COGS celebrates a victory

By Nathan Hill

A last minute change in parking poli ces froze a U of I student union leadership bid at the last minute Tuesday.

The COGS (Council of Graduate Students) had set new student parking rates but granted parking as a courtesy for a week, instead of the usual one. Students found the rates unfair and had planned to meet Wednesday to discuss the issue further.

COGS president Patricia Darcy said the union is working on five things: settling grievances, developing the university by threatening the victim, removing the race, and having the union by winning the race. The union has met with the administration to discuss the situation.

At the last meeting, the administration had agreed to set new student parking rates at $5 and $10 per month. The rates were to be effective immediately, and the administration would look into the possibility of having the union at the beginning of the semester.

The union was not satisfied with the administration's proposal and had planned to meet Wednesday to discuss the issue further.

Dear Harlan,

My boyfriend and I have been going out for about three years. I feel like I’m in a rut and have no idea how to break free from it. The way he acts toward me is very immature and it seems like he’s stuck in a time warp. I want him to grow up and not treat me like a little child. I feel like we’ve hit a wall and I don’t know how to get past it. I want him to be more mature and take our relationship seriously.

Dear Harlan,

I am a college student and I am struggling with my grades. I feel like I’m not putting in enough effort and I’m not sure how to improve. I’m worried about my future and I don’t know what to do. Can you give me some advice on how to improve my grades and get back on track?

Dear Harlan,

I have a problem with my boss. He is always criticizing me and making me feel bad about my work. I feel like I can’t do anything right and I’m thinking about quitting. Can you give me some advice on how to handle this situation?

Dear Harlan,

I’m having trouble sleeping and I’m always tired during the day. I’ve tried everything and nothing seems to work. I’m worried about my health and I don’t know what to do. Can you give me some advice on how to improve my sleep?

President Clinton is the only U.S. presidential candidate who has said he would not vote for the treaty that the Bush administration wants to sign. During the campaign, he promised to veto the treaty "if it is not about how much money we make and how much we spend, but about the health and safety of our men in uniform," he said. "We have a legal obligation to protect our men in uniform, and that's more important than any other objective."
5 crashes in 4 days ground flights.

Five downed planes in the past week have caused the Air Force to issue an immediate ban on training flights.

By Robert Burns

WASHINGTON — Arnold Air Force Base in Tennessee is flying military planes again after a ban, the first of its kind, was imposed in 1997.

Although officials have detected no problems in the past, two accidents in the past two weeks led to the ban.

The ban will be extended to other military bases.

Fifty crashes in 4 days

At least 38 crashes in 4 days have occurred on military bases.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) issued an emergency directive on Tuesday, ordering all military bases to ground all planes until they can be thoroughly examined for any possible safety issues.

The directive came after a series of accidents at military bases across the country, including one at Arnold Air Force Base in Tennessee.

The ban affects more than 500 military planes and is expected to last until Friday morning.

Military Air Safety

Military Air Safety is a program that is responsible for investigating accidents and determining the causes of them.

The program determines the cause of an accident and then investigates the root cause of that accident.

The program also determines whether or not a particular accident is related to other accidents.

The program is responsible for issuing safety directives to prevent similar accidents from happening again.

AIDS drug study raises ethical quandary

Journal QUESTIONS ETHICS OF STUDY TO INFECTION AIDS.

By Daniel G. Halpern

Boston — Urgent experimental procedures being now used by the U.S. military in its fight against AIDS are raising questions about the ethics of such studies.

The military is currently conducting several studies on the use of experimental drugs to treat HIV-positive patients.

The studies have been criticized by some ethicists who believe that the military is not adequately protecting the rights of the soldiers involved.

The military has defended its actions, saying that the studies are necessary to protect the soldiers and the country.

The studies are being conducted under a new federal law that allows the military to conduct experiments on soldiers.

The law was passed in response to the AIDS epidemic and the need for more research on the disease.

The studies are being conducted in a number of military hospitals across the country.

The military is also conducting studies on the use of experimental drugs to treat other diseases, such as cancer.

The military has been criticized for its handling of the AIDS epidemic, including its response to the recent outbreak in Africa.

The military has been criticized for its response to the outbreak, including its lack of coordination with other agencies and its failure to provide adequate resources for those affected.

Five Americans were killed when their helicopter crashed in a mountain in Bosnia.

By Alexandra S. Dominguez

An American helicopter, carrying a group of Americans, including the Bundchen family, crashed in a mountain in Bosnia on Wednesday, killing five Americans.

The group was on a mission to recover the remains of American soldiers who died in the Bosnian war.

The crash occurred when the helicopter encountered heavy winds and ice conditions.

All five Americans were killed in the crash.

The American military is investigating the cause of the crash.

A letter group criticized for parking debacle

"We've made gains in recent years," said Roy Moore, a student who is satisfied with the aid that his school is providing.

"Involving the students in the decision-making process is important," Moore said.

"Most students feel they are being rooked," he said.

"The students deserve better," Moore added.

"We're working hard to improve the situation," he said.

"Everyone thought it had something to do with the other pieces he'd planned to sing," Glass said.

I got next: The WNBA and me

I was never a basketball player. I enjoyed basketball in gym class, or the occasional open gym session. I just couldn’t find myself in the game, but that’s the thing about sports: when your school gym’s gold team came calling, I wasn’t going to turn that down. The reality was that I’d rather be spending my time riding my bike or going for a run. I had no interest in basketball, but I did want to be a part of the community.

Even though the game never called my name, I was perfectly fine with supporting my school’s team. The idea of being a part of something bigger than myself was appealing to me, and there was nothing I could do about it.

GUEST OPINION

Brandi Miller

I never was the biggest basketball person, but I was certainly a part of the team. I wasn’t the best player, but I was still a valuable member of the team. I didn’t have a ticket to the championship game, but I was still there, cheering on my team.

Social Security checks: Get ready for a change in the editor.

There are changes that are coming. As you may know, the government is trying to save money. One of the ways they are doing this is by changing the way Social Security checks are delivered.

There is no need to be nervous about this change. It is a necessary step to ensure that the government is operating efficiently. The checks will still be delivered on time, and the process will be streamlined.

Melrose needs a right-turn lane

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the shortage of right-turn lanes in our city. As a driver, I have noticed that it is often difficult to find a place to turn right.

I would like to see a right-turn lane installed on Avenue X. This would make it easier for drivers to navigate the area, and it would reduce the number of accidents that occur due to the lack of right-turn lanes.

Sincerely,

How would you improve the parking problems in Iowa City?

Iowa City is known for its beautiful streets and unique architecture. However, the city also faces a significant challenge when it comes to parking. With the influx of visitors, especially tourists, the demand for parking space is on the rise.

One solution could be to implement a parking reservation system. This would allow visitors to reserve a parking spot in advance, ensuring that they have a guaranteed spot when they arrive.

Another option could be to increase the number of parking garages. This would provide more parking space for visitors and residents alike.

In conclusion, Iowa City needs to take action to address its parking problems. By implementing a parking reservation system and increasing the number of parking garages, the city can ensure that visitors have a pleasant experience when visiting.

Sincerely,

Taxpayers: Know your artwork and your nuclear weapons

I bring this up (albeit because of the interesting incidents that occurred recently in Miami. When you heard about that. "What do they think the law is," you were probably thinking about the ridiculous situation where a couple who had apparently been attempting to rob a bank were arrested. But as it turns out, Miami's mayor was also attempting to rob a bank.

"Big deal," you are saying. "They're just a couple of nutjobs people for stupidly acting foolishly." Right. But these were real criminals. I mean, I was not making a mention of the "nutjobs people" in the American way. I was talking about actual, real criminals. "Those two Lioworks, I wonder how that would be in the real world," you might be thinking. "It's just a couple of nutjobs people for stupidly acting foolishly." Right. But these were real criminals.

And so, in this light, I would like to draw attention to the following: In Miami, under the Liberal plan, in addition to one's roommate and the artist's manage, it is possible to rob a bank.

Dallas' superintendent ousted

Another Dallas superintendent leaves the job after allegations of misconduct

By Chris Newton

Associated Press

DALLAS — In a school system that has become a national model of racial and ethnic turmoil, Youngs Elementary School Principal Ming Gonzalez was forced to resign Tuesday, driven out by allegations that have made the once-fashionable neighborhood a cauldron of public infighting.

Allegations include sexual harassment of a teacher; a board member who was secretly being monitored by FBI agents; and the removal of a superintendent.

The school district's history of legal, illegal, moral and political infighting have led to death threats, patient complaints and a "revolving door, a lot of firing," Superintendent Charles C. Cavitt said. "We're not much of a drinker, and I know many people here. It's just the beginning of the beginning.

Slaney cleared of drug use, still ineligible

Slim Slaney was cleared of steroid use Wednesday, but the University of Iowa distance runner will remain ineligible to compete this season.

The Iowa Athletic Council, meeting Wednesday in Iowa City, voted unanimously to allow Slaney to practice and compete this season. Slaney tested positive for the anabolic steroid dehydroepiandrosterone, commonly known as DHEA, in initial drug tests last month.

The IAC said Slaney was not using the drug at the time of the test, and because she tests positive for the drug, she will remain ineligible to compete this season.

Yankee win cuts into Oriole lead

YANKEES - Paul O'Neill homered in the first inning, hit a 1-2 pitch from Seattle's Ken Griffey Jr., who was leading off, and Mike Mussina allowed just one hit in eight innings as the Yankees defeated the Mariners 6-2 on Wednesday night.

The Yankees reduced their magic number to two, pending the result of the New York Mets' game. The Mets defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 in 10 innings. New York is now within nine games of first place in the Eastern Division.

"We're playing well and the team's hitting well," O'Neill said. "We've been hitting the ball hard and I think we're getting good calls from the umpires."

He homered in the first inning off reliever Rodney Myers into the right-field bleachers leading off first, hit a 1-2 pitch from Myers into the bleachers in the fifth, and added a three-run double in the fifth inning as the Yankees routed the Mariners 6-2.

"We're playing well and the team's hitting well," O'Neill said. "We've been hitting the ball hard and I think we're getting good calls from the umpires."

He homered in the first inning off reliever Rodney Myers into the right-field bleachers leading off first, hit a 1-2 pitch from Myers into the bleachers in the fifth, and added a three-run double in the fifth inning as the Yankees routed the Mariners 6-2.

The Yankees are closing in on Baltimore in the American League East. The Yankees reduced their magic number to two, pending the result of the New York Mets' game. The Mets defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 in 10 innings. New York is now within nine games of first place in the Eastern Division.

Buffalo's backs suffer slow start

Thurman Thomas has yet to excel in Buffalo's new run-oriented offense.

"The play calling and the whole offensive philosophy is a lot different than what I'm used to," Thomas said Monday. "I'm trying to learn it as fast as I can."

Orchard Park, N.Y. (AP) — Thurman Thomas is learning on the fly after losing his season opener to the Bills. Now coordinator Don Breaux wants him to learn the run game, too.

It's easy to see why Thomas has been a slow learner. He has to remember and the Bills' game plan is to run the ball early and often.

"It seems odd to see how we're taking it slowly moving the ball," Thomas said. "I'm surprised a little bit about that." Breaux said Thomas should learn the new offense in time.

"He's not far off," Breaux said. "He's a natural."

In Kansas City last week, the Bills had only one rusher in the first half and finished with 50, which made the New York Jets look like a running team. The Bills lost 20-6.

To be one of the league's top backs in the 1980s, Thomas needed an 8-yard gain against the New England Patriots last Sunday.

If you want to blame me, it's on me," Thomas said. "I know it's not the reason the running game hasn't worked. I believe he's got some of it." Breaux said Thomas should be part of the mix.

"We've got to make sure he's getting his reps," Breaux said. "We're still trying to find out how much he needs."

Bills running back Kent Graham, playing for the first time since December, carried six times for 37 yards in the Bills' 17-14 win over the Patriots.

"The more reps Kent gets, the better he's going to be," Breaux said. "I've been trying to play my role and do my job and do my best to help this team." Graham has faced a similar situation in Buffalo, Breaux said.

"I'm trying to get a grip on this situation," Breaux said. "We're all trying to help each other out."

For the most part, the Bills' offense has been hitting its stride in the past few games.

"We've been getting a lot of good yardage," Breaux said. "We're still trying to find out how much we need to run the ball."

Bills head coach Marv Levy is working with Thomas, who is in the lineup against the Bills this week.

"I'm trying to give him some more reps," Breaux said. "I'm trying to find out how much he needs."

The Bills had 42 yards on the ground in the first half against the Patriots.

"We've been running the ball a lot," Breaux said. "We've been running the ball a lot." Breaux said.

Lem Barney, the Bills' defensive back, said he is trying to help Thomas.

"I'm trying to give him some more reps," Barney said. "I'm trying to help him."

On the lips

1. "Titanic" — There are over 250 million reasons to see the film.
2. Veronica's Closet — Critics have been raving that it is the most witty and excellently written series on TV ever seen on a network. So, why is NBC selling it as if it's a soap opera? "Titans?"
3. The Rolling Stones — The supergroup of yesteryear announce release their latest (and possibly their last) album, "Beggars Banquet," this week.
4. "ER" — The two-minute series has gathered talked-about status, involving how it would have been if it were in color.
5. "Titanic" — Japan's Sorrows 1999, announced, for the first time, their return tour, which will be held this month, the Sorrows 25th anniversary.
6. "Nothing Sacred" — After years of not being famous, the Sorrows 1999 are now back.
7. "Alien Resurrection" — Flapjacks making a sure to "Shots" yo's popular relater, a rock's ladies and their dreams.
8. Janet Jackson — Week's controversial "Shots" has sparked a new law.
9. "Alien Resurrection" — The writers/director/producer team named ABC's new drama about a homy priest has been confirmed. It seems like a desperate publicity stunt.

Happy anniversary, Hancher!
