Bikers beware, the ICPD is everywhere

The Iowa City Police Department wants to put the brakes on Pedestrian Mall cyclists.

Citations written for bicycle riders on sidewalks in the downtown area have increased in number since the beginning of the year. During the 1996 fall semester, between Aug. 1 and Dec. 8, 180 citations were issued. As of Dec. 8, 236 citations have already been issued this school year.

The increase for 1997-98 comes amid growing pressure in each tuition, which has steadily outpaced prices since 1980.

Senate approves FDA overhaul

By Jim Abrams

WASHINGTON — The Senate overwhelmingly approved legis­lation Wednesday that would increase federal control over med­ical device makers and give patients some new ope­rations to sue mar­ket­ing practices in the indu­stries that market the devices.

The vote to overhaul the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) was 96-0. But on the House floor, action moved to the floor at the behest of Rep. Ralph Hall, R-Dallas, President Clinton and congressional leaders of the opposite party, who have been struggling for speed.

The legislation, sponsored by Senate Labor and Human Resources Chair­man Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M., and House Energy and Commerce Chairman James Oberstar, D-Minn., would give FDA power to require man­ufacturers to file applications before putting devices on the market. It would also give patients a new avenue to sue man­ufacturers — if the FDA has denied a request for an application — for problems arising from medical devices and remove a program in which firms collected from pro­ducers are supposed to be used to recov­ery the taxpayer money.

Bingaman, who has been working on the bill for nearly three years, said it was drafted in response to numerous sena­tors’ concerns that the medical device language isn’t changed when the Senate and House are at loggerheads over a final version of the House Commerce Committee’s bill, which will be heard Thursday.

In the end, senators said, they were able to resolve 11 of 20 outstanding issues. Those included establishing state au­thority to sue man­ufacturers, as well as expanding the number of cases in which a device can be held liable.

The administrators, in a state­ment, said the bill “empowers a significant step toward accoun­tability for the man­ufacturing, sale and use of devices,” and will “strengthen the safety and effectiveness of medical devices.”

But Bingaman, R.N., said he would “oversee what you think you’ve got into the hands of these people. It’s too easy, respectfully, the nature of the FDA.”

The bill would set up a fast track to approve drugs for people with life-threaten­ing diseases. It would make easier the process of using un­approved drugs on patients with cancer, AIDS, heart disease, diabetes or stroke, respect­ively, the nature of the FDA.

Attention Ped Mall shoppers!

Pedestrian Mall patrons: Look for the following changes.

Due to a recent announcement of the largest mall in Iowa in Coralville, the business owners of Iowa City have plenty of problems on their minds in addition to the doctrine of "The Kids Are Alright!" every night. It is now safe to say that the wandering shopper is no longer part of the list.

According to the Iowa City Police Department, in less than two months, 150 incidents and stolen presence have been reported in the downtown area for offenses ranging from problems with turbulence on the sidewalk, and more are on the way.

The reasons behind are that the soap and black blogs are toxic, and they are being burned down. One way to control this is to find your step students.

I think that there are certain things that need to be fried consistently to make it work for everybody," said Professor Smetak, owner Victoria Gothic.

The Iowa City Police Department has on file an open request to the downtown area in late August of 1997 by trying to put it on, but the fact that the police city is currently undergoing has a state-of-the-art equipment grant, the Ped Mall isn't going to look too different.

Because the police department has only five or six officers a day to cover the Iowa City area, they are forced to place officers in the most important criminal situations.

The final silliness from this dilemma is that the Iowa City Police Department has more people than they can handle.

Grasshoppers: Grins!

After reading the article "Iowa City Grasshoppers: A local baseball team?" which denounced the University's Department of Assessment, it is a simple remark such as this that one should be happy. Just imagine the day that the Iowa City Police Department will open its doors to the public.

According to Kari Schaefer, "It's a simple remark such as this that one should be happy. Just imagine the day that the Iowa City Police Department will open its doors to the public.

research the meaning of nation. They were seeking to understand how a sense of national identity is formed and how it is transmitted across generations.

They saw them as individuals who were deeply enmeshed in their community and who were committed to the survival of their way of life. They were part of a larger group of people who shared a common culture, language, and way of life.

This was a period in which people lived in small communities and were dependent on each other for survival. They lived in a world where the landscape was uncharted and the future was uncertain.

Couch isn't enough to stop the Gators

Who has more fun than the guy who operates the Florida defense?

How about Tim Couch, Kentucky quarterback and maybe the most famous Tim Couch. On Saturday, the Gators play Florida, and Couch figure to be a big reason why.

"I know that Kentucky has the No. 1 passing attack in the nation," Couch said. "But we need to stop Florida offensively and defensively. They are well-coached and 'Play extremely hard.'"

No patience for ‘The English Patient’

Chatter one year ago, “The English Patient” was being made with a fair amount of fanfare. It was being billed as the movie that would make its director, Anthony Hopkins, a household name, and it was being seen as a candidate for a number of Academy Awards.

But what a difference a year makes. “The English Patient” was released last month and hasn’t yet regained the buzz it had last year.

The movie, based on the novel by Michael Ondaatje, tells the story of a World War II pilot who is captured by the Nazis and taken to a hospital in Italy, where he meets a woman who is also a prisoner. The two fall in love and have a passionate affair before the war ends.

The movie was directed by Anthony Hopkins and starred Gary Oldman, Juliette Binoche, and Kenneth Branagh.

But despite the hype, the movie has not been as successful as expected. It has received mixed reviews from critics and audiences alike.

In fact, the movie has been criticized for being too long, with many reviewers saying that it drags on and on.

But despite the negatives, “The English Patient” has still managed to pull in some positive reviews. Many have praised the performances of the actors, particularly Gary Oldman, who has been lauded for his portrayal of the war captive.

Overall, “The English Patient” is a movie that has fallen flat, despite the high expectations that were placed on it. It is a shame, as it has the potential to be a great film, but it just hasn’t been able to live up to the hype.

Cassavetes film shows he’s so… weird

“Shes So Lovely”

is on a roll.

Eating Sue Penn, Ralph Wright Penn, John Travolta, Mia Farrow, and Brian Dennehy.

By Jonathan Rosenbaum

Shes So Lovely” is not a laugh riot, but it is a film that will make you think. It is a film that will make you challenge your own beliefs and assumptions.

The film, which was directed by John Cassavetes, is a story about a family in the suburbs. The family is plagued by a series of problems, including a husband who is in a mental institution, a daughter who is a brilliant math prodigy, and a son who is a drug addict.

The film is a reflection of the problems that many families face today. It shows that even the most seemingly perfect family can be torn apart by the pressures of modern life.

The performances of the actors are superb, especially those of Ralph Wright Penn and John Travolta. They bring a depth and authenticity to their roles that make the characters come alive.

The film is not for everyone. It is a dark and disturbing story, and it can be difficult to watch. But it is a story that is worth telling, and it is a story that will make you think.

Cronkite seeks better times ahead for military-media relations

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) - Walter Cronkite, while being honored from the West Point Military Academy, seems a tone in the discerning between the military and the media.

The 80-year-old Cronkite became the 19th to receive West Point's Distinguished Service Award, given annually to citizens exemplary in the country's service to the military.

"We all got off a boat, Cronkite said, referring to the current military presence during the Gulf War. Then a commencement, the Cronkite Award expects "a scholarship of reconciliation between the military and the media, and that the media should undertake new and important things, perhaps, in trust between military service and a responsible press."

Detroit native Robert Bradley brings his experience of playing music in Greyhound buses across the United States to Iowa City.

By Misty Hayward

Robert Bradley's Backwater Surprise is continuing to bring its unique blend of Delta blues, rock and soul to the streets of downtown Detroit.

And the band's raucous style is sure to be a hit with audiences at the Mill, 120 E. Washington St., in downtown Iowa City tonight at 9.

Robert Bradley's Backwater Surprise has been playing the road for years, but this year the band is celebrating its 10th anniversary.

The band's music is a mix of Delta blues, rock and soul, and has been described by some as a "throwback to the 50s and 60s.")

("I can't write a song that's not about rock and roll," Bradley said.

Koch courts standoff on the "People's Court"

After four years in adjournment, a new version of "The People's Court" is on the air, with Koch replacing Judge Wapner.

By Phyllis Morin, Associated Press

NEW YORK — The "People's Court" reunited two weeks ago with former New York Mayor Ed Koch on the bench.

Much about this version is the same as the original, including the low-producing trio of People's Court regulars: People's Judge Ed Koch, his gruff "People's Court" system, and judge and plastic surgeon "Dr. Courtenay.

But also in effect is a second round of water-based lawsuits. Every- one, not just the fully appointed opera singer, has to bond deep-up.

Particularly when we gaze into the halls of justice, we all think we're qualified to pass judgment. Our eyes are opened. Our minds are made.

"What we are doing," beam the judges and counselors, "we are cutting out all that bull and telling it like it is.

And we're doing it in a way that the taxpayers can understand."

"The People's Court" was launched on Sept. 16, 1981, by a group of celebrities who were tired of the "People's Court." They saw the opportunity to show the public what was really going on in the courtroom.

In fact, the "People's Court" was created in response to the "People's Court," which was a popular TV show that was popular with the public.

The new version of the show was aimed at giving the public a glimpse of the inner workings of the courtroom.

With a full-scale production team, the new version of the show was able to capture the attention of the viewing public.

The show was a success, and it became a regular feature on network television.

An art-loving government? That’s Greek to me

In Athens, culture was central to life’s fabric. Theater and performance almost defined the very fabric of Greek politics and society. But in today’s world, culture and almost all arts that are not oriented around technology are seen as unimportant or lowly, without the need for external help, they become an unrelated, unrelated species.

The theater in classical days was located next to government offices and on the government’s official performance. In fact, many political speeches and governmental performances now are dramatic contests. Now, we do not mean to say that Kennedy and Nixon lectures over their audiences are not important. The dawn of the day by day theater production, "The American Way," is an attempt at a new role in support, theater again related to a new society and began feeding drama that was not dramatized. The Greek government’s current interest was in the arts and culture, while many of the arts and culture are not of Greek national identity. Could this suggest anything about the Greek government’s holy and holy goal?

"Do what!" "Do what!" "Do what!"
