The cleanup continues for flood victims.

The roar of chain saws and the sound of falling trees were the first sounds many Johnson County residents heard Tuesday morning, following the furious storm Monday night. Debris along every road in Iowa City and surrounding areas is the reminder of the broad wake it left in its path.

"The primary problem with any of the trees is that the ground is just too wet," Atkins said. "A lot of construction crews are going to be very behind because they can't do the work work (ground breaking) that they need to do on their projects." Atkins said Monday's storm did not cause major damage to Iowa City's city park trees. These trees will be evaluated and will be meeting with planners and landscape architects to determine what disease how many trees can be saved or repaired.

The storm damage has создан 100 workers to help clear the ground at the university. The university is taking a short amount of time to clear the ground.

"It had been here a while, and it was a little bit teary," Vercande said. "We're going to stop operating until it could take two or three more days."

In addition to clearing debris, the university is now preparing for construction crews.

"We've got a little more to do, but we're making progress," Vercande said.

Grounds Crew Supervisor Jerry Bury said the cleanup will take approximately 25 people working 12-hour shifts, seven days a week.

National Sheriff's Association

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (UPI) -- The National Sheriff's Association (NSA) has endorsed legislation aimed at improving the law enforcement community's ability to investigate sexual assault cases.

The NSA, which represents more than 4,000 sheriffs across the country, announced its support for the Sexual Assault Investigation Reform Act (SAI-RA) at a press conference Tuesday morning. The act would require law enforcement agencies to maintain a full-time sexual assault investigator on every shift.

The NSA also called for increased funding for sexual assault units and training for law enforcement officers in the investigation of sexual assault cases.

Sheriff Joe Arpaio of Maricopa County, Arizona, said that the SAI-RA is a critical step in improving the investigation of sexual assault cases.

"The Sexual Assault Investigation Reform Act will ensure that law enforcement agencies have the resources and personnel necessary to effectively investigate sexual assault cases," Arpaio said in a statement.

The SAI-RA was introduced by Rep. Maxine Waters (D-CA) and Sen. Jeff Merkley (D-OR). It has the support of the National Association of Women's Christian Association (NAWCA), the National Organization for Women (NOW), and other organizations.

Waters said in a statement that the SAI-RA is a necessary step to ensure that sexual assault victims receive the justice they deserve.

"Sexual assault is a serious crime and we must do everything in our power to ensure that justice is served," Waters said.

The SAI-RA has been praised by law enforcement officials and sexual assault advocates.

"This legislation will provide the necessary resources and personnel to effectively investigate sexual assault cases," said National Association of Women's Christian Association (NAWCA) President Jane Doe. "We strongly support this important legislation and encourage our members to support it in the upcoming legislative session."

The SAI-RA is expected to be considered by Congress in the coming months.

After D. unknown

Glen Allen, VA -- A Virginia man who was killed in a helicopter crash last week was identified Tuesday as D. unknown.

D. unknown, 40, was a pilot with the Virginia National Guard and was believed to be one of the two men who died in the crash. According to witnesses, the helicopter was flying over a lake when it suddenly plunged into the water.

"We are heartbroken by this loss," said Virginia National Guard Chief Warrant Officer 2nd Class David Thompson. "We extend our deepest sympathies to the families and friends of D. unknown and his fellow pilot, who died in this tragic accident."

WASHINGTON - The remains of an American soldier who died in World War II were identified by special prosecutor Kenneth Starr yesterday in a ceremony in front of Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, 11 miles south of St. Louis. The announcement brought a jolt to Linda Tripp, the woman at the center of the Monica Lewinsky scandal, as her legal team scrambled to deal with the new development.

"It's an emotional day, and it means a lot to the families," special prosecutor Kenneth Starr said yesterday. "We are beyond pleased. This is an historic day." In fact, Starr said, it is the first identification of a World War II soldier that has been made in the United States since the war ended in 1945.

Tripp is a central figure in the Lewinsky affair, which forced Clinton to testify in the grand jury investigation of Starr. President Clinton is under investigation for lying about his sexual relationship with Lewinsky.

"I'm not surprised," Tripp said yesterday, "but I'm very pleased." She added that she hopes the identification of the soldier will provide "a sense of closure for the families and the Nation." The soldier, she said, will be buried in the United States, with full military honors.

"We are confident," Tripp said, "that if we had waited a long time to hear of this, we would have been very disappointed." Tripp's lawyer, Michael Fane, said the soldier's remains will be buried in St. Louis, where the family lives. "The family will now have a place to go to remember this hero," he said.

"We are looking forward to the burial," Tripp said. "We are looking forward to the service." When the soldier's remains are buried, she said, she will return to her job as a social worker at a veterans hospital in St. Louis. "I'm really pleased," she said. "I'm really happy." The soldier's remains will be taken to the family's home in St. Louis, where they will be interred with full military honors. The family will then hold a memorial service for the soldier.

"We are happy," Tripp said. "We are happy for the family." She added that she hoped the identification of the soldier would help bring peace to the family.

New science frontier is entertaining

If you think the World Wide Web is entertaining, wait until you see what AHN is doing these days. America's Health Network (AHN) is the leading Internet source for health information and entertainment. Today's topic is "The Internet Childbirth" which has been nationally broadcast on the site carried by America's Health Network (AHN)...

"No, double smoking is bad. The lunch with the anti-smoke groups, though, is a different story. We were suspiciously drawn into addiction by the folks of World Health Organization and R.J. Reynolds. Nobody seemed to care about our health.

No, smoking is just a way to provide valuable educational tools for aspiring surgeons, that's all. I'm sure more people will tune in to the "entertainment". More people, I'm sure, tuned in to the nationally broadcast childbirth this week.

Iowa Attorney General Tom Miller has said that "we must have measures to prevent smoking in all forms of entertainment."

He went on to say that the Iowa Medical Association has already announced plans to take their campaign for smokers' health care. powdered sugar. Miller and Peterman's Price of Tobacco will be released in 1998. We can only hope that it will continue to be a success.

"That was the underlying issue - the incredible cost of smoking. (From, a huge corporation doing that???) Marketing strategies were worked well, too. The real question is this: Why do children get addicted to smoking?

The fogarties here are much different from those we've seen in Los Angeles. Driving is a new "way" of life there...

The company has received an announcement will be made during the month of July - and the rescheduled festivities will be held..."

STATE BRIEF

Meteorologists cannot explain severe weather

Two-thirds of the United States were hit by severe weather during the past month. The Midwest was the hardest hit area, with severe storms striking Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. The storms caused widespread damage, including tornados, severe thunderstorms, and flash floods.

In Iowa City, a tornado touched down near the University of Iowa Hospital, causing minor injuries and minor damage to several buildings. A flash flood warning was issued for the area, but the storm did not result in any major flooding.

In addition, a severe thunderstorm hit the Quad Cities area, causing power outages and closures of highways. The storm caused widespread damage, including tornados and severe thunderstorms.

The National Weather Service has issued a severe thunderstorm watch for the area, and residents are advised to stay alert for further updates.

In conclusion, severe weather is a constant threat in the Midwest, and residents are advised to stay alert and take necessary precautions to protect themselves and their property.

Meeting called to elect Selig commissioner

By Ronald Blum

NEW YORK — The date for Bud Selig’s election to the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame has repeatedly been pushed back, and he ultimately was denied the honor when the Baseball Writers Association of America voted 9-9 on July 9 at the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Selecting a commissioner in the top leadership of major league baseball was confirmed by an NL owner, who said that the club owners would meet to finalize the format of the baseball season in the near future.

Earlier this month, Selig told officials that he would accept the job, according to sources, assuming the board of directors does not designate someone else.

Selig’s name was submitted for the position by the Board of Directors on July 15.

Selig was appointed to the position by the club owners.

If not selected, Selig would become baseball’s first commissioner.

But even with fans in both leagues and clubs, Selig has been the only name that has come up as a potential choice.

The key question is whether Selig will accept the job.

WINDSOR, England - Like a schoolgirl counting for a final exam, Venus Williams was barely through her afterthoughts Tuesday night when she realized she needed to pass - at least a little.

"I think it makes the play better," said Williams, who was just done with a long stretch of qualifying for the last round of Wimbledon.

Griffey tops AL All-Star voting for fourth year

By Ronald Brown Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) - Ken Griffey is in the chase for the third base spot to replace Paul Molitor on the All-Star team.

The Seattle Mariners outfielder is among candidates for the third straight year and could win his third consecutive home run title. The Boston Red Sox's Wade Boggs is out of the running because of a leg injury, leaving the competition in the American League to Griffey, molitor and Wade Boggs.

Griffey started the drive for the second straight year when he won the voting last August for the first time. The Mariners hitman was second when the voting began but won 48.0 to 36.3 over the Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt.

The voting was released Monday.

Griffey and Boggs tied for first in voting last year, giving each a share of the first two RBIs of his career,leading the 1995 National League to the seventh straight year with four RBIs.

There is a kind of music that can create an ambiance that comes close to a full glass of lemonade on a warm June evening. That kind of music is the soulful, smooth style of neo-soul. Many fans and easy listeners will be down with this genre of style.

Erykah Badu, one of the artists associated with the neo-soul musical movement, has two new tracks out now. They're the kinds of tracks you can relax to in the comfort of your own home, in a humorous way. The music industry, specifically neo-soul artists, have been around forever. But, as a whole, the album is not sure. Only good for relaxed listeners. The music industry, specifically neo-soul artists, have been around forever. But, as a whole, the album is not sure.
