New band director eager for Big Ten

A Missouri band leader has been named the new director of the Hawkeye Marching Band.

By Todd Kastens

The Hawkeye Marching Band will be losing the lead of a different director soon with the departure of Myron Welch. The interim director for the last five years, Welch is stepping down to become full director for the Missouri State University band. After eliminating the position of interim director, Kastens said, "I really tied to get back into the music ministry, but then the opportunity came around with the new position at Missouri State."

Kastens has worked for 15 years in the music ministry, including five years as interim director for the band. His role includes leading the band during games and events. The band is known for its tradition and the use of computers in rehearsals.

"There's been a big difference in working with big groups than with a studio," Kastens said. "I have had a lot of experience working with big groups than with a studio." He feels the position has helped him learn more about leadership in different settings.

Kastens has worked in several publications and on mobile applications for band programs, Welch said. "This varies from the use of computers and the software," Kastens said. "You have to have an entertaining show that will be valuable for students to learn, too. He has had great success in all of his programs." Though, Welch says it's more important to set direction and develop programs that will continue to grow.

Myron Welch, Kastens said. "The use of computers is important and you have to have an entertaining show that will be valuable for students to learn, too. He has had great success in all of his programs."

Some employees see all of the tradition, all of the experience has at Illinois doing his graduation, Welch said. "The use of computers is important and you have to have an entertaining show that will be valuable for students to learn, too. He has had great success in all of his programs."

Education needed to combat problems

To the Editor:

We need to fight against the local drug and alcohol problem. It is time for this community to take some action against the ugly problem.

Results of a local survey on more indica that there is a drug and alcohol problem locally. We think we should be doing something about this. The schools and community need to educate the public about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. Education can be a powerful force, capable of doing great things. Education is an essential part of preventing problems.

Canceled summit leads to squabbling

WASHINGTON — U.S. leaders plan to decide today whether to reschedule the meeting of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Palestinian Authority President Yasser Arafat that was due to take place here April 27.

The meeting, which was to have taken place here, was postponed March 18 after it became clear that Arafat and Netanyahu were at odds over the release of Israeli prisoners. The Israelis were critical of the Palestinians for digging in on the makeup of an Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank. The Palestinians were consequently invited to the summit in the form of an ultimatum.

Netanyahu, speaking Saturday in Jerusalem with Palestinian Foreign Minister Saeb Erekat, said he was unlikely to reschedule the meeting even though he approved of its cancellation.

Netanyahu, who has repeatedly said he will stop all talks if the Palestinians persist in their refusal to recognize Israel as a homeland for the Jewish people, was quoted by a U.S. official as saying he would not discuss a two-state solution.

A senior State Department official said U.S. leaders plan to decide today whether to reschedule the meeting of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Palestinian Authority President Yasser Arafat that was due to take place here April 27.

Iowa wide receiver Tony Collins was expected to be out for the season when he was stricken with a severe spasm in his neck last month. Some said the injury could sideline him for the remainder of his college career.

But, in fact, the 11th-ranked Hawkeyes may have found a new weapon at wide receiver in Collins, who scored his first career touchdown on a 50-yard pass from quarterback Jared Harless during Saturday's win over Northwestern.

"I think he's a threat," said head coach Kirk Ferentz. "He's got some great competition out there because San Francisco Giants pitcher who won his first game with the Giants. He was 7-1.

Greg Moore wins Rio 400

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) - Greg Moore made his best move of the night late Sunday night, when he beat out the leaders and took fourth place in the Rio 400.

Moore, who had been struggling all night, made his move with four laps remaining, then hung on to take his first career win.

"I knew we had a good deal," said Moore, who had won the pole earlier in the day. "I knew we had a good deal with the leaders." He beat out Clay Hines, who took third place, by less than a second.

Defending series champion Jesus Zanardi didn't have the same luck. He was leading the race, but then took a hit to the back of his car, causing a slow down in the middle of the field and forcing him to finish last. It was his second straight race at the Iowa Speedway, where he finished 19th in June.

"I'm sort of frustrated by the result," Zanardi said after the race. "I think that's all I can say. I was hoping to improve on my result from last race and I didn't. I'm sort of frustrated by the result." He said he doesn't know why the car slowed down, but he knows it's not his fault.

Moore, who started 12th, has been the only driver to beat out both Zanardi and Hines all season. He also beat out Zanardi in the first race of the season.

"I'm just happy to get the win," said Moore, who celebrated in victory lane.

The win marks Moore's fifth career NASCAR Xfinity Series victory. He won the first race of the season, and has also won three Cup Series races. He said he hopes to continue his success in the series.

"I'm just glad to get the win," said Moore. "I've been working hard all season and it's paid off."
