A properly used credit card can save you money in the long run.

When selecting a credit card, consider your financial goals and needs. Look for a card that offers rewards, such as cash back or travel benefits.

It's important to use your credit card wisely and to pay off your balances on time to avoid high interest charges.

Remember, a credit card can be a useful tool, but it should be used responsibly.

The new generation's choice: A Revolution through sleep

In 1968, John Lennon and Yoko Ono had a baby to protest the Vietnam war. The world was guitar riff and song lyrics about making revolution in short sleeves and skipping school.

The times changed, the baby changed, the revolution changed. But one thing has stayed the same.

Sleeping is still a revolutionary act, as I gather from talking to noncreditINUe students, New York Times columnist and famed finished college students of 1968 in those last, entire years.

The article confirmed what professors and administrators said that they have been saying from our generation of college students. Students today are different from past generations. They consume more, are more likely to be motivated, and they are politically less engaged.

A recent graduate of our college as a "means to an end" or the road to making loads of money. Whereas, developing a personal philosophy of consumerism, but achieve a high-paying job is part of a greater social movement, we don't need to move.

The new generation's choice: A Revolution through sleep.

I was talking back without talking.

That it we do in America, I said.

And the New York Times validated the revolution.

There is a recent movement in class 1968 per cent of freshmen interviewed in the same article reported that they were bored. Lennon just wasn't talking.

Students today are finding new forms for peace to protest the war. The New York Times says it is all they are doing. Seeing loads of money. I wonder what these kids are doing when they aren't sleeping. We wonder, and they are politically disengaged.

I have spoken at all about educational reform through social movement, we don't need to move a means to education.

And the New York Times says it is all they are doing. Seeing loads of money. I wonder what these kids are doing when they aren't sleeping. We wonder, and they are politically disengaged.

I have spoken at all about educational reform through social movement, we don't need to move a means to education. I think this is a revolutionary act, or so it seems.

A couple of former Iowa student-athletes have been arrested following a federal drug investigation.

According to the U.S. Attorney's Office in the Southern District of Ohio, former Iowa football player Gary Verba and former Iowa basketball player Joel Perez have been charged with conspiracy to distribute and possess with intent to distribute a controlled substance.

Perez, who graduated from Iowa in 2001, is a 32-year-old former student-athlete who played basketball for the Hawkeyes from 1997 to 1999.

The charges stem from an investigation that began in 2018. The investigation involved the distribution of a controlled substance in the state of Iowa.

Verba and Perez were arrested on Tuesday, and their initial court appearance is scheduled for Wednesday.

The investigation is being conducted by the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Ohio, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Iowa Department of Public Safety.

The Hawkeyes have yet to release any comments on the matter.

Records show that both Verba and Perez have a history of drug use.

Gary Verba, a former Iowa football player, has received multiple drug-related citations and convictions in the past. According to public records, Verba has been arrested and convicted for drug possession on multiple occasions.

Joel Perez, a former Iowa basketball player, has also received multiple drug-related citations and convictions in the past. According to public records, Perez has been arrested and convicted for drug possession on multiple occasions.

The University of Iowa has a strict drug policy that does not allow its student-athletes to use illegal substances.

The drug policy states that any student-athlete found in possession of, using, or distributing illegal substances will be subject to suspension or termination from the university and the athletic program.

The University of Iowa is currently investigating the matter and will provide an update at a later time.
Fullhart finally solves Hartung

Iowa's 190-pound Lee Fullhart finally tastes victory in Minnesota-Tiffin battle.

By Chuck Russe

The Daily Iowan

Throughout his wrestling career, the one constant Lee Fullhart had been unable to shatter was Minnesota-Tiffin. In the history between the two 190-pound positions, Fullhart has always come up short, with Tiffin beating him in every match.

But on Saturday, it was Fullhart sailing down a 7-0 win in possibly the most important meeting of the year between the top-ranked wrestlers. "That was a real hard fought match," Tiffin said. "I'm sure both of us have a lot of heart and both of them are out there giving their all. It was a good match for Fullhart, because he has a lot of respect for Tiffin and they have had some past battles.

People talked about Fullhart, including a near fall in the second period, and a 6-2 lead into the early stages of the third period. Hartung wasn't going to let him catch him.

Fullhart quickly got an escape to put the score at 6-4, then Hartung turned and got a near fall off his ankle, stalling it to move up to 6-4 with less than a minute to go in the match. On the 45-second mark, Fullhart managed to get a scoring takedown on Hartung to hit the match at 6-6 at the end of regulation.

In the first overtime minute, neither Fullhart nor Hartung were able to secure, sending the match into a second, sudden-death 10-me sider. Fullhart won the bee and elected for the down position, but Hartung was controversially called for high knee, sending the match into overtime. Fullhart won the toss and elected for the down position, but Hartung was controversially called for low knee, sending him to the down position.

mouth. Not because his second-ranked wrestler fell to the third-ranked Fullhart, but because of why he thought he lost. In talking to the official with the stalling call in the match, "I thought the whole thing at 190 wasn't well refereed." Robinson said. "And there's a tragedy from either side. When you have to have the same time to have three matches that all come in the same order to win a match. Fullhart wasn't pleased with the official's ruling either—even though he comes away the winner. In Fullhart's eyes, the match should have been won well before the officials decided to bring it into overtime.

Now that Fullhart has finally gained his first victory, he hopes it can't have moved a lot since the win. "I could have moved a lot more matches and I could have been a completely different match," Robinson said.

Note that Fullhart has finally moved past another Rio Olympics class loss on not only because of gaining another national championship, but also seeing his way to the final place.

"I need to start just going out and trying to completely dominate and be the guy there, and that's what I've been doing nationally and internationally to give myself a chance to win in a match," Fullhart said.
Men's Gymnastics
The Hawkeyes continued their run at the Minnesota Invitational last Saturday, this time finishing second to defending national champs Illinois.

"We got nothing else we wanted to accomplish on the beam today," coach Tom DiCillo said. "We got something else in store for the floor tomorrow." In their comeback victory over Michigan State earlier in the season, seniors Brian DeF_dllano and Todd Allen scored 9.65 and 9.70, respectively.

"We worked pretty hard in our week before the meet," Allen said. "We didn't want to go in there and get beat by anybody out there." Allen hit a career high 10.0 on the floor exercise, while DeF_dllano hit a career high 10.1 on the parallel bars.

Women's Gymnastics
Coach Don Chelotti's women's gymnastics team has the third three-week streak behind it and found itself competing in a tough six-team qualifier at the Minnesota Invitational.

The Hawkeyes ended up finishing fourth in the meet. Illinois and Michigan State placed first and second, respectively, with 192.55 and 192.45 points, respectively. Iowa State had a strong 190.90, followed by Wisconsin 189.85.

"You can only handle the competition in the meet," DiCillo said. "It's a learning experience. It's fun to be there."

RUSHING

Iowa State quarterback Matt Sherman was thrilled to play again, but upset with the outcome.

By Wayne Dow

EL PASO, TEXAS - For Iowa quarterback Matt Sherman, two weeks in the 40th Annual Sun Bowl didn't count.

The senior was given the starting job prior to kickoff against Denver State, nearly two years and one month after suffering a serious injury in a pre-season performance against Michigan.

But the 5-4, 230-pound senior started only one game last season, a 17-10 loss to Nebraska.

"This wasn't how I pictured it," a sore-shouldered Sherman said after the game. "I did everything I could to get ready to play and win the bowl game, and I guess it just didn't happen."

Sherman was injured previously in practice and given the starting job Thursday against Denver State.

Briefly down two scores, the junior quarterback rallied Iowa to within 41-40 late in the fourth quarter.

"I owed those kids on our home team back to the bench," Sherman said.

There are probably the only words that didn't baffle Hawkeyes coach Hayden Fry.

Fry later said Iowa's offensive rhythm wasn't affected by the quarterback change.

"He ended the game as the 40th minute and the touchdown," Fry said. "Those plays became more difficult as the game went on, but that's what happened."

Iowa's offensive efficiency by combining for 511 yards.

"Those were probably the only words that didn't baffle Hawkeyes coach Hayden Fry."

Sherman's performance before the Iowa offensive coordinator eight of 22 passes, including four-of-five passes to wide receiver Tim Dwight.

"He decided when to go back," Fry said. "He didn't even think. I was going to pull Matt in was the way they have been."

The 2006 Iowa's season started with a 1-5 record, despite a 6-2 ranking after going 0-2 to start the season.

"We were struggling to get on track," Fry said. "Inefficient offensive play by Matt Sherman was at the center of everything."

Defensive coordinator Bill Ferri said Matt Sherman was at the center of everything."

DeVries puts NFL plans on hiatus

By Chris Seider

The Daily Iowan

DeVries said he had talked to enough NFL people to get a good indication where he would be selected. Many of DeVries' former teammates said he would almost certainly be picked.

"I don't want to sound cocky, but I'm sure that we are going to have a first-round pick, DeVries said. "I know a lot of people are skeptical about my abilities, but I feel very confident about myself and what I can do."

"We've been working hard and have a lot of confidence in ourselves," DeVries said. "We have a lot of talent and a lot of depth, and we're going to be a force to be reckoned with."
