UI students respond to online tuition vote

Two of the same questions asked in the online questionnaire will be on the ballot for homecoming students to vote on. The questions are about a tuition increase.

Which tuition change do you support the most?

1. "Waived an increase to cover inflation (tuition only)"

2. "Suggested a 2.3% increase with a 2% decrease for quality and an additional .2% for mandatory tuition and fees"

3. "Do not require a tuition increase"

Do you support the separation of tuition and fees? (tuition covering academic costs and fees covering non-academic costs)

1. "Yes"

2. "No"

3. "Do not support"

Liquor Licenses

Liquor-license limits not legal

Some city councilors believe the city of Iowa City has not a legal method to enact the number of bars operating in the downtown district, the city attorney says.

Some Iowa City councilors questioned the city's liquor license limits during the city council work session, after three separate announcements of bars opening in the downtown district.

In a memo to councilors, Attorney Ellen Dierdorff said the Iowa Code, which allows the city manager to limit the number of liquor control license, is under review by the state attorney general's office.

"Iowa City Mayor Ed Lee, who enforces the liquor license issue, said that while it may not be legal to limit the number of licenses, businesses cited for types of businesses that the city believes can be done through revocation of a license," Dierdorff said.

"We are fairly confident that we could revoke liquor permits in a timely fashion, but I don't know if I think anything would work better," Lee said.

"Lee said the city could revokc the number of liquor control licenses, which currently limits the number of bars in the downtown area.

"It is obvious that we would want to control liquor licenses in the downtown area," Lee said, "but it is also important that we keep the number of bars in the city at a reasonable level.

"[There are a great many businesses that have]" Lee Norton said. "It would be very difficult to continue to have other types of establishments.

"The number of bars also affects the economic market in the downtown area, which further dictates the number of restaurants downtown has to offer, Norton said."

In the wake of the Senate's rejection of the Pakistan crisis and beyond, from the eyes of a native

It is often said that, in a democracy, it is a good thing to kick a government out of power, if only to remind it that it can. Unfortunately, in Pakistan, more often than not, the outcome of such an action is a change in the facsimile of people in the government, nothing else. It happened in the 1950s, when the Mussalma Khan government was overthrown by the army. It happened in 1970, when the Bhutto government was overthrown. Twenty years later, on Oct. 12, history repeated itself. The government of Nawaz Sharif was dismissed in a bloodless coup by General M. Zia-ul-Haq, then in the 1980s under Yahya Khan, and again in 1997, when General Pervez Musharraf staged a bloodless coup against the elected government of Benazir Bhutto. The two

Iowa volleyball drops a pair

Iowa has a chance to move up in the Big Ten. But first, we have to get past Illinois and Indiana.

By Jeremy Schleifer

This was the type of weekend this young, small-town team needed to move up the ladder. Unfortunately, this weekend was going to be make or break.

The Hawkeyes improved to 9-5 with wins over Purdue and Indiana Saturday, but without official berths in the Big Ten Tournament, they don’t have much else to hang their hats on.

The Hawkeyes improve to 9-5 overall, and are 9-5 overall and 1-2 in the conference. The Hawkeyes will take on Illinois at 1-7 this weekend. The Hawkeyes will take on Illinois on 1-7 this weekend.

Iowa’s starting tradition with Illinois Saturday. The Hawkeyes have played Illinois in each of its first four games of the year at the Chili Pepper Classic. Iowa went on runs with Illinois, and Missy Wright got the Hawkeyes in the Big Ten Tournament and two more games against the Illini. Wright said she was pleased with the Hawkeyes’ weekend play.

Mullen leapfrogs McCann as backup quarterback

By Greg Wallace

The Daily Iowan

When Ryan Beilstein went down with the high ankle sprain he suffered in the Sept. 23 game against Iowa State, he left a hole to fill for the Iowa defense. Beilstein, the starting left tackle, had been a key member of the defense for the past two years, and his absence left the Hawkeyes with a big hole to fill.

But in the end, the Hawkeyes found a way to fill the hole, and the defense has continued to improve since Beilstein's injury.

A previous story in this section mentioned that Iowa's defense has been improved by the addition of prime performers. Two of those performers have been Scott Mullen, who has taken over at left tackle and Kyle McCann, who has moved from his spot on the depth chart to an unexpected source - senior Tom Hand of Deacon.

Mullen said he had Known of the switch since last Saturday, when he practiced in the game 15 minutes. Mullen said that Kyle McCann on the depth chart to an unexpected source - senior Tom Hand of Deacon.

New York one win from World Series

After a questionable call goes against Boston, the Yankees exploded for six runs in the ninth inning of a 12-11 win over the Red Sox in Game 1 of the American League Championship Series Saturday at Fenway Park.

Owner George Steinbrenner was pretty tremendous. We've been going back and forth all year long. We just played a great game against New York last week," Boston manager Jimy Williams was quoted as saying after the game.

The Yankees went back to their home park down 1-0 in the AL championship series, tied it in the bottom of the 11th inning, scored the winning run on the old saberhagen 's home run in the 12th and went ahead on Jose Offerman's run-scoring single in the 13th inning.

Williams reached on an infield single with one out in the bottom half, and took second when shortstop Neexas Gantner's throw horizontal to the Boston dugout. Boston's fourth error of the night.

Prior Martinez followed with a double to right, and Offerman's hit was knocked down by Red Sox center fielder Kevin O'Malley. .

Both Williams and the other Red Sox refused to go in the interview area after the defeat. "We really wanted it," Williams said. "But it wasn't meant to be for us this year."

The Yankees try to wrap up the best-of-seven series at home Tuesday night, when Orlando Hernández pitches against Boston's tasty hurler, who in a rematch of Game 1 started.

Derek Jeter got a grand-slam to first-killed the Red Sox in a 10-run momentous victory against New York last September. And Martinez and Pena spent time to acknowledge themselves.

Punch Dick Whiteberg's bunted throw allowed the go-ahead run in an at-the-tenthinning rally, and made three other errors before Friday's pickoff attempt.

Winning pitcher Dave Stieb, a 2-0 lead in the eighth, a second 2-0 lead in the ninth, and an 0-0 score at the final out against the Red Sox.
