S.K. (6) and John Loe, 108-301-3

In 1983, the Iowa City Police Department received a report of a sexual assault.

The report was filed by a 25-year-old woman who claimed she was raped by a man in her apartment.

The investigation revealed that the man had entered the apartment through an unlocked window.

The victim told police she had been awakened by a noise and had seen the man entering the apartment.

She said she had tried to scream for help, but the man had grabbed her and made her lie on the floor.

The man then proceeded to have sex with her while she struggled and tried to escape.

The man was later identified as John Loe, a 24-year-old student at the University of Iowa.

Loe was charged with first-degree sexual assault and held on $50,000 bond.

The case was tried in District Court, and Loe was found guilty of the charge.

He was sentenced to 10 years in prison and ordered to pay $100,000 in restitution to the victim.

The victim received $50,000 from the state's victim compensation fund and an additional $50,000 from private sources.

Her family and friends were supportive, but the victim said she still struggles with the memory of the attack.

She said she has had therapy and has been able to return to school, but the experience has been difficult.

The Iowa City Police Department praised the victim for coming forward and for her bravery in telling her story.

They said they hope her experience will encourage other victims to come forward and seek help.

They also said they will continue to provide support and resources to survivors of sexual assault.

The Iowa City Police Department encourages anyone who has been the victim of sexual assault to call them at 319-356-6719 or to access their website at http://www.icpd.org.

The department's mission is to prevent and respond to crime, to preserve public safety and order, and to provide quality service to all.

They can be reached at 100 E Main St, Iowa City, IA 52245.

Student helps catch crooks via TV

While sorting through piles of tips and aiding to the capture of a criminal, a UI student comes out of the box with a fresh perspective.

By Jon Mokot

With the help of UI senior Kara Kurcz and "America's Most Wanted," this whirlwind of a season has landed the חברת a second arrest.

Kurcz said she thought it was "an amazing experience, and the campus."

"I want to do something with it," she said. "I'm interested in doing this and being a part of it."

Kurcz is a freelance writer for "America's Most Wanted," and she is helping to write the show for the television show in Washington, D.C.

"It's an amazing experience, and I want to do something with it," she said. "I'm interested in doing this and being a part of it."

Kurcz also said she had a lot of fun helping people out and being a part of the show.

"I've always been a fan of the show, and I really enjoyed being a part of it," she said. "I think it's really cool to be a part of something like this."
Transfusions minimize strokes

Blood transfusions can get the risk of stroke in children with sickle cell anemia lower. The results were so dramatic that some children in the study were able to stop taking their medications. Since the study was completed, transfusions have been used to prevent strokes in children with sickle cell anemia.

About 72,000 Americans have sickle cell anemia, an inherited disease that strikes mostly blacks. Hemoglobin chains inside red blood cells, long strands of protein, can get stuck inside blood vessels. This can cause sudden strokes, which typically kill five or more people every year.
Americans contributed millions to controversial settlements

By Itay Aggarman

Jerusalem — Even on the United Nations' shortlist of places to be visited are "settlements in the West Bank, the Gaza Strip, the Golan Heights and east Jerusalem." But if the U.S. visited settlements, it would not find what Americans who support these settlements find.

There has been a major shift in how much American money flows to settlements. But tax records obtained from the Associated Press show that American donors who support disputed Jewish settlements continue to funnel millions to such groups.

One donor gives millions each year to groups that support settlements in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, a retired physician and journalist who runs a religious school and makes a fundraising pitch on the Internet. The donor, who was identified only as "Anonymous," has given $1.3 million in 2008 and 2009 to Americans for Justice, an American Friends Service Committee affiliate that runs a religious school and makes a fundraising pitch on the Internet.

Congressman calls for NASA to reconsider sending Americans to Mars

"To the sky for America's first mission to the Red Planet," NASA Administrator Charles Bolden said Wednesday, "is the first step in a new era of human exploration."

NASA's first human mission to Mars would be a "dramatic" step in the agency's "decade of discovery," Bolden said in a statement.

There is no need to wait until 2020 to send humans to Mars, Bolden said, adding that the United States has "the right to lead the world" in space exploration.

FDA

No evidence of bomb or missile

The FDA said it has found no evidence of a bomb or missile threat in the U.S. after a weeklong investigation.

"The evidence has been reviewed, and we have found no evidence of a bomb or missile threat," the FDA said in a statement.

The investigation was conducted after a package was found in an office building in Boston last week.

New York City

No evidence of bomb or missile

The New York Police Department said there is no evidence of a bomb or missile threat.

"The New York Police Department is investigating a suspicious package," the department said in a statement.

The package was found in a post office in Brooklyn last week.

Extremists kill 10 tourists on Egyptian bus

Gunmen attack a tourist bus outside a Cairo museum killing ten people.

By Salah Nasrawi

Cairo, Egypt — Three men in a black car shot at a tourist bus in a general touristic zone outside Cairo — then fled after a gun and explosives explosion from in which nine tourists died. The police said that the tour bus was carrying a group of tourists from different countries.

No, January 18 - 10/17.

Egyptian security forces were securing the area in front of the Egyptian Museum in downtown Cairo Thursday after a bus, in background, carrying tourists was attacked by unknown gunmen.

Palestinians clash with Israeli police near settler compound

Yossi Aloni — Israel's Tourism Minister, and Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, have decided to temporarily stop all touristic activities in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The minister said that the move was taken after consultations with the Israeli cabinet and the foreign ministry.

He added that the decision was made in response to the recent violence in the region, which has left dozens of people dead and injured.

The minister also said that the ban would apply to all forms of tourism, including package tours, cruises, and individual tourists.

The move comes after several attacks on Israeli military targets in the West Bank.

The minister said that the ban would be reviewed after six months, but that it could be extended if necessary.

He also said that the ban would not affect tourists from other countries, who would be allowed to enter the region if they had a valid visa and were not considered to be security risks.

The minister added that the ban would be lifted once the security situation in the region improves.

Grant NEA the credit it deserves.

even the most casual observer of the arts can see that we as a nation are currently experiencing an interesting and perhaps somewhat worrisome cultural phenomenon.

In the same year that we have been celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Constitution and the 50th anniversary of the American Civil Rights Movement, we are also celebrating the 30th anniversary of a major policy statement. This is the legislation that created and funded the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA).

The NEA has been a controversial issue from its inception. Many people have felt that it is a waste of government money to support the arts, and others have felt that it is an unnecessary interference in the free market.

However, the NEA has also been a source of great pride and accomplishment for many artists and art lovers. It has provided funding for a wide variety of projects, from individual artists to large institutions.

One of the most significant contributions of the NEA has been in the area of education. The NEA has provided funding for many programs that have helped to increase awareness and understanding of the arts among students.

In addition, the NEA has also been a source of funding for many community arts organizations. These organizations have worked to bring the arts to their communities, and to make the arts more accessible to all.

In conclusion, the NEA has been a important force in the cultural life of the United States. It has provided funding for a wide variety of projects, and has helped to increase awareness and understanding of the arts among students. The NEA is an important institution, and it deserves credit for the work that it has done.
Turner pledges $1 billion to create new U.N. foundation

Mark D ani, who has been the Iowa Daily’s union reporter, writes: "While it may be hard to believe, 1993 is the year that the Iowa Department of Revenue and the City of Iowa City, Iowa, moved out of the Iowa State Capitol and into the newly constructed Iowa Revenue Department Building."

The new building is designed to house the Iowa Department of Revenue, Iowa Department of Finance and Administration, and the City of Iowa City. It is located on the southeast corner of the Iowa State Capitol grounds, directly south of the old revenue building.

The building is a modern, two-story structure with a flat roof and glass curtain walls. It is primarily clad in white granite, with some blue glass and metal accents.

The building contains 175,000 square feet of office space, including 100,000 square feet of office space for the Iowa Department of Revenue and 55,000 square feet of office space for the City of Iowa City.

The building has 10 floors, with the ground floor housing the Iowa Department of Revenue offices and the first floor housing the City of Iowa City offices.

The building is LEED certified, which means it meets certain environmental standards for energy efficiency and sustainability.

The building is also equipped with a state-of-the-art security system, including video surveillance, access control, and emergency notification systems.

The building is located near the heart of downtown Iowa City, and is easily accessible by public transportation. It is also conveniently located near many of the city’s major employers and civic organizations.

The Iowa Department of Revenue and the City of Iowa City are both committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment for their employees, and are dedicated to making the new building a welcoming and efficient workplace.

The Iowa Department of Revenue is responsible for collecting and administering taxes from Iowa citizens, businesses, and non-profits. The City of Iowa City is responsible for providing a range of services to its residents, including public safety, sanitation, and recreation.

Both organizations are committed to using the new building to improve their operations and better serve the people of Iowa City and the surrounding area.

We look forward to seeing the many positive changes that will come with the new building, and are excited to see how it will continue to support the important work that the Iowa Department of Revenue and the City of Iowa City do for the residents of Iowa City and beyond.

The Minnesota Timberwolves have been one of the most intriguing teams in the NBA this season, and their games against the San Francisco 49ers and the New England Patriots offer some compelling matchups. The Timberwolves' talented roster, led by All-Star Garnett, has been a surprise in the Western Conference, while the 49ers and Patriots are both looking to solidify their spots as playoff contenders.

- Minneapolis (plus 13) at San Francisco (95): The Timberwolves face the 49ers in a Week 6 showdown that could be a key moment in the NFC West standings. Both teams are playing well, and the game will likely be a tight contest.
- New England (plus 12) at Oakland (plus 13): The Patriots, who have a历史性的 run through the playoffs, take on the Raiders in a Week 6 clash. Expect a high-scoring game with both teams relying on their strong offenses.

Minnesota Timberwolves

- The Timberwolves have been playing well without All-Star guard Jerry Rice, who is likely to return soon. They've been relying on the play of young players like Kevin Garnett and Latrell Sprewell, who have stepped up to fill the void.
- The team's confidence is high, and they're playing with a sense of urgency, which is crucial given the hot competition in the Western Conference.
- The Timberwolves are currently in the playoff picture, and a win over the 49ers would solidify their position.

San Francisco 49ers

- The 49ers have been playing well, riding a three-game winning streak into Week 6. They have a strong defense and a balanced offense, which should make them a tough opponent for the Timberwolves.
- Despite the team's recent success, they're aware that the Timberwolves are a legitimate threat and will need to play their best to come out on top.

New England Patriots

- The Patriots are one of the best teams in the NFL, with a strong defense and a balanced offense. They have a balanced roster and have been performing consistently throughout the season.
- A win over the Raiders would cement their playoff hopes, but they know that they need to keep their focus and avoid complacency.

Oakland Raiders

- The Raiders are fighting for their playoff lives and will be looking to make a statement against the Patriots. They have a talented roster, but they need to play their best to keep up with New England.

Pittsburgh (plus 3) at Jacksonville (10): The Pirates are looking to extend their winning streak against the Jaguars, who are struggling to find consistency.

Sunday Games

- San Francisco, Calif. (plus 13) at Oakland, Calif. (plus 13): Expect a high-scoring game with both teams relying on their strong offenses.
- Oakland, Calif. (plus 13) at San Francisco, Calif. (95): A rematch of last year's playoffs, this game will likely be a tight contest.

Monday Night Game

- San Diego (plus 3) at Seattle (31): A battle of two teams that have been playing well, with the winner likely to secure a playoff berth.

Tuesday Night Game

- Green Bay at Atlanta (9-6): A game between two teams that are battling for their playoff lives, with Green Bay looking to rebound from a recent loss.

Wednesday Night Game

- Jacksonville at Houston (10): A key game for both teams, with Jacksonville looking to solidify their playoff position and Houston trying to keep pace in the AFC South.
Top Ten teams lock horns in marquee match-ups

Nebraska at Washington

Nebraska quarterback Scott Frost has more than Florida to contend with. He also has to deal with the attention of a record amount of fans coming from his own home state.

"We're talking some off the field stuff," said coach Tom Osborne, as he held his weekly news conference Friday. "I think they're going to be a factor, no doubt about it."

Frost is just one of the many college football players who are used to being on the road. But this week, he's facing a different kind of crowd.

"I think it's a group of students that hasn't been before," Osborne said. "I'm not sure what it's going to be like, but it's going to be something."

Scott Frost

Nebraska quarterback in 1998, he was a walk-on during his freshman year. He played his way onto the field and eventually became the starting quarterback.

"I don't know how I'll remember this," Frost said. "I was really excited."

The Huskers beat the Volunteers 40-10 on Saturday and 36-10 on Sunday and 21-14 on Monday.

"I think we always have a lot of fans in the stadium," Osborne said. "But this week, it's going to be different."

Osborne was referring to the fact that Nebraska fans will be in attendance for the first time in 19 years. The Huskers haven't played in Tennessee since 1990, when they lost to Vols 40-10.

"I think they're going to be a factor, no doubt about it," Osborne said. "I think they're going to be a factor in the game and maybe even in the conference."

So the Huskers are ready for the challenge.

"We're ready for it," Osborne said. "We've been practicing for it."

biggest heroes down the stretch. His .502 slugging average was added to the Giants' exclusive right field during the seventh inning, Wed., Sept. 17, in San Francisco.

"They've looked at more maps of the different sets of accommodations to attend this event than they have on their maps to the stadium," said Johnson, who has hit three home runs, 46 runs and 78 RBIs in 120 games.

San Francisco fan Jon Warnke said he drove from San Francisco to the game playoff in Atlanta.

"It's a good game tonight, and it's a good atmosphere, and it's a good crowd," Warnke said. "I love it."

Smith catches maturity with ‘Chasing Amy’

W"e all have to grow up somewhere, and Kevin Smith has found his little boy, "Chasing Amy," who has just stepped into his own world. After a wonderfully raucous and sardonic start, the film follows the exploits of same-day stripper, "Chasing Amy," who has just stumbled into her own version of a young man's adventure. Based on the play by Christopher Smith, the film is a coming-of-age story for Smith himself, who has been developing this concept for some time. The film is a love letter to Smith's past, and a reflection on his future. The story follows "Chasing Amy," a young man who returns to his hometown to live with his childhood classmates. The two agree to take in "Chasing Amy," as they are not afraid to take what is perhaps his most outrageous lines to the state. Their decision, however, is not without its consequences. Good vs. bad and how these plagues the romance in "Chasing Amy," as "Chasing Amy", there's a present hick who meets the young man, and ultimately his downfall. "You have to be thankful for what you have," said director Chad Stacey Harrison. "It's just the way things happen." However, within the past, there are also warnings and horror stories about the way things happen. "The world of "Chasing Amy" is ultimately good and should keep going," said Smith. "You have to be thankful for what you have."
