In the spring of 1990, an estimated 30 million people celebrated the first Earth Day. The event was intended to generate enough concerns for the environment to shake America out of its lethargy and force the issue onto the national stage.

Almost thirty years later, Earth Day has become an annual tradition. Today, an Earth Day event is held somewhere across the country, many activists are urging their backgrounds to become more visible in defending the areas in need of enduring environmental protection.

2 Keep Growing and Draining
The new Coralville mall will be a sign of local economic growth, but many people are growing concerned.

The growth and the expansion of the Coralville and Cedar Rapids present potential environmental problems that need to be addressed, and CPVE (County of Johnson County, Cedar Rapids)  said.

But it seems that the question of the Coralville Mall is developing. It's not about that surprising. With the current issues facing the City Council, urban expansive problems every time, said County Cimmerman Babcock.

"There's no support to stop growth because of environmental issues," she added. "These issues are not the only concerns."

Babcock added that the mall is a key component of the redeveloped area and will bring more people to the downtown area.

"The mall is a good thing, but it will bring more people to the area," she said. "We need to consider the environmental impact of the mall before we make any decisions."

Do you ever say to yourself, "What a pity!" when you hear a story of a guy who is a bit different from you? He has a bit of a problem, you say, but you would do just as well in the world as he does.

For example, if you were on a diet, you would do just as well as a guy who could eat a normal diet and lose weight. If you were a tennis player, you would do just as well as a guy who could play tennis and win.

If you were a student, you would do just as well in a class as a guy who could work hard and get good grades. If you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades.

But, if you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades. If you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades.

So, if you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades. If you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades.

But, if you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades. If you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades.

So, if you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades. If you were a student, you would do just as well as a guy who could work hard and get good grades.
KAP suspended for alleged hazing

KAP Alpha Pi has been linked to hazing incidents at two other universities, including one at Kansas University where a pledge was beaten with fists, paddles and bamboo sticks.

Stuart L. Harris Jr., 23, was in a critical condition this morning after a hazing incident early this week. Harris was at the home of a fraternity member, куда он был принят, and had been treated for various injuries including facial cuts, bruises and lacerations.

KAP Alpha Pi has been linked to hazing incidents at two other universities, including one at Kansas University where a pledge was beaten with fists, paddles and bamboo sticks.

The elder Harris, of Wichita, Kans., said at a Thursday news conference that there is no evidence yet that the medicine truly wards off breast cancer. The government study is expected to be a brother who is going to help you, but hazing incidents have been reported.

The fraternity settled a $2.25 million lawsuit in December with the family of Michael Daniel, who died in February 1994 after being beaten, kicked and thrown into the street by fraternity members at Southeast Missouri State University.

Five pledges at the University of Maryland-Huntington, Kansas, were beaten with wooden paddles and cane during a two-hour incident on Feb. 4 to 6, officials said.

New job descriptions and titles bring changes to Secretaries' Day

Some bosses wonder if their "assistants" want to be recognized on the 46-year-old holiday.

By Maggie Jackson

It's the eve of Secretaries' Day, and Barry Blyston is worried. Lessons he's heard, he says, that he still can't figure out what the title his assistant, Cathy, should use.

"He's my only or, at least it is to me," says Blyston, who is the leasing manager for Siemens Power Transmission and Distribution plant in Mendel, S.C. "It's a dilemma."

Annex with companies and need for interns, he wants to make his office's workplace, secretaries do not much office space. And that makes the 46-year-old Secretaries' Day something of an office leftover for bosses who can't even do what to do for assistants who aren't even sure they want to be called secretaries any more.

"Many of our employees are trying to think of what to call their team members, and it's hard to cut that out of this way," said Rick Bell, spokesperson for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The Kansas City, Mo.-based union created the day in 1952 to make office workers aware of their contributions and to promote the day as a way to improve working conditions.

Race not relevant in jury selection

Racial discrimination tonic to jury selection, no matter what color the defendant is.

By Laura Jones

WASHINGTON - White defendants can challenge indictments against them for being excluded from juries in a way that blacks cannot, according to a federal judge in the District of Columbia.

The unanimous ruling allows lawyers to contest any statement that a person is excluded from a jury because of his or her skin color, a practice that critics say is unfair.

The decision means that blacks can challenge the exclusion of blacks as members of a jury, while whites can challenge the exclusion of whites.

"We have an obligation to ensure that none of our citizens are discriminated against," said Judge Anna Elizabeth Joneides, who is one of the few blacks on the district court.

"The decision is significant because it requires that all juries be fair and impartial," said Thomas E. Mosher, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union.

Joneides said the decision is significant because it requires that all juries be fair and impartial.

Colombian air crash investigation continues

Officials have ruled out weather as an explanation.

By Frank Bajak

BOGOTA, Colombia — The crash was familiar, the crew was seasoned. Why, then, when the plane took off from Quito to Bogota on Tuesday morning, did the small, unidentifiable pieces strewn over a wide, high-altitude area.

Investigators searched for clues. Their efforts were complicated by the presence of the rugged Andes mountains, which made it hard to search for wreckage.

Erazo said the pilot, Vasco Erazo, was an activist specializing in environmental, Native American, and women’s issues. His lecture on Thoreau! His lecture on Thoreau was cut short by the crash.

Dan thanked doctors as he stepped out of the hospital. He is scheduled for another surgery next week. Dan is the second Chinese dissident to be released from prison in recent months. The other was Wang Tingjin, who had been serving two years for dissident activities.

Wang, a leader of the 1989 Tiananmen Square protests who spent 10 years in prison, had complained of chronic headaches and a throat infection. He had been sent to a labor camp for 10 years and had a brain tumor.

His family had speculated that the day that he had been sent to a labor camp for dissident activities, was taken from him a week ago. The family named Monday that he had been sent to a labor camp for "re-education," a position that Wang has denied.

Something to make you appreciate the silence

I've never had anything so much on my mind until last night. I was trying to write a paper late into the night when my landline phone decided to ring. I have no idea what it was, but I could hear my roommate's laugh echo through the house and I knew it was my phone. It was like a siren calling me to wake up from the silence. I was floored.

Three speakers are scheduled during Earthweek '98; April 24th. Participants can attend a "Earthmusic" concert and a poster-writing campaign involving an agreed upon theme. Weapons and nuclear power are also discussed. The university should center each year's festivities around a theme, perhaps revolving around a specific issue and realistic reformation could be achieved. A day without direction

Give Earth Day and Earth Week a boost.

Supermarkets, restaurants, and small businesses can support Earth Day and Earth Week by being creative and by being accountable. The key is to make sure that each year's efforts are not just a one-time event, but rather a consistent effort throughout the year.

Earth Day and Earth Week offer a chance to educate people about environmental issues and to encourage them to make changes in their everyday lives. By spreading the word and by taking action, we can create a more sustainable future for ourselves and for future generations.

RIVER/Iowa River pollution

"It's a matter of life and death," BYU professor Todd A. Keister said. "It's not just a matter of what we can do, but what we must do." The river is one of the most ecologically productive and biologically diverse bodies of water in the world, he said. The pollution is not only affecting the river itself, but also the surrounding ecosystem, such as the wetlands and the fish population. The pollution is coming from a variety of sources, including agricultural runoff, industrial waste, and sewage. The river is a vital resource for the local community and the state, and it is important to take immediate action to clean it up.

Straitsiing out yet again

A rain-soaked field forced the Iowa baseball team to stop after just one inning and one-half innings Tuesday against Truman State.

By Andy Hamilton

The first rain started falling on the Iowa campus around 4 p.m. and had stopped only around 5 p.m. The game was suspended for one hour and 20 minutes.

Iowa women's baseball coach Wendy Wardlaw said she was pleased with the way the Hawkeyes played at the worst possible time.

Wardlaw said she was pleased with the way the Hawkeyes played at the worst possible time.

"I understand what they're thinking," Wardlaw said. "If we don't have the field, then we have to have some time to get ourselves together.

"I'm glad we got to have some time to get ourselves together.

The game was suspended at one hour and 20 minutes and will resume at one hour and 20 minutes.

BULLS

Heads into playoffs ailing

The Bulls think they'll be fine even with center Luc Longley nursing a bruised left knee.

Chicago - Michael Jordan was there. So were Dennis Rodman and Horace Grant. Even Phil Jackson's dog, Bo, showed up Tuesday night for the Bulls' playoff practice.

But with the start of the playoffs just hours away, Jordan wasn't in the mood to talk about anything but the fact that Longley will be out for the next two days with a bruised left knee.

"I'm not feeling out it yet and I sure feel for the guys," Jackson said Tuesday night.

The Bulls' starting center has been ruled out of the team's first-round series against the Atlanta Hawks.

Bulls-Nets/Rodman again center of attention

The Americans want to be a surprise team of June's World Cup and they're already an exhibition game

By Becky Gith

The Wisconsin softball team wrapped up its 1998 season Sunday, but the Badgers certainly hope to showcase their multi-talented roster of players when the mythical season kicks off in the Spring.

"The whole team has been really tough this fall," said Becky Gith, "and we've had some great players. We've had some really good players this year." Gith went on to say that the team has had some really good success this fall, especially with the pitching, where the team has had some really impressive outings.

In the field, the Badgers have had some really good performances as well, with the team's batting average being around .300. The team has also had some really impressive runs scored, with the team's offense being one of the best in the country.

Despite the team's success, the Badgers are looking to improve in the Spring, with the team's pitching and defense being the main areas of focus. The team's pitchers have been working hard to improve their control and their ability to strike batters out, while the team's defense has been working on improving their fielding and throwing.

With the team's success and the team's focus on improvement, the Badgers are looking forward to a very successful Spring season. The team is excited to showcase their talent and their hard work, and they're looking forward to making a run at the Big Ten title.

Iowa Brass Quintet has been performing Iowa's Cappella Brass Quintet for years. The quintet was formed in 1995 and has been performing ever since.

Quintet for Brains, composed in 1985, and Mary Frances's Black Matters, composed in 1986, both written by Iowa Brass Quintet's director, Dr. William C. Smits. The quintet is a unique ensemble that combines the talents of some of the finest brass musicians in the Midwest. The quintet is known for its innovative programming and unique repertoire, which includes music by contemporary composers and arrangements of classic works.

The quintet is comprised of five brass instruments: French horn, trumpet, trombone, tuba, and baritone. Each member of the quintet has their own unique style and sound, which together create a cohesive and entertaining performance. The quintet's programming is always innovative, and they are known for their ability to take risks and perform music that is not often heard.
