gore was to attend Wednesday night was organized to raise money for the already flush campaign coffers of Lt. Gov. Don Beyer, a Washington area car dealer who is in a close race for governor this fall.

Organizers of the event in suburban McLean, Va., said they expected it would raise $500,000 for Beyer's campaign.

“The vice president will continue to raise money and help Democratic candidates across the country,” said Lorraine Voles, a spokesperson for the vice president. “He is happy to be able to go to Virginia and show his support for Don Beyer.”

Gore's appearance at the Beyer fund-raiser was scheduled as the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee prepared to hear testimony Thursday from three Buddhist nuns, as well as a former top aide to the vice president.

The nuns from the Hs Lai Temple outside Los Angeles are expected to testify about their $5,000 donations to the DNC, for which they were reimbursed by the temple.

The scheme to raise $60,000 from the temple and disguise it as individual donations from monks and nuns was hatched by DNC fundraiser John Huang a day after Gore attended a luncheon there on April 29, 1996.

Government scientists consider possibility of revival of thalidomide

WASHINGTON (AP) — A company seeks to revive thalidomide, the most infamous drug this century. Government scientists debate whether to allow the drug to be sold to treat rosacea without risking a repeat of the 1960s horror.

All sides acknowledge that thalidomide was a disaster. It happened in the Food and Drug Administration's approval of thalidomide as a sedative for pregnant women. The question is whether the drug offers enough benefit to justify the risk, and if so, how to manage it as best as possible.

Mediator helps peace process

Mediation with Israel shows signs of being a positive and productive process.

Barry Schweid
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Mediator Dennis Ross held a four-hour meeting today with an Israeli delegation and Israel's ambassador raised hopes negotiations with Syria could be reopened.

Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, at Israel's urging, has already made Damascus a stop next week on her first trip to the area since taking office in January.

Ambassador Elishu Ben-Elissar did not explain his optimistic remark. He described the meeting with Ross as "good, frank and constructive."

Ross and other State Department officials avoided any description of the mediator's meeting with Israeli Cabinet secretary Danny Naveh and Uzi Arad, foreign policy adviser to Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu.

Naveh, however, criticized Yasser Arafat's Palestinian Authority as failing to fulfill an obligation to root out terrorists in areas under the Authority's control.

"The main issue on the agenda is how we move forward in ways that we have further progress on security," Naveh said.

Since taking the road to peace with the Palestinians four years ago Israel has sustained its largest loss of life at the hands of terrorists. The Clinton administration calls the attackers "enemies of peace" and says they should not be permitted to deter the drive for an accord.

Ross is due to meet on Thursday with a Palestinian delegation. The Israelis said they would make a statement after their talk with Ross.

Israel's negotiations with Syria and with the Palestinians are in suspension. But Ben-Elissar, who warned last month that Syrian forces were making war preparations, said there was "some hope" for a resumption.

The separate sessions with the senior American mediator, who found U.S.-sponsored peace talks on the rocks during a recent trip to the region, are designed to set up Albright's visit to the Middle East.

Albright will stop in Israel, Palestinian-held territory, Egypt, Jordan, Syria, Saudi Arabia and possibly Lebanon beginning next Tuesday. It will be her first trip to the area as secretary of state.

James Foley, a department spokesman, declined to list the issues Ross and then Albright would discuss with the two sides. However, Foley noted the security situation had improved.

North Korean soldiers bringing in harvest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teetering on the edge of famine, North Korea has sent troops into farm fields to bring in the harvest for the military, a senior U.S. officer said Wednesday. The operation has resulted in more food but at the cost of cutting summer training in half.

North Korean leader Kim Jong Il clearly has ordered that more food be given the nation's million-man military, said the senior officer, who is based in South Korea and focuses on its defense.

"A lot of effort is being focused on trying to get a crop in," said the officer, who spoke with reporters on condition of anonymity.

Mir crew readys for spacewalk

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. astronaut Michael Foale and Russian cosmonaut Anatoly Solovyov rehearsed today for a spacewalk outside Mir, checking equipment and reviewing procedures for the six-hour mission.

Russian and U.S. space officials said it was a routine day of preparations but an important one. Foale had no training on Earth for this repair mission and has been cramming in last-minute practice sessions ahead of Saturday's spacewalk. The spacewalk itself was pushed back three days to give him more training time.

The spacewalk will be only the second by an American astronaut on the Mir — and the longest. Jerry Linenger performed a nearly five-hour walk with a cosmonaut last spring.

Vote to oust Baptist minister fails

DENVER (AP) — Dissident ministers shouting "Let the people speak!" were drowned out by hymns and reporters were thrown out of the meeting hall Wednesday as the president of the nation's largest black denomination survived his third no-confidence vote in three days.

The Rev. Henry Lyons, accused of mis-using church funds, promised immediate reforms within the 8.5-million-member National Baptist Convention U.S.A.

"The people have spoken, and they spoke in a great way," Lyons said after the raucous vote in his favor. "I do consider this a serious, serious wake-up call. We must tighten up our ship."

The Rev. Calvin Butts of New York City had moved for Lyons' ouster, accusing him of "deceptive acts." The motion failed by a voice vote of the 1,000 delegates.

"Macintosh® computers have been a fundamental tool in my class work. I use my Mac to write all my essays, transcribed my class notes, keep track of my schedule, research information on the internet, and correspond with my professors via e-mail. I use my Mac for school work as well as a fun and creative outlet. Mac makes my life easier. I find other computers to be way inferior to the Macintosh. They are difficult to operate and confusing. ## Motivation for the brain

"Work is the place where millions of people go at 8:00 in the morning to turn off their brains." - Anonymous

True? For the most part. How do I, a stary-eyed college junior who still uses his mother's washing machine, know so? This past summer I endured twelve weeks of a lousy internship.

I wouldn't allow my brain to turn off, which is probably why I had such a hard time. In the belly of corporate America, I felt reduced to nothing more than a human robot and a number. All summer long, I was either entering meaningless (in my opinion) figures into a computer or some other task that required the brain power of a six-year-old.

Did I actually learn anything? Sorry, nothing to write home about. I now know what I don't want to do for the rest of my life and have returned back to school more motivated than ever.

As an intern, one expects to do a little grunt work, which I did. However, I noticed that many full-time employees did some of the same no-brainer work assigned to me.

How did I survive? I didn't. I left two weeks early on a sour note. Unfortunate? Yes. Do I regret it? No.

I survived by taking my summer into my own hands. Every once in a while during the workday, I could be found reading and writing by a nearby lake. Something deep down inside me took control and began to resist going downtown like clockwork for another day of interning. I also survived by allowing my mind to leave the corporate compound, which wasn't very hard to do seeing as how it didn't take much of a brain to punch numbers into a computer. The skyscraper that I commuted to daily became, in my mind, a cage that I voluntarily locked myself inside of. The cage sucks out the soul and zaps all the creativity one may possess.

There are national and state laws that prohibit the wasting of natural resources. I strongly believe that it's time that people be considered natural resources. Too many of us waste away as peons to be peed on while assisting a select few realize their dreams. Many of our dreams are put on hold or completely eliminated to "pay the bills." That's how many members of our society end up working forty to fifty years for one company only to collect a gold watch, a Coke and a smile at retirement time. That is the life of hell that all of us college students should be sprinting away from. Believe it or not, but we are the lucky ones. We at least have the opportunity to pick and choose a possible career path.

Two weeks before my freshman year began, I made myself experience the life of a temporary factory worker. I didn't need the money, what I needed was a glimpse of what life might hold if I decided to waste away my education. I almost didn't make it the two weeks. After a day of what I considered hard labor, all I really remember is falling asleep and waking up the next day for more. Factory life makes my recent internship look like paradise. The factory was hot, the managers talked down to the temporary workers like we were farm animals whose only purpose in life was to slave for them, and one's nail cuticles often bled from racing to take various products out of cardboard boxes and place them onto conveyor belts.

During breaks, workers weren't allowed to go outside to get a breath of fresh air. Why? Upper management said there was a problem with the temporary workers returning to work drunk and/or high when let outside during break. I concluded that if upper management got a taste of what the temps went through, that they might grab a drink or two themselves, or simply quit.

My G.P.A. skyrocketed that first semester. I found that it is easy to turn off the T.V. and crack open a text book with factory-life still fresh in one's mind. For a while, for extra motivation, I taped the "Help Wanted" ad for the factory job on my dorm room wall.

Just last spring, I was more than ready to get out of Iowa City and everyday college life. By summer's end, the work world that I experienced had me fending for a class lecture or reading assignment. I'm just glad to be back - with a new source of motivation and purpose. I'll be damned if I spend my life going to work to turn off my brain at 8:00 AM. Believe me, during these last two years of my undergraduate career, I will stop and smell the roses, tulips, carnations, and marigolds.

Let me know if I forgot any.

Will the VEISHEA solution work?

VEISHEA, Iowa State University's annual on-campus celebration, could soon see dramatic reform. ISU administrators, fed up with the riots and crime that have marred the event in recent years, have set forth a plan to put a halt to the madness. The goal? To make VEISHEA an alcohol-free event, beginning this spring.

This is the idea proposed by ISU president Martin Jischke, and the student body will discuss the issue in a meeting September 22. It appears there is a wide basis of support for the plan among administrators and students alike. This is clearly a step in the right direction for a university that has seen its share of rough encounters at the 75 year-old spring event - riots in 1992 and 1994, and last year's murder of Uri Sellers brought the festival under intense scrutiny, leading some to believe that it should be wiped out altogether.

Alcohol abuse has generally been linked to the rise in illegal activity, and arrest numbers have been on the rise - 1997's event saw 61 more student arrests and citations by police than in 1996, a trend that the university would rather not see continue.

However, it is uncertain if an alcohol ban on campus will achieve the desired results. First of all, the university can only restrict alcohol in residence halls, fraternities, and sororities. By no means would this encompass all areas of campus. And with a third of the student population residing off-campus anyway, the on-campus ban may only serve to displace, not reduce, the usage of alcohol among students and other VEISHEA participants. Ames City Councilor Ted Tedesco told the Iowa State Daily that the plan has its drawbacks, with this shift in location being one of them. "If the university says no alcohol on campus, does it just move out into the streets and become a more difficult problem to control?"

Although the pledge to curb drinking is a noble cause and a worthwhile effort, one cannot expect drinking numbers to vanish along with an on-campus ban. Convincing over 20,000 college students to refrain from all drinks alcoholic during a weekend of revelry such as VEISHEA would merely be an exercise in futility. While a dry campus is certainly a feasible possibility, the concern rests on what becomes of the areas not affected by the ban.

For this reason, the university may need to go one step further. If it truly wants to restore VEISHEA's reputation and safety, methods such as the implementation of alcohol education programs for students may be in order. Also, more security may need to be diverted to outlying areas if the campus is to be swept free of alcohol. Currently, the city of Ames spends about $50,000 policing ISU's campus during the VEISHEA celebration. Some of this security may need to include a wider area, then, in order to make the event safe for all.

The plan set forth by ISU administrators is commendable, as it gives students a chance to salvage a tradition. Nevertheless, the university may need to look more closely at the potential hazards that may ensue from an on-campus ban. The university has taken one step in the right direction, but it needs to take one or two more.

Praise for speaking up to preacher

To the Editor:

I couldn't believe it when I got the DI on Aug. 28 and saw a front page article on the Pentecost preachers. I had just spent the whole day before telling my friends of my astonishment and outrage at the preacher's words.

When I saw the sermon on Wednesday morning, I was drawn in by the conversation of rape. One of the pastors was talking about the cause of rape. "Do you know why women get raped? Because they wear shorts."

I scanned the crowd and there were only a few women present. I wanted to shout out or scream in outrage, but how could I discuss anything with a person who feels that rape is the victim's fault?

The pastor continued, "When a woman is dressed a certain way, it gets a man's juices flowing. Then..." The pastor pretended to jump on an imaginary girl. I figured that the pastor wouldn't give me the respect I deserved if I spoke out, however, I was not going to let anybody tramp all over me. I started to speak when I was caught off guard by a male voice in the crowd. "Are you saying women don't get raped in dresses?" Then another male voice. "In the Bible, it says it's wrong to lust after women." Guys were speaking out against the preacher. I was relieved and delighted to see that the majority of the crowd wasn't buying that crap. They were willing speak out as well.

I think the modern world is coming to a good place, where men and women are aware of the equal responsibility we share for each other's well being.

Rain, sleet and UPS strike aren't enough to stop the Postal Service

To the Editor:

As Officer In Charge, I want to publicly extend my thanks to those who helped the Postal Service overcome the recent challenges to our package delivery network.

Your readers, and our customers, gave us tremendous support, patience and cooperation during the past two weeks. By working together, we were able to meet the nations mailing needs and at the same time maintain the integrity and quality of our delivery system.

I would especially like to thank my fellow employees for rising to the occasion. Although our local post office experienced a strong influx of parcels, the biggest stars for the past two weeks were the men and women working in our processing and distribution facilities around the country. These unsung heroes worked long, hard hours to keep the flood of parcels from overwhelming our operations. In short, the mail made it through.

Finally, I want to thank the media for helping us keep customers informed about the temporary changes in our operations and for highlighting the extraordinary efforts of postal employees.

I appreciate everyone's assistance.

Sincerely,

Michael Helms

Welfare reform: Working quite well, thank you

The welfare reform act will "plunge hundreds of thousands of people from the edge of poverty into abject deprivation and even starvation." Furthermore, "there is simply no way the plan can work as advertised, namely, that eliminating benefits will force aid recipients to find jobs." - Ted Rall, "Alternet."

This is an accurate description of the political left's reaction to the welfare reform bill passed by Congress and signed into law by President Clinton a little more than a year ago. The new law was going to be a disaster. Liberal politicians and activists like Charles Rangel, Patrick Moynihan and Marian Wright Edelman denounced it as immoral.

Peter Edelman, an assistant secretary at Housing and Urban Development, resigned in protest and later published an article in The Atlantic Monthly condemning the law. "How bad, then, is it?" Edelman asked rhetorically. "Very bad." It would result in more people being thrown into poverty, including 1 million children, and "more homelessness...more malnutrition and more crime, increased infant mortality, and increased drug and alcohol abuse." This article has achieved such sanctity among those who oppose the new law it might well be called "The Gospel According to Edelman."

Even our local leftist paper, ICON, got into the act, printing all sorts of sob stories on the supposed awful effects of the new law. In the May 1 issue, it referred readers to a website called "Alternet," which promised to chronicle the havoc the new bill would wreak on the poor.

Well, a recent visit to that website shows few updates on the effects of the bill. It's little wonder. For the first year of the reform is over, preliminary evidence is in, and the conclusion is - are you ready for this? You better sit down for this shocker - the left is wrong again!

In the last year, 1.45 million people left the welfare rolls, the biggest drop yet. There seems to be little evidence that any of them have become destitute, nor are homeless shelters around the nation stuffed with new clients.

Certainly, the growing economy has helped. But we have had economies in the past that were growing even faster than this one, yet we did not see a similar drop in the welfare rates. Nor does this explain why states like Michigan and Wisconsin, which have enacted the most comprehensive welfare reforms, have shown the most progress. As The New Republic put it, "the logic behind welfare reform was right: now that the incentives have changed, welfare recipients are making better decisions."

Even the more hard-core cases, the long-term welfare recipients, are showing promise. A study released last week by New York's Manpower Demonstration Research Corp. found encouraging results from a test program in Minnesota. After a year and a half, 52 percent of the long-term recipients participating in the program had paid employment, and 30 percent had incomes above the poverty level.

It's not surprising that the left was wrong about their predictions. In the Edelman Gospel it is written that "much of what we do in the name of welfare policy is more appropriately a subject for disability policy." The left has always viewed the poor this way, as disabled, as victims. As people wholly incapable of helping themselves, in desperate need of salvation from government do-gooders. But a year later, it seems that we've underestimated the poor. Many are very self-reliant. They can acquire the skills necessary to better themselves, they just needed a small push.

In fact, about the only bad news about the new law are the attempts to undercut it. Some state governments are requiring welfare recipients to work for their benefits by doing menial tasks. This compels many recipients to figure that it is more worthwhile to get a private sector job that at least pays a bit better and doesn't entail just menial work. Unfortunately, in the new budget deal, President Clinton was given the ability to force state governments to pay union wages to recipients who do such work (read: $11.25 an hour for picking up trash and cleaning graffiti). If Clinton uses this new power he will in effect create a massive public jobs program and undercut the purpose of welfare reform, namely to give people incentive to find work on their own. It is up to governors and Congress to pressure Clinton not to use this power.

Otherwise, most of the news is good. And while it is too early to declare victory, it is the right time for optimism. In a few years we will see members of an underclass who are increasingly full participants in our society, able to compete effectively in the job market. We will see ghettos that are revitalized. And the culture of poverty will replace its ethic of dependency with an ethic of responsibility.

A rosy scenario, perhaps. But if the first year of welfare reform is any indication, it's where we are headed.

Vietnam Airlines Tupolev 134 crashes killing all but 3 passengers

■ Only three people survive a plane crash and explosion in Cambodia during a rainstorm.

By Robin McDowell
Associated Press

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — A Thai toddler and two other people survived when a Vietnam Airlines plane carrying 66 people crashed Wednesday on approach to Phnom Penh's airport, skidding through a dry rice paddy before exploding.

Bodies scattered, and hundreds of people rushed to the area a half-mile south of the runway — to pick the pockets of the dead, steal luggage or make off with pieces of wreckage. Some police officers joined in until others chased off the looters. No arrests were reported.

Relatives expecting loved ones on the flight from Ho Chi Minh City rushed to the site. A Cambodian man surveying the carnage wept, saying: "My brother! My brother's supposed to be here."

The Soviet-built Tupolev 134 crashed during a rainstorm; the cause was under investigation.

Cambodian leader Hun Sen said the dead included 22 Taiwanese, 21 South Koreans, eight Chinese, four Cambodians, two Vietnamese, one Japanese, one Australian and one "European." Nationalities of the rest were unknown.

The Thai boy, 1-year-old Chanayuth Nim-Anong, survived the crash with a broken leg and was hospitalized in stable condition. His mother, a Chinese national, died in the crash.

The boy's father, Nipon Nim-Anong, 40, a businessman from the Thai coastal resort of Pattaya, was awaiting the flight when the plane crashed and exploded. He rushed to the site.

"There were so many people, and I saw someone carrying my boy," Nipon told The Associated Press. "I saw it was my son and brought him to the hospital."

The boy initially had been the only known survivor, at the capital's main hospital, Calmette. But Cambodian leader Hun Sen announced that there were two other survivors at another hospital. Further information about them was not immediately available.

Hun Sen visited the Calmette hospital while 49 bodies covered with white sheets were unloaded from trucks. Workers were to try to recover the rest of the bodies today, which was declared a national day of mourning.

"It's big tragedy, an accident," Hun Sen said, saying that the crash was caused by weather and "not by terrorists."

Paparazzi examined under the spotlight

■ The investigation into the role the paparazzi played in the death of Princess Diana continues, furthered by the possible civil suits from family.

By Jefferey Ulbrich
Associated Press

PARIS — Picture-hungry paparazzi pushed away the first police officer to rush to the scene of the Princess Diana car wreck, police were quoted as saying Wednesday. But the photographers scouted they are being turned into scapegoats.

"There is enormous government and public pressure," Jacques Langevin, a photographer being investigated in the case, told The Associated Press.

Another photographer, one of the first on the scene, said he opened the car door hoping to help.

"I saw the princess sitting on the floor, her back to me," Romuald Rat told France-2 television. "I said in English to stay calm, that I was there, that help would arrive." Doctors later said she was unconscious.

But now, Rat's boss said, "a total injustice" is being done to the photographer through the criminal investigation.

Langevin, Rat, four other photographers and a photo-agency motorcyclist are under investigation on allegations of manslaughter and failing to aid an accident victim, a crime under French law, in the deaths of Diana, her boyfriend, Dodi Fayed and their driver, killed when their car crashed at high speed in a tunnel along the Seine River early Sunday.

Driver Henri Paul, who blood tests indicated was drunk, apparently had been trying to elude celebrity photographers following on motorcycles. Paul was an employee of the Ritz Hotel, owned by Fayed's father, Mohamed Al Fayed.

The Paris daily Le Monde reported Diana's family and the British royal family are considering joining the case as civil parties, which would give them representation in court and access to documents. A lawyer for the elder Fayed has said he also would join the case.

In central London on Wednesday, thousands of mourners thronged the royal palaces for a fourth straight day, depositing flowers and other remembrances on sidewalks, and waiting patiently for hours in line to sign books of condolence at St. James's Palace, where Diana's coffin lay inside a closed chapel, awaiting Saturday's funeral at Westminster Abbey.

Fearing an unmanageable crush of crowds Saturday, Buckingham Palace extended the funeral procession route by more than two miles. It will now start from Kensington Palace, Diana's home.

Criminals ask to be investigated

■ Bosnian war criminals offer to try to prove themselves.

By Dusan Stojanovic
Associated Press

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — In a show of bravado, indicted wartime leader Radovan Karadzic invited U.N. lawyers to Bosnian Serb territory on Wednesday to investigate him before he decides whether to agree to stand trial, his closest aide said.

Momcilo Krajisnik, the Serb member of Bosnia's three-man presidency, relayed the offer to U.N. human rights envoy Elisabeth Rehn during a meeting in Pale, Karadzic's stronghold.

Karadzic proposed that Rehn interview him and his wartime military commander, Gen. Ratko Mladic, and mediate between the U.N. war crimes tribunal, on the one hand, and the two indicted suspects on the other, Krajisnik said.

Expressing his belief that the two would not be put on trial, Krajisnik said simply: "National heroes cannot be charged with war crimes."

The U.N. war crimes tribunal in The Hague, Netherlands, has indicted Karadzic on two counts of genocide, including charges that he is responsible for the deaths of thousands of non-Serbs during the 3 1/2-year Bosnian war. It also has filed two indictments against Mladic.

The tribunal has rejected earlier Bosnian Serb suggestions that the two be allowed to stand trial in the Bosnian Serb substate rather than in The Hague.

Wednesday's offer was the first in which Karadzic, who is in hiding, has said he is willing to be investigated before an actual trial. The tribunal was not expected to approve the latest offer either since it says it has already built a solid case that needs no further investigation.

Rehn, speaking by telephone en route to Geneva, told The Associated Press: "I am prepared to meet Karadzic and Gen. Mladic if my meeting with them would help to get them in front of The Hague war crimes tribunal. And I would only agree to it on that condition."

Skulls and bones lay in Bezdana cave near west Bosnian town of Bihac, while a forensic team works to excavate bodies, Tuesday. Approximately 300 bodies, mostly Bosnian Muslims are believed to be buried in one of the largest mass graves yet discovered in Bosnia or neighboring Croatia.

Strickland faces DUI trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rod Strickland of the Washington Wizards was released from jail Wednesday after his arrest on charges of drunken driving and disorderly conduct.

The 31-year-old point guard appeared briefly in court and pleaded innocent. He faces trial Jan. 21. Strickland's lawyer, Billy Martin, said his client had been treated "unfairly" and should not have been jailed overnight.

"I think he was charged as a result of driving an expensive Mercedes-Benz," Martin said. "He was charged because of who he is. Most people who are arrested and charged with DUI or refusing to take a Breathalyzer are released from the station."

Police said Strickland was stopped early Wednesday after making an illegal left turn in downtown Washington and became a "little disorderly." He is also charged with failing to show his driver's license. Strickland refused a sobriety test.

In court, Strickland, wearing a gray, short-sleeved shirt and blue pants, stood with his hands clasped behind his back. When asked if he understood the charges, he responded "yes" in a low voice.

As Strickland waited his turn, a defendant in another case recognized him and shook his hand. Strickland left by a back door and would not comment. He got into a black BMW with several other people.

Wizards general manager Wes Unseld, who has not spoken with his player, said the matter is not one the team would "take lightly."

"Until we have further information surrounding these events, we will have no other comment," he said.

Martin, who has represented Wizard's forward Juwan Howard and Philadelphia 76ers star Allen Iverson, has requested a jury trial.

Osborne lifts pro ban

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — NFL pro scouts are now welcome at Nebraska's fall practices, ending last year's ban imposed by coach Tom Osborne.

Osborne said in 1996 that he would ban scouts because of an unspecified "combination of things" that included the drafting and release of former defensive tackle Christian Peter by the New England Patriots. Osborne said the team would continue to provide scouts with film and other information.

About 16 NFL scouts attended the Cornhuskers' practice Tuesday, with full access granted by Osborne.

"For the New England Patriots to draft Christian Peter and then to undraft him when they said they learned of his off-field problems, was just plain wrong," Osborne said. "There was character assassination that was uncalled for."

"I didn't like the way the league handled it and I felt I had to do something last year," Osborne said.

Peter, who pleaded guilty in 1994 to third-degree assault of a former Miss Nebraska, was drafted by the Patriots in the fifth round. Three days later, the Patriots said Peter's criminal record and other allegations of criminal behavior he had faced were unacceptable, and released their rights to him.

Peter has since signed with the New York Giants.

"I have had meetings with Gene Washington (NFL director of football development) and some other NFL people and I feel the problems have been cleared up," Osborne said.

Golden domes and leprechauns don't enter Jeff Kramer's mind when he thinks about his days as a Notre Dame football player.

Most of Kramer's memories consist of grinding practices and grumbling coaches. Now that he is a member of Hayden Fry's Iowa football team, Kramer wants to put the negatives behind him.

"It was so hard to go to practice when Coach (Lou) Holtz was there," said Kramer, a defensive end. "That's how it was for everybody."

"I'm happier now. Football's not consuming my thoughts now. When I was at Notre Dame, it seemed like football was the most important thing to you."

Jeff Kramer
Iowa defensive end

After a decade of solid success, Holtz resigned as the Fighting Irish coach following last season. His replacement, Bob Davie, is being touted as calmer and gentler.

As a true freshman in 1994, Kramer played in seven games for the Irish. He injured his shoulder during his sophomore year, but still played in eight games. Kramer then decided to come to Iowa.

"I'm happier now," Kramer said. "Football's not consuming all my thoughts now. When I was at Notre Dame, it seemed like football was the most important thing to you."

Football is still important — but less stressful — to Kramer, who is expected to make his first Hawkeye start Saturday against Northern Iowa. The junior from Weatherford, Texas, had to redshirt last year after transferring.

"It was hard sitting in the stands last year watching all the guys," Kramer said. "The team accepted me when I came here really quickly, and I didn't really expect that. It was like a family."

Kramer's top listing at right defensive end comes as somewhat of a surprise. As of mid-August, he was the No. 2 player at left end.

"He's come on late, he's finally getting the hang of things," defensive tackle Jared DeVries said. "He's gonna be an exciting player to watch."

Fry said Iowa will rotate five defensive ends into Saturday's season-opener at home against Northern Iowa. They include Kramer and senior Jason House — the starters — along with sophomores Tariq Peterson and Ryan Loftin. Redshirt freshman Skip Miller is also in the mix.

"I've been very impressed with all the defensive ends," Fry said. "You could probably flip a coin between Kramer, Loftin, Plug and Chug. That's been the theme of Iowa's offensive line over the past few years.

Scott Davis, and Mike Devlin leave for the NFL? Plug in Casey Wiegmann and Matt Purdy. That duo leaves for pro ball? Fill in with Ross Verba, Bill Reardon, and Jeremy McKinney. Verba and Reardon take off?

No problem. Offensive-line coach Frank Verducci has got it covered. Verducci's ability to annually replace departed talent in the offensive line has played an important part in Iowa's success over the past few seasons. His work often goes unnoticed, and that's the way it's supposed to be.

"When Verba came in, Scott Davis was our tackle, so he and Wiegmann, and Purdy fed off that," Verducci said. "It's those role models and seeing what it takes to make it that is invaluable. Every position on the team makes changes, but our ability to recruit key replacements has really been the key."

This year's lineup will feature two players who started every game in 1996 with right tackle Jeremy McKinney and left guard Matt Reischl. Derek Rose, who started 11-of-12 games at the right guard spot in '96 will be moved to center to replace Reardon.

"Rose has played center as a younger player and is a super bright kid, so that is not a concern," Verducci said. "I wish I could feel that good about every position."

Mike Goff, who has battled injuries over his career started ten games in 1995 and appears healthy heading into his senior campaign at the right guard spot.

"The four letterman (Goff, Reischl, Rose, McKinney), those guys are all from the same recruiting class," Verducci said. "The guys who are seniors never red-shirted, so they should be juniors, but instead they've been together since Day 1. And I think all four of them are outstanding."

Verducci's biggest question is at the left tackle spot. Following the failed Chris Knipper experiment at the position in the spring, sophomore Chad Deal and freshman Billy Brann were in a virtual deadlock for the spot. Now Deal has gained the upper hand.

"Chad Deal is definitely No. 1," head coach Hayden Fry said. "He is very good, a fine football player. He's a real big guy with good feet, and he's a good athlete."

The other main worry for Verducci is depth. Should a player get hurt, there is very limited experience on the two-deep with Brann, sophomore Shalor Pryor, freshman Brian Keat and freshman Justin Craun. Senior Keith Rigtrup, who transferred to Iowa last season saw limited action while adjusting from junior college football.

"We are going to have to flip a lot of those No. 2's around," Fry said. "There isn't a lot of depth for us there and that's definitely a concern."

Despite these two questions and the lack of a big-name star lineman, Verducci thinks the unit, collectively, could possibly be one of the best.

"I try to stay away from comparisons because the competition changes and there are too many variables to compare, but we will be good. Our two seniors, Goff and McKinney, they'll get a chance to play in the NFL. They are NFL type players."

And when the season ends, it's back to the drawing board to plug and chug.

Loaded with depth and enthusiasm, the Iowa women's volleyball team is taking a no-holds-barred attitude into the 1997 season.

Along with a number of returners who saw significant playing time last season, the Hawkeyes obtained six freshmen and two transfers averaging 6-feet tall. However, the newcomers not only bring much needed height to the program, but also an aura among the players that they were lacking last season. "They are bringing fresh energy and a whole new positive attitude," said sophomore Dawn Peterson, a defensive specialist who earned a scholarship for the '97 season after walking on as a freshman. "They really want to win and so does everyone else. It's kind of like we have a whole new team almost this year with everyone's attitudes and the way everyone is getting along."

Finishing a disappointing ninth in the Big Ten after compiling an overall record of 10-21 in 1996, the '97 team is not dwelling on the past. With only one senior and 12-of-16 underclassmen on the roster, co-head coach Linda Schoenstedt said she couldn't ask to be in a better position this year.

Pete Thompson/The Daily Iowan

Iowa's Barb Zvonek prepares to bump the ball during action last fall.

"This preseason has been very similar to '94 when everything went right," said Schoenstedt, who is sharing coaching duties in this, her final season, with Matt Sonnichsen. "We ended up in the tournament with a marvelous year, and everything just fell into place. If good karma is any indication of a good season, then I think we are well on our way."

"We've been very pleased with the chemistry and the depth of our team. We're a lot taller, a lot more physical, and the newcomers are all adding positives. We expect a lot of improvement and not just in wins and losses, but in each statistical element."

As the coaches stress team communication, team chemistry and teamwork, the players know it will take all they've got to compete in what could possibly be the toughest volleyball conference in the country. Nearly half of the Big Ten teams advanced to the NCAA tournament last year, and all are returning with strong rosters for '97.

While the Hawkeyes are young,

Fortney familiar with Iowa

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (AP) — Northern Iowa coach Mike Dunbar wanted no part of a quarterback controversy when he brought Shane Fortney in from Washington to compete for the job and wants no part of one now that Fortney has it.

Dunbar, beginning his first season as the Panthers' coach, announced Tuesday that Fortney will start Saturday's season opener at Iowa.

The fifth-year senior transferred over the summer from Washington, where he played in 17 games. He beat out another fifth-year senior, Jason Jones, because he played better in practice, Dunbar said.

"Everybody wants to have a quarterback controversy," the former Toledo assistant said. "We're not going to have one. Shane Fortney's the starting quarterback."

Dunbar joked at his weekly media luncheon that while everyone seemed

AUTO RACING

On top of the world

With a slew of victories and paydays under his belt, Jeff Gordon's past is accomplished and his future is limitless.

By Dick Brinster
Associated Press

DARLINGTON, S.C. — For Jeff Gordon, "never say never" is more than a slogan. It's a constant reminder that nothing is out of this driver's reach, even winning NASCAR's most difficult race three years in a row.

Still, the real reason for his victory in the Southern 500 was overshadowed by the hoopla of the $1 million bonus he collected.

It was hot Sunday at Darlington Raceway, a condition that has been unkind to Chevrolets. The Lady in Black, as the old country track is known, becomes extremely slick in the blazing sun, seemingly favoring Fords.

"If I hadn't been out front, I don't think I could have won," he says in tribute to the Rainbow Warriors, the Chevrolet crew led by Ray Evernham.

That association, if maintained, could carry Gordon to heights only imagined in the sport.

"When Ray and I are communicating, we're awfully tough to beat," Gordon says. "He just keeps telling me to hang on, and we can do it. He's usually right."

Evernham, once a topnotch driver in modified competition, is reluctant to take a bow, calling himself "fortunate" to be surrounded by immense talent.

"Jeff Gordon's a great driver and this is a great team," he says. "These guys work hard. They work together. They make great suggestions."

Many, including Evernham, have been aboard for each of Gordon's 28 career victories. In a sport where the best-paid talent rarely moves on, that kind of stability is expected to continue for years to come.

Mary Ann Chastain/Associated Press

On Saturday night, in Richmond, Va., Gordon will try to become the first driver since Darrell Waltrip in 1981-82 to reach double figures in victories two years in a row. Because of guru Evernham and the team, Gordon should be setting records for many years to come.

"We like doing things no one has done before," he says.

Those who doubted Gordon would win three straight Southern 500s also would insist he can't reach seven-time Winston Cup champion Richard Petty's career milestone of 200 victories.

It is argued that today's drivers make so much money that there is less incentive to remain competitive into their late 40s.

Although he has remained virtually injury free from the time he first raced a tiny car nearly two decades ago, Gordon has no guarantee he will stay healthy. But with luck as an ally, the 26-year-old driver appears a cinch to win more races than all but Petty. David Pearson is second on the list with 105 victories.

"I intend to be doing this for a long time," Gordon says. "As long as I'm able, I want to keep going."

With his victory at Darlington, Gordon inched within a few thousand dollars of $14 million in career earnings in five years. The 46-year-old Dale Earnhardt, like Petty a seven-time series champion, has made a record $29.4 million in 20 seasons. Petty banked close to $8 million in 35 years.

Given that kind of longevity and rapidly increasing purses and gimmick bonuses, it is inconceivable that Gordon could earn $150 million by the time his race is run. Souvenir sales and nationwide endorsements, which include Pepsi, reportedly are worth another $20 million annually.

But Gordon isn't only interested in the money.

"It's the points race," he says.

Should he maintain his position atop the standings to the end of the season, The Kid will win his second title. It is not much of a reach to suggest he could win eight.

That would be worth another $12 million.

"We do our laundry, and we pay our bills just like everybody else," Gordon says of his life with wife Brooke. "It's just on a different scale." Indeed.

Braves eye their next Cy

Denny Neagle is on course to become Atlanta's fourth Cy Young winner during this decade.

By Paul Newberry
Associated Press

ATLANTA (AP) — When Chipper Jones looks around the Atlanta clubhouse, he already sees three Cy Young Award winners.

"It sure would be neat to have four guys in here with a Cy Young," the Braves third baseman said.

Denny Neagle is doing his part. Supposedly the anonymous member of a rotation that includes Greg Maddux (NL Cy Young winner, 1992-95), Tom Glavine ('91) and John Smoltz ('96), Neagle is making a strong case that he's the best pitcher in the NL this year.

While Maddux is having a typically brilliant season and Montreal's Pedro Martinez deserves strong consideration with 16 wins and a microscopic 1.63 ERA, it may be impossible for the voters to deny Neagle.

Consider these numbers:

—He became the NL's first 19-game winner Tuesday night, pitching a four-hit shutout against the Detroit Tigers. With a record of 19-3, he has the best winning percentage (.864) in the majors.

—His four shutouts are tied for the major-league lead.

—He ranks fifth in the league with a 2.70 ERA and fourth in innings pitched with 209 2-3 and has held opponents to a cumulative batting average of .232, 10th lowest in the NL.

Even Jones, who gets to see Maddux (17-4, 2.39 ERA) on a regular basis, would cast his Cy Young vote for Neagle.

"I kind of sense that no matter what Mad Dog (Maddux) does, he'll always be the front-runner," Jones said. "The fans will want to give it to him again, so Denny's got to go out there and win it. He's got that killer instinct, that tunnel vision, and he's really working his magic right now."

Neagle's 19th victory might have been his most impressive. He allowed only three singles and a double to the Tigers, but erased two of the runners on double plays and wound up facing only two batters above the minimum. He struck out six, walked none and kept Detroit off balance all night with his mystifying assortment of pitches.

"It sure would be neat to have four guys in here with a Cy Young."

Chipper Jones
Atlanta Braves third baseman talking about Denny Neagle

"Detroit had no idea what was coming," catcher Javy Lopez said. "He never throws the same pitch twice in a row."

Neagle also went 2-for-3 at the plate, including his third career homer.

"I've never been a strong finisher in the second half," said Neagle, whose previous best record was 16-9 last season. "I wanted to make a point this second half that I could finish out the year on a good note."

Neagle's success requires a complex explanation.

"It's hard to pick up the ball right away with his delivery," pitching coach Leo Mazzone said. "He's got a full assortment of pitches: fastball, change, curve and slider. Plus, he'll use his fastball on both sides of the plate, he'll use his curve on both sides of the plate and he'll use his change on both sides of the plate. He's got the full package."

Still, Neagle is hardly one of the hardest-throwing pitchers around, with a fastball that rarely tops 90 mph. From the on-deck circle he appears hittable, but batters usually head back to the dugout shaking their heads.

Last week, after Neagle pitched a four-hitter over seven innings for his 18th victory, Houston manager Larry Dierker was perplexed.

"Watching Neagle from the side, you wonder how he's won 18 games," he said. "Somehow he does."

Even the Tigers, who ended Maddux's 10-game winning streak Monday night, were lured in by Neagle's facade of vulnerability.

"I felt a little more confident against him than Maddux," said Bobby Higginson, who nonetheless went 0-for-3. "Maddux throws strikes. This guy makes you chase the ball."

Realignment draws closer to reality

By Mike Nadel
Associated Press

CHICAGO — Baseball's realignment committee said Wednesday it plans to push for a plan with 16 teams in one league, 14 in the other and unbalanced schedules starting next season.

"The real goal isn't to realign. The real goal is to come up with very efficient scheduling which would make the season more meaningful," realignment committee chairman John Harrington said Wednesday after his group met with the sport's ruling executive council.

"Due to the complexities of scheduling ... 16-14 is probably what we would come out with," said Harrington, the CEO of the Boston Red Sox. "And all of our teams want unbalanced scheduling."

Most recent plans have placed 16 teams in four NL divisions and 14 clubs in three AL divisions. Several clubs would have to change leagues to make for good geographic matchups.

Acting commissioner Bud Selig reiterated that with Tampa Bay and Arizona joining the major leagues as expansion teams next season, the time for change is now. Selig and Harrington favor radical geographic realignment in which 15 teams would switch leagues.

"They talk about, 'Those dopes don't know how to grow the revenues,'" Selig said. "Well, the schedule's the most important marketing factor you have. And if you're not sensitive to that and try to do the very best ... you're denying your sport the opportunity to grow."

"The worst mistake we can make is a Band-Aid approach, do a little now. Because we're fooling you and we're fooling ourselves, and in a year or two we'd be back again and that would be unconscionable."

Selig said that while there are up to five basic realignment proposals with "lots of variations," he expects the committee to submit one plan for a vote when the owners meet Sept. 16-18 in Atlanta.

Philadelphia Phillies owner Bill Giles said simply putting Tampa Bay in the AL West — currently the only open spot — would be wrong because it would preclude the expansion team from having any geographic rivals.

Giles said most owners favor placing all the Pacific Time Zone teams in the NL, as part of one large division or two smaller ones.

Under that scenario, he said, "Many clubs will play 150 of their 162 games in their time zone, and there would be more young people seeing games."

Radical realignment, which would put the New York Yankees and Mets in one division and put the Chicago Cubs and White Sox in another, has drawn the opposition of at least seven NL teams.

"I wouldn't say it's dead," Selig said. "Nothing is dead right now."

Selig disputed that one or two dissenting owners could block any realignment plan. Owners have said no team would be forced to change leagues against its will.

National league continues interleague rule

Tigers 12, Braves 4

ATLANTA (AP) — Tony Clark broke out of a power slump with a homer and five RBIs as the Detroit Tigers routed John Smoltz and Atlanta Wednesday, the most runs scored against the Braves this season.

Smoltz, a Michigan native who began his professional career with the Tigers before a 1987 trade to Atlanta, lasted only 3 1-3 innings, his shortest outing in more than two years. He surrendered eight runs and 10 hits.

Willie Blair (15-6), continuing his remarkable comeback from a broken jaw, limited the Braves to eight hits over seven innings to become Detroit's first 15-game winner since Bill Gullikson in 1991. Blair has won 11 of his last 13 decisions.

Clark, who had only two homers in his previous 118 at-bats, hit a run-scoring double in the first and an RBI single in the third to give him 100 RBIs for the first time.

But the 6-foot-7 switch-hitter wasn't through, slamming a three-run homer in the fourth to highlight a six-run inning and equal his career high for RBIs in a game, set June 21 game against Boston.

Cubs 10, Twins 6

CHICAGO — Mark Grace had a two-run homer and Ryne Sandberg and Dave Clark drove in two runs each to lead the Chicago Cubs over the Minnesota Twins.

Sandberg hit a two-run double in the second and Clark had a two-run pinch single in the fifth as the Cubs finished interleague play 9-6. Grace, who drove in three runs, homered off Todd Ritchie in the eighth.

Jeremi Gonzalez (11-6) became the Cubs' winningest rookie since Mike Harkey went 12-6 in 1990, allowing two runs — one earned — and five hits in five innings. He is 4-1 in his last six starts.

Frank Rodriguez (2-6) left after 3 1-3 innings, spraining his right ankle trying to field Lance Johnson's single. Rodriguez gave up five runs and six hits.

Paul Molitor drove in three runs and homered for the Twins, who finished interleague play 7-8.

Expos 1, Red Sox 0

MONTREAL — Aaron Sele and Tom Gordon combined on a one-hitter but lost on Mike Lansing's third-inning homer as the Montreal Expos beat the Boston Red Sox behind Carlos Perez's two-hitter.

Lansing hit his 17th homer of the season with two outs in the third, enabling Montreal to complete interleague play with a 12-3 record.

Perez (12-10) won for the first time in six starts, pitching the low-hit game of his career. He struck out eight and walked none, allowing a second-inning single to Wil Cordero and a fourth-inning double to John Valentini.

Perez, who had been 0-4 with a 8.00 ERA since beating San Diego with a five-hitter on Aug. 2, pitched his major league-leading fifth shutout, the sixth of his career. He improved to 3-0 with a 1.39 ERA in four interleague starts.

Sele (12-12) struck out four and walked four in seven innings, losing his third straight start and dropping to 1-4 with a 6.40 ERA in his last five. Gordon struck out the side in the eighth.

Boston, swept by Atlanta in a three-game series last weekend, lost its final seven interleague games and finished 6-9 against the NL. The Red Sox had lost six in a row overall, one short of their longest losing streak this season.

Indians 7, Pirates 3

PITTSBURGH — Omar Vizquel and Matt Williams hit two-run homers in a five-run fourth inning to keep Orel Hershiser unbeaten since July 2 and the Cleveland Indians went on to beat Pittsburgh.

The Indians won twice in the three-game series, the first between the bordering-state teams in their 96 years together in the majors. The crowd of 37,513 boosted the series attendance to 126,191, the fourth largest in Pirates history.

The Pirates missed a chance to return to the 500 mark by losing their seventh in nine games.

Hershiser (13-5) was in trouble in each of the first three innings and fell behind 2-0, but held on to win his sixth in a row despite allowing eight hits over six-plus innings. He hasn't lost in his last 10 starts and is 4-0 in five outings since coming off the disabled list Aug. 13.

Manny Ramirez added a solo homer in the sixth, his 24th, off Esteban Loaiza (10-10), a winner only six times in 16 decisions since starting the season 4-0.

Loaiza retired the first nine batters he faced before falling apart after Bip Roberts singled to start the fourth, his first hit since being traded to the Indians on Sunday.

Vizquel, whose failure to touch home plate Tuesday night short-circuited a potential big first inning in a 6-4 Indians loss, then hit a drive into the left field seats — his third homer and first since June 17.

Reds 6, Royals 3

CINCINNATI — Pokey Reese and Eddie Taubensee homered as Cincinnati scored six runs off former-Reds pitcher Ricky Bones and beat the Kansas City Royals.

Rookie Brett Tomko (10-5) struck out nine in 6 2-3 innings, allowing five hits and walking five. Tomko took over the team lead in wins, bidding to become the first rookie to lead Reds pitcher since Tom Browning went 20-9 in 1985.

Jeff Shaw pitched the ninth for his 30th save in 36 chances.

Bones (3-5) was chased after two innings, his shortest start since July 29. He gave up five hits and walked four.

Cincinnati finished interleague play 9-6, while Kansas City went 6-9. Royals pitchers were 1-for-19 at the plate in NL ballparks.

Reese homered in the first and Taubensee homered in the third following Reggie Sanders' leadoff walk. Jon Nunnally walked, took second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Deion Sanders, who then was caught stealing. Sanders, who played for the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday, had been hitless in his previous 19 at-bats with runners in scoring position.

Astros 4, Brewers 0

HOUSTON — Ramon Garcia pitched a five-hitter for the first complete game of his career, and the Houston Astros stopped a six-game losing streak by beating the Milwaukee Brewers.

Houston opened a 2 1/2-game lead in the NL Central over second-place Pittsburgh, which lost to Cleveland 7-3. The second-place Brewers dropped 3 1/2 games behind the Indians in the AL Central.

Scott Karl (10-11) lost for the first time in 10 starts since July 4. Karl, who had been 8-0 with a 2.45 ERA since the All-Star break, allowed all four runs — three earned — and six hits in seven innings.

Garcia (6-8), who had one win in his previous six starts, struck out four and walked four, sending Milwaukee to just its third loss in 11 games. He also singled in a run.

Phillies 5, Yankees 4

PHILADELPHIA — Mike Stanton forced home the winning run by walking Tony Barron in the ninth inning as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Yankees to complete a three-game sweep.

Mickey Morandini singled off Stanton (6-1) to start the ninth, but was forced at second on Gregg Jefferies' groundout. Scott Rolen and Rico Brogna singled to load the bases, and Stanton struck out Mike Lieberthal before walking Barron on four pitches.

Kevin Stocker was 2-for-4 with a homer and three RBIs for the Phillies, who have won eight of their last 10 games. The Yankees, who completed interleague play at 5-10, have lost five of six.

Jerry Spradlin (3-6) got three outs for the victory.

Trailing 4-2 in the sixth, the Phillies tied it on Stocker's two-out, two-run triple that chased Dwight Gooden. The Yankees starter gave up seven hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Mets 4, Blue Jays 2

NEW YORK — Reliever Paul Quantrill's throwing error allowed the tying run to score before Ray Ordonez drove in the go-ahead run in the sixth inning Wednesday night, giving the New York Mets a 4-2 win over Toronto.

New York's fifth straight win was also the club's major-league leading 41st come-from-behind victory this season. The Mets kept their slim wild-card hopes alive and finished interleague play 7-8.

The Blue Jays dropped their sixth straight — all to NL teams — and completed their interleague schedule 4-11.

Toronto took a 2-1 lead in the sixth on Carlos Delgado's 29th homer only to have Quantrill throw it away in the bottom half.

Todd Hundley opened New York's half with a single off former Met Robert Person and moved on a wild pitch. Bernard Gilkey flied to the warning track in left and Person was replaced by Quantrill.

Baltimore shortstop Mike Bordick leaps into the air to grab a high throw from the plate as Florida's Craig Counsell steals second base Wednesday.

Carlos Baerga then topped a slow roller toward third that Quantrill (6-6) barehanded near the line. Although he had no play on Baerga, Quantrill still tried to make an off-balance throw toward first that sailed down the right-field line.

Hundley scored from second on the play and Baerga went to second. Ordonez followed with an opposite-field single to right, giving New York a 3-2 lead.

Indians 7, Pirates 3

PITTSBURGH — The Cleveland Indians are glad interleague play is over, even if couple of ex-National Leaguers who enjoyed a return to familiar surroundings — Matt Williams and Orel Hershiser — may not be.

Williams and Omar Vizquel hit two-run homers in a five-run fourth inning to keep Her-shiser unbeaten since July 2 and the Indians went on to beat Pittsburgh 7-3 Wednesday night.

Cleveland increased its lead to 3 1/2 games in the AL Central as Milwaukee lost 4-0 in Houston. The Pirates fell 2 1/2 games behind in the NL Central as the Astros ended their six-game losing streak.

The Indians finished interleague play 9-6 by winning twice in the three games in Pittsburgh, the first between the bordering-state teams in their 96 years together in the majors. The crowd of 37,513 boosted the series attendance to 126,191, the fourth largest in Pirates history.

"I didn't think I would enjoy interleague play, but I did," Indians manager Mike Hargrove said. "It will be good to get back to playing people in our division and our league for the simple reason it's the last month of the season."

V-BALL/ Iowa looks to Bell for leadership

those returning are powerful. Captain and lone senior Jenn Bell led the team last season in blocks and was second on the team with 392 kills. After making it to the NCAA tournament with the Hawkeyes her freshman season, she has seen the team go through two less-than-stellar seasons.

But teammates can tell she is putting everything into making this season one to remember.

"Jenn Bell is doing a great job," said sophomore Julie Williams, who finished third on the team last season with 278 kills. "She's playing great at practice, working real hard, helping everybody play together, and she's being a good leader to us. She'll be our dominant player all year. Everybody wants to help win for her senior year, because she deserves it."

Not only are players comfortable with Bell on the court, but they also have come to appreciate the depth they have at every position.

"Last year it seemed as if we were dependent on just one person to do most, and now it's like we have confidence in all players," said sophomore Sharla Johnson, who earned a starting position as a freshman. "I have confidence in the girl on my right, on my left, behind me, everyone. They do their part and they do it well."

While communication and togetherness are the key phrases for the team, they are not adopting any specific motto. As the team opens its season this Friday night in the Hawkeye Classic, Schoenstedt said she wants only one word to dwell over them throughout the weeks and months ahead.

Doctors, Maricucci suggest Young takes a rest

By Dennis George
Associated Press

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Steve Young's latest concussion looks like it might keep him on the sidelines for at least a week, and rookie Jim Druckenmiller, the only healthy quarterback on the San Francisco 49ers' roster, may make his first start Sunday at St. Louis.

Coach Steve Mariucci said Young's playing status was undecided but it was apparent he was leaning toward making him inactive this week. Mariucci said he would announce his decision Thursday and that the neurologist's recommendation Young, who has had three concussions over the last 10 months, sit out a game carried a lot of weight.

"He gave me his assessment of the situation and he made a very conservative suggestion that certainly it would benefit Steve to rest this game, give him a little bit more time in between possible hits," Mariucci said. "The concussion was much less severe than it was in the past, yet it was still a concussion and that we should proceed with caution."

"Maybe it's a time we can be conservative, because Steve's health is the issue, first and foremost, and it always will be. We've got a long season ahead of us. We're going back (to St. Louis), and there's Astro turf there. It's probably safer and more beneficial for Steve to take some time off."

Young, who was kneed in the head in Sunday's season-opening loss at Tampa Bay, said he felt good enough to play but conceded he couldn't keep taking shots to the head and continue his football career.

Druckenmiller, the 49ers' top draft pick out of Virginia Tech, took almost all the snaps at Wednesday's practice. Young took some snaps with the scout team. Backup

Jeff Brohm, who has a broken bone in the middle finger of his passing hand and a lower back injury, didn't practice but will try to work out Thursday after getting some pain-killing injections.

The 49ers plan to work out quarterback Mike McCoy, who was in their training camp this summer, and sign him if Young doesn't play. The choice on a starter could hinge on whether Brohm can practice.

"If he misses a lot of practice time, then provided we choose not to use Steve and make him inactive, we'll let the youngster go," Mariucci said.

"There's a couple of question marks right now and that's the big thing right now, what's going to happen. We're just going to have to wait and see," Druckenmiller said.

The uncertainty at the quarterback position comes at a time when the 49ers are still reeling from the loss of wide receiver Jerry Rice, who is expected to miss the rest of the regular season with a serious knee injury from the Tampa Bay game.

Young, a two-time NFL MVP who led the 49ers to a Super Bowl title in 1994, was kneed in the head by Bucs linebacker Hardy Nickerson in the second quarter, but came back to play the final quarter.

Before heading to the practice field Wednesday, Young acknowledged the repeated concussions concerned him.

"I know this cannot continue and I can't keep getting hit in the head and continue to play football," Young said. "But I still feel like I want to play and there's a lot of professional opinion, that with rest, you can continue to play. That's the kind of where we are now."

Young said he took the recommendation of neurologist Dr. Joseph Lacy seriously.

"I feel good," Young said. "I feel like I would do almost anything to help the 49ers win. Certainly, as you know, we've talked about this, at some points ad nauseum, about how concerned we are and how concerned I am."

"I've talked to old 49ers, old college friends, coaches, family and everyone else trying to get a handle on exactly what we're facing. And you know the concern for me is not only for just for the near future but for my long-term health."

Michigan's Woodson does it all

Michigan junior Charles Woodson is an accomplished defensive back, a part-time receiver and running back and a darkhorse Heisman candidate

By Chris Snider
The Daily Iowan

Michigan's Charles Woodson doesn't get to touch the football much. But when he does, he usually holds onto it for a while. Woodson ran the ball six times last season for 152 yards. He also caught 13 passes for 164 yards.

Impressed? You should be. Woodson is an All-American defensive back. But when the Wolverines saw their depth at wide receiver starting to get depleted last season, he decided to step in.

"We were in a position where our depth wasn't where it needed to be and Charles indicated that he would be interested in playing receiver," Michigan coach Lloyd Carr explained. It made perfect sense.

Woodson already had a reputation as one of the best defensive backs in the game. Most teams didn't even bother throwing his way. And he was only in his second year of college.

But being young never seemed to bother Woodson. At one of his first-ever practices with the Wolverines, he decided to see just how good Amani Toomer, the No. 2 receiver in Michigan history, really was.

"I don't worry about getting tired at all. When it's time to play ball, I've got lots of energy."

Charles Woodson Michigan junior on playing both defensive back and wide receiver

"Amani Toomer came off the line and I jammed him up pretty good and he fell down," Woodson said with a hint of laughter in his voice. "He got frustrated. I guess he was like, 'What's this freshman doing trying to 'D' me up?' He rushed me from the back and we got into it a little."

That's about the point where Carr realized he had a special athlete on his hands.

"Charles made it very apparent at that point that he wasn't going to be intimidated," Carr said.

Woodson went on to intercept five passes and earn Big Ten Freshman of the Year honors as voted by the league coaches. He intercepted five more passes last year as a sophomore, despite the fact teams were throwing away from him.

"I like that respect, but sometimes I want to get into the game," Woodson said. "I have to hustle to get in on a few tackles across the field."

Growing up in Fremont, Ohio, Woodson said he was always a Michigan fan. Although he takes a ribbing when he goes home from Ohio State fans about the Buckeyes recent Rose Bowl victory, Woodson said he is quick to point out that Michigan has beaten Ohio State in each of the past two years.

Whether or not he will stick around for a fourth meeting remains to be seen. Although Woodson said he was not ready for the NFL this season, it has become almost a foregone conclusion that he will be gone after the year.

"As far as the future, I'll just cross that road when I get there," he said.

As a high-profile player at a high-profile school, Woodson said he has already had to deal with the problem of agents contacting him. He said he has been contacted by about 10 agents. Although most of them just call on the phone and are easy to get rid of, some go the extra mile to get their foot in the door.

"They'll go to your hometown and ask people about you," Woodson said.

"And then those people will talk to you and say they know a guy who is an agent. You just hear them and go about your business."

And Woodson is pretty good at his business. Partly because he has become well-known on the national level and partly because the position of corner back has come to gain more prestige in recent years, Woodson is being considered a darkhorse to win the Heisman trophy this year.

"I think about it sometimes," he said. "I think maybe as the year goes on I can still be in the race at the end of the year."

To add to his chances, he'll look to play more receiver this year. He said whenever he has the urge to play on offense, he'll give the coach a little bump and ask to be put in the game. And as much as they want to put him in, he'll be ready.

"I don't worry about getting tired at all," Woodson said.

"When it's time to play ball, I've got lots of energy."

L.A. teams face uphill battles

By Richard Rosenblatt
Associated Press

College football in Los Angeles may have reached a new low this week: Both Southern California and UCLA are double-digit underdogs. At home.

Tough to comprehend, perhaps, but the reasoning seems justified considering the opposition. The 23rd-ranked Trojans open the season against No. 5 Florida State and the Bruins play No. 3 Tennessee at the Rose Bowl.

"USC is definitely a program that any college coach would like to play," Seminole coach Bobby Bowden said.

For Florida State, Saturday might be a good time for the first meeting between the teams. The Seminoles are favored by 12 1/2 points, even with a bunch of suspended players.

USC coach John Robinson figures his team needs a little luck to pull an upset.

"I don't think our weapons are very sharp," Robinson, who will start sophomore John Fox at quarterback, said. "We're not one of those teams where you say, 'Whoa.' Our weapons could be pretty sharp by midseason."

While the Seminoles go with Thad Busby — he threw for 1,866 yards and 16 TDs in '96 — Fox has thrown two passes for the Trojans — one incomplete, the other intercepted.

The Vols, coming off a 52-17 rout of Texas Tech that saw Peyton Manning tie a school record with five TD passes, are favored by 14 1/2 points over the Bruins.

UCLA dropped a 37-34 decision at Washington State last week as the Cougars' Ryan Leaf threw for 381 yards and three TDs and the defense stopped freshman Jermaine Lewis on fourth-and-goal from the 1 with 2:48 left.

How can the Bruins stop Manning? "You've just got to hope that you improve," UCLA coach Bob Toledo said. "... This isn't the NFL, you don't make trades or put guys on waivers. We've got to go with the guys that we've got."

The Vols, meanwhile, had problems with the Bruins last season before winning 35-20 at Knoxville, Tenn., in Toledo's coaching debut.

UCLA crossed up the Vols' offense with a variety of attacking defenses. Tennessee coach Phillip Fulmer remembers it well.

"Last year it was just a fire drill out there at times, trying to figure out who to block," Fulmer said.

"It'll help us having played them once, and it'll help that we've seen them on film once this year."

Twenty of the Top 25 teams are in action this weekend, including three matchups between ranked teams — No. 5 Florida State at No. 23 USC, No. 7 Washington at No. 19 Brigham Young and No. 24 Colorado State at No. 8 Colorado.

BYU lost one game last season — 29-17 to Washington — and is looking to spring an upset at home.

"This game will not make or break our season, because we have a chance to be a good ball club," BYU coach LaVell Edwards said. "We'll be ready to play and I think we'll give a good account of ourselves."

Cyclones like what they've seen from punter

Freshman punter Carl Gomez played high school ball against Darren Davis.

By Chuck Schoffner
Associated Press

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Trying to tackle Darren Davis once proved to be enough for Carl Gomez.

That's why Gomez, Iowa State's freshman punter, is so happy to be playing with Davis now instead of against him.

Gomez and Davis, the Cyclones' sophomore running back, faced each other as high school players in Miami, Fla. In one of those games, Davis was returning a kick, Gomez was the last guy in his way and, well, you know how foolish a kicker can look trying to tackle someone.

"I didn't really, like, knock him down," Gomez said sheepishly. "He really knocked me down, but I kind of pulled him down with me."

Fortunately for the Cyclones, Gomez's main job is punting, and in that, he looks to be a keeper.

In his college debut last Saturday night, Gomez averaged 41.8 yards on eight punts and gave the Cyclones something sweet to savor in an otherwise bitter 21-14 loss to Oklahoma State.

Gomez had three punts of at least 50 yards and his average would have been greater if he hadn't been asked to "pooch" kick four times — booting the ball high so it can be downed inside the 20. One such kick was fair caught at the Oklahoma State 11-yard line, another on the 13.

"He's going to be really outstanding and the neat thing is, we've got him for four years," Iowa State coach Dan McCarney said. "We made a great choice offering him a scholarship."

Gomez averaged 47.7 yards a punt his senior year at Killian High School in Miami and had one kick of 76 yards. But college coaches usually cast a jaundiced eye at high school stats because there's so much more to being a good punter than just the average.

1997 U.S. OPEN

Hingis breezes past Vicario at Open

By Steve Wilstein
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Serve tosses floated like beach balls in the breeze, groundstrokes flew crazily, and napkins scudded across the court.

Martina Hingis dealt with it all so effortlessly Wednesday night at the U.S. Open, as if she were riding the whipping wind past a befuddled Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, 6-3, 6-2.

For Lindsay Davenport, it took much more of a struggle to tame her game during the blustery afternoon and get past Jana Novotna, 6-2, 4-6, 7-6 (7-5), to earn her first semifinal berth in a Grand Slam tournament.

Hingis and Davenport will meet Friday, each knowing how to beat the other. Davenport dealt Hingis one of her two losses this year, and the only one on a hardcourt, in a three-setter last month in Los Angeles, just after Hingis won their three-set duel at Stanford University.

Though the wind blew hard and chilly Wednesday evening, Hingis moved as smoothly as ever, peppered the lines and kept Sanchez Vicario, her doubles partner, running in frantic chases from side to side. Nothing glamorous, nothing dramatic, just a straightforward romp by Hingis that drew perfunctory applause from the shivering crowd.

"Arantxa played very different this time because I think the wind was bothering her," Hingis said. "It was very strange. I almost didn't make one mistake. I played nearly faultless."

"It doesn't matter if it's windy because no will remember it was very cold out there if you lose. You just have to play your game (even if) it's a different strategy."

Sanchez Vicario sees in Hingis a player who has confidence on every shot, no matter the conditions. Though the temperature dropped close to 60 degrees, and felt much colder in the wind, Hingis played as if it were a balmy evening.

"Everything for her is working really well," said Sanchez Vicario, the 1994 U.S. Open champion. "Every time she needs a shot, she hits a line."

Lindsay Davenport, of Newport Beach, Calif., celebrates after scoring her final point, defeating Jana Novotna of the Czech Republic, at conclusion of their match at the U.S. Open, in New York, Wednesday.

Rusedski served at up to 142 mph, a U.S. Open record, to edge 1996 Wimbledon champion Richard Krajicek 7-5, 7-6 (7-5), 7-6 (7-5). Rusedski is the first British man in the U.S. Open semifinals since Mike Sangster in 1961.

Rusedski will play Jonas Bjorkman, who advanced when Petr Korda retired while losing 7-6 (7-3), 6-2, 1-0. The U.S. Open medical staff said Korda had flu-like symptoms and general fatigue.

It was ugly and maddening tennis that Davenport and Novotna played, yet it was grand theater. And the crowd roared and groaned with every shot.

Davenport blew a huge lead, Novotna let a match point slip away, then Davenport came on to drive one last forehand pass through that wind.

"Just luck," Davenport said, summing up the way she finally beat her doubles partner.

Maybe, but perhaps the 21-year-old Davenport deserved a little luck in her 22nd major. She won the Olympic gold medal a year ago, won 11 tour events, beat all the top players, yet the furthest she had ever gone in a Grand Slam was the quarterfinals four times.

Not this time. She can thank the wind that tormented her so much, or she can thank Novotna, whose propensity for letting matches slip away at the end remains a valuable advantage for her opponents. It's one thing to come from behind, as Novotna did so splendidly from 4-1 down in the third set and in her third-round match against Mirjana Lucic, and quite another to close it out.

Novotna served for the match at 5-4, fended off four break points, then reached match point after the fourth deuce. Novotna charged in during the ensuing rally and sliced a backhand on a sharp angle out of Davenport's reach and, unfortunately for the Czech, out of bounds by an inch.

"The wind was blowing from that end," Novotna said. "When I hit the approach, I could see that ball just drifted away. There was nothing I could do. But there was no doubt that it was out."

Davenport glanced at the spot where the ball hit, saw the difference between winning and losing in the space of that inch, and considered her good fortune.

"She hadn't missed one backhand approach the whole match," Davenport said. "The wind was actually going one way and she hit the ball the other way. That was very lucky for me that the wind didn't bring that ball back in. I thought I was gone at the point. I didn't think that was going out. I was very shocked when it did go out."

That opportunity gone, Novotna never had another. Davenport notched her fifth break point of the game with a volley on the next point, then made it 5-5 when she outlasted Novotna in a rally.

Davenport held at love to make it 6-5, and had a chance to end it a few moments later when she slugged a backhand pass for her 25th break point of the match and 19th of the set. But Novotna saved that with a forehand, and went on to push the set into a tiebreaker.

And what a strange tiebreaker it was. Balls sailed and drifted, and holding serve became an event. Davenport held only twice, Novotna just once. Davenport clubbed a serve eight feet wide into the wrong box for a double fault.

Then at 6-5, Davenport whacked her best shot, a forehand crosscourt that flew past Novotna for a winner. Luck may have given Davenport that chance, but she made the best of it.

House and Peterson."

When Kramer was recruited out of high school, Iowa was one of the first schools to offer him a scholarship. At Holtz's request, Kramer didn't visit other campuses after seeing South Bend. The fact that Kramer's brother, Matt, graduated from Notre Dame may also have influenced his decision.

Fry has long been known as a player's coach. The Iowa leader shields his players from media attacks and seems genuinely concerned about their well-being.

Whether or not Holtz measures up as a humanitarian is not important. The only thing that matters is whether Kramer is comfortable and ready to make tackles in the Big Ten. "Coach Holtz is a good coach and he does a lot of things well, but coach Fry is more like family," Kramer said. "He's a guy you can talk to. I don't ever worry about going up to coach Fry and saying, 'Hey, what's going on?'" to be interested in the quarterback situation, no one asked him about Chris Clapp, the starting right tackle.

"With coach Holtz, the only time you talked to him is if you were in trouble."

FORTNEY/Dunbar to throw it all at Hawkeyes

"I know you're not worried about Chris Clapp trying to block Jared DeVries all day," Dunbar said. "I am. I'm very worried about that. So I have a lot of concern at that tackle spot right now because if they can't block (DeVries), whoever is at quarterback is going to have a real tough day."

DeVries is the standout Iowa defensive tackle who led the Big Ten Conference in tackles for losses last season. Fortney has faced him before, playing for a few series when Washington met Iowa in the 1995 Sun Bowl.

Iowa won 38-18 and DeVries was voted the game's most valuable player on defense.

"Having played against Iowa before, there might be some advantages," Dunbar said. "He's walked into stadiums with 70,000 people before and played. So it's not going to be anything new to him."

"But that has nothing to do with him being the starting quarterback. He's the starting quarterback because over the preseason he graded out the highest like every other player competing at their position. We don't pick them based on experience."

A couple of other positions are still unsettled.

Dunbar hasn't decided on a starting tailback and four players might see action at that position on Saturday — Justin Roberson, Terry Holliman, Matt Llanes and Taras Walker.

"We feel that's a good strength," Dunbar said. "The things we want to be able to do with the football, it's not a one-man show. We don't expect any one guy to have to carry the ball 30 or 40 times. I would prefer each guy carries 10 or 12 times."

"You'll probably see all of them in the Iowa game. At what time and which order, we have not determined yet."

Dunbar also is trying to decide between freshmen Phil Soash and Julio Guzman as the placekicker.

"We're going to flip a coin and pick one of them," he said. "He will kick first and if it doesn't go well, we'll let somebody else kick. We'll probably use more than one kicker just to find out how we stand in that regard."

Freshman Walter Randall will start at fullback and Ohio State transfer Mike Furrey has earned the starting wide receiver position opposite Alonzo Clayton.

This will be the second meeting between Iowa and Northern Iowa in three years. Iowa won 34-13 in 1995, when Terry Allen was the Panthers' coach.

The efforts of local DJs and the appeal of their music have given rise to an emerging Iowa City club scene.
By Katharine Horowitz
The Daily Iowan

An alternative to the typical downtown bar scene is emerging — and it's spreading through Iowa City faster than the pulsating dance beats that accompany it.

The Iowa City club scene is growing with the same intensity and seriousness as the worldwide, underground movement that got the groove started.

To the casual observer, it's the increasing number of crowds and the mainstreaming of dance music that kick-started the drive to introduce more house and techno music to various bars in Iowa City. However, in truth, it was the DJs who fostered the sound, said M. Gunner Grulke, owner of Gunnerz, 123 E. Washington St.

"The thing that's making (the club scene) grow is the DJs who are cultivating it," Grulke said. "We have several DJs who spin and who are active with promoting the sound and putting the word out."

And with live DJs making the music, the crowd naturally follows, said Don Russom, manager of Vibes Music, 119 E. Washington, and local DJ. Tired of hearing the "Grease

TRIP LIKE WE DO

Soundtrack over and over, Russom said people are now asking for specific dance songs and showing up more often to shake their booty.

"People want to hear this stuff," Russom said. "It has nothing to do with the mainstreaming of electronica because before it became popular, there was still a base of people asking for it."

Club is becoming more widespread because people are finally hearing it and are making the decision to keep hearing it.
Luis Mashek
UI junior

Along with club nights at the 620 Club, 620 S. Madison St., Gabe's, 330 E. Washington St., and other pounding dance floors around the town, at least 200 people showed up to Gunnerz' Strictly Riddim club night last Sunday, Grulke said, with seven different DJs spinning.

Each DJ spins for only a half hour due to the incredible amount of energy expended, Grulke said.

"The majority of people are out there dancing," he said. "It's a really bass-driven rhythm. It's fun, it's energetic and it's easy to get up and dance to it. Hip-hop and house are not homogeneous sounds. There are very different styles, but all are high-energy and dance-oriented."

Still, it's not entirely the sound that's attracting the masses. UI junior Luis Mashek goes "clubbing" as an alternative to the bars — a chance to really dance and a relief from every-

Riverside Theatre begins season on musical note

By Rob Merritt
The Daily Iowan

Plays with social commentary are nothing new to the stage of Riverside Theatre.

Musicals, though, certainly are.

When "Blood Brothers," the rock musical that has been a smash success in London, opens Friday night at 8, it will be the largest production Riverside Theatre has ever mounted, with a cast of 13 backed by a band.

Musicals of this scale are certainly unusual in Riverside's smaller and more intimate space — but the theatre had good reason to produce the show, said "Blood Brothers" director Ron Clark.

"It's not a typical musical," Clark said. "It's different from what we usually find in this country; it has a strong sense of social commentary. The rock score isn't so harsh that it would drive anyone away, and the story has the kind of wide appeal of the Threepenny Opera, with a simple, direct storyline that's very gritty and exciting."

"Blood Brothers" tells the tale of Eddie and Mickey, twin brothers who are separated at birth when their mother gives one of them away because she can't afford to keep him. Never knowing their relation, the pair grow up within a few blocks from each other, and become friends — despite the fact Eddie is wealthy and Mickey lives in poverty.

That issue of class is the centerpiece of "Blood Brothers," said UI senior Chad Jacobsen, who plays Eddie.

"Willy Russell (the musical's author) is saying, 'Let's take a look at this situation, because these two wonderful characters can't survive with things being the way they are,'" he said. "There's such a rift between the classes, and there has to be a change. To me, the play is about how people need to be aware of how much they can judge other people on a daily basis, and ask themselves whether that's right."

Film Chatter

Jason will finally face Freddy, MTV reported. The fictional stars of "Friday the 13th" and "Nightmare on Elm Street" films are expected to battle during the 1998 holiday season.

Scott Alexander and Larry Karaszewski, the screenwriting duo behind "The People vs. Larry Flynt," have taken on a new draft of "The Hulk." "Ain't It Cool News" reported.

Tim Burton's role as director in the "Superman Reborn" continues to be criticized on the Internet. Multiple Web sources reported Burton may leave the film, which is expected to open next summer and star Nicolas Cage.

In the "Star Wars" prequels, currently filming, a "Total Recall"-style head exploding sequence was rumored to be prepared for filming. "Ain't It Cool News" reported.

Greg Kirschling MOVIE REVIEW

'subUrbia' is day of reckoning

"subUrbia" is a cautionary tale about a bunch of slackers.

That sentence alone is proof enough that director Richard Linklater, who reinvented the word "slacker," doesn't really belong with his "subUrbia" collaborator, screenwriter Eric Bogosian.

That sentence also feels like a contradiction in terms for Linklater, because his previous films — "Slacker," "Dazed and Confused," "Before Sunrise" — argued so agreeably for Generation X to throw caution at the old fogies.

Significantly, "subUrbia" is the first film Linklater didn't write himself; Bogosian (also an actor; see "Under Siege 2") has adapted his own play. He must be the one to blame for all the caution.

The menace is suggested by the title. During the opening, Linklater tracks through the tan emptiness of fictional Burnfield. In the center of this eyesore, the main characters (three men, two women, all twenty-ish) hang around outside a convenience store, right by the dumpster.

You'd think Linklater wouldn't have a problem with that. But after a night with returning high-school "geek" Pony (Jayce Bartok), now a rock star with a limo and a publicist (Parker Posey, "Party Girl"), the five slackers are all changed at least slightly. The dazed and confused that resist are implicitly, humorlessly and unironically criticized.

Jeff (Giovanni Ribisi) takes the worst of it. His funky-haired girlfriend Sooze (Amie Carey), the lovably spiky standout) performs a wacky feminist jig that makes her look like a punk leprechaun, and she hopes to get into art school with it. Jeff has no such inclinations, and no noticeable talents. He's content to stay where he is, justifying his community college lifestyle with a few hazy speeches.

No way, Jeff. If "subUrbia" accomplishes anything, it shows that the filmmakers think the "gutless" Jeff is fooling himself and needs to grow up. This becomes especially clear near the ending, following a badly manufactured situation involving the explosive Tim (Nicky Katt). But here and elsewhere, the drama of his situation is never persuasive. The movie should just get off his case, especially if "making it" means ending up like Pony.

Don't get me wrong. I don't object to Linklater trying new things. He can make a Lemmon/Matthau comedy if he likes, as long as his heart is in it. That's not the case here. Scenes of racial baiting are merely uncomfortable.

The token unapologetic slacker, Buff (Steve Zahn, "That Thing You Do!") feels more like a "National Lampoon" boob than a fleshed-out Linklater character. And the uneven ending is likely to leave the "Dazed and Confused" crowd feeling puzzled, unmoved and maybe even betrayed.

Linklater's slacker cinema

Greg Kirschling: There isn't a college in sight in "Slacker," but it's indispensable as a look at college types in the '90s. I love the guy who insists to his girlfriend that suffering is good. But more than that, I like the girlfriend, who turns on him and tells him he's pulling garbage from the books he reads without thinking about what any of it means. That's dead on.

Later on, that same lady turns into a nodder — the other university type. When the JFK freak — author of "Conspiracy-A-Go-Go" — spouts off on the assassination, she just nods along, "right right," when she doesn't have a clue what he's saying. Who at the UI hasn't done that?

Stacey Harrison: Linklater's best accomplishment with "Slacker" was telling a story about very pretentious people and not letting any of that rub off on his filmmaking. Instead of being annoying, "Slacker" is a good time, and deserving of its place in independent film history.

K: Right, right... he's really good at improv-style dialogue. You don't expect some of those lines, but they sound true. Unlike Kevin Smith's stuff, like "Clerks."

H: ... although he does wander into Smith's territory a little bit with "Dazed and Confused." Of all Linklater's films, that one seems to exist mostly for its own sake, and doesn't have many memorable characters — except for Matthew McConaughey's hilarious portrayal of a high-school has-been. That is beauty.

K: First of all, Smith wanders into Linklater's territory. He came second. No way Smith touches Linklater. They share similar interests and ideas —

Harrison/Kirschling

discuss the films of Richard Linklater

Harrison: If I get nothing else from this dialogue, Greg, I'm going to go out and rent "My Dinner With Andre" so I can appreciate that little comparison.

A LOOK AHEAD

Oscar Watch

Jodie Foster, "Contact"
Katharine Hepburn's got someone chasing her down. Jodie Foster, thirtysomething, has already won two Oscars. Hepburn has won four, but when she picked up her latest (for "On Golden Pond" in 1981), she was a senior citizen. Obviously, Foster, one of the best actresses around, has a very good chance to catch her, even though she likes to take her time making movies.

It's a long shot, but "Contact" could bring her closer. As Ellie Arroway, fiercely determined scientist, she gets to register levels of fear and trepidation that men in major summer movie vehicles aren't allowed to. That's why "Contact" wouldn't have worked with a male star. Foster makes "Contact" different. — GK

Coming Soon

"She's So Lovely"
The late grandfather of independent film, John Cassavetes, wrote a "fable" years ago about a love triangle. Sean Penn wanted to direct it, but he refused to shoot it in color, so no studio would back him. After a few more years in "development hell," the directing reins went to Nick Cassavetes, director of "Unhook the Stars," co-star of "Face/Off" and John's son.

Penn still stayed with it, choosing to make a now-rare acting appearance as a hoodlum madly in love with Robin Wright-Penn (Sean's wife). But then he's incarcerated for ten years, and when he gets out she's remarried to a four-mouthed hothead (John Travolta). He wants her back. She's not sure what to do. — GK

H: Actually, that's what I see as Linklater's biggest weakness — his films are too long. Even "Before Sunrise" — his best film, according to me — gets a little long in the tooth by the end.

K: Nice segue. "Before Sunrise" is awesome. I love it that a director today dares to make a movie filled with almost nothing except talk. It's the "My Dinner With Andre" of romance movies.

H: If I get nothing else from this dialogue, Greg, I'm going to go out and rent "My Dinner With Andre" so I can appreciate that little comparison.

K: 1981. Rated PG. Directed by: Louis Malle. Starring: Wallace Shawn and Andre Gregory. Look for it in the drama section. It was "Youth Restricted Viewing" at my Blockbuster back home.

H: Anyway, back to Linklater. I see that you didn't much care for "subUrbia." I beg to differ. I thought it showed how complete an artist he is, by early in his career praising slackers, and being able to tear them down just as convincingly. He uses someone else's material and still makes it his own.

K: Again, nice segue, wrong conclusions. Richard Linklater, he's the man, but he's not the man for this movie. He turns the movie into a critique of slackers — he's pot calling the kettle black. I didn't buy it. He didn't convince me.

"Kull the Conqueror" (PG-13) — Last time Hollywood took a sword and sorcery idea from Robert E. Howard, they turned it into the moody, violent and campy "Conan the Barbarian."

No such luck this time. Howard's "Kull the Conqueror" has become "Kull the Clunker," a bland, cheapo kiddie brain-suck starring Kevin Sorbo (TV's "Hercules").

This movie is only a little more convincingly staged than a preschool game of dress-up. My favorite medieval detail was the screeching industrial guitar on the soundtrack. Some other noteworthy elements include a mouth-to-mouth kiss between Kull and a fang-toothed, burnt-flesh monster, and a witch villain who speaks in Darth Vaderese (e.g. "I have altered our pact. Pray I don't alter it further!").

Not your typical artist

Iowa City artist Gregory McCallum says his unusual artwork stems from his love of art and the creativity of his 7-year-old son.

By Melanie Mesaros
The Daily Iowan

Gregory James McCallum's playful, bold artwork is not your typical household fare and that's just fine with him.

"In Iowa, it's couch art that sells," McCallum said. "I've done portraits. I've done landscapes and painted pheasants. It's just like doing a book report — really boring."

McCallum's artwork consists of everything from oversized, brightly colored masks, which are one of his favorite things to create, to cartoon-inspired paintings and sculptured fish, all of which can be seen at Blimpie's, 118 S. Dubuque St.

"The works do scream for attention," McCallum said looking at the white walls livened with his creations in the sub shop. "With a mask you can do everything. It is a way to look through and hide."

Even though McCallum works an estimated 55 hours a week at his day job, he makes time to paint and create in the early mornings and night.

"I have a lot of things going on at a time," he said. "My studio's kinda like Pee-wee's Playhouse. I make a nice lime green color and I put a little bit on everything I am working on. I'm inspired when I am working so much though. I'm trying to be an art machine."

McCallum said his art is influenced by his childlike attitude, attributing comics, as well as inspiration and advice from his son.

"I have a 7-year-old son who has a huge influence on my artwork," McCallum said. "His style is really loose. He has a fresh perspective."

After visiting and interacting with his son's kindergarten class McCallum witnessed how all children seem to naturally think artistically.

"You ask kindergartners who's an artist and they all raise their hands," he said. "Then, you go to a third-grade classroom and only about a third of them raise their hands. I'd like to go around the world to teach children at a young age that everyone has an artist in them and that doesn't mean just being able to paint or draw. You can write poetry and be an artist."

He hopes his art takes people to somewhere fun and exciting when they interact with it, even if it's when they are eating a sandwich.

"I hope it sets them apart from their monetary world and takes them to where I was," he said. "There is a sense of humor in this art that conveys my attitude about stuff."

RIVERSIDE/Riverside's new season begins with "Blood Brothers"

To accommodate the show, Riverside uses as much of its open space as possible, with very minimal changes in scenery. The band even had to be put in the scene shop, Clark said.

The rock-style music of "Blood Brothers" has a very "Beatlesesque" quality, Jacobsen said.

"The show takes place in Liverpool, and it has some Beatles influences — some very pop-like songs," he said. "I can imagine Elton John covering a few of the tunes."

Jacobsen said part of the reason for the incredible success of "Blood Brothers" in London is that social classes make such an impact on the lives of British people.

"In the 1980s, Margaret Thatcher really hurt the lower classes with her economic sanctions," he said. "No matter what you do, class is going to affect you in some way. (For the characters in "Blood Brothers"), sometimes even love can't survive being a victim of class."

"Blood Brothers" will run through Oct. 5. Friday night's performance is already sold out.

Riverside's new season

Following "Blood Brothers," Riverside Theatre has five more shows still to come this year. A brief synopsis of the 1997-98 Riverside Theatre lineup:

"Flying Solo" (Oct. 25-Nov. 16)

This trio of one-person shows contains "Kindred Hearts" by Ron Clark, "The Median Strip" by Richard Strand, and "Smaller and Clearer As The Years Go By" by Rebecca Gilman.

"Jack & Jill" (Nov. 28-Dec. 21)

Just in time for the holidays, this Jane Martin comedy about love in the 90's advertises dialogue that is "fierce, funny, and fantastic."

"Marry Me" (Jan. 30-Feb. 22)

Written by Playwrights Workshop graduate Thea Cooper, whose UI Playwrights Festival works have included "Impersonating Elvis" and "Prime Time," this comedy centers on a hopeful romantic, an aspiring novelist, and a mobster — all in search of happiness.

"Three Tall Women" (April 3-26)

duction of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" This one, the story of three very different people under the same roof, won Albee his third Pulitzer Prize.

"Private Eyes" (May 22-June 14)

Following a much-talked-about production of "Lonely Planet" at the UI last year, Iowa City audiences are invited to share in another of playwright Steven Dietz's creations — this one a suspenseful comedy that asks the question, "What if nothing, even the play in front of you, is what it appears to be?"

day pressures.

"I totally love all the stuff that goes with the club scene," Mashek said. "The diversity of the people is one thing because techno has more of an underground culture and is more wild than others. It's not run-of-the-mill music so you don't see run-of-the-mill people. Club is becoming more widespread because people are finally hearing it and are making the decision to keep hearing it."

Dancing the night away, however, does not automatically help one to relax. Many club people will use drugs to heighten the effect of their experience, said Iowa City resident and avid club-goer Mitch Jiroutek.

Though "clubbing" and drugs do not always go hand in hand, it is not unusual to find someone under the influence of some substance when going out, Jiroutek said.

"You don't hear of anyone who hasn't used a substance," Jiroutek said. "We live in a place where we need that relief. We're also at an age where it's the thing to do. It's an escape from the mundane. You live in the same town, see the same people everyday, and every weekend you go to the same bars. It's nice to be in a different state of mind when you do. And it makes the music sound better."

Drovers to show Celtic pride in Iowa City

■ The group that was Celtic-inspired before Celtic-inspired was cool brings its new-and-improved act to Gabe's.

By Melanie Mesaros
The Daily Iowan

The Drovers are returning to Iowa City with two new band members to spice up its Celtic-inspired, alternative rock sound. The Chicago-based band will perform at Gabe's, 330 E. Washington St., on Saturday at 9 p.m. and fans will be able to hear the new female voice, something that has been missing from the band's sound since 1992, Sean Cleland, a violin player for the Drovers, said.

"We've added two new people to the band, one of which is a girl," Cleland said in a telephone interview with the DI.

The new female voice is Merritt Lear, who brings her talents of violin, mandolin, mandola and dulcimer to the group, while the other new Drover, Tim Larsen, will perform on the bass and guitar.

Cleland said the band, which formed about 7 years ago, included an Irish edge to its music before Riverdance and Celtic music became popular.

"I really fell in love with Irish traditional music," Cleland said. "We definitely wanted to include that in what we did. It was timeless."

However, Cleland said he doesn't want the group's alternative, '90s rock sound to be overshadowed.

"I guess I'm just worried that people are going to beat the Riverdance thing into the ground," he said. "We are definitely a Chicago-based band."

The majority of their songs are written by guitar player and vocalist Mike Kirkpatrick and vocalist David Callahan, Cleland said.

"They carry journals with them and write down ideas," he said.

"Words seem very individualistic in bands. Some of our songs tell stories or they may be touching on a personal topic."

The band has toured with acts like Ani DiFranco, Leftover Salmon, the Freddy Jones band, Matchbox 20 and have songs that appear on the movie soundtracks of "Backdraft" and "Blink."

Cleland said the Gabe's crowd can expect a preview of the group's new album, which will be released this fall.

Single of the week

Adam Sandler, "The Lonesome Kicker"

The former "Saturday Night Live" star supplies humor in the form of a mock-ballad tribute to football kickers. Sandler sounds like he's doing a bad Bruce Springsteen impression, but his underdog stance always gets us laughing.

Video of the week

The Dandy Warhols, "Not If You Were the Last Junkie on Earth"

Photographer David LaChapelle redefines trippy with this junk-culture spectacle. The video is filled with the splashy, unusual images LaChapelle's works are famous for — bringing to life dancing needles and "Fame"-like dancers.

Talk Show should have shut up

Brian McNeil
The Daily Iowan

This Stone Temples Pilot' side project, cleverly titled Talk Show, seems to be primarily an exercise in mediocrity — with little or no attempt made to improve on the band's previous work.

This is evident from the start with "Ring Twice," which sounds a lot like a rewrite of the STP fave "Big Empty." The album doesn't improve from there, although the rest isn't quite as obviously derivative from the band's own past.

In reality, Talk Show is even weaker than what most have come to expect from such bands. I caught myself almost enjoying two of the songs, "So Long" and "John," but I think these just seemed better in comparison with the general lameness that plagues the rest of it.

It takes about two songs to get the basic idea of this album, after which the knockout punch of "Everybody Loves My Car," is delivered — an appallingly lame track whose lyrics and sentiment cause one to wonder what we as a society have done to deserve it. A couple of songs later, on "Peeling an Orange" when Dave Coutts drons that "Sometimes the acid stings my eyes," it's difficult to feel sorry for him.

Talk Show continues to lumber on, finally reaching the closing track, "Fill the Fields." It sparks a sudden hankering for vomiting, the closest I came to experiencing a genuine emotion in response to the disc.

The band is appropriately named, as they effectively replicate the boredom of watching a talk show. True, those who can stomach STP might find this release adequate, but this is otherwise a disc destined to line the rack of many a used CD store — that's where my copy is headed.

Candy Machine's latest adds maturity

This release isn't even remotely as innovative as The Candy Machine's 1994 release A Modest Proposal, but Tune International displays something lacking from the band's previous output (other than the word "the" in their name) and that is maturity. The songs are substantially more cohesive, the lyrics make more sense, and the guitar work is clearly superior.

"Exits and Entrances" starts the album off well, coupling choppy, Gang of Four-ish guitar action with Peter Quinn's ranting, frantic voice. After this, the disc slows down a bit, settling comfortably into a fairly tasty groove, which culminates in "Instamatic," the band's best song to date.

Describing The Candy Machine's sound is difficult, as it doesn't fit too neatly into any specific genre. Suffice it to say that Tune International is worth checking out, especially for those who like Fall-influenced pseudo-punk. Hardcore band aficionados, however, may find this disc's sacrifice of chaos for order a little disappointing.

NEW RELEASES

Raw, stripped-down rock

This CD kicks enormous quantities of ass, and you need to own a copy.

Although the disgusting positive "essay" printed on the back cover filled me with an appetite for destruction for The Soul of the New Machine, it is simply a damned fine example of a compact disc. Its raw, stripped-down rock is highly reminiscent of the Jon Spencer Blues Explosion and is no less effective. An important distinction, though, is that Delta 72 is more faithful to old school injections that comprise their aesthetic that Spencer and Co.

That is both a plus and minus at times, but is definitely a good thing overall, as evidenced by the music. Alternately mellowing you out beyond belief and just fully rocking your world, all the tracks deliver the goods. From "Introduction (Part 2)" to the closing "We Hate the Blues," The Soul of the New Machine is always enthralling.

Lunden to say goodbye to 'GMA'

After 17 years of co-anchoring, Joan Lunden will appear for this last time on "Good Morning America"

By Frazier Moore
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Joan Lunden has only one more morning to go after 17 years co-anchoring "Good Morning America." That being the case, her viewers might ponder just what is the secret of her tenure — unrivaled, as it is, in network morning TV.

I did. My conclusion: Her eyes. There's something about her eyes. Upstaged they may be by Lunden's signature sunny smile. But when it isn't the time to smile, it's her eyes that say why, and maybe better than words or pictures could.

"Good Morning America"

Airs: Weekdays at 7 on KCRG Channel 9

Joan Lunden's eyes, when you connect with them, can break your heart.

Which they did again this week as she co-anchored "GMA's" coverage after the death of Princess Diana. Lunden's eyes captured the sadness her viewers felt.

But when Lunden sat for an interview a couple of weeks ago to discuss her getting-nearer-by-the-moment departure, The Smile was a fixture on her face.

"I will admit to you that I took my appointment book and found Sept. 5 and wrote NO MORE WAKEUPS!, and I've been counting down," she said.

That unmerciful morning wake-up has come at 3:30 a.m. since before her three daughters were born — and her eldest, Jamie, is 17 years old.

"They know no other way of life," Lunden said. "I think they're going to enjoy me not being tired all the time."

Earlier this year, NBC morning show "Today" said good day to Bryant Gumbel after 15 years in a seamless handover of his anchor duties to Matt Lauer.

The transition of power became an opportunity for "Today" to celebrate its own success as the No. 1 morning show in the ratings. By contrast, ABC's "Good Morning America," which has trailed "Today" for almost two years, faces mostly uncertainty with the debut next Monday of Lunden's successor, Lisa McRee, beside longtime anchor Charles Gibson (even Gibson's future is uncertain).

Lunden allowed that she would have preferred her show be in the top spot when she left — but insisted its difficulties hadn't hastened her departure.

"The show will have to find its place with viewers again," she said. "But every show has its ups and downs, and you can't necessarily pick and choose when to leave."

"I'm not leaving because the ratings are down, but because I wanted off that schedule. I'm leaving because it's time, maybe a little MORE than time. I've known for the last two years that I should probably move on."

"But when you've done something that's so successful for so long, when you have this incredible seat from which to view the world."

"The Ghost and Mrs. Muir"

(Directed by: Joseph L. Mankiewicz, 1947)

This rich, romantic film — not to be confused with Don Knotts' "The Ghost and Mr. Chicken" — starts out a little plainly. Mrs. Muir (Gene Tierney), recently widowed, takes her daughter Anna (a young Natalie Wood) and moves into a haunted house overlooking the sea. At first, Tierney is just too odd.

Soon we see that's intentional. When she finds out her new home is haunted by the ghost of a pirate named Captain Gregg (a salty, irreverent Rex Harrison, "My Fair Lady"), she's fascinated. To the sea dog's consternation, this rare duck won't leave. They bicker, eventually deciding to write his story together, in one of the film's funnier touches, the amusingly prim Mrs. Muir puts out a pirate book called "Blood and Swath."

They seem poignantly fated for each other. No need to give away more, except to say that few love stories manage the balance of humor, melancholy and romance like this one does. Composer Bernard Herrman crafted a score perfect for a ghost/love story.

80 Hours The Back

On the lips

what's got people talking this week

- Ani DiFranco — The eclectic folk-rocker's official Web site says she'll play the IMU Ballroom on Oct. 21, before SCOPE can confirm.
- Levi's TV Ads — This cinema-style, cultural buckshot loosely connects the stories of a DJ, a cowboy, a taxi driver, etc. Why is this advertisement so much more compelling than any network program?
- "subURbia" — Director Richard Linklater's follow-up to "Slacker" and "Dazed and Confused" arrives at the Bijou. Next time he should forgo the flowery title and name his project "Generation X: The Movie."
- MTV Video Music Awards — Music Television attempts to make like the Academy Awards for "hip" 20somethings and under. This show insults the intelligence of a 4-year-old.
- "The Flamingo Rising" — City Councillor Larry Baker's debut novel appears on the Prairie Lights bestseller list before some local stores sell even one copy, including the Waldenbooks Baker where works. Guess who won't be doing Frequent Buyer Club advertisements when he gets famous.
- Puff Daddy — It's only a matter of time before he samples himself. Please, once and for all, RIP B.I.G.
- George Harrison — Tells French magazine Oasis is for teenagers and no one will remember U2 and the Spice Girls. Which Beatle was he, Paul or Ringo?
- "Hoodlum" — What American cinema really needs ... another gangster movie. Why can't Laurence Fishburne find a script strong enough to match his amazing presence?
- Bob Dylan — The Vatican says the legendary rocker will play a concert for the Pope. Bob Carlisle is pissed.
- Rolling Stone — The Spice Girls rest atop its "Reader's Top 10." Prodigy and the Wu-Tang Clan finally appear on its cover months after they top the charts. Can you say "irrelevant"?

Generation Next owns Music Television now

It's the network that put the "p" in "popular" — complete with booty calls and the latest in tight clothing with block rockin' beats in the background.

You know what I'm talking about; the source of cultural cool: MTV — Music Television.

And tonight the MTV Video Music Awards are scheduled to be aired. Frankly, I'm wondering just how many choices there were to be made for Best Video out of the small pool of videos that actually do get played on Music Television.

MTV no longer means "Music Television," and its programmers are even admitting their devotion to music is rapidly decreasing. Instead the network is filling up its hours with "Singed Out," babes in bikinis and men with oiled muscles, "MTV News," and a slew of other talk-oriented programming. A collective, protesting cry can be heard from the Gen X masses: "What happened to the music?" They want their MTV and they want it now.

But truthfully, I don't really mind the shift in programming.

With the exception of the particularly mundane shows ("Oddville," "Singed Out," you know the type), is it necessarily that bad that MTV reduces its proportion of videos versus talking? Yes, it takes away from the original purpose of MTV, but at the same time the station was created with the notion of a young audience in mind. Young audiences change and it's up to entertainment sources like MTV to keep its viewers interested with fresh and unique programming.

The majority of people who are complaining about MTV's drastic shift in videoplay are in the twenty-something generation — the generation that grew up with "120 Minutes," "Yo, MTV Raps," "Headbanger's Ball" and, of course, "Remote Control." These are the same people who cannot, for the life of them, figure out why Hanson and the Spice Girls are so damn popular (and believe me, I sympathize in the confusion).

Like it or not, it's Generation Next — as Pepsi calls it — that's controlling the airwaves and we old farts have to deal with.

But it's the kids, who are just discovering the joys of popular culture, that will spend those mind-numbing minutes in front of the idiot box mesmerized by Trixie and Bubba steaming it up on "The Grind" or laughing their butts off at the new "Apartment 2F."

Like it or not, it's Generation Next — as Pepsi calls it — that's controlling the airwaves and we old farts have to deal with it. That's what the late-night "Amp" and "Adult Videos" (as if) are for, after the kiddies go to bed with visions of Jenny McCarthy or Bill Bellamy dancing in their heads.

However, let's admit it: How many of you out there are secret "Singed Out" watchers? You hate the show as a whole, but there's something about it that makes you watch. I got news for you: it's called "voyeurism" and it's MTV's best friend. They know you find it appalling, but they also know you'll watch it.

So, it'll be interesting to see who pick up their golden astronaut tonight — the winners will dictate not only the voice of the Generation Next but the mood and direction of MTV. I don't know about anyone else, but I'll be watching.

I. Student Rights

A. STUDENT BILL OF RIGHTS

It is the policy of The University of Iowa that each student shall be guaranteed the following rights and freedoms; enumeration of the rights or registration at the University shall in no manner be construed to nullify or limit any other constitutional or legal rights or freedoms possessed by students as citizens or residents of the United States or the State of Iowa:

- The right to participate freely in University-sponsored services and activities consistent with the University Policy on Human Rights; that is, without discrimination based on any classifications that deprive the person of consideration as an individual.
- The right to obtain a clear statement of basic rights, obligations, and responsibilities concerning both academic and nonacademic student conduct.
- The right to be evaluated in the classroom solely on the basis of academic achievement and fulfillment of educational requirements with freedom of expression protected and respected.
- The right to organize and join associations in order to promote common interests.
- The right of protection from the maintenance by the University of records reflecting the student's beliefs or his or her political activities and associations except for counseling records, health records, and records of disciplinary proceedings, and the right of protection from the release to persons outside the University community of such records as well as academic and disciplinary records without the express consent of the student or a court order.
- The right to petition for changes in either academic or nonacademic regulations, procedures, or practices.
- The right to be represented by a democratic student government.
- The right to have clearly defined means to participate in the formulation and application of institutional policy affecting both academic and nonacademic student affairs. The student's participation shall include the right to gain access to information, to express views, and to have these views considered.
- The right of protection from the placement of non-University financial obligations on the student's University account without the express consent of the student.
- The right to be free from disciplinary action by the University for misconduct except under reasonable rules which have as their substantive basis the protection of some clear and distinct interest of the University as an academic institution.
- The right to due process in any action brought or taken by the University against the student which can reasonably be expected to affect the student's status with the University or any of its constituent parts or agencies.
- The right to protection from ex post facto regulations.

B. POLICIES RELATED TO STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

As in the broader community, many of the values and standards of behavior desired in an academic community are best transmitted by example, persuasion, and mutual respect. Beyond the unwritten code which governs us, however, is the need for formal, written policies and procedures which will ensure due process to any and all who become involved in a dispute or conflict within the academic community.

These policies and procedures—which are furnished to every member of the student body so that all might become familiar with them—are essential to the spirit of cooperation, compromise, and civil behavior which underlies productive human relationships. In short, the policies and procedures contained herein are the real-life mechanisms by which the University remains a place where essential rights and freedoms are preserved. These freedoms and rights include, but are not necessarily limited to, the freedom to teach, the freedom to learn and pursue truth no matter where that pursuit may lead, the freedom of speech, and the freedom of assembly. All communities must adopt whatever regulations their members require to ensure that conflict or misconduct does not diminish the rights of free people. Acceptance of and adherence to these fundamentals of freedom are necessary for continued membership in the community. When members of the University community consider what matters may require regulation by written code, these guidelines apply.

- All the University's resources must be fully employed in the intellectual and personal development of its students.
- Institutional regulations should be adopted only when necessary to the achievement of the University's academic goals, the safety and freedom of individuals, or the orderly operation of the University.
- Students should be encouraged to participate, through orderly procedures, in the establishment and revision of regulations governing their conduct.
- Regulations should be clearly stated and made conveniently available to every student.
- Disciplinary action for violation of regulations should be corrective, rather than punitive.
- Disciplinary procedures should be consistent with the principles of due process, channels of appeal should be clearly defined, and information relating to appeals should be readily accessible to all students.

Institutional regulations cannot provide specifically for every question of conduct under every set of circumstances which might arise; they are intended to define the practices ordinarily necessary to maintain working order in a complex system and to protect the essential freedoms of everyone in the community.

Advice on and review of University policies and regulations rest with general University committees. Committees dealing with the activities of students include students. Representatives of the appropriate administrative offices serve as consultants to committee members.

Student, staff, and faculty members may introduce topics for the agenda, debate proposals, and vote on all recommendations. Student members can contribute most effectively to the work of the committees by maintaining regular lines of two-way communication with the student government and with other groups and individuals interested in their committees' particular areas of concern. As members of the larger community of which the University is a part, students are entitled to all the rights and protections enjoyed by other members of that community. By the same token, students are also subject to all civil laws, whose enforcement is the responsibility of duly constituted civil authorities, with whom the University has a policy of full cooperation. It should be emphasized that when a student's violation of civil law also adversely affects the orderly operation of the University, the University must enforce its own regulations regardless of any civil proceedings or dispositions.

Final authority in all cases rests with the University president and the State Board of Regents. Included here are the primary statements of University policies on rights and responsibilities of students. It is to your advantage to give them a careful reading and to keep your copy at hand for reference.

Interim changes in regulations are published in the student-edited newspaper the Daily Iowan. A complete set of current general University regulations is always available in the Office of the Vice President for Student Services and Dean of Students (hereinafter "Office of the Vice President"). For information on curricular matters, consult the appropriate college office.

C. TREATMENT OF STUDENT EDUCATIONAL RECORDS

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), a federal law, affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are: (1) the right to inspect and review education records within 45 days of the day the University receives a request for access; (2) the right to request the amendment of the education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading; (3) the right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent; and (4) the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University of Iowa to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The address of the Family Policy Compliance Office, which administers FERPA, is 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Washington, DC, 20202-4605.

Under FERPA, the University may, at its discretion, release the following directory information regarding any current or former student to anyone who requests it: name; local address; telephone number; electronic mail address; hometown; major fields of study; college enrolled in; dates of attendance, including the current class or year; full-time/part-time status; degrees and awards received; height and weight of members of athletic teams; and information about participation in activities and sports.

In early September, the University will release directory information to a designated publishing company for inclusion in the annual student, staff, and faculty directory. Information included in the published directory includes name; local address; telephone number; hometown; and college enrolled in and current class or year.

Students are entitled to restrict the release of directory information, and former students may restrict address and telephone number. To avoid publication of any or all of this information in the University directory, a request must be submitted no later than 7 calendar days following the first day of classes of fall semester to the Office of the Registrar, 1 Jessup Hall. After the date in which the directory information is released to the publisher, the Office of the Registrar will process requests to restrict the release of directory information but such requests cannot be effectuated with respect to the information sent to the publisher. A request to restrict directory information will remain in effect until revoked by the student in writing.

FERPA permits disclosure of education record information without the student's consent to school officials who have a legitimate educational interest in the information. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom the University has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Regents; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

Not all information related to students is defined as education records under FERPA. For example, law enforcement records, medical records, and alumni records are not accessible as education records. Education record information may be released, moreover, under specified circumstances, and the University reserves the right to release student record information without the student's prior permission as authorized by FERPA. For example, a student's consent is not required prior to the release of unrestricted directory information or certain financial aid information, or in the case of a health or safety emergency. In addition, FERPA permits student record information to be released without prior approval to testing agencies, accrediting organizations, parents of dependent students, designated officials of the federal government or state government, or to individuals with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena. With respect to inter-institutional disclosure, the University intends to forward education records, with or without the student's consent, to officials of another school, upon request, in which the student seeks or intends to enroll.

Student requests to inspect education records which are governed by FERPA should be submitted to the office which maintains the records at issue (e.g., registrar, dean, head of the academic department, or other appropriate official). The University official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.

Students may also ask the University to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. The request should be made in writing to the University official responsible for the record and clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading.

Under FERPA, students are not entitled to copies of education records in every case. Students may have copies made of their records if necessary to effect their right to inspect and review the record, or when a disclosure is made to another institution. When provided, the fee for copies will be 20 cents per page. Cases in which the University may deny a request for copies of records include, but are not limited to, situations where the stu-others that cannot be... may face serious consequences that may reward or... A faculty member who... in activities or de... ze a student with whom... ad an amorous relation... lated his or her ethical... students, to colleagues,

Section 14. Protection of Complainant and Others. Investigations of complaints will be initiated only with the complainant's consent. The complainant will be informed fully of steps taken during the investigation.

All reasonable action will be taken to assure that the complainant and those testifying on behalf of the complainant or supporting the complainant in other ways will suffer no retaliation as the result of their activities in regard to the process. Steps to avoid retaliation might include:

- lateral transfers of one or more of the parties in an employment setting and a comparable move of a classroom setting is involved, and
- arrangements that academic and/or employment evaluations concerning the complainant or others be made by an appropriate individual other than the accused.

In extraordinary circumstances, after consulting the Presiding Officer of the Faculty Judicial Commission, the Provost may, at any time during or after an investigation of a sexual harassment complaint, suspend from teaching responsibilities any faculty member or teaching assistant accused of sexual harassment if, after reviewing the allegations and interviewing the accused, the complainant, and, if it seems appropriate, some others enrolled in the class, the Provost finds that it is reasonably certain that (i) the alleged sexual harassment has occurred and (ii) serious and immediate harm will ensue if the person continues to teach the class.

Section 15. Protection of the Accused. At the time the investigation commences, the accused will be informed of the allegations, the identity of the complainant, and the facts surrounding the allegations.

In the event the allegations are not substantiated, all reasonable steps will be taken to restore the reputation of the accused if it was damaged by the proceeding.

A complainant found to have been intentionally dishonest in making the allegations or to have made them maliciously is subject to University discipline.

Section 16. Protecting Both Parties. To the extent possible, the proceedings will be conducted in a way calculated to protect the confidentiality interests of both parties.

After the investigation, the parties will be informed of the facts developed in the course of the investigation.

The parties will be informed promptly about the outcome of the proceedings.

D) Educational Programs

Section 17. Education as a Key Element of University Policy. Educational efforts are essential to the establishment of a campus milieu that is as free as possible of sexual harassment and in which high standards of conduct in consensual relationships are observed. There are at least 4 goals to be achieved through education: (A) ensuring that all victims (and potential victims) are aware of their rights; (B) notifying individuals of conduct that is proscribed; (C) informing administrators about the proper way to address complaints of violations of this Policy; and (D) helping educate the insensitive about the problems this Policy addresses.

Section 18. Preparation and Dissemination of Information. The Office of Affirmative Action is charged with distributing copies of this Policy to all current members of the University community and to all those who join the community in the future. An annual letter from the Office of Affirmative Action will be sent to all faculty and staff to remind them of the contents of the University's Human Rights Policy, including the provisions added to it by this Policy. A copy of the Human Rights Policy will be included in student orientation materials, including those distributed to students in professional schools. In addition, copies of that Policy will be made continually available at appropriate campus centers and offices.

The Office of Affirmative Action will develop a series of training sessions for persons who are likely to receive complaints that this Policy has been violated, including, but not being limited to, such persons as residence hall resident advisors, academic advisers, supervisors, and University and collegiate ombudspersons. Academic departments are encouraged to provide training sessions for graduate assistants and other instructional personnel.

For those who inadvertently violate 70.014(a)(4), the Office of Affirmative Action has courses designed to educate such violators of the problems they create by their insensitive conduct. The course shall be mandated for those in violation of 70.014(a)(4) and may also be an element in the settlement of a complaint. It also may be mandated for persons found to have violated any aspect of this Policy.

I. STUDENT EMPLOYEE GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

1. Scope of the Procedure. A grievance is a difference, complaint, or dispute regarding the interpretation or application of established policies and/or procedures governing terms of employment, working conditions, hours of work, or compensation. General Wage adjustments are excluded from the grievance procedure. These procedures shall apply to and be considered the right of any University of Iowa non-academic employee who is (a) a student currently registered in an undergraduate, graduate, or professional program on campus; and (b) has no other employee grievance procedure available for use. The student employee shall have the right to be accompanied by two representatives throughout these proceedings.

2. Employee's Initial Timetable. The initiation period for a grievance must be within 21 calendar days of the date of discovery, by the employee, of the grievance, and within 1 year of the actual incident. The employee shall be allowed a reasonable time, not to exceed 4 hours, off from duties without loss of pay to investigate a grievance. Such time is to be scheduled with the supervisor's permission. What is a reasonable time shall be determined by mutual consent of the parties involved. If the parties are unable to agree, the time reasonably necessary to investigate the grievance should be determined by the Vice President for Student Services and Dean of Students (hereinafter, "Vice President") or designee.

3. Management's General Timetable. All levels of supervisory personnel involved shall be directed to consider the grievances as soon as is reasonably possible. An extension of time limits specified in the grievance procedure may be made when mutually agreed upon by the employee and the administrator to whom the grievance is being addressed.

4. The Four Stages of Grievance Resolution

Step 1. A grievance proceeding shall be commenced by the employee presenting the grievance orally to her/his immediate supervisor. Such supervisor shall make an immediate response to the grievance.

Step 2. If the oral response of the immediate supervisor fails to satisfy the employee, within 4 working days of receipt of the immediate supervisor's oral response, the employee shall file a written grievance with the immediate supervisor. If no oral response is made, a similar writing shall be filed with the immediate supervisor within 4 working days of presenting the oral grievance. In either case, the writing shall set forth with reasonable particularity (a) the events concerning which the employee feels aggrieved; (b) the date or dates on which the events occurred; (c) the date of the presentation of the oral grievance to the immediate supervisor; (d) the date of the immediate supervisor's oral response, if one was made; and (e) the employee's understanding of the immediate supervisor's oral response, if one was made.

Within 4 working days of receiving the written grievance, the immediate supervisor shall respond to the employee in writing stating with reasonable particularity the supervisor's understanding of the facts and of her/his oral response, if either or both differ from that of the employee. If not resolved:

Step 3. The written grievance shall be sent by the employee within 5 working days of receipt of the supervisor's response to the department head and an administrator designated by the Vice President. A meeting called by the administrator will then be held, if possible within 5 working days of receipt of the grievance or as soon thereafter as is feasible among the administrator, the department head or his/her designee, the employee and the employee's representatives, if any. A written response is required within 5 working days following the meeting. The response must be written by the department head in consultation with the administrator. If not resolved:

Step 4. The written grievance should be forwarded by the employee within 5 working days of receipt of the department head's response to the Office of the Associate Vice President for Finance and University Services. Within 5 working days of the receipt of the written grievance, or as soon thereafter as feasible, a meeting should be called by the Associate Vice President or his/her designee of appropriate parties necessary to review the policy issues related to the complaint, at which the employing department and the grievant may present arguments and/or witnesses in support of their position. The final administrative determination should be made by the Associate Vice President for Finance and University Services, or designee, in consultation where appropriate with the Vice President, to be communicated to the parties in writing within 3 working days of the meeting.

J. COMPLAINTS OF DISCRIMINATION

Complaints alleging discrimination based on race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, associational preference, or protected veteran status may be brought in the Office of Affirmative Action.

Sexual harassment complaints are governed by the University's Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships. Consistent with that policy, informal complaints of sexual harassment may be pursued in a number of places on campus, including the Office of Affirmative Action. Formal complaints of sexual harassment are filed in the Office of Affirmative Action.

The Office of Affirmative Action welcomes confidential inquiries from individuals wishing to discuss an incident or obtain information about the Human Rights Policy. No action will be taken without the individual's consent. In the event the individual wishes to file a complaint, the Office of Affirmative Action will pursue either an informal or a formal complaint process. Confidentiality and retaliation apply to complaints filed under the Human Rights Policy, as well as the same procedural protections for both parties.

Copies of the Human Rights Policy, the Office of Affirmative Action Procedures for Discrimination Complaints, the Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships, and the Sexual Harassment Complaint Procedures are available upon request from the Office of Affirmative Action.

The informal complaint process is intended to be flexible so as to enable the Office to address the complaint as effectively and quickly as possible. In an informal complaint, the accused party will not be informed of the complainant's action or identity without the consent of the complainant; however, no disciplinary action can be taken against the accused party on the basis of an informal complaint of which he or she has not been made aware.

The formal complaint process involves an impartial investigation by the Office of Affirmative Action of the allegations made.

At the beginning of the investigation, the Office provides written notice to the accused party of the filing of the complaint, the identity of the complainant, and the general allegations of the complaint. The accused party is then interviewed regarding the specifics of the allegations and given an opportunity to respond to them. The Office may also interview other people believed to have pertinent factual knowledge of the allegations.

The purpose of the investigation is to establish whether a reasonable basis exists to believe that discrimination has occurred. At the conclusion of the investigation, the Office of Affirmative Action will determine whether a violation has occurred and will outline the basis for its conclusion in a written summary of the findings.

The finding will then be provided to the administrative official responsible for the area in which the respondent to the complaint reports; to the Associate Provost and Vice President in the case of a student. Both the complainant and the respondent also receive copies of the finding that sets forth the outcome of the investigation.

The administrative official to whom the finding has been forwarded will be responsible for determining what sanction, if any, is appropriate. Appropriate corrective measures may range from verbal reprimand up to and including separation of the respondent from the University, in accordance with established University procedures.

Two things that we consistently emphasize in the Office of Affirmative Action are confidentiality and the right to be free from retaliation for exercising one's right to file a complaint. The policy requires that all inquiries and complaints (both formal and informal) be treated confidentially.

Individuals who file complaints (as well as those who may testify on their behalf) are protected from retaliation for their actions.

Since the policy is a balance between the interests of the complainant and those of the accused, the policy also protects the accused party's rights in the process. In addition to the confidentiality interests described above, the accused party has the right to know and to fully respond to the allegations of a formal complaint, as well as the right to know the identity of the complaining party.

We encourage anyone who has questions about discrimination or the complaint process to contact the Office of Affirmative Action at 335-0705 (voice) or 335-0697 (text).

L. ANTI-RETALIATION POLICY

Principle and Rationale

The University of Iowa encourages its faculty, staff, and students to make good faith disclosures<sup>1</sup> of University related misconduct.<sup>2</sup> The commitment to improve the quality of the University through such disclosures is vital to the well-being of the entire campus community. Retaliation as a response to such disclosure will not be tolerated. Retaliation, whether actual or threatened, destroys a sense of community and trust that is central to a quality environment. The University, therefore, wishes to make clear that it considers acts or threats of retaliation in response to such disclosures to constitute a serious violation of University policy.

Scope of Policy

No members of the University community shall engage in retaliation in response to whistleblowing<sup>3</sup> or to the bringing of a complaint. For the purposes of this policy, "retaliation" means any adverse action or credible threat of an adverse action taken by the University, or member thereof, in response to a whistleblower's good faith disclosure of University related misconduct. It does not include the University's decision to investigate a good faith disclosure of University related misconduct.

The University will make every reasonable effort to stop retaliation immediately, to conduct a complete and thorough investigation of alleged acts of retaliation in a timely manner, to provide remedies to victims of retaliation, and to sanction the perpetrators of retaliation as appropriate.

The act of a good faith disclosure of University-related misconduct shall not be used to make any decision to the whistleblower's detriment, or to subject the whistleblower to harassment such that it creates a hostile work or learning environment.

To encourage and protect whistleblowers,<sup>4</sup> it is University policy that no reference to the good faith disclosure of University related misconduct shall be made in personnel files, letters of recommendation, performance appraisals, or any other permanent evaluative documents without the concurrence of the whistleblower.

Reports of alleged University related misconduct that are not made in good faith are not protected under this policy. Those who make disclosures not in good faith will be disciplined as appropriate through regular University procedures. Irrespective of the origin or the intent of the allegations, in the event the allegations are not substantiated, the University in consultation with the accused shall take all reasonable steps within the control of the University, to restore the reputation of the accused to the extent that it was damaged by the investigation and proceedings, for example, expunging all references to the allegations in the personnel records of the accused.

Discussion

Retaliation and Remedies to Retaliation.

Actions are considered retaliatory if they are in response to a good faith disclosure of real or perceived University related misconduct and the actions have a materially adverse effect on the working or academic conditions of the whistleblower, or if the faculty, staff member or student can no longer effectively carry out his or her University responsibilities. Examples of retaliation and possible remedies include:

1. A professional & scientific staff member who reports that a supervisor was using office resources for personal financial gain, receives a significantly lower merit raise on July 1 than his or her co-workers. A remedy may include reassigning the responsibility of evaluation, promotion, salary increase, etc. to another supervisor in the unit.
2. A full professor reports that his or her department chair is awarding salary increases on criteria other than merit. Subsequently, the department chair refuses to endorse the professor's grant proposal without reason. A remedy may include having someone else review the professor's grant proposal.
3. A merit staff member reports that a co-worker in their department has been misusing sick leave. Following the report, the merit employee claims retaliation, in that, he or she is no longer invited to social lunches—an activity the co-worker usually initiates among the office staff. The claim of retaliation in this case is personal, and the University would offer no remedy.
4. (1) A graduate student believes she/he has been denied entrance into a Ph.D. program because of the actions of a specific professor. The student subsequently brings plagiarism charges against the professor. (2) A technical staff member is about to be fired. When the staff member learns of her/his impending firing, she/he charges her/his supervisor with theft of University equipment. In both cases, a University investigation demonstrates that these reports were made in bad faith. No remedy would be provided to the complainants. Since these reports were made in bad faith, the complainants are subject to University discipline.
5. Student Mike reports that student Bill is sexually harassing Student Jane. Upon learning of Student Mike's reports, Bill physically threatens Student Mike during the two classes Mike and Bill have in common. Remedies may include transferring Student Bill from the two commonly attended classes to other classes and imposing a no contact order on Student Bill in relation to Student Mike.

Sanctions. Anyone who violates the Anti-Retaliation policy is subject to disciplinary action. Following an appropriate investigation and subject to the procedures which are part of the policies governing the relevant type of appointment at the University, the faculty, student, or staff member may be subject to sanctions including:

- reprimand
- probation
- suspension
- demotion
- reassignment
- termination
- expulsion
- no-contact order
- building prohibition order

Temporary sanctions invoked upon receipt of a complaint, such as a no-contact order or building prohibition order, may also be imposed as a permanent sanction. It is the responsibility of the administrator impos-by the State of Iowa Board of Regents is considered within the scope of this regulation. This includes the campuses of Iowa State University and the University of Northern Iowa. Misconduct committed on college campuses not governed by the State Board of Regents may also violate this regulation.

B. JUDICIAL PROCEDURE FOR ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF THE CODE OF STUDENT LIFE

1. Introduction. These procedures are designed to cover complaints against students based on alleged violations of the Code of Student Life and the Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships. Alleged violations of Section 1 (academic misconduct) are handled under the procedures described in Part C, Academic Misconduct. Alleged violations of Sections 2-17 are ordinarily resolved by the dean of students, who may assign responsibility to a designated department head or assistant. Procedures used to resolve residence hall misconduct complaints are described below in Section H, Residence Hall Judicial System. Complaints of abuse of service privileges, such as overdue library books, parking violations, intramural sports infractions, and misuse of placement offices and computer services, are resolved within the particular department that provides the service in question. Persons with questions as to which University procedures apply to a particular situation may contact the Office of the Dean of the Students or the University Ombudsman for more information.

2. Complaint Procedure. Any person may bring a complaint against a student under these procedures based on an alleged violation of the Code of Student Life (see extent of jurisdiction in introduction). All such complaints shall be made to the Office of the Dean of Students. The dean of students shall designate a person to investigate and review the complaint and determine whether formal charges should be brought against the accused student (refer to subsection 3). The investigation may be delayed against the accused student (refer to subsection 12). Depending upon the outcome of the investigation, complaints may be resolved in one of three ways: (1) informal agreement between the accused student and the investigator; (2) formal charges brought against the accused student at an administrative hearing; or (3) dismissal of complaint.

3. Investigation. The dean of students or designee will gather relevant evidence to determine whether there is a reasonable basis for believing that the Code of Student Life was violated. In order to make such a determination, the dean of students or designee may interview the complainant and witnesses. During the investigation, the dean of students or designee may meet personally with the student accused. Alternatively, the student accused may be notified of the complaint in writing and given an opportunity to respond. In the event that the dean of students or designee believes that evidence shows that there is a reasonable basis for believing a violation did occur, formal charges will be brought. A student accused may consult with the University Ombudsman or other advisers during the investigation as well as prior to a hearing or following a hearing.

During the period of investigation, the dean of students or designee may seek informal disposition of the complaint with the student accused. If an informal agreement is reached, no formal hearing will be held unless the terms of the informal disposition are breached or the student requests in writing a formal hearing within 20 calendar days. Students who fail to comply with 1 or more provisions of an informal agreement are in violation of Sections 2 & 3 of the Code of Student Life.

Once an informal agreement has been concluded, the accused student will be considered to have waived his or her right to a formal hearing if a written request for a formal hearing is not made within 20 calendar days. The 20-day period will commence when a written summary of the informal agreement has been mailed to the accused student. After the 20-day period has elapsed, the accused student may not request a formal hearing without a showing of good cause. The determination of good cause will be made by the dean of students.

4. Charge Procedure. If it is determined that formal charges should be brought, the dean of students or designee (hereinafter "charging party") shall send the student involved a Notice of Charge which shall (1) set out the rule or rules which have been allegedly violated, (2) state the alleged actions or behavior, (3) list the names of any witnesses intended to be called by the charging party, (4) advise the student of his or her rights and of the hearing procedure, by attaching a copy of the hearing procedure to the letter, and (5) state the time and place of the formal hearing.

When a student is formally charged with violating the Code of Student Life, the charging party may notify the student that an informal disposition of the charge may be pursued through discussions between the student and the charging party. If an informal disposition is made, the student will be sent a letter stating the terms of the disposition. If an informal agreement is reached following a Notice of Charge letter, no formal hearing will be held unless the terms of the informal disposition are breached or the student requests in writing a formal hearing within 7 calendar days. Students who fail to comply with 1 or more provisions of an informal agreement are in violation of Sections 2 & 3 of the Code of Student Life.

Once an informal agreement has been concluded, the accused student will be considered to have waived his or her right to a formal hearing if a written request for a formal hearing is not made within 7 calendar days. The 7-day period will commence when a written summary of the informal agreement has been mailed to the accused student. After the 7-day period has elapsed, a request for a formal hearing will not be granted without a showing of good cause. The determination of good cause will be made by the Dean of Students.

A copy of the Notice of Charge will be sent to the administrative hearing officer, who shall be drawn from the pool of administrative hearing officers selected by the president after consultation with the appropriate constituent groups. Another administrative hearing officer will serve if a student who is charged can adequately demonstrate why the assigned administrative hearing officer should not hear the case. Such an objection must be made in writing to the dean of students, with a copy to the assigned administrative hearing officer, at least 2 University business days before the hearing is scheduled to begin.

The dean of students may elect to resolve two or more complaints against one student at a single hearing. In addition, the dean of students may elect to resolve a complaint against two or more students at separate hearings or at a single hearing in the event that the complaints arose out of the same transaction or occurrence. Any challenge about complaint consolidation or separation will be determined by the administrative hearing officer. To challenge a decision to separate or consolidate a complaint, the student accused must notify the administrative hearing officer of the ground(s) for the challenge in writing at least 2 University business days before the hearing is scheduled to take place.

If the student charged or the charging party cannot appear at the time specified, the student or the charging party must contact the administrative hearing officer at least 2 University business days before the hearing is scheduled to begin to arrange a different time for the hearing. If the student charged has not contacted the administrative hearing officer and does not appear at the hearing, the administrative hearing officer may make a decision on the charge and the sanction, if any. If the charging party has not contacted the administrative hearing officer at least 2 University business days before the hearing is scheduled to begin and does not appear, the administrative hearing officer may postpone or continue the hearing or may drop the charge.

The student charged will be mailed or served the Notice of Charge at least 7 University business days before the hearing. Notice of Charge will be sent by certified mail or served personally. The student charged will receive notification of names of any additional witnesses intended to be called by the charging party at least 2 University business days prior to the hearing.

5. Rights at Hearing. The student charged is granted by the Judicial Procedure the following rights at a hearing: (1) to present his or her side of the story; (2) to present witnesses and evidence on his or her behalf; (3) to cross-examine witnesses presenting evidence against the student as long as the questions are relevant, material, and not unduly repetitive; (4) to be represented by an adviser at the student's expense (if any expense is entailed). Prior to the hearing, the student has a right to examine his or her disciplinary file in the Office of the Dean of Students. The student also has a right to know, upon request, which written documents or other physical evidence in the disciplinary file the University representative plans to present at the hearing. To examine the disciplinary file or learn what documents will be presented at the hearing, the student must make the request at least 2 University business days before the hearing is scheduled to take place.

The complainant has the following privileges at a formal hearing: (1) to testify on the issues raised by the complaint; (2) to be accompanied by a person who may advise him or her of the hearing process; (3) to remain in the hearing room following his or her testimony until all evidence has been presented; and (4) to be informed of the outcome of the hearing as permitted under federal laws governing confidential student record information.

6. Hearing. The administrative hearing officer shall preside at the hearing. The hearing officer (1) shall inform the student of the charge, the hearing procedures, and his or her rights and (2) shall answer any questions the student charged may have on these matters. The hearing officer shall hear and receive evidence to determine whether a violation of the Code of Student Life has occurred, and may request character evidence to aid in the determination of an appropriate sanction. The hearing shall be recorded.

The hearing shall be closed unless the student charged specifically requests in writing at least 2 class days before the hearing that the hearing be open. If the student requests an open hearing, the administrative hearing officer may nonetheless elect to close all or part of the hearing. The administrative hearing officer may elect to exclude persons who are to appear as witnesses.

After informing the student of the charges, the hearing procedures, and his or her rights, the administrative hearing officer shall ask the student charged to plead guilty or not guilty. If the student pleads not guilty, the charging party shall present the University's case and shall offer evidence, which may include written testimony and/or witnesses, in support of the charge. Ordinarily, each witness will remain outside of the hearing room until called to testify and, once seated, will be requested to respond truthfully to the questions posed. The student charged may cross-examine the evidence presented by the charging party. The student charged may then present his or her case and may offer evidence, which may include written testimony and/or witnesses, in his or her behalf which shall be subject to cross-examination by the charging party.

The charging party bears the burden of showing by a preponderance of evidence that the Code of Student Life was violated. The administrative hearing officer may exclude irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitive evidence. In the event the hearing is disrupted, the administrative hearing officer may insist that 1 or more individuals leave the hearing room if such a measure is necessary to maintain the level of decorum appropriate for such a forum. A finding by the administrative hearing officer shall be based upon the kind of evidence on which reasonably prudent persons are accustomed to rely in the conduct of their serious affairs. Objections to evidentiary offers may be made and shall be noted in the record.

After hearing all evidence on the issue of the Code of Student Life violations, the administrative hearing officer may request both parties to offer evidence on the charged party's character, previous conduct, and similar evidence for the purpose of assisting the administrative hearing officer in determining an appropriate sanction, if any. The hearing officer may request that some or all character evidence be submitted in writing after the conclusion of the hearing and within the time set by the hearing officer.

The administrative hearing officer's decision as to whether the Code of Student Life was violated and the appropriate sanctions, if any, may be rendered orally at the close of the hearing. A written decision shall ordinarily be issued within 5 University business days after the hearing, and, in any event, within 10 University business days after the hearing.

Notification of Decision shall be sent to the student charged by certified mail or campus mail, to the charging party, and to other appropriate University officers. If the charged student is found to have violated the Code of Student Life, the Notification of Decision letter shall include a statement of the right to appeal and reference to the appeal procedure.

7. Appeal by the Accused. A student found guilty may appeal the decision of the administrative hearing officer to the Office of the Provost (hereinafter "provost"). The charged student shall file a written petition for appeal with supporting materials (if desired) in the provost's office within 10 University business days following the receipt of the written notification of the administrative hearing officer's decision. The provost shall designate an appropriate individual to review the record of the hearing, and the past disciplinary records of the charged person. Ordinarily, no new evidence will be received.

During the appeal, sanctions imposed by the administrative hearing officer shall remain in effect. A student suspended or expelled may request, from the dean of students, permission to attend classes until the provost's designee has made a decision on appeal.

The provost's designee may recommend to the provost that the decision be affirmed. The provost's designee may also recommend that the decision be reversed, modified, or other appropriate relief be granted, if substantial rights of the student have been prejudiced because (1) the finding of guilt was unsupported by substantial evidence in the record made before the administrative hearing officer when the record is viewed as a whole; (2) the sanction imposed for the violation was unreasonably harsh or inappropriate when the nature of the violation and the disciplinary record of the charged person are considered; (3) the decision as a whole was unreasonable, arbitrary, or capricious or characterized by an abuse of discretion or clearly unwarranted exercise of discretion; (4) the procedures were not properly followed; or (5) new evidence, not reasonably available at the time of the hearing, is of sufficient importance to warrant reconsideration by the hearing officer. The student's written petition for appeal should specify the grounds for appeal.

The decision on appeal and the reasons therefore will be transmitted to the student charged, the charging party, and other appropriate University officials within 30 calendar days of the receipt of the Notice of Appeal. The decision of the administrative hearing officer and the final decision on appeal, as well as the notices and other related documents, will be kept in the student's disciplinary file in the Office of the Dean of Students.

8. Appeal by the Charging Party. The charging party may appeal the decision of the administrative hearing officer to the provost to challenge (1) the sanction(s) imposed; or (2) the interpretation and application of the conduct regulations. The charging party may not appeal the administrative hearing officer's conclusions as to the facts of the case.

To appeal, the charging party shall file a written petition with supporting materials (if desired) in the provost's office within 5 University business days following the receipt of the written notification of the administrative hearing officer's decision. A copy of the petition shall be sent to the charged student.

The charging party's written petition for appeal should specify the grounds for appeal. To warrant reconsideration of the sanction(s) imposed, the hearing officer's decision must be clearly inconsistent with the stated University policy or be entirely contrary to sanctions consistently imposed upon other students found guilty of similar misconduct. To warrant reconsideration of the conduct regulation(s) allegedly violated, the hearing officer's interpretation and application of the regulation to the facts of the complaint must be so unreasonably narrow given the nature of the conduct and the regulation's purpose as to undermine the University's educational mission.

The provost shall designate an appropriate individual to review the record of the hearing and the past disciplinary records of the charged person. The provost's designee may recommend to the provost that the decision be affirmed, reversed, or modified. The provost may also remand the complaint to the administrative hearing officer with instructions to reconsider the decision.

The decision on appeal and the reasons therefore will be transmitted to the student charged, the charging party, and other appropriate University officials within 30 calendar days of the receipt of the petition, and will be kept in the student's disciplinary file in the Office of the Dean of Students.

9. Sanctions. The administrative hearing officer has the authority to impose any 1 or a combination of the following disciplinary sanctions. These sanctions are to serve as guidelines rather than as a definitive list.

- 1. Disciplinary Warning: This is a strong, written warning that if there is a repetition of the same action or any other action in violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Code of Student Life, the student can expect additional disciplinary action. A record of the disciplinary action is kept on file.
  - 2. Disciplinary Probation: When on disciplinary probation a student is not considered to be in good standing with respect to the non-academic disciplinary system and any further violations may lead to suspension or expulsion from the University.
  - 3. Restitution: A student may be assessed reasonable expenses related to the misconduct. This may include, but is not limited to, the repair/replacement cost for any damage he or she causes to property or medical or counseling expenses incurred by the victim.
  - 4. Educational Sanction: A student may be required to provide a specific service or participate in a specific program, receive specific instruction, or complete a research assignment. The student is responsible for related expenses, including expenses for education, counseling, or treatment, if any expense is entailed.
  - 5. Exclusion from University Facilities or Activities: A student may be prohibited from attending a class, undertaking University employment, entering a building, participating in an extra-curricular activity sponsored by the University, representing the University in an official capacity, or using other services provided by the University. Such exclusion may be for a definite or indefinite period of time.
  - 6. Disciplinary Suspension: A student may be involuntarily separated from the University for a stated period of time after which readmission is possible. The administrative hearing officer shall determine when the suspension will become effective. A student with one or more violations may be suspended from the university for an indefinite period of time. A student suspended indefinitely may petition to the dean of students for reinstatement.
  - 7. Expulsion: When a student has a record of serious violations, he or she may be dismissed from the University permanently.
  - 8. Residence Halls Suspension: A student may be involuntarily separated from the residence halls indefinitely or for a stated period of time after which readmission is possible. Unless specifically permitted to do so by the dean of students, a student suspended from the residence halls is ineligible to use residence hall services, including board plans, and may not enter the residence halls. For purposes of progressive discipline, a student suspended from the Residence Halls, a student suspended or expelled from the University if he or she is found to have violated the Code of Student Life subsequent to the housing suspension.
  - 9. No-Contact Order: A student may be prohibited from intentionally contacting a student, employee, or visitor to campus in any manner at any time. Such prohibition may be in effect for a specific or an indefinite period of time.
- When a student fails to respect the general conditions conducive to learning in violation of the Code of Student Life, the University's response will be corrective rather than punitive in order to ensure that the student may learn to exercise his or her freedom responsibly. In furtherance of the University's educational mission, corrective action requires that the offending student be held accountable and receive a second opportunity to demonstrate good character after a single minor violation. In those egregious cases where the demonstrated misbehavior cannot be tolerated, it is not inconsistent with the learning process to separate an individual from the University.
- Taking responsibility for one's misconduct goes beyond acknowledging the wrongful conduct and entails the formal ratification of disciplinary measures that anticipate the possibility of additional misconduct. In assigning sanctions consistent with the Code's educational purpose, hearing officers are guided by the principle of progressive discipline, which prescribes increasingly harsh sanctions for additional violations regardless of whether the misconduct is similar in nature. Furthermore, counseling sanctions (e.g. drug education and community service) are not intended to serve as a substitute for status sanctions (i.e. Warning, Probation, and Suspension).
- Thus, when a student is found guilty of a second offense after being placed on one-semester Probation for the first violation, the student can expect Suspension or a least an extension of the Probation, in addition to any counseling sanction prescribed by the hearing officer.
- Ordinarily, students found guilty of aggravated assault, threats with a weapon, sexual abuse, or selling illegal drugs are Suspended or Expelled from the University even if there are no prior sanctions on the student's record. As far as University housing is concerned, students guilty of offenses warranting Probation may also forfeit their residential privileges. The following violations ordinarily result in a Residence Hall Suspension regardless of the student's prior record: possession of illegal drugs, possession of a beer keg, false fire alarm, possession of a gun or other dangerous weapon, or an open flame violation. This list of offenses is not intended to be complete; other conduct not listed above may also warrant Suspension from the University or from the residence halls.

AGGREGATION OF WEIGHTS Iowa Code § 124.401(2)

If the same person commits 2 or more acts which are in violation of § 124.401(1) and the acts occur in approximately the same location or time period so that the acts can be attributed to a single scheme, plan or conspiracy, the acts may be considered a single violation and the weight of the controlled substances involved may be combined for purposes of charging the offender and enhancing the criminal penalties. This is done at the discretion of the prosecutor. State v. Robinson, 506 N.W.2d 769 (Iowa 1993).

FIREARM AND OFFENSIVE WEAPON ENHANCEMENT Iowa Code § 124.401(1)(e) and (f)

If in the immediate possession of a firearm while participating in a violation of § 124.401(1), the penalty shall be 2 times the term otherwise imposed or granted. If in the immediate possession or control of an offensive weapon while participating in a violation of § 124.401(1), the penalty shall be 3 times the term imposed by law. A judgment or sentence under the firearm or offensive weapon enhancement cannot be deferred or suspended. State v. Goodson, 503 N.W.2d 395 (Iowa 1993).

SCHOOL OR PUBLIC RECREATION ZONE ENHANCEMENT Iowa Code § 124.401A and § 124.401B

If convicted of distributing or possessing with the intent to distribute a Schedule I, II, or III controlled substance (includes both a counterfeit and a simulated controlled substance) to a person ≥ 18 years, and the offense is within 1000 feet of a public or private elementary or secondary school, public park, public swimming pool, public recreation center, or on a marked school bus, then the offender may be sentenced to an additional term of 5 years. (§ 124.401A). If convicted of possessing a Schedule I, II, or III controlled substance (includes a simulated controlled substance, but the "counterfeit substance" language was omitted from the statute) and the offense is within 1000 feet of a public or private elementary or secondary school, public park, public swimming pool, public recreation center, or on a marked school bus, then the offender may be sentenced to an additional penalty of 100 hours of community service work for a public agency or a nonprofit charitable organization. (§ 124.401B)

MANUFACTURING METHAMPHETAMINE IN PRESENCE OF A MINOR Iowa Code § 124.401C

If someone ≥ 18 years manufactures methamphetamine 1) in the physical presence of a minor; 2) at the residence of a minor; 3) in a building where a minor might reasonably be present; 4) in a public accommodation (hotel, motel, etc.); or 5) in a multi-unit dwelling (apartment, condo, duplex, etc.), they shall be sentenced to an additional 5 years imprisonment.

SECOND OR SUBSEQUENT OFFENSES Iowa Code § 124.411(1)

If previously convicted of any state or federal drug statute, and subsequently convicted under Chapter 124, that person may be imprisoned for a period not to exceed 3 times the term otherwise authorized, or that person may be fined not more than 3 times the amount otherwise authorized, or both. The enhancement may be less than the triple amount and it also multiplies any other enhancements (such as the firearm enhancement) that may be imposed. State v. Rodgers, 560 N.W.2d 585 (Iowa 1997). Does not apply to violations of § 124.401(5).

MANDATORY MINIMUM SENTENCE Iowa Code § 124.413 (in reality a limitation on eligibility for parole)

A person sentenced pursuant to § 124.401(1)(a),(b),(c),(e) or (f), shall not be eligible for parole until the person has served a minimum period of confinement of one-third of the maximum indeterminate sentence prescribed by law. This provision does not apply to marijuana, Schedule IV or V controlled substances under § 124.401(1)(d). If this is a first offense under § 124.413, the court may, at its discretion, sentence the person to a term less than provided for by statute if mitigating circumstances exist and those circumstances are stated specifically on the record. (See § 901.10). Probation is still a possibility. State v. Farley, 351 N.W.2d 537 (Iowa 1989); State v. Draper, 457 N.W.2d 600 (Iowa 1990); Kinnersley v. State, 494 N.W.2d 698 (Iowa 1993).

COMMITMENT FOR TREATMENT Iowa Code § 124.409(2)

When someone is charged under §124.401 and they consent thereto, or upon a conviction of §124.401, the Court may find that someone is addicted to, dependent upon, or a chronic abuser of controlled substances, and the Court may order commitment for treatment and rehabilitation. If successful at rehabilitation, the Court may remit (suspend?) all or part of the sentence and place the individual on probation.

POSSESSION OF A CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE Iowa Code § 124.401(5)

Possession of any controlled substance, except marijuana, is a serious misdemeanor with imprisonment up to 1 year and a fine of at least $250, but not more than $1,500.<sup>3</sup> Maximum penalty for possession of marijuana is imprisonment for 6 months and a $1,000 fine. All or part of the sentence may be suspended and the person placed on probation, with conditions that may include participation in a drug treatment, rehabilitation or education program. If first offense, sentence may be deferred. (See § 124.409.)

DISTRIBUTION TO MINORS Iowa Code § 124.406

- 1) If someone ≥ 18 years distributes or possesses with the intent to distribute a Schedule I or II controlled substance to someone < 18 years, the offense is a Class "B" Felony and the person shall serve a minimum 5 years. If it is a counterfeit or a simulated controlled substance, then no minimum 5 years. However, in either case, if the offense occurs within a school or a public recreation zone, then the person shall serve a minimum 10 years.
- 2) If someone ≥ 18 years distributes or possesses with the intent to distribute a Schedule III controlled substance (includes a counterfeit or a simulated controlled substance) to someone < 18 years and there is ≥ 3 years difference, the offense is a Class "C" Felony.<sup>3</sup>
- 3) If someone ≥ 18 years distributes a Schedule IV or V controlled substance (includes a counterfeit or a simulated controlled substance) to someone < 18 years and there is ≥ 3 years difference, the offense is an Aggravated Misdemeanor.<sup>3</sup>
NOTE: This subsection does not include possession with intent to distribute.
- 4) If someone delivers a controlled substance to another in order to act with, enter into a common scheme or design with, conspire with, or recruit that other person to deliver any Schedule I, II, III, IV, or V controlled substance to someone < 18 years, the offense is a Class "D" Felony.<sup>3</sup>
- 5) A court sentencing a person for the first time under § 124.406 may, at its discretion, sentence the person to a term less than provided for by statute if mitigating circumstances exist and those circumstances are stated specifically on the record. (See § 901.10.)

RECRUITMENT OF MINORS Iowa Code § 124.406A

If someone ≥ 18 years conspires with or recruits someone < 18 years to deliver or manufacture a Schedule I through IV controlled substance, the offense is a Class "C" Felony.<sup>3</sup>

GATHERINGS WHERE CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES UNLAWFULLY USED Iowa Code § 124.407

It is unlawful for any person to sponsor, promote or aid, or assist in a meeting, gathering, or assemblage with the knowledge or intent that a controlled substance be distributed, used or possessed there. If it is anything other than marijuana, it is a Class "D" Felony. If it is marijuana, it is a Serious Misdemeanor. Injunctions may also be issued.

DATE RAPE DRUG PENALTIES Iowa Code § 709.4(3)

It is Sex Abuse in the Third Degree (a Class "C" Felony) when an individual performs a sex act on a person who is under the influence of a controlled substance, including flunitrazepam (Rohypnol), and 1) the controlled substance was consumed without the victim's knowledge, 2) the controlled substance prevents the victim from consenting, and 3) the accused knows or should reasonably know that the victim is under the influence of the controlled substance.

GAMMA-HYDROXYBUTYRATE (GHB) Iowa Code § 126.27

Unless covered by a legitimate prescription, it is unlawful to possess gamma-hydroxybutyrate (an Aggravated Misdemeanor). Furthermore, it is an Aggravated Misdemeanor to distribute or possess with the intent to distribute gamma-hydroxybutyrate when it is intended to promote its unlawful use, or it is known that the other will use it for unlawful purposes.

<sup>3</sup> For most offenses which do not have a specific penalty provided for, the legislature has imposed minimum fines, which cannot be suspended if the offense is a misdemeanor. If the offense is a Class "C" or a Class "D" Felony, and the Court chooses to impose a fine, it must impose a fine of at least $500. This amendment to chapters 902 and 903 could be subject to differing interpretations.

A student suspended from the University pending the outcome of the judgment of the deans or groups, or University students will base an inference gathered in the alleged conduct of the designee will convene suspension is considered.

11. Compliance

who fail to comply with the University's policies and procedures shall be subject to the dean of students, who may recommend additional disciplinary action extends to compliance with the University's policies and procedures, complaints resolved by the dean or other appropriate authority.

12. Records

If a student under these provisions is found to be in violation of the University's policies and procedures, the dean of students shall maintain a record of the action taken. Records shall not be destroyed until the student's transcript is closed. The dean of students shall determine the length of time records shall remain on file.

13. Concurrent

Students who face criminal charges and are suspended from the University shall not be eligible for re-enrollment until the criminal case is resolved. The University's disciplinary process shall not be a bar to the student's right to a fair trial. The University's disciplinary process shall not be a bar to the student's right to a fair trial.

10. Interim Sanctions. A student may be suspended from the University or have privileges revoked pending the outcome of a disciplinary proceeding if, in the judgment of the dean of students, the student's continued presence or use of privileges at the University pending the outcome of the proceeding is likely to cause harm to faculty, staff, other students, other specified persons or groups, or University property. The dean of students will base an interim sanction judgment on evidence gathered in the initial stage of an investigation of the alleged conduct. Ordinarily, the dean or the dean's designee will converse with the student when interim suspension is considered.

A student suspended under this section may seek review of that decision by requesting the dean of students to reconsider the decision within 5 University business days after the student has received Notice of Suspension. The student may request that an immediate formal University disciplinary hearing be held.

11. Compliance with Sanctions. Students who fail to comply with a sanction in a reasonably timely manner are subject to additional disciplinary action by the dean of students, which may include suspension from the University. The dean of students' authority to take additional disciplinary action in cases of non-compliance extends to complaints resolved through informal agreement, complaints resolved at a formal hearing, and complaints resolved by another student services department such as Residence Services.

For purposes of this subsection, "sanction" includes but is not limited to Educational Sanctions, Restitution, and Exclusion from University Facilities or Activities described in subsection 9. In the event that a student fails to comply with a sanction and the dean of students is prepared to impose a suspension, the student will be notified of the apparent failure to comply, notified of the dean's intent to suspend, and notified of an opportunity to meet personally with the dean of students and explain the circumstances prior to a final decision by the dean. A student suspended for failing to comply with a sanction may appeal the dean's decision to the Office of the Provost but is not entitled to a formal hearing before an administrative hearing officer. All appeals must be made in writing to the Office of the Provost within 10 business days following the date of the decision by the dean of students.

12. Records. If disciplinary action is taken against a student under these procedures and a sanction imposed, a record of the action will be kept by the Office of the Dean of Students. Record of nonacademic disciplinary sanctions will not, however, appear on the charged student's transcript. The Office of the Dean of Students will determine the length of time a disciplinary record is to remain on file.

Disciplinary actions are part of the education records of the student and, consequently, are not available for public disclosure or discussion. The Office of the Dean of Students will disclose information outside the University relating to a student's nonacademic disciplinary record, if prior written permission from the student has also been received.

13. Concurrent Criminal Charges. Students who face criminal charges may also be subject to University disciplinary sanctions if the conduct which gave rise to the criminal charges also violates the Code of Student Life. The University's investigation will not ordinarily commence until all criminal procedures have concluded. An initial investigation may be undertaken before criminal procedures have concluded in order to determine whether interim sanctions are to be invoked. A student may request a hearing to resolve a University complaint while criminal charges are pending.

Because University regulations and procedures are distinct from criminal statutes and procedures, an outcome in a criminal or civil proceeding is not dispositive of the question of whether the Code of Student Life was violated in all cases. A student charged with criminal misconduct will be considered guilty of violating University conduct regulations and therefore subject to disciplinary sanctions if convicted in criminal court of conduct prohibited under the Code of Student Life. For purposes of these procedures, a conviction includes a guilty plea, jury verdict, judicial decision, or deferred judgment. In the event a convicted student files a criminal appeal, the University will consider the question of criminal guilt to be final only after the matters on appeal have been resolved, although the dean of students may impose an interim sanction pending the outcome of an appeal or proceed with disciplinary charges. Due to the less stringent standard of proof under these judicial procedures, a student accused but not convicted of a crime following a trial is still subject to University disciplinary action if found guilty by an administrative hearing officer.

C. ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Undergraduate Colleges

As stated in Section I of the Code of Student Life General Conduct Regulations, violation of the regulations for academic misbehavior is ordinarily handled within the department or college concerned. The following procedure applies specifically to the colleges of Liberal Arts, Education, Engineering, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Business Administration. Students who wish more specific information should inquire at the office of their respective dean.

Reporting of Plagiarism and Cheating

All cases of plagiarism and cheating are reported for action to the designated person in the office of the dean of the college, through departmental channels, with a statement of the necessary facts. The department and the instructor concerned may also submit recommendations in each case for appropriate disciplinary action.

Disciplinary Action

(1) By the Instructor. The individual instructor may reduce the student's grade, including the assignment of the grade of "F" in the course. A report of this action should always be sent to the dean's office.

(2) By the Dean. The dean of the college or a student-faculty committee appointed by him or her may impose the following or other penalties as the offense may warrant: disciplinary probation, assessment of additional hours for the bachelor's degree, suspension from the college, or recommendation of expulsion from the University by the president.

Referral to the Office of the Provost

(1) By the Dean. In the cases of flagrant or repeated offenses or for other reasons deemed sufficient by the dean of the college, the case and records may be referred to the Office of the Provost for appropriate action.

(2) By the Student. If the student feels that the penalty imposed by the dean is unjust, the student may request a review by the Office of the Provost.

Record of Disciplinary Action

The dean's office shall maintain a record of disciplinary cases and disposition thereof and shall notify other agencies of the University, as are concerned, with action taken in the case. The student involved shall be informed that a record is being kept of the offense.

Graduate Colleges

Questions of academic dishonesty arising within the colleges of Medicine, Law, and Dentistry, and the Graduate College are treated on an individual basis.

In the Graduate College, the questions are handled at the departmental level. If the departmental decision is appealed, the dean may appoint an appeals committee of faculty and students from a slate of nominees prepared by the Graduate Council and the Graduate Student Senate to recommend an appropriate course of action.

Students in professional graduate colleges should inquire at the office of their respective dean for further information.

If the student disagrees with the decision made by the Dean, the student may request a review by the Provost.

D. POLICY REGARDING THE USE OF ILLEGAL DRUGS AND ALCOHOL

The Health Risks Associated with the Use of Illegal Drugs and Alcohol

Student use of marijuana, LSD, amphetamines, sedatives, tranquilizers, or other dangerous drugs or controlled substances (as defined by law) is a matter of concern to this educational institution. The University is also concerned about student abuse of alcohol.

Succeeding at the University requires a balanced, healthy lifestyle. Misuse of alcohol and the use of other drugs can interfere with or prolong a student's academic career as well as cause legal, social, financial, and health problems. Alcohol and other drug-related accidents are the number one cause of death of people age 18-24 years old. As an educational institution, the University endeavors to protect and assist students by providing reliable information about the hazards of illegal drugs and alcohol.

Health risks include, but are not limited to, adverse modification of one or more body systems, such as the nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory, muscular, endocrine, and central nervous systems; toxic, allergic, or other serious reaction; unfavorable mood alteration, and addiction. Physiological and psychological dependency, which manifests itself in a preoccupation with acquiring and using one or more drugs, may cause severe emotional and physical injury.

Alcohol consumption causes a number of marked changes in behavior. Even low doses significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that the driver will be involved in an accident. Moderate to high doses of alcohol cause marked impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Very high doses cause respiratory depression and death. If combined with other depressants of the central nervous system, much lower doses of alcohol will produce the effects just described.

Common side-effects of alcohol consumption include digestive complaints and sleep problems and may adversely affect a student's academic performance. Because alcohol increases aggression, excessive consumption may lead to fighting, vandalism, criminal mischief, and verbal abuse. Alcohol abuse often plays a role in unwanted pregnancies and acquaintance rape. University of Iowa students who consume excessive amounts of alcohol have reported suffering from hangovers, missing class and/or work, and engaging in unintended or regretted sexual intercourse as a result of drinking alcohol.

Repeated use of alcohol can lead to dependence. Sudden cessation of alcohol intake is likely to produce withdrawal symptoms, including severe anxiety, tremors, hallucinations, and convulsions. Alcohol withdrawal can be life-threatening. Long-term consumption of large quantities of alcohol, particularly when combined with poor nutrition, can also lead to permanent damage to vital organs such as the brain and the liver.

The health risks associated with specific narcotics, depressants, stimulants, hallucinogens, and cannabis (including marijuana) are explained in Table A.

Alcohol and Other Drug Education Services Available to Students

The University of Iowa offers a range of services for persons who want to learn more about alcohol and other drugs, are concerned about their own or someone else's substance abuse, or are recovering from substance abuse problems. More specific information about drugs and drug abuse is available through Student Health Service and the University Counseling Service. Any discussions between individuals and the professional staffs in these offices are treated as confidential information.

To assist students whose substance-related behavior may be causing legal, psychological, physical, or social problems, or jeopardizing their student status, the University maintains the student Substance Assistance Program, a component of Student Health Service. Services include substance abuse assessment and referral, outreach, education, short-term outpatient treatment, and recovery support groups. These services are provided free of charge. Students with concerns or questions are encouraged to contact Health Iowa at 335-8392 and talk with a Counselor or Health Educator.

Alcoholic Beverages

Alcoholic beverages may not be consumed, possessed, distributed, or sold on campus without specific authorization. Alcoholic beverages may not be served or consumed by students on campus except as hereafter provided.

Students who are 21 years old may purchase and consume alcoholic beverages in the Iowa Memorial Union within restricted areas described in the Iowa Memorial Union Alcohol Beverage Service Policy. Restrictions on consumption and possession of alcoholic beverages in University residence halls and responsibilities associated with its possession and consumption are contained in the Residence Hall Guidebook and must be observed.

A college or department may serve alcoholic beverages on campus only in accordance with the Iowa Memorial Union Alcohol Beverage Service Policy and with the permission of the Office of the Vice President for Student Services and Dean of Students (hereinafter, "Office of the Vice President").

Alcoholic beverages may not be purchased with mandatory student fees or with recognized student organization funds. In addition, alcoholic beverages may not be purchased or served at University events sponsored or sanctioned by a recognized student organization or student government body, except in accordance with the Iowa Memorial Union Alcohol Beverage Service Policy or the Greek Events Policy, or with special permission from the vice president for student services (hereinafter, "vice president"). This includes events on campus as well as off campus. For purposes of this policy, any event held on property owned or controlled by a recognized student organization is considered to be an event sponsored by the organization. Recognized student organizations which own, lease, or otherwise control private property are responsible for ensuring that federal, state and local laws are observed at all times on their property.

Disciplinary Action

The University will not tolerate the use of drugs that are illegal. Students are expected to abide by the laws concerning controlled substances and alcoholic beverages. Students in violation of state or federal laws may face criminal prosecution, and the University will discipline students who possess or use illegal drugs or alcohol on campus or as part of any other activities of the University. Sanctions which may be imposed for possession or use of alcohol and other drugs in violation of the Code of Student Life include a written warning, probation, mandatory substance abuse evaluation, suspension, or expulsion. Recognized student organizations which fail to comply with University regulations governing alcohol and other drugs may be disciplined by an appropriate governing body. In addition, the vice president may revoke their University recognition.

The sale, manufacture, distribution, or administration of illegal drugs is viewed as a clear and present danger to the University community. Students who violate the rights of others while under the influence of alcohol or drugs face more serious disciplinary action up to and including suspension or expulsion.

The University's initial approach will be to stop the use and abuse of drugs through education. Disciplinary action will be taken in those cases where education fails to deter violation of the policy, or where conduct committed under the influence of illegal drugs or alcohol warrants separation from the University. Students found to have violated this policy or who harm themselves or others while under the influence of illegal drugs or alcohol will be required to undergo a substance abuse evaluation and attend education or treatment recommended as a result of the evaluation. The University may require a student recommended for inpatient treatment to enter a treatment program immediately and not permit the student to register for classes until the treatment is completed. Any student found to have sold, manufactured, distributed, or administered illegal drugs may be suspended or expelled (See Parts A and B above, Code of Student Life and Judicial Procedure for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life).

Reporting Drug Violations

Reports of illegal drug use on campus should be directed to the Department of Public Safety. Drug violations which occur off campus are investigated by the law enforcement agency in the jurisdiction in which the alleged illegal activity occurred. In the residence halls, residence hall staff members will investigate reports of drug use and may report to the Department of Public Safety. The Department of Public Safety, the Office of the Vice President, and Residence Services publish a summary of drug-related complaints in their periodic reports.

Applicable Legal Sanctions

Both state and federal laws prohibit distribution of, manufacture of, or possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance or a counterfeit controlled substance. State penalties range from 5 to 50 years confinement and a fine of $1,000 to $1,000,000, depending upon the type and quantity of drug involved. Specific drugs, amounts, and penalties are described in Iowa Code § 204.401(1) and summarized in Table B.

Maximum federal penalties range from 1 year confinement to life imprisonment and a fine of $250,000 to $4,000,000, depending upon the type and quantity of drug involved. Specific drugs, amounts, and penalties are described in 21 USC § 841(b) and summarized in Table C. State and federal legal sanctions are subject to change by the General Assembly and Congress, respectively.

Penalty Enhancement

The maximum term and fine increase significantly if state or federal penalty enhancement rules apply. Factors which raise maximum penalties under Federal penalty enhancement rules include death or serious bodily injury; prior drug conviction; placing at risk or distributing a drug to a person under 21 years old; using a person under 18 years of age to assist in the drug violation; and distributing or manufacturing a drug within 1,000 feet of school property, including the University of Iowa campus. Penalty enhancement rules apply to defendants age 18 years or older. Factors which raise maximum penalties under state penalty enhancement rules include using firearms or dangerous weapons in the commission of the offense; distributing controlled substances to a person under 18 years of age; and previous conviction of a drug offense.

Possession

Both state and federal laws prohibit possession of a controlled substance. The maximum state and federal penalty for possession is confinement for 1 year and a fine of $1,500. The maximum term and fine increase significantly in the event that state or federal penalty enhancement rules apply. A person in possession of a small amount of a controlled substance for personal use may be assessed a civil fine up to $10,000 in addition to any criminal fine.

Driving While Intoxicated

Under state law, a person found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of drugs or alcohol (blood alcohol concentration of .10% or greater) shall be imprisoned for not less than 48 hours and fined not less than $500 for the first offense. For the second OWI offense the minimum period of confinement is 7 days and a fine of not less than $750. The minimum period of confinement for the third or subsequent OWI convictions is 30 days and could be up to 5 years, with a fine of not less than $750.

The driver's license of an individual under 21 years of age who is found guilty of operating a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol concentration of .02% or more is subject to a 60-day suspension even if the individual is not legally intoxicated. For individuals convicted of Operating While Intoxicated, the period of suspension is 180 days or more regardless of age.

Alcohol-Related Offenses

Under state law, the drinking age is 21. State law prohibits:

- (a) Public Intoxication;
- (b) Driving a motor vehicle with an unsealed receptacle containing an alcoholic beverage in the vehicle;
- (c) Giving or selling an alcoholic beverage to anyone intoxicated; and
- (d) Possession of an alcoholic beverage under legal age.

The City of Iowa City prohibits:

- (e) Consumption of an alcoholic beverage in a public place;
- (f) Possession of an unsealed receptacle containing an alcoholic beverage in a public place.

Each of these offenses is a simple misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $100 or a jail sentence of up to 30 days. For certain offenses, State law provides for mandatory fines and suspension of drivers licenses. For example, the mandatory fine for under-age possession of alcohol is $100 for a first offense and $200 for a

A person who gives, sells, or furnishes an alcoholic beverage to a person under the legal age commits a serious misdemeanor and is subject to a fine of between $500 and $1500 and in addition may be sentenced to jail for up to 1 year. If injury results from the furnishing of alcohol, an aggravated misdemeanor is committed and the guilty person is subject to a fine of between $500 and $5000 and in addition may be sentenced up to 2 years in prison. If death results from the furnishing of alcohol, a class D felony is committed and a guilty person may be sentenced to a prison term not to exceed 5 years.

E. UNIFORM RULES OF PERSONAL CONDUCT AT UNIVERSITIES UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF THE STATE BOARD OF REGENTS

In lieu of using the regulations and procedures stated in the Code of Student Life and Judicial Procedure for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life, the vice president has the option to invoke the rules and regulations prescribed by the Board of Regents.

By resolution adopted July 10, 1970, and amended June 25, 1971; October 1973; and November 1973; the Iowa Board of Regents has established the following policies and rules applicable to all universities under the board's jurisdiction.

This board, charged by law with responsibility for the governance of the public universities of Iowa, reaffirms the following beliefs and intentions which will continue to serve as bases for the discharge of the board's responsibilities:

1. The citizens of this state have established and supported the state universities in order to make higher education available at reasonable cost. It is the responsibility of this board to ensure that this purpose is not subverted.
2. Neither violence nor the threat of violence has any place in a university.
3. Freedom of inquiry and freedom of expression are indispensable elements of academic life.
4. The freedom to express dissent by lawful means, including peaceable assembly and petitions to authorities, is no less important on a university campus than elsewhere in our society.
5. The exercise of this freedom to dissent must not interfere with the rights of others.
6. Adaptation and change are necessary processes by which an institution renews and preserves itself.

(The following rules were filed June 16, 1975. See Iowa Administrative Code, Board of Regents, Chapter 9.)

(1) Definitions. For purposes of these rules, the following words shall have the meaning set forth unless the context requires otherwise.

- (a) "Board" means the State Board of Regents, State of Iowa.
- (b) "University" means an institution of higher learning under the jurisdiction of the board. When used in the plural, the word means all institutions of higher learning under the jurisdiction of the board.
- (c) "President" means the president (or acting president) of the university, or any person or persons designated to act on his or her behalf for purposes of these rules.
- (d) "Campus" includes all property owned or used by the university.
- (e) "Student" means a person who is currently registered as a student at the university in an undergraduate, graduate, or professional program on the campus.
- (f) "Member of the faculty or staff" includes all employees of the university.
- (g) "Visitor" means any person on the campus who is not a student or a member of the faculty or staff. A suspended member of the faculty or staff, or a suspended student, who is on the campus during the period of such suspension shall be deemed a visitor.
- (h) "Person" means any student, member of the faculty or staff, or visitor.
- (i) "Admission" means admission, readmission, reentry, registration, and reregistration as a student to any educational program of the university.
- (j) "Suspension of a member of the faculty or staff" means that during a specified period of time, the member of the faculty or staff is not eligible to continue as an employee of the university or to resume employment status or to be granted admission as a student. Subject to other rules and regulations of each institution concerning continued employment by the institution, a member of the faculty or staff who has been suspended for a specified period shall be reinstated by the university at the expiration of the suspension period provided that during the suspension period the member of the faculty or staff has not committed acts of misconduct specified in (2) below. One under such suspension, whose reemployment is denied on the basis of alleged acts of misconduct committed during a suspension-period, shall have a right to a hearing on that issue, as provided in section (3).
- (k) "Suspension of a student" means that, during a specified period of time, the student shall be denied admission to the university or employment by it. Subject to the rules and regulations of each institution concerning enrollment at the institution, a suspended student shall be reinstated to the university at the expiration of the suspension period, provided that during the suspension period the student has not committed acts of misconduct specified in (2) below. A suspended student whose reinstatement is denied on the basis of alleged acts of misconduct committed during this suspension period shall have a right to a hearing on that issue, as provided in section (3).

- (l) "Expulsion of a student" means termination of status as a student without right of readmission.
  - (m) "Dismissal of a member of the faculty or staff" means termination of status as an employee without right of reemployment.
- (2) Rules of Personal Conduct. Any person—student, member of the faculty or staff, or visitor—who intentionally commits, attempts to commit, or incites or aids others in committing any of the following acts of misconduct shall be subject to disciplinary procedures by the university, as hereinafter provided:
- (a) Obstruction or disruption of teaching, research, administration, disciplinary procedures, or other university or university-authorized function or event.
  - (b) Unauthorized occupation or use of or unauthorized entry into any university facility. However, any entry into, use of, or occupation of any university facility by a student or member of the faculty or staff, which does not violate any of the other Rules of Personal Conduct set forth herein, shall be deemed unauthorized only if specifically prohibited, if that facility is closed at that time to general use or if the person fails to comply with proper notice to leave.
  - (c) Physical abuse or the threat of physical abuse against any person on the campus or at any university-authorized function or event, or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any such person.
  - (d) Theft of or damage to property of the university or of a person on the campus.
  - (e) Interference with the right of access to university facilities or with any other lawful right of any person on the campus.
  - (f) Setting a fire on the campus without proper authority.
  - (g) Use of possession on the campus of firearms, ammunition, or other-dangerous weapons, substances, or materials (except as expressly authorized by the university), or of bombs, explosives, or explosive or incendiary devices prohibited by law.
  - (h) Conduct off campus which leads directly to a violation of any of subsections (a) through (g) of this section.
- (3) Sanctions.
- (a) Any student or member of the faculty or staff who is found after appropriate hearing to have violated any of the rules of personal conduct set forth in (2) above may be sanctioned up to and including suspension, expulsion, or dismissal. If a suspension is ordered after the start of a semester or quarter, however, the time period of the suspension shall be deemed to run from the beginning of the semester or quarter rather than from the actual date of the order. A faculty or staff member who is suspended shall receive no salary during the period of suspension, provided, however, that payment shall be made for work done prior to the date of the suspension order.
  - (b) A person who applies for admission to or employment by the university (either for the first time, or after a term of suspension or dismissal) may be denied such admission or employment if it is found that such person has committed any acts of misconduct specified in (2) above while such a person was a visitor on the campus. A person denied admission or employment under this section shall have a right to an appropriate hearing.
  - (c) Any sanction imposed under (a) and (b) above shall have operative effect at all universities, and a person not eligible for admission to or employment by one university shall be barred similarly at the other universities.
- (4) Emergency Power.
- (a) The president is authorized to declare a state of emergency to exist at the institution upon a determination that violent actions or disruptive activities at the university are of such a nature as:
    - I. To present a clear and present danger to the orderly processes of the university or to persons or property on the campus, and
    - II. To require extraordinary measures to
      - (A) Safeguard persons or property at such institutions, or
      - (B) Maintain educational or other legitimate institutional functions
  - (b) The state of emergency shall cease to exist automatically 48 hours after it is declared, unless the president, after reviewing the situation, determines that it should be extended, such determination to be made under the standards established in I and II above. Each extension shall be for a maximum period of 48 hours, with a new determination being made for each extension. The president may declare the state of emergency to be over before the 48-hour period has run.

(c) As soon as feasible after declaring a state of emergency, the president shall notify the board of actions taken.

(d) Upon a finding by the president as set forth in (4)(a) above, the president is authorized to take such action as may be necessary to eliminate or alleviate a clear and present danger to the orderly processes of the university AND to safeguard persons or property at the university or to maintain educational or other legitimate university functions, including barring a particular person or persons from the campus.

(5) Sanctions under Emergency Power.

(a) Any person who, after appropriate hearing, is found to have violated knowingly a presidential order issued as contemplated in section (4) above may be expelled or dismissed from the university.

(b) Any person who, after appropriate hearing, is found to have violated during a state of emergency—knowing that a state of emergency has been declared—any of the Regents' Rules of Personal Conduct, set forth in section (2) of this policy, may be expelled or dismissed from the university.

(c) Any person who, after appropriate hearing, is found to have violated knowingly a presidential order as contemplated in section (4) above and—knowing that a state of emergency had been declared—is found to have violated during the state of emergency any of the Regents' Rules of Personal Conduct set forth in section (2) of this policy, may be expelled or dismissed from the university.

(d) Any sanction imposed under this section shall have operative effect at all universities, and a person not eligible for admission to or employment by one university shall be barred similarly at the other universities.

(6) Constitutional Rights. The forgoing rules shall be construed so as not to abridge any person's constitutional right of free expression of thought or opinion, including the traditional American right to assemble peaceably and to petition authorities.

Regents Policies on Campus Integrity

Political Action. No state university shall be or become an instrument of political action. The expression of political opinions and viewpoints will be those of individuals and not of institutions, since the official adoption of any political position, whether favored by majority or minority, tends to substitute one-sided commitment for the continuing search for truth.

Calendar Changes. Major proposed changes of the university calendar and the consequences of such changes will be brought with recommendations to the Board of Regents for final decision.

F. JUDICIAL PROCEDURE FOR ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF THE REGENTS' RULES OF PERSONAL CONDUCT

Violations of the Uniform Rules of Personal Conduct at universities under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Regents will be adjudicated in accordance with the Hearing Regulations for Alleged Violations at Regents' rules adopted by the Board of Regents on May 11, 1973, see section 20.270, University Operations Manual.

G. HOUSING REGULATIONS

1. Visitation Policy in the Residence Halls. In order to enter any area of a University residence hall other than the dining service or main lounge area, a person must be a guest of a resident. All guests must observe residence hall policies restricting visitation, including rules governing entrance at night and overnight visitation. Violation of residence halls regulations constitutes a breach of Section 16 of the Code of Student Life.

2. Security. The doors to the residence halls are locked from midnight to 6:00 a.m. every night for security purposes. Entry thereafter may be restricted or controlled in accordance with residence hall policy. Non-resident students who fail to observe security restrictions are in violation of the Sections 7 and 16 of the Code of Student Life.

3. Parietal Rule. The University's parietal rule, which required unmarried freshmen and sophomores to reside in University residence halls, has been suspended by the State Board of Regents. The parietal rule shall be automatically reinstated unless the Board of Regents takes action to extend the period of suspension.

4. No Contract Release. Students living in residence halls during the first semester of an academic year are not released from their academic year contract for the second semester.

H. RESIDENCE HALL JUDICIAL SYSTEM

In order to maintain an environment conducive to learning, all students who enter the residence halls—occupants as well as non-occupants—are expected to observe conduct regulations listed in the Residence Halls Guidebook. Staff members are trained to confront students accused of misconduct and, if found guilty, hold them accountable for their actions. Complaint adjudication procedures provide that students accused of misconduct receive notice of the violation and an opportunity to respond.

Violations of residence services policies are heard through a system that has different levels of adjudication depending on the nature and seriousness of the infraction. Hall managers are authorized to reprimand residents for minor offenses and impose educational sanctions. Complaints alleging serious misconduct warranting suspension are adjudicated by the director of residence services and, in some cases, by a University hearing officer.

Complaints of residence hall misconduct filed against students who do not live in the residence halls are handled under the Code of Student Life. In lieu of imposing a formal sanction, the vice president may elect to notify the accused student in writing and issue a citation reminding him or her of residence hall policy. If a citation is issued, a copy of the letter will be kept on file for reference in the event the student is accused on another occasion, in which case the Office of the Vice President will investigate both complaints and may bring formal charges.

Case Referral

Any complaint may be referred by residence hall staff to the vice president for consideration under the Code of Student Life and the Judicial Procedure for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life. Under these procedures, sanctions imposed upon students range from a Disciplinary Warning to Expulsion. Students found guilty of aggravated assault, sexual abuse, selling drugs, or threatening another with a gun or other dangerous weapon in the residence halls are ordinarily suspended from the University.

Review

A resident suspended from the residence halls by the director of residence services may appeal the decision to the vice president as outlined in the Residence Halls Guidebook.

I. LEGAL ASSISTANCE FOR STUDENTS

Student Legal Services, a student commission affiliated with the College of Law, advises students on a variety of legal matters, including landlord-tenant disputes, misdemeanor criminal charges, small claims court, and family law proceedings. Advice, representation, or referral for legal problems is available through the Student Legal Services Office. No charge is assessed for advice or referrals, but payment of court costs, incidental expenses, and attorneys fees will be required if the office agrees to handle a student's case.

The office reserves the right to accept or decline any individual case and to determine the manner of legal representation it will provide. Student Legal Services is prohibited from representing students in purely business matters, felonies, any contingency fee cases, in actions directly or indirectly against any part of the University or its agents, and in actions which would involve a conflict of interest. A conflict of interest may arise, for example, in a case that would be adverse to a current client of Student Legal Services.

Information about Student Legal Services, including service fees and availability based on current caseload, may be obtained in the Student Legal Services office, 155 Iowa Memorial Union, phone 335-3276.

J. USE OF CAMPUS OUTDOOR AREAS

1. The Pentacrest

a. General Policy. The Pentacrest is that area of the campus bounded by Clinton Street on the east, Washington Street on the south, Madison Street on the west, and Jefferson Street on the north. The Old Capitol, at the center of the Pentacrest, and adjacent buildings are dedicated to educational and administrative pursuits. In addition, the Old Capitol is a museum and national historic landmark. The University of Iowa permits eligible groups to sponsor events on the Pentacrest as long as those events are conducted under reasonable time, place, and manner restrictions promulgated by University departments. Furthermore, instructors may conduct classes on the grounds of the Pentacrest as long as reservations have been made with the Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization, 421 North Hall.

b. Use by Eligible Groups. Subject to these rules, all applicable University regulations, and to the requirements of the regular University program, recognized student organizations and other University groups which are eligible to use University facilities may reserve the Pentacrest for public meetings, rallies, teach-ins, convocations, and other authorized events and activities. Eligible groups must, however, receive permission from Event Services, Campus Programs, and Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization prior to using the Pentacrest as set forth in Sec. 60.035 of the University Operations Manual. Event Registration Forms and specific information about University regulations governing events on campus can be obtained from Union Administration in Room 135 of the Iowa Memorial Union.

c. Casual Use. Individual students and other persons may use the Pentacrest for any casual and reasonable use at all reasonable times. Casual use means any spontaneous and unorganized use for which there is no prior promotion, solicitation, or purposeful attempt to attract or solicit the public in the course of such use. Casual users shall not duly interfere with the use of the

d. Equipment

and no tent, hut, table, or similar object or structure shall be placed on the Pentacrest except on the Pentacrest Executive Director of the Facilitating and Utilization of the group event or activity. A sign, poster, banner, display, or other affixed, erected, or installed on the Pentacrest must be expressly approved by the Pentacrest Executive Director.

This prohibition does not apply to leaflets to individuals or placards by individuals or groups which have received approval from the Pentacrest Executive Director. A sound amplification system will provide, at a nominal cost, a sound amplification system for the Pentacrest.

e. Hours of Use

Use of the Pentacrest is normally permitted at all times, but is restricted to the hours of 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, and 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. on Sunday. Use of the Pentacrest is prohibited during the hours of 1:30 p.m. and after 4:00 p.m. on days when the Pentacrest Executive Director may temporarily suspend the Pentacrest program for University program needs.

2. Kautz Plaza

a. General. The Pentacrest Executive Director shall apply the same rules to Kautz Plaza with the following exceptions:

b. Definition.

Kautz Plaza is that area north of Jefferson Street, bounded by Calvin Street on the east, the north, with T. Anne Street on the west, and the Capitol Street, Pappalardo Building, and Gilmore Building on the south. The Clearway Walkway is not part of this policy.

c. Sale of Goods/

or solicitations involving the sale of goods or services at special events that may be held on the Pentacrest as part of a traditional event.

d. Number of Events

at a time may be limited by the Pentacrest Executive Director of the Director of Planning and Utilization of the Pentacrest.

K. POLICY ON

The University of Iowa permits eligible groups to sponsor events on the Pentacrest as long as those events are conducted under reasonable time, place, and manner restrictions promulgated by University departments. Furthermore, instructors may conduct classes on the grounds of the Pentacrest as long as reservations have been made with the Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization, 421 North Hall.

Section 2. Scope

the rationale set out in the Pentacrest Executive Director of the Director of Planning and Utilization of the Pentacrest.

While the University of Iowa permits eligible groups to sponsor events on the Pentacrest as long as those events are conducted under reasonable time, place, and manner restrictions promulgated by University departments.

s. Complaint adjudicators accused of misconduct and an opportunity to be heard at levels of adjudication. The University reserves the right to reprimand residence hall staff members who are found to be in violation of this policy. If a student is accused of an act which is a violation of this policy, the Office of the Vice President may bring

However, receive permission from the University Planning and Utilization Office set forth in Sec. 60.035 of the Code of Student Life. Event Registration information about University campus can be obtained from the Office of the Vice President, Room 135 of the Iowa students and other persons engaged in any casual and reasonable use of the campus. Casual use means any use for which there is no purposeful attempt to interfere with the use of the Pentacrest by authorized groups or unreasonably disturb or disrupt persons in adjacent buildings, and such users are expected not to damage or destroy any property, including the grass or shrubbery, or to cause any litter or other nuisance. Casual users are not permitted to use any electronic sound amplification system or equipment. Access to any entrance of the Old Capitol or any of the academic buildings nearby may not be obstructed at any time.

d. Equipment. Camping is strictly prohibited, and no tent, hut, table, platform, vehicle, booth, kiosk, or similar object or structure shall be placed or erected on the Pentacrest except as expressly approved by the Director of the Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization in connection with an authorized group event or activity. No sign, banner, slogan, symbol, display, or other similar device shall be painted, affixed, erected, or installed on the Pentacrest except as expressly approved by the Director in unusual and compelling circumstances.

This prohibition does not apply to the distribution of leaflets to individuals nor to the carrying of picket signs or placards by individuals. Upon request of the organization that has reserved the Pentacrest, the University will provide, at a nominal fee, a flatbed stage and sound amplification system. Any unauthorized use of electronic sound amplification equipment on the Pentacrest is prohibited.

e. Hours of Use. Casual use of the Pentacrest is normally permitted at any time, except as specifically prohibited or restricted. Scheduled use is normally restricted to the hours of 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily (midnight on Friday and Saturday nights). Sound amplification, music, and other uses which might disturb persons in adjacent buildings is prohibited during normal working and class hours except between 12:20 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. and after 4:20 p.m. daily. The Director of Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization may temporarily restrict use of the Pentacrest to accommodate unforeseen requirements of the regular University program not anticipated by this policy.

2. Kautz Plaza

a. General. The use of Kautz Plaza as a public forum for speech, assembly, and petition is encouraged by the University. The policy governing the use of the Pentacrest shall apply to the use of that area known as Kautz Plaza with the following additions.

b. Definition. Kautz Plaza is the elevated concrete area north of Jefferson Street and south of Market Street bounded by Calvin Hall to the south, Iowa Memorial Union Parking Ramp to the west, Trowbridge Hall to the north, with T. Anne Cleary Walkway (formerly North Capitol Street), Pappajohn Business Administration Building, and Gilmore Hall to the east. The T. Anne Cleary Walkway is not deemed part of the plaza, for purposes of this policy.

c. Sale of Goods/Solicitation. Sale of goods or solicitations involving money is prohibited with the exception of the Iowa Memorial Union Food Cart or special events that may be approved on an annual basis as part of a traditional event.

d. Number of Events/Tables. More than one event at a time may be scheduled on the plaza. The number of events permitted simultaneously will be the decision of the Director of Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization. Tables may not be placed in the walkway area between the general curb lines.

K. POLICY ON VIOLENCE

Section 1. Rationale for Minimizing Violence in a University Community.

The faculty, staff and students of the University of Iowa make up a community whose common commitment is to learning. This commitment requires that the highest value be placed on the use of reason and that violence involving the University community be renounced as inimical to its goals. Violence, whether actual or threatened, destroys the mutual trust which must bind members of the community if they are to be successful in pursuing truth. The University therefore wishes to make clear that it considers acts and threats of violence to constitute serious violations of University policy, because they may undermine the University's status as a community of learning. By extension, the University forbids harassment which harms or demeans members of the community because of personal characteristics such as affectional or associational preference, color, creed, disability, ethnic or national origin, gender, or race.

Section 2. Scope of Policy. Consistent with the rationale set out above, the University will take appropriate measures to address behavior by University community members which threatens or endangers the health, safety or well-being of members of the University community. The University community is made up of all faculty, staff and students.

While the University recognizes that there may be situations in which the University does not have a compelling reason for taking administrative action, it is prepared to review all alleged misconduct under this policy upon receipt of a complaint. This includes incidents which occur in family housing, tenant properties, sorority and/or fraternity houses.

No member of the University community may engage in violent conduct as defined in Section 3. The University assumes jurisdiction over cases of misconduct in violation of this policy when any act covered by Section 3 occurs in one of these circumstances:

- (a) the act is committed on the campus or at a University sponsored activity.

- (b) the act is committed by a University community member while acting in an official capacity or while conducting University business.
- (c) the act is committed anywhere by a University community member and can be shown to have a demonstrable, articulable, and adverse impact on a University process or some other clear and distinct interest of the University as an academic community.

The University is prepared to take action when violence or harassment has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or educational performance. The University also is prepared to take action when violence or harassment has the purpose or effect of unjustifiably creating an intimidating or hostile environment for work or learning. Depending upon the seriousness of the conduct and its effects, the University's action may range from reprimanding the offender or requiring the offender to complete an educational or counseling program to suspending or discharging the offender from classes, extra curricular activities and/or employment.

Section 3. Prohibited Behavior. These acts, when committed under one of the circumstances described in Section 2 above, will trigger University action:

- (1) Any acts proscribed by the Iowa Criminal Code, Chapters 707 (Murder); 708 (Assault and Harassment); 709 (Sexual Abuse); and 711 (Robbery and Extortion); those sections of Chapter 710 which deal with kidnapping and false imprisonment; Chapter 712 (Arson); those acts under 713 (Burglary) when accompanied by an element of assault; Chapter 723.4 (1) and (3) (Disorderly Conduct); Chapter 729.4 (Infringement of Civil Rights in employment); and Chapter 729.5 (Infringement of Civil Rights by violence); or
- (2) Any conduct, such as those examples listed below, which has the purpose or reasonably foreseeable effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's academic efforts, employment, participation in University sponsored extracurricular activities or personal health, safety, and security. The following examples are illustrative of the acts proscribed by this subsection, but are not meant to be exclusive:
  - (a) Physical assault or abuse.
  - (b) Sexual assault or abuse.
  - (c) Threats with a weapon (display of a weapon accompanied by statements or actions which cause justifiable fear or apprehension).
  - (d) Verbal or other threats of physical or sexual assault.
  - (e) Damage or destruction of another's private property for the purpose of demeaning the owner or owners.

Oversight of the Policy

The University Charter Committee on Human Rights will conduct an annual audit of violence within the University community and the adequacy of its Policy on Violence. In order to evaluate the University's response to complaints alleging violation of the Policy, the Committee will have access to all complaints collected by the central administration which allege conduct in violation of the Policy as well as information regarding the disposition of each complaint. The Committee's chair will prepare for its approval a report on this audit—including a summary of complaints of violent conduct, an analysis of these aggregate statistics, and an evaluation of the enforcement process. The central administration will publish this annual report. Members of the Committee are bound by the same requirements of confidentiality which bind University faculty and staff responsible for the disposition of complaints.

Complainant Assistant Program

1. The University encourages potential complainants under this Policy to contact the Office of the University Ombudsperson or the Office of Affirmative Action for assistance in filing or pursuing complaints. When requested by either office or any potential complainant, the President or the President's designee shall arrange an additional person to act as a Complainant Assistant. Complainant Assistants might be appointed from such offices as the Rape Victim Advocacy Program and Faculty and Staff Services. Complainant Assistants are responsible to the University for advising persons who are considering reporting violent misconduct of their rights and options and keeping them apprised of the progress of their complaint in the event that they file a criminal or University complaint. In addition, a complainant may be assigned in certain cases, such as when the complainant is in need of a foreign-language advisor. To the extent permitted under federal and state confidentiality laws, Complainant Assistants will advise complainants of the final outcome of their complaint.
2. In order to protect the identity of persons who solicit the services of a Complainant Assistant, communications between the reporter or complainant and the Complainant Assistant will be held strictly confidential. Each Complainant Assistant will maintain a record of the number and type of inquiries, but will not maintain a list of names and will not reveal the names of persons who request information or advice to the Human Rights Committee or any other University department. Furthermore, investigations will not be initiated without the consent of the reporter, and a Complainant Assistant will advise complainants only in cases where the complainant requests assistance.

3. Complainant Assistants report to the Human Rights Committee on the disposition and lessons of each case. They also report on barriers which inhibit persons from filing formal complaints. Complainant Assistants are bound by the same requirements of confidentiality which bind University faculty and staff responsible for the disposition of complaints, and which bind the Human Rights Committee.

Protection from Retaliation

All reasonable action will be taken to assure that the complainant and those testifying on behalf of the complainant suffer no retaliation as a result of filing the incident or of the complaint. If the accused is a student, steps to avoid retaliation may include interim suspension from the University or interim suspension of the accused from the residence halls, a residence hall room transfer, a no-contact order, or any combination of these sanctions. Similar measures shall be taken when the accused is a faculty or staff member.

Filing a Complaint

Any person may file a complaint against a student, staff member, or faculty member (including teaching assistants) for violating the Violence Policy. Depending upon the status of the person accused, a complaint should be filed with one of the following offices:

- (a) Faculty or Instructor. If the accused is a faculty member, teaching assistant, or other instructor, complainants may contact the department chair, dean of the college, or Office of the Provost;
- (b) Staff Member. If the accused is a staff member (professional & scientific, organized merit staff, or non-organized merit staff), complainants may contact the accused person's supervisor or the Vice President responsible for the unit employing the accused person;
- (c) Student. If the accused is a student, complainants may contact the Department of Residence Services in the event the incident occurred in the residence halls, or the Office of the Vice President.

As an alternative to filing a complaint with 1 of the offices indicated above, a person may file a complaint with the Office of Affirmative Action and the Office of the Ombudsperson.

Sexual Harassment and the Violence Policy. Conduct prohibited by the Violence Policy may also be in violation of the Sexual Harassment Policy. In the event that a complaint involves a violation of both policies, the complainant should consult with the Office of Affirmative Action or Office of the Ombudsperson about filing a complaint.

Assistance for Persons Considering a Complaint. Persons who might want to file a complaint, secure a Complainant Assistant, or learn more about enforcement of the Violence Policy may contact the Office of Affirmative Action or the Office of the Ombudsperson.

Resolving a Complaint. Ordinarily, the person who is assigned to resolve a complaint will interview the person accused in order to determine if there is a reasonable basis for the complaint. During the investigation process, the complaint may be resolved informally. The procedures used to resolve complaints informally may vary from department to department depending upon whether the accused is a faculty member, staff member, or student. In the event that the appropriate administrative official (as described below) concludes that there is a reasonable basis for believing that the Violence Policy was violated, and if an informal resolution of the complaint has not been achieved, formal action will be taken.

Persons Responsible for Formal Action Decisions and Governing Provisions. The decision to take formal action will be made by one of the following persons or their respective designees:

- (a) Faculty. In cases involving faculty members, formal action decisions are made by the chief academic officer of the University. Governing procedure is the General Faculty Dispute Procedure (section 20.260 of the University Operations Manual and following sections);
- (b) Graduate Assistants, including Teaching Assistants. In cases involving graduate assistants, formal action decisions are made by the chief academic officer of the University. Governing procedure is the procedure for the dismissal of graduate assistants (section 20.230 of the University Operations Manual);
- (c) Professional and Scientific Staff. In cases involving professional and scientific staff members, formal action decisions are made by the Vice President responsible for the unit employing the accused party. Governing appeal procedures are described in section 20.311 of the University Operations Manual;
- (d) Organized Merit Staff. In cases involving organized merit staff members, formal action decisions are made by the Vice President responsible for the unit employing the accused party. Governing appeal procedures are the grievance procedures described in the AFSCME contract;
- (e) Non-organized Merit Staff. In cases involving non-organized merit staff members, formal action decisions are made by the Vice President responsible for the unit employing the accused party. Governing appeal procedures are those available under the Regents' Merit System Rules;
- (f) Students. In cases involving students, formal action decisions are made by the Vice President. The governing procedure is the Judicial Procedure for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life.

Reporting System

1. Complaints of violence and harassment will be collected by central administration from academic, non-academic, and personnel branches of the University. In addition, certain University officials and representatives of student organizations will be mandatory reporters. In the event that a personnel supervisor, department head, residence hall staff member, fraternity/sorority president, or athletic director or coach observes or receives information about conduct in violation of the Violence Policy, they shall initiate the reporting process by informing their respective dean and director, if applicable, that behavior prohibited by the policy may have occurred. In all cases, reports should be made in writing within 7 working days upon receipt of the information, regardless of whether or not an investigation has been attempted or completed.
2. Reports from resident assistants shall be directed to the hall manager, with copies to the Assistant Director, Director of Residence Services, and Office of the Vice President. Reports from fraternity and sorority officers shall be directed to the Campus Programs Greek Advisor, with a copy to the Office of the Vice President. Reports from immediate supervisors shall be directed to the department head, with a copy to the Office of the Vice President for Finance. Reports from department chair persons shall be directed to the dean of the college, with a copy to the Office of the Provost. The college dean will forward reports to the appropriate office for investigation.
3. Except in cases where a complainant has filed a sexual harassment complaint with the Office of Affirmative Action, the following persons are responsible for investigating reports. When a student is accused of conduct in violation of the policy which occurs in a living unit, officials responsible for administering discipline in the living unit where the incident allegedly occurred will conduct the investigation. The Vice President will investigate complaints alleging off-campus student misconduct. When an employee or administrator is accused, the supervisor will conduct the investigation. When a faculty member or instructor is accused, the department chairperson is responsible for conducting the investigation. Complaints will be resolved and sanctions imposed, if any, under the standard procedures established for each respective unit, i.e. the residence halls disciplinary system, Code of Student Life (enforced by the Vice President), personnel discipline process, and faculty grievance procedures. The Greek Judicial Board, which hears charges against fraternities and sororities, may choose to remove a chapter's recognition as a result of a violation of the Violence Policy.
4. The University administrator in charge of investigating the allegations described in the report shall submit a summary of the outcome of the investigation to the respective dean and, where applicable, director within 45 days after the inception of the investigation. Annual statements, to be submitted by the director after the fall semester, will be prepared for the respective dean for purposes of summarizing the nature of reports of violence and harassment as well as their disposition.
5. A mandatory reporter shall file a report if there is good reason to believe that an incident occurred in violation of the Violence Policy. In the event that the identity of the alleged assailant is not known or the identity of the apparent victim is not known, a report shall nonetheless be filed. Rumors and anonymous reports of alleged incidents shall be recorded as such.
6. The Vice President's annual report of student discipline shall include a separate analysis of complaints referred to the Vice President alleging violence. In addition, statistical information from semester reports by residence hall staff members shall become part of Residence Services' annual report. With assistance from the University Relations office, reasonable attempts will be made to inform the University community of statistics of violent incidents as well as sanctions imposed, using information from the Vice President's annual reports, statistics prepared by Affirmative Action, Residence Services' annual report, Campus Security daily reports and periodic summaries, and information from the annual fraternity/sorority review.

Creative Programming

1. Each semester, the Vice President shall call a meeting to consider creative means to communicate to students the University's intention to enforce the Violence Policy as well as the rationale underlying the policy. The planning committee should consist of student services departments as well as student government leaders, including Campus Programs, Health Iowa, University Counseling Services, Residence Services, Panhellenic Council, Associated Residence Halls, and University Student Assembly. In developing programs, the planning committee should consult with Public Safety, the Committee on Human Rights, the Office of Affirmative Action, the Rape Victim Advocacy Program, and University disciplinary hearing officers. Programs could include, for example, a mock hearing in a fraternity, sorority, residence hall, or the Union.

Requests for use of Iowa Memorial Union facilities and Danforth Chapel are to be submitted to the Office of IMU Administration, 135 IMU. Requests for Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the Recreation Building, Field House, Halsey Gymnasium, North Hall Gym, Kinnick Stadium, canoe house, tennis courts, and Hubbard Park are to be submitted to Recreational Services, 113 Field House. Requests for Clapp and Harper halls should be submitted to the School of Music. Requests for Hancher should be submitted to the director of Hancher Auditorium. Requests for use of space within the residence halls system should be submitted to the hall manager of the building in which the desired space is located. Requests for permission to use University rooms, auditoria, the Pentacrest, Kautz Plaza, and other facilities shall be submitted at least one week in advance to the Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization, 421 North Hall.

3. Charges for Use of Space and Facilities. Recognized student organizations which are permitted to use available University space and facilities will not be charged, except to defray costs or expenses incurred by the University in making the facility available; if the student organization charges admission or otherwise solicits funds from the public, however, rental fees and labor charges for the facilities will be charged.

4. Fund-Raising. Recognized student organizations may engage in fund-raising activities off campus as well as on campus, provided such activities are registered. Any activity is considered to be a fund-raising event if funds or other valuable assets such as food or supplies are sought to be obtained from members or non-members for purposes of improving the financial status of the organization or another organization. This includes, for example, games of chance or events in which services are provided in exchange for money or other assets. This does not include, for example, periodic membership dues, payments or activities in which a service is provided to persons in attendance for a fee that is based upon the expected per capita cost of the service. For activities that are not fund-raising events, necessary paper work must be filed if student organization funds are utilized, such as an event at which admission is charged.

To register a fund-raising activity, whether it is to be held on campus or off campus, an Event Registration Form must be completed. These forms are available in the Office of IMU Administration. Recognized student organizations wishing to hold games of chance, raffles, bingo, and so forth, as part of a fund-raiser must also register this event/activity in the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities, which administers the University of Iowa license covering these types of events. Fund-raising activities which take place on campus must be in compliance with the University solicitation policy (refer to sub-section 6 below).

5. Registration of Programs to Which Admission Is Charged and/or Donations Are Accepted. Recognized student organizations may sponsor entertainment or lecture programs to which a general admission fee is charged provided such programs are registered with the Office of IMU Administration at least one week in advance. Event Registration Forms are available in the Office of IMU Administration and are to be signed by a principal representative of the sponsoring organization and an adviser from the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities. No contracts or other financial commitments may be made by the sponsoring organization until registration has been completed.

When admission is charged or donations are solicited at an event held on campus, the University Box Office must collect the money. Persons interested in obtaining a Box Office fee schedule should contact the University Box Office.

Organizations must make all financial arrangements through the OCPA Business Office (159 IMU). The sponsoring organization must have a balance on hand in its treasury sufficient to cover the cost of the program, including facility rental, University Box Office charges, speaker's fee, advertising and other expenses, or adequate funds must actually be deposited with the organization by an underwriter, which funds cannot be repaid until all costs and expenses incurred by the organization in presenting the program have been satisfied. No advertising or publicizing of any commercial product or trade name shall be permitted without prior approval.

6. Solicitation on Campus. For the purposes of this chapter the term "solicitation" means seeking of funds or other support, such as signatures, food, or supplies by a recognized student organization from persons outside its membership or by individual students. Thus, solicitation could include, for example, such activities as the sale of goods or services for the financial benefit of the sponsoring student organization, the distribution of literature, materials, or products, or the sponsorship of rallies, parades, or similar events. Commercial, for-profit solicitation for the financial benefit of one or more individuals is not, however, permitted on campus except by contract with the University. Financial benefits secured by a sponsoring student organization through solicitation may not be converted to private uses but may be donated to a non-profit charity.

On campus, recognized student organizations may only solicit (1) at reasonable times and places, (2) in a manner consistent with the educational purposes of the University, (3) under reasonable conditions imposed by the University officials charged with control of the areas involved, and (4) under any rules prescribed by the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities, Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization, and Office of IMU Administration. To receive permission to solicit funds or other valuable assets, a student organization must first file an Event Registration Form as explained in sub-section 4 above, and permission must be approved before solicitation may commence. General questions about solicitation should be directed to the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities. All financial transactions shall be handled by the University Box Office to ensure compliance with the solicitation policy.

Nonprofit associations (those granted exemption from taxes by the Internal Revenue Service under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code) not recognized as student organizations may only solicit in the Iowa Memorial Union. To receive written permission to solicit in the Union, student and non-student organizations must submit an Event Registration Form, which is available in the Office of IMU Administration, which is to be signed by a principal representative of the sponsoring organization and an adviser from the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities and which is to be submitted at least three working days in advance of the event date. No outside organization may solicit in the IMU for more than 14 days, whether continuous or intermittent, per fiscal year.

As space permits, each recognized student organization is entitled to a reservation for one table in the designated area within the Iowa Memorial Union for a period of five days per month, consecutive or not. If an organization has not occupied the reserved table within an hour of the scheduled time, the table is forfeited. Forfeited space will be allocated to organizations upon request on a daily first-come, first-served basis. Six organizations can be scheduled for tables at one time. The Event Registration Form must still be completed before occupying the table.

If an organization is raising funds by sponsoring an outside vendor to sell their products, the organization must have a written agreement (available in the Office of IMU Administration) with the vendor which entitles the sponsoring organization to 25 percent of the gross sales. A copy of this agreement must accompany the Event Registration Form. All financial transactions shall be handled by the University Box Office to ensure compliance with the solicitation policy. Each organization maintaining a table in the Iowa Memorial Union is responsible for requiring solicitors to remain behind the table, providing a student member in attendance at the table, and for clearly identifying the sponsoring student organization at each table. All materials, equipment and literature must be confined to the table or the posting strips behind the table. No organization may solicit by accosting individuals or by hawking or shouting.

Requests for space on the outdoor campus should be made to the Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization, pursuant to the provisions of 60.030 and 60.040 of the University Operations Manual. Requests for space in other University buildings should be made pursuant to the "Policy on Facilities Use," University Operations Manual, 60.010.

When an organization is conducting the solicitation, it must be identified at every location by means of a sign or announcement.

In determining the reasonableness of the time, place, and manner of the solicitation activity planned, the offices of Campus Programs & Student Activities, IMU Administration, and Facilities Services Group, Space Planning and Utilization shall consider whether the proposed activity conflicts with regularly scheduled University activities or other scheduled events in the area. The effect of the activity on normal pedestrian and vehicular traffic, the availability of alternate facilities, and similar factors may also be considered. Other reasonable time, place, and manner conditions may be imposed as a precondition of conducting the activity (e.g., an applicant may be asked for information regarding the anticipated number of participants and spectators, the adequacy of arrangements for crowd control, parking, and sanitary facilities).

No application shall be denied unless the applicant is apprised of the reasons for the denial. In the case of a denial, an immediate appeal shall be afforded by the vice president.

7. Political Solicitation. Solicitation by and on behalf of candidates for municipal, county, state, or federal political offices is permitted under limited circumstances. Student organizations that support the election or defeat of a particular candidate, party, or ballot issue may (1) advertise meetings and events on campus bulletin boards; (2) reserve tables in the designated area of the Iowa Memorial Union; (3) reserve display cases in the Landmark corridor of the Iowa Memorial Union; and (4) reserve University facilities for meetings and events. These privileges are subject to space limitations and appropriate University regulations regarding use.

Candidates for UISG student government positions must follow election rules for solicitation and posting established by the UISG Student Elections Board.

Information about posting regulations is available at the University Box Office. Residence hall regulations governing political solicitation are available from Residence Services, Burge Hall.

8. Guest Speakers. Recognized student organizations may invite guest lecturers, panel participants, discussion leaders, or others from off campus to speak or otherwise participate in campus programs, provided such programs are registered at least one week in advance. Event Registration Forms are available in the Office of IMU Administration and are to be signed by a principal representative of the sponsoring organization and an adviser from the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities. Final arrangements with guest speakers should not be made by the sponsoring organization until registration has been completed.

In the event the speaker or the issues are controversial, the adviser may require the sponsoring organization (a) to obtain a tenured member of the faculty to chair the program and (b) to provide for the speaker to be subjected to questions from the audience at some time during the program. (For more information, see University Operations Manual Sec. 60.050).

9. Posters. Recognized student organizations are permitted to advertise and publicize forthcoming activities or events by means of posters. Posters to be displayed on the 29 campus bulletin boards must be approved by the University Box Office, first floor, Iowa Memorial Union. Posters may not exceed 11 x 14 inches in size. The University Box Office is responsible for posting and removing items from University bulletin boards. Posters will be removed two weeks after approval. The name of the organization sponsoring a campus activity or event must appear on every poster, and no advertising or publicizing of any commercial product or trade name is permitted.

Student organizations that wish to post throughout the residence halls system must contact Residence Services, Burge Hall. Student organizations that wish to post only in one residence hall should contact the hall manager for that building. Recognized student organizations that wish to place posters on the Campus buses must contact the Campus office, Stadium Drive. The chalking of University sidewalks is not permitted.

Posters and chalkings displayed in violation of the posting policy will be removed by Physical Plant employees. Costs associated with removal will be charged directly to the student organization account.

10. Display Cases in the IMU. Recognized student organizations and University departments may reserve display cases in the Iowa Memorial Union. Any group may reserve one case for up to two weeks each semester.

Display cases are located in the Landmark corridor and the Terrace Lobby. Landmark corridor cases are for general use, including political, issue-oriented displays. Terrace Lobby cases are for cultural and educational displays only.

In the event of controversies resulting from the contents in display cases, the directors of the Iowa Memorial Union and the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities will attempt to arrange a meeting of those organizations involved in order to facilitate an exchange of ideas of diverse vantage points and a better understanding of the ideology or message of the display. If requested and if space permits, the Office of IMU Administration will offer the protesting organization an equal opportunity to use a display case to present its viewpoint. (For more information, see University Operations Manual Sec. 50.040.)

11. Printing. The University of Iowa Printing Department is the University's printer and purchasing agent for printing and related services. All printing services paid for by a university account, including the accounts of recognized student organizations, must be purchased through the Printing Department. Any use of an outside vendor for printing services must be approved in advance by the Printing Department. Printing services include typesetting, copying, duplicating, printing, photomechanical transfer (PMT), and any other graphic process or service, such as programs, flyers, brochures, and posters.

12. Alcohol. Student organizations recognized by a student governing body or an academic college must abide by all University rules governing possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages. University alcohol regulations are described in Section II (D.) of the Policies & Regulations affecting Students. University policy prohibits the use of University funds for the purchase of alcoholic beverages for events on campus or off campus. In addition, any reference to alcohol in advertising for the activity shall be omitted.

Recognized student organizations may not serve alcohol at events they sponsor which take place off-campus, unless the organization has received express written consent from the vice president prior to the event. In deciding whether to grant an exception following receipt of a petition, the vice president will take into consideration the specific circumstances of the event, including, for example, academic or other educational benefits to be derived from the event. If alcoholic beverages are served at an event in accordance with University policy, sponsoring student organizations are responsible for ensuring that state laws concerning sale, possession, and consumption of alcoholic beverages are observed.

Alcoholic beverage service will not be available to student organizations sponsoring events in the Iowa Memorial Union where students under the age of 21 are in attendance.

Student organizations whose membership consists of students over the age of 21 may request alcoholic beverage service as an amenity to a program held in the Iowa Memorial Union. A Request Form for Alcoholic Beverage Service must accompany the Event Registration Form and be submitted to the Office of IMU Administration no later than 30 days prior to the scheduled date of the event. If approved, all State, University, and IMU policies and procedures related to the sale and service of alcoholic beverages will be observed. Additional information regarding the sale, distribution, and consumption of alcoholic beverages in the IMU and on the University campus is contained in the IMU Alcohol Beverage Service Policy.

Fraternity and sorority chapters recognized by the University must observe these regulations governing the service of alcohol at events which they sponsor, whether the events occur on campus or off campus, and Greek-letter chapters affiliated with the Interfraternity Council or Panhellenic Association must abide by the Events Policy established by their respective governing body.

C. UNIVERSITY POLICY ON STUDENT ORGANIZATION HOUSING

Organizations which provide off-campus housing to student members (hereinafter "Housing Organizations") must apply for official University recognition in order to utilize the services made available to recognized Housing Organizations. Greek-letter social fraternities and sororities which maintain chapter houses are among the groups included within the category of Housing Organizations. A Housing Organization is responsible for managing its housing unit, enforcing internal chapter rules, and ensuring that relevant national, state, and local laws and regulations are observed in the process.

The University's services for Housing Organizations include assistance with student financial transactions, publicity, membership recruitment, and other services. In addition, Housing Organizations are eligible to use meeting rooms on University property and enjoy other privileges granted to recognized student organizations which do not provide housing. A Housing Organization must comply with applicable regulations described below in order to retain its University recognition and thereby continue receiving these privileges. A Housing Organization which fails to comply with applicable regulations is subject to disciplinary action by student-run governing boards and/or the vice president. The Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities advises the local student-run governing boards which are authorized to regulate the system of affiliated student organizations.

As used below, "Undergraduate Residence Groups" refers to Greek-letter associations affiliated with an undergraduate governing board listed below. Fraternities recognized by an academic college are referred to as "Professional Residence Groups." Throughout this section, "fraternity" refers to all-male fraternities, all-female sororities, and mixed-gender fraternities.

I. Undergraduate Residence Groups

a. Governing Boards. Undergraduate men's and women's fraternities are governed by the Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Association, and National Pan-Hellenic Council, which may establish, consistent with the University Policy on Human Rights, additional rules and regulations for recognition of new fraternities, membership selection standards, and standards of conduct. All amendments to the constitution or bylaws of the Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Association, and National Pan-Hellenic Council (including the Risk Management Policy) shall be forwarded to the vice president for review and approval. As explained in sub-section (c) below, these governing organizations may sanction student organizations subject to their authority that are found in violation of the governing organization's regulations. Recognized student organizations affiliated with these governing bodies which do not maintain residential facilities are subject to the rules promulgated by these governing bodies.

b. Recognition Procedure. An Undergraduate Residence Group ("Group") must comply with the recognition, re-recognition, and organizational change procedures applicable to non-housing organizations outlined in section III.A. In addition, each Group must provide information upon request to the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities.

c. Disciplinary Action by the Greek Standards Board. As authorized by the vice president, a governing board may investigate and adjudicate an alleged violation of University regulations by an affiliated Undergraduate Residence Group, or designate a standards board to do so. In determining whether sanctions are warranted against a Group under investigation by the designated governing board, representatives of the Group which has been accused of misconduct will be provided reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard prior to the board's final decision.

If organizational funds were allocated in violation of University policies or a member or members of the Group under investigation violated University regulations (1) at an event sponsored by the Group or (2) in the course of the Group's affairs and the Group failed to exercise reasonable preventive measures, the designated governing board may place a Disciplinary Warning in the Group's disciplinary file, place the Group on Disciplinary Probation, or restrict the Group's privileges. A Group may appeal an adverse decision of the standards board to the Greek Judicial Board. If not satisfied, the Group may ask the University president to review the governing board's decision.

If the designated governing board recommends de-recognition of the Group under investigation, the governing board's findings and recommendation shall be referred to the vice president, who has the authority to revoke a Group's official recognition as set forth below.

d. Disciplinary Action by the Vice President. Ordinarily, allegations of minor violations of Group regulations are resolved by the student governing board authorized to impose sanctions as described above. Depending upon the gravity of the allegations and the Group's prior disciplinary record, allegations of misconduct may be resolved by the vice president. The vice president, in consultation with the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities, is authorized by the University to revoke a Group's official recognition, place the Group on Probation, or restrict the Group's privileges if (a) organizational funds were allocated in violation of University policies or (b) a member or members of the Group violated University regulations (1) at an event sponsored by the Group or (2) in the course of the Group's affairs and the Group failed to exercise reasonable preventive measures.

In determining whether sanctions are warranted against a Group under investigation by the vice president, representatives of the Group which has been accused of misconduct will be provided reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard prior to the vice president's final decision on the proposed revocation. During the investigation, interim sanctions may be imposed as provided in section III.A(8). If the Group is not satisfied with the decision by the vice president, representatives may appeal to the president of the University.

e. Applicable Regulations. For purposes of this section, "University regulations" includes, but is not limited to, the constitution and by-laws of the relevant governing board(s), the board's Risk Management Policy, the University Policy on Human Rights, the conduct regulations in the Code of Student Life, and the University Policy Regarding the Use of Illegal Drugs & Alcohol.

f. De-Recognition. An Undergraduate Residence Group that has lost its recognition is no longer eligible to affiliate with a governing body and may not participate in activities sponsored by the governing body or by organizations affiliated with the governing body. Because a de-recognized Group is not entitled to University services available to recognized Housing Organizations, Group members may not participate in fall Rush or utilize the Fraternity Business Service, for instance. In addition, a de-recognized organization is not eligible to use meeting space on University property or enjoy other privileges granted to registered student organizations.

g. The Code of Student Life. Individual members of a Group accused of misconduct may be disciplined under the Judicial Procedure for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life (refer to section II.B). Responsibility for enforcing the Code of Student Life lies solely with the vice president. In order that the vice president may determine whether formal charges should be filed against individual group members under the Code of Student Life Judicial Procedure, a copy of the governing board's findings shall be referred to the vice president upon request.

h. Chapter Finances. Unless the vice president has granted an exception, each Undergraduate Residence Group must conduct all financial transactions through the Fraternity Business Service in the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities and comply with its rules.

i. Housing Law Compliance. Each Undergraduate Residence Group must provide safe and healthful lodging and cooperate with city or state agencies responsible for enforcing applicable laws.

j. Reviews. In order to determine whether a Group is in compliance with governing board regulations, University officials may from time to time review the Group's record. Information gathered as part of the review may include, but is not limited to, the following topics: aggregate grade-point averages, membership figures, financial reports, internal rules and policies, insurance coverage schedules, educational programs for members, safety and security precautions, compliance with relevant municipal ordinances and state laws, and complaints to the Iowa City police.

k. Security Precautions. As required by the Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act of 1990, each Group must provide reasonable security procedures and promptly report crimes to the Iowa City Police Department, which has jurisdiction over off-campus property in Iowa City. Each Group must submit a copy of its Security Protocol to the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities.

2. Professional Residence Groups

a. General Policy. The responsibility for the regulation and governing of professional fraternities which maintain chapter houses shall be that of the dean of the respective college and the vice president. Professional fraternities recognized by the College of Medicine and the College of Dentistry maintain chapter houses, and a fraternity of chemistry students enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts and the Graduate College maintains a chapter house.

b. Salutory Living Environment. So that students may choose from several different types of living arrangements, the University provides services to professional student organizations which maintain living quarters for members. Prospective members may find that living in quarters maintained by students in their professional field of study will supplement the work of the classroom in individual development. In order to promote a salutory living environment, the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities will meet periodically with representatives from professional residence groups. The University also requires that professional residence groups cooperate with city or state agencies responsible for enforcing applicable health and safety laws.

c. Financial. Each professional chapter may conduct financial transactions through the Office of Campus Programs and Student Activities Business Office.

d. Security Precautions. As required by the Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act of 1990, all professional student organizations recognized by the University which maintain housing facilities must provide reasonable security procedures and promptly report crimes to the Iowa City Police Department, which has jurisdiction over off-campus property in Iowa City. Each chapter must submit a copy of its Security Protocol to the Office of Campus Programs & Student Activities.

IV. Miscellaneous

A. REGISTRATION OF STUDENT AUTOMOBILES

All students who own or operate any motor vehicle within the Iowa City area must register the vehicle within 48 hours of their initial operation of the vehicle in the Iowa City area. Registration forms and applications for parking privileges will be available at the beginning of each semester at a time and place specified in an academic registration handout. At other times, registration may be accomplished at the Parking Division office located in the IMU Parking Ramp. See The University of Iowa Motor Vehicle and Parking Regulations for complete information.

B. LOST AND FOUND

Lost and found items are reported to and deposited promptly with Lost and Found Service (335-1483) located in the Union Parking Ramp office. After 90 days, unclaimed items are disposed of as surplus property or given to charitable organizations dealing with used materials.

C. REPORTING CORRECT ADDRESS

Each student is required to report his or her correct address at the time of registration each semester or session. This reported address must be the student's actual residing address. Any change of residence made during the semester or session must be reported within three days to the Registrar's Office. Failure or refusal to comply with this regulation is cause for restriction of registration.

D. MANDATORY STUDENT FEES POLICY

Introduction

In November, 1990, the Iowa State Board of Regents approved the establishment of a mandatory student health fee to provide basic health services equitably to all students while placing the University Student Health Service on a sound financial basis. In May 1991 the Regents approved a mandatory student computer fee. The computer fee supports instructional computing demands by providing financial support to improve the quality and quantity of student computing resources (facilities, equipment, and services) and library and other information sources. Like tuition, neither the mandatory health fee nor the mandatory computer fee is calculated on the basis of actual use of facilities. An administrative review committee has been established to assist in the application of University policy to individual student circumstances.

Mandatory Health Fee

Every student registered for five (5) or more semester hours is assessed the student health fee regardless of whether he or she actually uses Student Health Service even if he or she has made alternative arrangements for health care. Students who are registered for credit in a University-approved off-campus program (for example, student teaching practicum, and study abroad courses not part of an exchange program) are exempted for the semester(s) of documented absence from campus during which they do not have access to the University Student Health Service.

Mandatory Computer Fee

Students registered less than full-time are assessed a portion of the full-time student computer fee. The fee is waived for qualified quarter-time and above graduate research assistants and teaching assistants, fellows, and students registered for post-comprehensive and masters finals. Students who document a lack of access to computer facilities due to a disability are exempted. Advanced University technology resources supported by the mandatory fee provide a broad range of benefits to students, from electronic class registration to access to the Internet, and a student's use of privately-owned computer equipment to complete class assignments does not exempt the student from the mandatory fee.

Appeal Process

To avoid being charged the mandatory health fee or mandatory computer fee, students eligible for a mandatory fee exemption as defined above must notify the University of their exceptional circumstances by submitting an appeal form. Forms are available in the Registrar's Office, 1 Jessup Hall. Appeal requests will not be accepted after the last day of classes of the academic term for which the appeal is made. Appeal forms filed before the deadline will be examined by an administrative review committee, which will then grant or deny each request. Committee decisions will be communicated to the student petitioner in writing.

Student Government Activity Fee

Each semester as part of tuition students pay a Student Activity Fee. A portion of the Student Activity Fee is allocated to General Student Organizations. Registered students may request a refund or reallocate the portion of the fee allocated to General Student Organizations. For the 1997-98 academic year, the amount of the allocated fee is $3.07 per semester. A request for a refund will be credited on the student's University Bill each semester, while a request for reallocation will be designated to a campus-wide service chosen each year by the UISG. To avoid automatic allocation for the 1997-98 academic year, request forms must be submitted to the Cashier's Office in Jessup Hall no later than September 24. Requests for a one semester refund/reallocation will not be allowed except for new students registering for second semester only who submit a request form by February 20. Additional information is available from the University of Iowa Student Government, 45 IMU, 335-3859.

E. VOTER REGISTRATION

To register to vote, a voter registration form must be completed. Forms are available at the Campus Information Center (Iowa Memorial Union) and the Johnson County Auditor's office (County Administration Building).

F. PICTURE STUDENT IDENTIFICATION

University policy requires that official student identification cards include a picture and signature. A student registered for course work conducted at an off-campus site may apply for a no-picture identification card for library use only. For more information about student identification cards, contact the Registration Center, 30 Calvin Hall.

G. GRADUATION RATE

The following information is distributed to students as required by the Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act of 1990.

Historically, more than 60 percent of students entering directly from high school receive a baccalaureate degree from The University of Iowa within the six-year completion period established by the Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act.

The most recent graduation rate available is calculated using the number of students enrolled for the first time at The University of Iowa in the Fall Semester of 1990. Of these 2,675 students, 62.7% had graduated by August of 1996. This percentage does not include students who continued to be enrolled at Iowa after six years or students who transferred to other colleges and universities.

V. Campus Security

A. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

The University of Iowa campus is subject to many of the same safety concerns as are experienced in the community in which it is located. In order to facilitate the prevention of crime on the 1900 acres of University property and monitor the more than 200 University buildings, the University provides professional law enforcement through the Department of Public Safety. The Public Safety Department consists of three divisions (Patrol, Security, and Detective). Headquartered in its own building on campus, the Department of Public Safety operates separately from the Iowa City Police Department and is responsible for the security of all University-owned property in Johnson County.

Public Safety officers are trained and certified by the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy and have full arrest powers. In May, 1997, the Department of Public Safety staff included 14 patrol officers, 6 sergeants, and 3 lieutenants in the Patrol Division. One lieutenant and two sergeants constitute the Detective Division. As part of the Security Division, the Department of Public Safety employs 15 guards and 14 student guards.

B. REPORTING CRIMES

Importance of Reporting

All local police departments remain in operation 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. This includes the University of Iowa Department of Public Safety, the Iowa City Police Department, the Coralville Police Department, and the Johnson County Sheriff's Office. While police officers are trained to deter crime for the protection of the general public, crime prevention cannot take place without assistance from the greater community. As citizens of the community, all University students, faculty, administrators, and staff are urged to participate actively in the criminal prevention process. This includes the prompt reporting of crimes and suspicious behavior as well as cooperating with authorities during the investigation and prosecution of crimes, whether minor or serious infractions.

Reporting Policies

In order to maintain a safe environment for work and learning, the University supports a fully-staffed professional police agency on campus, provides facilities for storing criminal information, and stations monitors in critical areas of campus. Because the cooperation of ordinary citizens is also essential to the prompt and accurate reporting of crimes, faculty, students, and staff members are instructed to contact the Department of Public Safety in the event they receive criminal or emergency information. The University routinely informs members of the University community in writing and orally through crime programs as to the proper reporting channels.

Emergencies

In the event of an emergency, the police should be contacted immediately, particularly in the case of fire and medical emergencies. In order to facilitate a prompt response in emergency situations, 911 telephone service is in effect for the entire county. Off-campus 911 calls are routed automatically to the appropriate police authority (the Department of Public Safety, Iowa City Police, Coralville Police, or the Johnson County Sheriff).

Emergency Telephones

Fifteen outdoor telephones with a direct line to University Public Safety and marked "Emergency" are located at critical points on University-owned property. In addition, several indoor telephones are available for emergency use, including one located in the women's locker room at the Fieldhouse. Visitors to campus are encouraged to use the telephones which have been installed in each residence hall near the main entrances and at various points in University Hospitals & Clinics.

Non-Emergency Situations

Reports should be directed to the respective police agency which has authority to file criminal charges in the geographic area in which the crime was committed.

University-owned property includes all residence halls, all academic buildings, University Hospitals & Clinics, recreation facilities, parking lots located near these buildings, and the Oakdale Campus. In private dwellings in Iowa City, such as fraternity and sorority chapter houses, reports of crimes should be directed to the Iowa City Police Department. If there is any question as to which police agency has jurisdiction, students, staff, and faculty members should call the Department of Public Safety.

Student Organization Housing

All student organizations recognized by the University which provide housing must maintain reasonable procedures which facilitate the accurate and prompt reporting of crimes to the Iowa City Police Department. Representatives of recognized student organizations which maintain living quarters in Iowa City who become aware of criminal activity on property owned or leased by their organization are expected to report to the Iowa City Police Department and cooperate fully with civil authorities. To obtain information about the reporting policies of a particular chapter house, interested students should contact the executive officers or the housing board of the student organization.

Public Safety's Response to Criminal Reports

In the headquarters of the Department of Public Safety, a record is maintained of every call received by the dispatcher. In cases where on-going criminal activ-

In the 6 felony categories listed above, there were no hate crimes committed during the 1994, 1995 and 1996 years. None of the reported crimes manifested evidence of prejudice based on race, religion, sexual orientation, or ethnicity, as defined by the Hate Crimes Statistics Act 28 U.S.C. 534.

These statistics are derived from criminal reports received by the University Department of Public Safety, which has sole jurisdiction on University-owned property. It does not include statistics resulting from the activities of law enforcement authorities with off-campus responsibilities in the greater Iowa City metropolitan area, which includes the Iowa City Police Department, the Coralville Police Department, and the Johnson County Sheriff's Office.

A community agency that maintains comprehensive statistics is the Rape Victim Advocacy Program. RVAP periodically issues a summary of sexual assault calls it has received from all 4 jurisdictions in the greater Iowa City area, including cases where the victim has chosen not to report to law enforcement authorities. RVAP statistics and other information related to sexual assault are available by calling 335-6001.

ity is reported, the supervisor on duty assigns patrol officers to the scene. If necessary, the captain assigns staff detectives to conduct necessary follow-up investigations. When there is a reasonable basis to believe that a known individual has committed a crime on campus, the person is apprehended by a Public Safety officer, charged by the arresting officer, and referred to the Johnson County Attorney for prosecution. In cases where incarceration is warranted, persons arrested are taken to the Johnson County Jail immediately following the arrest and booking.

Criminal Data Policies

All University patrol officers and detectives are required to submit investigation reports and have received specific training in documenting crimes. The associate director monitors the department's response to reports. Information derived from reports is maintained in a written file and on computer by full-time records personnel, who issue daily summaries of criminal incidents which occur on University property to University departments.

Non-Criminal Investigations

In many cases where a University student, faculty, or staff member is charged with a crime, particularly in the case of incidents which occur on University property, a follow-up investigation is conducted by University officials. When the criminal perpetrator is a student, disciplinary review is undertaken by the vice president for student services (hereinafter, "vice president"). When academic instructors have violated criminal laws, disciplinary review is the responsibility of the Provost. When other staff members are charged with criminal activity, disciplinary review is the responsibility of the Vice President for Finance and University Services and the employment department.

Additional Services Provided

In response to reports of a fire or medical emergency, the Department of Public Safety notifies the Iowa City dispatcher for fire fighters and ambulance service. Emergency medical care is provided at all hours at University Hospitals & Clinics. The University provides or otherwise supports post-emergency and post-crime counseling services for students, staff, and faculty members. Among the departments which provide such services are University Counseling Services, the Rape Victim Advocacy Program, Faculty & Staff Support Services, Student Health, and University Hospitals & Clinics. In addition, Johnson County maintains a full-time Victim Witness Coordinator, who assists students, staff, faculty, and other citizens who are crime victims during and after the criminal prosecution.

C. SECURITY OF CAMPUS FACILITIES

Access to University Buildings

As a public institution of higher learning, the University of Iowa welcomes anyone interested in utilizing the wide range of educational facilities on campus. For security reasons, however, not all University buildings are open to the public. University residence halls are private residences, and a person must be a guest of a resident in order to enter any area of a residence hall building other than the dining service or main lounge area. Only authorized personnel are permitted in many areas of University Hospitals & Clinics. Furthermore, most buildings open to the public are closed and locked after regular business hours.

Personal Property Security

Facilities for securing the personal property of students, staff, faculty, and visitors are provided in or near many campus buildings. Examples include lockers in the Field House recreation building; lockers in various libraries; five monitored parking ramps; gate-locked parking lots; and bicycle racks across the campus. In addition, the University provides supervised housing on University property for more than five thousand students and seven hundred student families.

Housing on Private Property, Including Student Organization Housing

Since private housing property is located within the geographic jurisdiction of the Iowa City Police and Coralville Police Departments, student-occupied dwelling units located on non-University property are neither secured nor monitored by the Department of Public Safety. All student organizations recognized by the University which provide housing facilities must maintain reasonable security procedures. As of June, 1997, all recognized student organizations which provide housing facilities are Greek-letter associations responsible to the Panhellenic Council, the Interfraternity Council, or an academic college. Greek-letter chapter houses are managed by private housing corporations consisting of student members, chapter alumni, and professional housing managers. Security procedures may vary from chapter house to chapter house. To obtain information about the security procedures in place at a particular chapter house, interested students should consult with the executive officers or the housing board of the student organization.

Monitoring University Property

Sworn peace officers of the University Department of Public Safety patrol University-owned property 24 hours a day, 7 days a week on foot, on bicycles, and in squad cars. The frequency and intensity of the patrols increases during night-time hours. Security guards trained by the University Department of Public Safety are assigned to monitor specific buildings or areas at night. Many campus pathways remain lighted throughout the night. As part of their surveillance responsibilities, security officers report burned-out lights and other potentially dangerous situations. Maintenance crew members routinely replace lights, trim shrubbery, and remove snow, ice, and other debris from pathways. In addition to the supervision provided by the Department of Public Safety, University parking lots are patrolled five days a week by part-time and full-time employees trained and supervised by the Parking and Transportation Department.

Access to Academic Buildings

The Department of Public Safety routinely checks University buildings which are closed during non-business hours to ensure they remain locked. Each building has a scheduled time to be secured and only authorized staff members are issued keys to secured buildings. All indoor maintenance personnel wear a name badge for identification purposes, and all students and employees are issued University identification cards. In order to monitor access during secured hours, the entrances of many buildings are lighted.

Access to Residence Hall Buildings

For security purposes, the outside building doors to every residence hall are locked from midnight to 6:00 a.m. 7 days a week. Each resident is issued a key to his or her building as well as his or her room and is advised to keep the room door locked at all hours of the day. During secured hours, a non-resident may only enter the building if he or she is a guest of a resident and enters through the main entrance. Residents are held responsible for the conduct of their guests, and non-residents found in a residence hall during secured hours in violation of this rule are subject to University discipline and arrest for criminal trespass. At least one trained staff member is on duty 24 hours a day. Depending upon the rules of each particular floor, visitation by members of the opposite sex may be limited to certain hours of the day. Students may request a limited visitation floor when they apply for housing.

Security Precautions for Family Housing

Adult residents of Family Housing (including units in Hawkeye Court and Hawkeye Drive) are issued keys to their respective apartments and are advised to keep their doors locked at all hours of the day. In addition to a smoke detector and fire extinguisher, every Family Housing unit is equipped with a telephone, and important information, such as emergency and police phone numbers, is provided in writing. On weekdays, staff members are on duty in the Office of the Family Housing Manager, who maintains a current list of all unit occupants. During the night, officers from the University Department of Public Safety routinely conduct car patrols of Hawkeye Court and Hawkeye Drive.

Special Security Precautions in University Hospitals & Clinics

The department of Safety and Security operates an in-house safety and security service with an emphasis on personal safety and fire safety as well as security. The UIHC Safety and Security Department staff do not have arrest powers but work in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety, the authorized law enforcement agency for the UIHC. In order to maintain the physical security of UIHC, the Safety and Security Department patrols the hospitals and clinics, secures doors, monitors a safety surveillance closed-circuit television system, and responds to request by patients, visitors, and staff. Reports of serious criminal activity are routed directly to the Department of Public Safety. In cases of minor criminal activity, copies of Safety and Security reports are sent to the Department of Public Safety for consideration and possible follow-up.

D. CAMPUS LAW ENFORCEMENT

Arrest Authority

All sworn peace officers in the Department of Public Safety are authorized to apprehend crime suspects and formally charge persons with violating state and local criminal laws on property owned or controlled by the University of Iowa. Officers with this power of arrest include the director, associate director, captain of detectives, lieutenants, sergeants, and patrol officers. Sworn officers associated with the Iowa City Police Department or other law enforcement agencies are called upon by the University from time to time to assist the Department of Public Safety in securing University-owned property. Security guards and other University security personnel are trained to report observed criminal activity on campus.

Officer Training

All patrol officers in the Department of Public Safety are sworn peace officers who have satisfied state mandated training and continuing education requirements. Public Safety security guards and hospital security officers receive in-service training to assist the sworn officers in securing buildings, responding to reports, and identifying criminal violators.

Interagency Relationships

As a recognized police agency, the Department of Public Safety is part of the state criminal law enforcement network. This ensures that the University has access to intrastate and interstate criminal data. In the process of monitoring University property and responding to reports from the general public, the Department of Public Safety maintains regular communication with the Iowa City Police Department, which has jurisdiction over property contiguous to campus and apartments and other individual dwelling units in Iowa City. Every weekday morning, the two police agencies exchange copies of the previous day's report and arrest log. The University also works closely with the police department of Coralville, where many students reside; the Johnson County Sheriff, who oversees jail operations; and the State Department of Criminal Investigation, which maintains an office in Cedar Rapids. At least once a month, the Director of the Department of Public Safety or his designee meets with representatives from the other three local law enforcement agencies and the county attorney's office in order to review patterns of criminal activity in Johnson County and discuss crime prevention issues.

Firearms

It is the policy of the Iowa Board of Regents that sworn peace officers employed by the three public universities not carry firearms. It is also the policy of the Board of Regents to enter into agreements with local police agencies for purposes of providing firearms in the event of emergency situations. The University of Iowa relies upon other local law enforcement agencies to furnish armed officers if called upon by the Department of Public Safety.

Off-Campus Student Housing

It is the responsibility of every recognized student organization to ensure that all federal, state, and local laws are observed at activities sponsored by the organization. For purposes of monitoring criminal activity at off-campus events sponsored by recognized student organizations, the Office of the Vice President for Student Services and Dean of Students (hereinafter, "Office of the Vice President"), in cooperation with the Iowa City Police Department, reviews Iowa City Police daily report logs kept on file in the Department of Public Safety. Information derived from police reports is taken into consideration during the University's biennial fraternity and sorority review process, and a record of criminal activity is grounds for revoking a chapter's University recognition.

E. SECURITY AWARENESS PROGRAMS

General Purpose

The University undertakes programs designed to maintain an awareness in the subject of safety and encourages students, staff, and faculty to take an active role in the deterrence of crime. Security awareness is accomplished through a variety of means. The University disseminates general and specific information in writing to the University community and presents a variety of programs tailored to the interests and particular needs of the various constituencies on campus. These programs include opportunities for students, staff, and faculty to meet and discuss crime issues with officers in the Department of Public Safety.

General Sources of Information

Under state law, certain police information is public, including the date, time, specific location, and immediate facts of a crime and the name and address of a person arrested and the criminal charge. In order to learn the most current crime information, members of the University community are encouraged to read the daily police arrest reports in the Daily Iowan or Iowa City Press-Citizen. The University also maintains the Campus Safety Awareness Display in the Iowa Memorial Union, which is updated periodically. In addition to releasing a daily report and arrest log, the director of the Department of Public Safety issues timely reports of crimes considered to be a threat to students and employees which are reported to local police agencies.

Information to Specific Constituencies

Depending upon the frequency and nature of criminal threats reported to the local police, warning statements may be issued to specific University constituencies in combination with statements released by the Director of Public Safety. Residence hall residents receive security statements from the Director of Residence Services and other staff members; residents of Family Housing receive information from the Family Housing Manager in the Villager newsletter; residents of Greek-letter chapter houses receive security statements from chapter executives; hospital employees receive information from the Hospital Safety and Security Department in Compass and Pacemaker; the semi-weekly news bulletin FYI contains security statements issued to all faculty and staff members; and parents of University students receive a special security edition of Parent Times.

Presentations

Programs are presented by a wide variety of University and non-University personnel. Speakers include students as well as non-students. For undergraduate students, programs are provided by the student orientation staff, the residence hall staff and the Education Program Office, the Greek-letter social fraternity councils, and the Office of Campus Programs in the Iowa Memorial Union. Members of the Department of Public Safety are available to speak to students, faculty, and staff about personal safety, and several other University departments which address the concerns of students, faculty, and staff members (such as the Women's Resource and Action Center and the Rape Victim Advocacy Program) present a variety of programs, many of which are related to personal safety.

Examples of Programming Offered

Due to the size of the University and the variety of programs offered, it is difficult to calculate the exact number of on-going University programs related to personal safety and the prevention of crimes which take place in any given year. Among the prevention programs regularly offered are date rape awareness workshops in the residence halls and Greek system; safety awareness skits and small-group discussion in freshman orientation; shoplifting awareness training for IMU Book Store employees; the Saferide escort service; a student-run residence halls escort service; late-night Cambus rides; fire drills in the residence halls conducted by the Iowa City Fire Department; and the Whistlestop self-defense program for women. September is Security Awareness Month in the residence halls, during which time formal and informal programming is provided to residents on topics related to crime prevention.

F. SEXUAL ABUSE PROGRAMS

Introduction

The University of Iowa recognizes the serious harm which results from sexual abuse and assumes a role appropriate for a public institution of higher learning in regulating sexual misconduct. The foundation of the University's position is contained in the Violence Policy and the Policy on Sexual Harassment and Consensual Relationships, copies of which are distributed periodically to students, staff, and faculty and available in the Office of Affirmative Action. All members of the University community are urged to read these policies and endeavor to learn the elements essential to an abuse-free environment. This includes an understanding of one's own vulnerability to sexual abuse, the varieties of physical and verbal conduct which violate University policy, the importance of reporting violations to law enforcement officials, and the availability of counseling services and relevant educational programs on campus.

The Facts

Persons age 16 to 24 are more vulnerable to sexual abuse than any other age group, and Iowa City is not immune to the problems which persist in more densely populated environments. Research also indicates that most victims of unwanted sexual attention are women, and in many cases the male aggressor is not a stranger. University disciplinary policies proscribe rape, date rape, and other varieties of sexual abuse. Under the Code of Student Life, students are prohibited from harassing, threatening, and physically abusing other persons on campus and at University events held off-campus; and unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or educational performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment for work or learning. In addition to criminal sanctions, students found guilty of sexual abuse under the Code of Student Life are subject to suspension or expulsion from the University.

The Sexual Assault Task Force

The University coordinates its efforts to combat the problem of sexual violence through the University's sexual assault coalition, which consists of representatives from the Office of the Vice President, Residence Services, Student Health, the RVAP, University Counseling, Public Safety, Orientation and Campus Programs & Student Activities. These departments, which are assigned to investigate complaints, provide educational services, and counsel survivors, meet periodically and work in cooperation with student peer educators who assist the coalition in organizing activities to address the issue of sexual assault.

Education

Members of the University community are invited to attend a variety of extracurricular programs presented on campus throughout the academic year. Programs include sexual harassment seminars conducted by the Office of Affirmative Action; security awareness skits in freshman student orientation; date rape presentations in the residence halls by student peer educators such as POWER (People Out Working to End Rape); RAD (Rape Aggression Defense) classes taught by Public Safety officers; healthy relationship and communication workshops organized and conducted by students; professional training on sexual assault issues provided for University staff by RVAP; the Whistlestop safety campaign of the University of Iowa Student Associations; and Saferide, a late-night transportation service offered by the Cambus Office. In addition to investigating reports of sexual abuse and filing criminal charges, Public Safety law enforcement officers are available to speak to the University community about a variety of security-related issues, including sexual abuse.

Reporting Protocol

University Hospitals & Clinics provides medical services to victims of abuse, who are strongly encouraged to undergo a physical examination as soon as possible after an assault. Besides treating any injuries suffered, an immediate medical examination will facilitate the process of collecting and preserving evidence for possible use in the future. For those persons prepared to file a complaint with law enforcement authorities regarding an incident on campus, the Department of Public Safety maintains a staff of trained detectives to investigate reports of sexual misconduct. As an alternative to a police investigation, a complainant may choose to file a report with the vice president, who oversees enforcement of the Code of Student Life. Also, the Office of Affirmative Action provides information about the process of complaint resolution and investigates complaints of sexual harassment.

The Decision to Report an Assault

Under University policy, victims of sexual abuse are entitled to decide for themselves with whom they wish to discuss their experience and whether to file a complaint. Persons interested in learning more about reporting incidents of sexual abuse are encouraged to contact the Rape Victim Advocacy Program. RVAP personnel will provide crisis intervention and assistance in notifying proper law enforcement authorities if that is what the victim chooses to do. All inquiries to RVAP are confidential, and Public Safety officers and medical professionals will initiate an investigation only with the permission of the complainant.

Options for Rearranging Academic, Residential, and Work Situations

Regardless of whether a person elects to file an official complaint following an assault, procedures are in place for rearranging schedules for those situations in which the alleged assailant is living in the same University residence hall as the apparent victim, attending the same class, or employed in the same work unit on campus. If a change is requested and reasonable alternatives are available, the University will transfer the apparent victim to a different residence hall or floor, different class, or different work unit or work shift. As explained below, involuntary transfers of the alleged assailant are accomplished under the disciplinary system following receipt of a complaint.

University Investigation of Student Complaints

Complaints of sexual abuse against students are resolved under the Judicial Procedures for Alleged Violations of the Code of Student Life (refer to Section II.B of "Policies & Regulations affecting Students"). The Procedure provides that the initial investigation is undertaken by the vice president, who will determine whether to charge the accused at a formal hearing. Both the complaining party and the accused are entitled to have an advisor present during the initial investigation and during a hearing. Both parties will be informed in writing of the final determination regarding the merits of the complaint and any sanctions imposed upon the accused.

University Sanctions Against Students

Students found guilty by an administrative hearing officer of committing sexual abuse in violation of the Code of Student Life are ordinarily suspended or expelled from the University. Additional sanctions include restitution and substance abuse counseling, and the perpetrator may also be prohibited from contacting the victim, living in the same residence hall with the victim, working in the same campus department, or enrolling in the same class. As a temporary measure pending the final resolution of a complaint, a student accused of sexual abuse will ordinarily be prohibited by the vice president from contacting the complainant. In addition, the accused may be involuntarily transferred to a different residence hall, different class, or different work unit following receipt of a complaint depending upon the circumstances of the case and available alternatives.

Counseling

The University of Iowa provides a wide variety of counseling services to victims of sexual abuse, their partners, friends, and family members. Many of these services are free of charge. In addition to medical services available at the Student Health Service and the University Hospitals & Clinics, University Counseling Service offers professional counseling to students, and Faculty & Staff Services provides professional counseling to employees and instructors. All members of the University community who have been subjected to unwanted sexual attention are encouraged to contact the Rape Victim Advocacy Program, which provides professional counseling to victims of abuse in addition to serving as a clearinghouse for information. The RVAP maintains a 24-hour Rape Crisis Line (335-6000 or 1-800-284-7821).
